'Drive-In Movie in the Rain'
May 13, 1961

Artist John Falter depicts a soggy Saturday night at the local float-in, with scarcely a room to drop anchor. The feature attraction of the evening is Two Senoritas From Sheboygan, filmed in Lack-O-vision and Watercolor. Starring in this frenetic flick is Rita Redhead, shown here singing that old favorite, Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella. Her hero is the senior with the guitar. A more genuine hero, of course, is the stalwart customer with umbrella but without a smile, transporting two burgers, one dog and three shakes from the bar to car. The performance of this burger bearer is matched only by that of the manager of the place, whose motto, in the best tradition of the theater, is--be there snow, or rain, or gloom of night, or a short circuit in the popcorn machine, the show must go on.

(Counter-clockwise, from top left) FCPS Supt. Tim Heckenlively said he hopes the new graduates "reach the ultimate level of success, by turning your dreams into reality." Freelancing photographers caught every second of Sunday's ceremony. Elizabeth Kaye Bauman, Summa Cum Laude, said the "future is unknown and I know that what lies ahead of us is something great, powerful and meaningful, whatever it may be."

Community Medical Center in Falls City will holding its groundbreaking for the expansion and renovation project at 10 a.m. Thursday, May 19.

The CMC Board of Directors gave its stamp of approval in late December on a multi-million dollar upgrade that will include a new Family Medicine Clinic, additional surgery space, imaging enhancements, and renovations designed to improve the hospital's orthopedic and specialty clinics.

The CMC Board approved a project budget of $8 million, about two-thirds of which will be spent on construction. Omaha-based Altus Architectural Studios has been hired to design the project and a committee comprised of board members, hospital administration, medical staff and other community members will later this month select a construction management firm.

The $21 million facility opened in November 2009 with 160 employees. That number has grown to 200. According to CEO Ryan

FCHS graduates 55 Sunday at auditorium

Hundreds of proud parents, friends and family gathered at Prichard Auditorium Sunday afternoon to celebrate the accomplishments of the 55-member Falls City High School Class of 2016 and send them out into the world.

The class as a whole earned over $1.8 million dollars in scholarships.

The commencement exercise again featured the Cum Laude system, where there is neither a Salutatorian nor Valedictorian, but rather graduates with varying degrees of distinction. Graduating Summa Cum Laude, this year's speakers were Christian Nathaniel Bennett and Elizabeth Kaye Bauman.

The four others graduating Summa Cum Laude were: Madison Paige Buckminster, Lainey Catherine Larsen, Haley Lynn Liberty and Megan Christine Vollmer.

Graduating with high academic distinction as Magna Cum Laude, were: Anthony Jon Aki Baker, Bailey Niccole Bindle, Chessanie Morgan Alea Blakely, Kellse Mae Embretson, Samantha Jean Harmon, Danielle Grace Kirkendall, Marissa Jayne Ogden and Carley Allyse Youde.

Those graduating Cum Laude: Sophie Quinn Keller, Jordan May Phroper, Morgan Estelle Phroper and Hannah Marie Weaver.

ROYAL RESILIENCE

Benefit for Reed Wednesday, May 25

Life is given to us, we earn it by giving it.

-Rabindranath Tagore

A benefit for Falls City native son Reed Schwartz will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 25, at Prichard Auditorium. The event is being organized by members of the Tiger Booster Club and beefburgers, baked beans, chips, desserts and a drink will be served.

A free will donation will be accepted and all proceeds will be used to help the family (Reed and his wife, Debbie, have one daughter, Lucy, a graduating Lincoln Southeast High School senior) pay sky-high medical bills, incurred over the course of a valiant, nearly two-decade-long battle against brain cancer.

A popular teacher and coach at Ashland-Greenwood, Reed steadfastly turned the tables on cancerous brain tumors in 2000, 2004 and 2008, but in 2014 more tumors, inoperable ones, were discovered. After a year-long episode of chemotherapy, doctors ordered more radiation, but a seizure last winter kept him from coaching track this spring and in the last couple of months doctors discontinued the treatments. Reed, 46, is now only taking steroids

A benefit for Falls City native Reed Schwartz will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 25, at Prichard Auditorium. All proceeds will go to help the family pay medical bills incurred over the course of a valiant, nearly two-decade-long battle against brain cancer. Tumors were detected four different times since the year 2000.

to treat inflammation, as well as anti-seizure medication.

A tumor the size of a fist was detected in his brain at around the turn of the century, just two years into his teaching/coaching career, the entirety of which has been spent at Ashland-Greenwood. Doctors surgically removed that mass and Reed didn't need to undergo chemotherapy or radiation therapy. He made a full recovery and soon returned to the classroom and sideline, but a routine six-month checkup in 2004 revealed another tumor. This time around, however, surgery was followed up with radiation therapy — scheduled around Bluejay games; astoundingly, he didn't miss even one that year — and he was once again cancer-free, coordinating the A-G offense

I had just gotten kicked out of my shuttle and was wandering down a street in Hollywood when my roommate Angie yelled at me from up the block. I had never been so happy to see someone in my life. She showed me how to get into our apartment and where I would be staying. To get into the apartment you had to unlock a gate, climb some stairs, use your key fob to use the elevator, turn right, then left, then right again before you hit our door. It was an excursion in itself. I would occupy the left side of the bedroom, Angie, from a suburb of Detroit would take the right side, Kristen from Pasadena took the couch, and Jessica from South Carolina had the bad luck of getting the air mattress with the hole in it. We had a refrigerator filled with canned wine a television that we didn't turn on once and a place to sleep. We were set for the next five days.

After I unloaded my things, Angie excitedly showed me where we would be spending most of our time. Right across the street from us was the TLC Chinese Theaters and down a block and across Hollywood Boulevard was the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel. I would end up spending seventy percent of my time in the Hollywood Roosevelt, and Theatre number four of the Chinese Theater Complex. We explored for a bit before we hit 25 Degrees for a meal. The 24-hour burger stand in the Hollywood Roosevelt boasted the most amazing hamburgers in the area. I was too excited to think about food, which is unheard of for me. I ate what I could before we ran back to the apartment to change into our fancy clothes for my first event of the festival.

I had a hard time deciding what to do with each second of the next four days. At any given time during the festival, at least four events are happening at once. The first night we got to choose between the red carpet, a pool side showing of the Harold Lloyd classic 'The Freshman,' the Betty Davis classic, 'Dark Victory,' 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' or 'One Potato, Two Potato.' My big choice was between my favorite silent comedian or the red carpet. When Angie and Jessica said they were going to do the red carpet because it was always a ton of fun, I had to go with them. It was something I don't get to do every day and the fact that I was number 38 in line was incredible and possibly won't happen again. The red carpet event only holds a handful of people and only a few are lucky enough to get a seat on the bleachers.

The red carpet arrivals are the best bet to see any star you were hoping to see during the festival. I knew that I wouldn't make it to see Jack Lemmon's son introduce 'My Sister Eileen' and hoped he would walk the carpet, which he did, and he was incredible to watch. His mannerisms and voice were just like his father's. The entire audience was in awe of him and to top it off, he was hysterically funny too.

I was able to see Darryl Hickman, Ted Donaldson, Chris Lemmon, Gina Lollobrigida, Salvatore Cascio, Louis Gossett Jr., Norman Lloyd, Roger Corman, James Cromwell, Lee Meriwether, Anna Karina, Ann Robinson, Katharine Houghton, Leonard Maltin; the amazing Carl Bernstein and Alec Baldwin. Alec Baldwin who is my favorite actor and who I am a bit obsessed with. It was so incredible to see him standing doing an interview only six feet in front of me. I tried to yell at him, but all that came out was a shrill squeak that got the attention of his wife who smiled and waved at me. They were incredibly gorgeous to see in person and contrary to popular opinion he seemed gracious and kind to everyone whom he encountered.

I felt so out of my element because I was all about seeing Alec Baldwin and I was so vocal about it that tossed out facts to everyone around us. Like the fact that his real name is Alexander Ray, and that just happens to be my son's name and a huge coincidence. When he got to our area, everyone turned to look at me to see how I would handle it. However, everyone else there was more excited for the actual classic film stars. I felt like a total dork and like I didn't exactly belong there at that moment. Each celebrity made their way down the carpet and stopped to do an interview with a man from TCM. They stopped and posed for pictures and talked to us. It was so surreal to have Chris Lemmon tell us about his dad or have TCM host Ben Mankiewicz stop and speak to us and tell us that we are the reason this magnificent event is possible. I am such a huge Mankiewicz fan that having him stop and chat with us until he was dragged away was fantastic. He didn't have to stop and talk, but he did, and he was down to earth and a fan just like us.

Time flew by and before we knew it, we were too late to get into any other films. We decided that we would grab some dinner at the famed Pig 'N' Whistle while we waited. I wanted something that would keep me full for a while and decided to go easy with pasta in a tomato sauce, but when they say in a tomato sauce, they mean it. There was no meat, no seasoning, no nothing, just pasta in tomato sauce for $19.99. Jessica ordered a steak, and I thought about it but why would I go to California for an overpriced steak that will come nowhere close to what we get here? No thank-you. During dinner, we were all chilly as the sun had gone down and the temperature dipped under 55 degrees. I popped into a shop next door to buy an overpriced Hollywood sweatshirt and for the first of many times, I became uncomfortable with my surroundings. A gentleman had followed me into the shop and kept poking me asking for money. I paid and made it back to my table in less than three minutes.

Our next and final stop of the night was one of the films I was looking most forward to seeing. One of my favorite movies is 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?' I love Hepburn and Tracy, but Hepburn's niece, Katharine Houghton, and Sidney Poitier steal the show. Angie and I ended up getting in line early enough to get numbers 17 and 18 then head over to the bar outside the theaters for a drink. TCM had classic film star inspired drinks, and I totally fell for it. I was happy to pay $15 for a thimble of liquid. As the bartender handed me my glass, the fire alarms went off. The employees told us to hang out because it happens a lot and it's usually a false alarm. We sat until a manager came over and said we had to go. We were on the second story of this shopping center/theater and with everyone from all the theaters outside, we had nowhere to go. I stood as Angie talked to others and watched the people walk down Hollywood Boulevard. It was interesting to see who was going to come around the corner, a tourist? Batman? Darth Vader?

A year after prison riot, some things are better

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

It has been a little more than a year since a riot at the Tecumseh prison left two inmates dead and two injured and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage to the facility.

The incident was seen, by some, as a major test for new Corrections Director Scott Frakes and his boss, Gov. Pete Ricketts. It came on the heels of an on-going investigation of the corrections system by a special legislative committee amid promises by Ricketts and Frakes that they were going to change the culture of the system.

Some inmate groups have said they simply wanted their grievances – about everything from programming to solitary confinement – heard. Reactions vary as to whether or not that has happened. But Frakes said a number of things have changed for the better.

He said the approval by the Legislature for money for a 160-bed expansion of the Community Corrections Center in Lincoln was a big step. Frakes said the beds will provide housing for a specific population of inmates who need to be in the less restrictive environment of community corrections but separated from some who may have caused them harm in the past. Likewise, the Protective Management Unit has been created at Tecumseh. Frakes calls that the department's first example of "mission specific housing."

Following through on a promise made after the Tecumseh riot, Frakes said the department now has inmate councils meeting at every facility. That has improved communication between staff and inmates. He said improvements to the inmate grievance process will be addressed in the next budget. In addition, Employee Positive Impact Councils have been launched at each facility to provide a forum for employees to share ideas that will shape the agency and provide feedback.

One of the major concerns about the Tecumseh riot was the issue of employee safety. Inmate assaults on staff have increased in the past year, but Frakes hopes that implementation of the Internal Critical Incident Review process will identify response improvements to maintain staff safety. He said the addition of security equipment to include a stronger concentration of pepper spray, restraint chairs and electronic restraint devices at the facilities should also help. Identifying the activity contributing to assaults and disruptive behavior is the task for a dedicated intelligence team which will also rely on the expanded use of cognitive-behavioral interventions to specifically address criminal thinking.

Frakes said that the department is making efforts to reduce vacancies, overtime hours and turnover rates for all staff. Complaints that staff was stressed by mandatory overtime at Tecumseh were plentiful in the immediate post-riot investigation. Lawmakers, employee groups and others have called for more training, better wages and working conditions to avoid future problems. Frakes said steps in that direction are already paying dividends to the department.

Before the 2015 riot, several inmates said they were trying to get the administration to pay attention to a two-page statement of grievances about arbitrary solitary confinement, perks for some inmates and not others, disrespect by some staff, inexperienced staff and increasingly crowded conditions.

They also objected to being denied access to jobs, training and self-betterment clubs that would help prepare them for a return to life outside prison. Prison sentences are for punishment, but many feel that prisons have become warehouses. Without positive programs and opportunity for inmates self-betterment, many of those incarcerated will return to the streets no better than when they came in.

Frakes addressed the legislative investigative committee late last year, but some committee members say they still aren't clear on exactly what he is doing to change the culture and fix the issues that have plagued the system for a number of years. The committee has said it definitely wants to see behavioral and mental health treatment and programs.

The head of the Legislature's Executive Board, Sen. Bob Krist of Omaha, said the make or break for him is going to be a safe environment both for the prison staff and the people who are behind bars.

"My own gut tells me that if the temperature goes up in the summertime and the prison population stays consistent, we're going to have some issues," Krist said. "But I hope I'm wrong."

Hats off to Frakes and his staff for making some changes. Let's hope that he has a big enough box of band-aids to hold out until sweeping reform can be made.

Healthcare consumers get little help resolving complaints

"Thinking About Health," is part of the Nebraska Press Association's partnership with Rural Health News Service, which will provide Nebraskans with unbiased health-related information, designed to help better understand the health issues facing our communities, state and nation.

Who protects consumers of healthcare?

Two recent emails from readers got me thinking about that question. I don't mean consumers in their role as patients whose medical well-being is looked after by state medical boards and health departments that police doctors and hospitals. Those organizations don't always do a perfect job protecting patients from harm, but at least they are in place.

But who protects patients when things go wrong on healthcare's financial side? What happens when you receive a bill you didn't expect and can't afford to pay? What happens when insurers send unintelligible explanations of benefits you can't understand? What about questionable loan arrangements to avoid medical bankruptcy?

Consumers of healthcare are pretty much on their own. From the 1960s through the 1980s when people complained, they got action from consumer organizations, government and even businesses that set up departments to handle complaints. That consumer movement is now but a flicker.

"We don't have as many public-interest minded regulators, and officials who try to grab these issues by the horns and deal with them," says Chuck Bell, director of programs for Consumers Union.

The emails I received show that although it's an uphill battle to get redress, fighting back as an individual can get attention and may ultimately lead to better protections for everyone.

John Rutledge, a retiree, got snared in Medicare's three-day rule by a hospital near his hometown Wheaton, Illinois. At the end of March he took his wife, who was having breathing problems, to the hospital where she was held for three nights of "observation." Patients must be in a hospital for three days as an in-patient before they are entitled to Medicare benefits for 100 days of skilled nursing home care as I noted in a recent column.

Thousands of families have been caught when hospitals decide their loved ones are admitted for "observation," a tactic that allows them to avoid repaying Medicare if government auditors find patients should not have been classified as "in-patients." Playing the "observational" game is worth millions to hospitals but costs families tens of thousands of dollars when someone doesn't qualify for Medicare-covered skilled nursing care.

Rutledge knew about the three-day rule. Both his doctor and a pulmonologist at the same medical practice recommended an in-patient stay, and Rutledge refused to sign a hospital document saying his wife was admitted for observation.

Still, the hospital prevailed, claiming a consultant made the decision to keep her for "observation." Rutledge was stuck with a bill that, so far, totals over $15,000 for the skilled nursing care his wife did need. He said he had been a "significant donor" to the hospital foundation, and "I have told the foundation that what I spend as a result of "observation" will come out of what I planned to give them, starting with the annual gift."

The second email came from Kathryn Green, a college history professor who lives in Greenwood, Mississippi. Green is fighting an air ambulance company, which transported her late husband to a Jackson hospital after he suffered a fatal fall in their home. This "nightmare," as she calls it, is a bill from the transport company that claims it's outside her insurance network, and says she owes them $50,950.

"I am 63 and will have a devastated retirement if this is upheld," Green told me.

Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi, the administrator for her insurance carrier the State and School Employees' Health Insurance Plan, paid $7,192 of the $58,142 the transport company billed. Blue Cross has told Green that she should be held harmless and should not be charged for the "balance after payment of the Allowable Charge has been made directly to that provider."

Green is raising a ruckus and has taken her case to state and national media, members of Congress, the state attorney general, and the Mississippi Health Advocacy Program. The company has told her it will begin collection efforts.

In both cases there's a legislative solution. The three-day rule can be fixed by counting all the time a patient spends in the hospital whether they're classified as an "in" or as an "observational" patient. The ambulance problem can be fixed by changing the 1978 airline deregulation law that prevents states from interfering with fares, services, and routes. But money and politics block the federal changes that would help people like Rutledge and Green.

"It's like playing a game of health insurance roulette," Bell says. "Your coverage exposes you to these gaps that have been normalized. It's become the way of doing business."

A resurgent consumer movement could change all that.

REED RALLY

with a full deck of sharp-edged throwing cards, in more ways than one. By 2009, a long-suffering football program started exacting harsh reprisals on opponents in Class C1, a group which begrudgingly yet annually included Reed's beloved Orange & Black. Six successful Blue Jay campaigns forged a collective 42-8 regular season record and in 2014 the wave extended all the way to Memorial Stadium and the C1 championship game.

Personally, Reed rallied again and again, too. Another tumor appeared in 2004 during a six-month check-up. Surgery was again successful, but this time the Navy vet needed radiation therapy, which was scheduled around Bluejay football.

A third tumor appeared four years later; it was inoperable and chemotherapy was ordered. Once again, it was during football season, and once again, Reed continued to perform as offensive coordinator for the Bluejays. He subsequently received clean bills of health every six months for more than five years and all the while continued to teach offense, geography, American history and track and field. Reed, a UNL graduate, even earned his master's degree in 2010.

The benefit in Falls City in support of Reed, the son of Hank and Marcia Schwartz, isn't the first of its kind. The A-G community held a "Royal Rally for Reed," a play on words that reflects the man's lifelong love of a baseball team. A team that discredited the notion of insurmountable odds.

Hundreds of colleagues, students, friends and family attended the Rally and, furthermore, a "Go Fund Me" page has also been created to assist with the fundraising effort:

gofundme.com/royalrallyforreed

The page went live less than a month ago, with a stated goal of raising $10,000 for the family. As of Monday night, it was at $10,340 and climbing.

GOOD NEWS AT PSC

The Higher Learning Commission released the results of Peru State College's "Open Pathway Mid-Cycle Assurance Review." The HLC performed the review in the fourth year of Peru State's 10-year accreditation cycle. All criteria for the review were met. No follow-up or action was necessary by Peru State or the HLC, which is the best possible result.

Breathalyzers to Sheriff's Office

The Richardson County Sheriff's Office has received four new hand-held alcohol breath-testing units through a traffic safety grant award. The units, valued at $285 each, were provided by the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety as part of the state's ongoing effort to prevent underage drinking and alcohol-related traffic crashes, injuries and fatalities.

"The Richardson County Sheriff's Office was awarded the new instruments to assist their personnel in identifying potential minor in possession, minor .02 driving, and driving under the influence violators," Highway Safety Administrator Fred Zwonechek said.

The portable units display a digital reading of the blood alcohol level from a suspect's breath sample.

FC Middle School Students of the Month of May

The Students of the Month for May at Falls City Middle School were: Brynna Bruxellas, eighth grade, Ashlynn Strauss, seventh, and, Kyle Eickhoff, sixth. Each student received a T-shirt printed with the Student of the Month logo, compliments of Stripes and Signs. The Elks Club sponsors a complimentary meal during Youth Week for all the year's Student of the Month recipients and their parents.

To receive student of the month, students must first be nominated by one of their teachers. The criteria for nomination this year once again focuses on the 212 degree message.

Society

Shubert AL Unit 222

The Shubert American Legion Auxiliary Unit 222 met Tuesday, May 10 at the Legion building. President Tana Brown called the meeting to order and was followed by prayer by Chaplain Sharon Howard. Everyone pledged allegiance to the flag, sang My Country 'Tis of Thee and repeated the Preamble. Roll call was taken by Vicki Beilke, in absence of the secretary, with seven senior members and one junior member present. Treasurer Lana Willman gave her monthly report.

A "thank you" was read from the Lincoln VA Hospital for giving the children's activities bags and snacks. Linda Patchen reported the highway trash pick-up went well.

The poppy placement on the cemeteries was distributed to everyone with the Prairie Union, Stella, Verdon, Barada, Nemaha and St. Anne being taken care of. Also poppies will be placed in the local communities this month for distribution.

Everyone was reminded of the Legion having a fundraising pancake and sausage breakfast Sunday, May 29 at the Legion building. Following the return of the Legion members performing the Memorial Day ceremonies on Monday, May 30, Patsy Wing will be in charge of a luncheon for the men at the Legion building.

Dona Hall was the hostess for the community luncheon get-together at the Legion building on May 3. Mrs. Howard will host the next one at noon Tuesday, June 7. This is for anyone in the community to come together for lunch and fellowship.

All officers will stay the same for the upcoming year and there will be installation at the June meeting. Everyone was reminded at the same time we will be making up committees for the following year and to keep track of hours and dollars spent on projects.

The Auxiliary charter was draped by Mrs. Patchen, assisted by Mrs. Hall for the latest deceased members.

The next meeting will be at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 14 (Flag Day) at the Legion building.

Area Bridge

Nancy Wittwer, Lorna Simon and Nancy Kelley won the prizes when three tables of Falls City Area Bridge played May 10.

The hostesses were Dennise Nixon and Mildred Appleoff-Marsh. Leona Knobbe and Reinie Gerwick will host the next session Tuesday, May 24.

The teachers are continuously looking for the students that give the extra degree. This is a student that demonstrates extra effort by being an exemplary student. Someone who internalizes the truth that is "Not enough to be good when you have the ability to be BETTER!" Each month the teachers choose an individual from each grade that were identified as a 212 degree student and met the criteria. This includes: turning work in on time, exemplary behavior everywhere, goes out of their way to help peers, good grades and/or improvement; always showing effort, active and/or involved in the community, leadership accomplishments: academic, athletic, or in the community, school attendance, positive attitude toward others, honest and trustworthy, cooperative and dependable, helpful to teachers, positive attitude toward school, and considerate of other's feelings.

Teachers vote by private balloting. Those students who don't win are given honorable mention and are eligible in future months.

Kyle is the son of Donna and Darren Eickhoff. He is described as a very kind, polite, and considerate young man. He has a great attitude and is a quality class participant. He is a regular on the honor roll and ABBIT lists, while also participating in chorus and Clown Troupe. Outside of school, Kyle participates in FC Rec baseball and the Country Clovers 4-H Club.

Ashlynn is the daughter of Nichole and Scott Strauss. She is described as a model student that works extremely hard in the classroom. She is a great listener and helpful to others and has received recognition for honor roll and ABBIT. Ashlynn participates in chorus, show choir, volleyball and FCA.

Brynna is the daughter of Vanji and Paulo Bruxellas. She is described as a good role model for others, and she works hard to be successful. Brynna is a regular on the honor roll and ABBIT lists each quarter. She also participates in band, chorus, show choir, volleyball, basketball, track and FCA. Outside of school, she is active in AWANA Club.

The students who received honorable mention for May include: Jessa Beckner, Tyler Schutte, Mazey McCullough, Cydney Forsyth, Mason Crawford, Lane Burns, Hailey Dorste, Jayden Kreifels, David Kuker, Koltan Davis, Will Vitosh, Dylan Vice, Gwen Olberding, Gracie Frederick, Jolee Schulenberg, Abby Fritz, Carson Simon, McKenna Pfohl, Josie Riggs, Justin Brewer, Jocelyn O'Grady, Nia Crawford, Chase Nolte and Taryn Coronado.

Colonial Acres celebrates Nursing Week

By Chris Harvey, RN
Director of Nursing, Colonial Acres

Nurses make a difference in the lives of people they touch on a daily basis. National Nurses Week was celebrated May 6-12. National Nurses Day is celebrated on May 12 (Florence Nightingale's birthday) as a day to show our appreciation to those who have touched our lives and the lives of our loved ones.

According to the Gallup Poll, of all professions surveyed, Americans say nurses have the highest honesty and ethical standards. Eighty percent of Americans say nurses have "very high" or "high" standards of honesty and ethics. Nurses are nationally honored during National Nurses Week, but the nursing profession deserves constant appreciation and recognition for the lives it affects.

According to the Loyola University Nursing School, the nurse is:

An Educator – Uncertain and worried patients have many questions when spending any amount of time in a health care facility, and nurses are there with the answers. Nurses also act as educators to hospital staff, regarding patient care and administrative material.

A Caretaker — A nurse's patient care responsibilities are extensive; taking information, checking vitals, administering medicine, assisting in surgery and providing comfort are commonplace to the seasoned nurse.

A Long Term Health Care Provider — Typically, as patient's first point of contact, nurses develop a connection with patients, learn their history and establish the best methods of health care that can be provided.

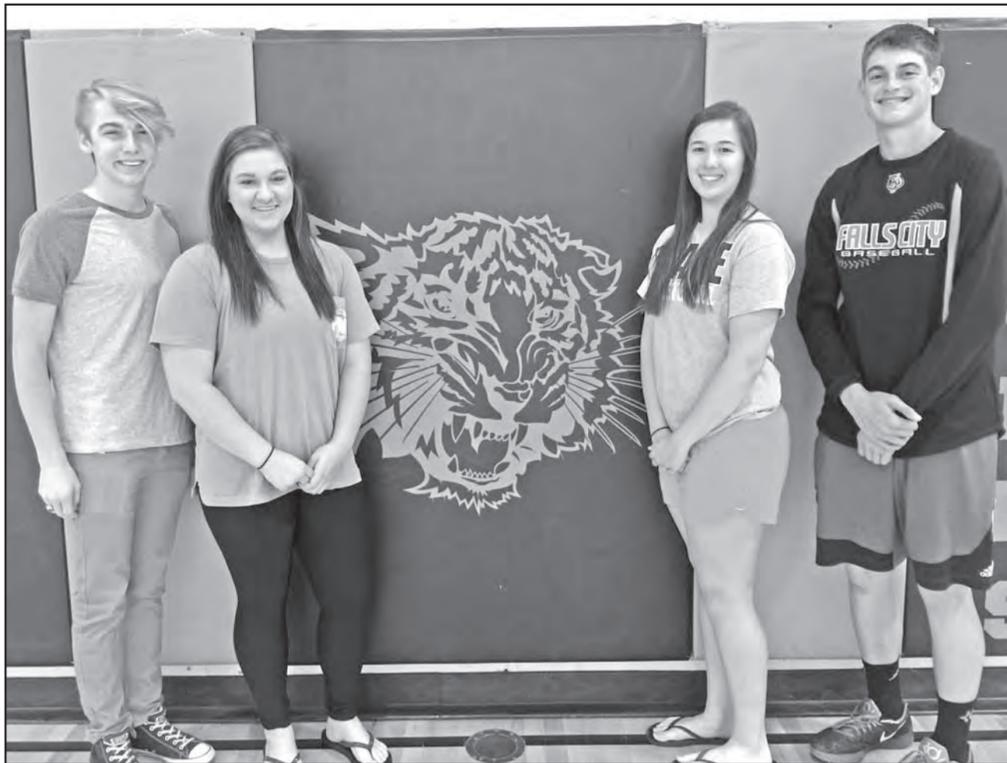

On this occasion, we take the time to honor the licensed nurses who make Colonial Acres of Humboldt a special place:

RN: Lisa Bloss, Koertland Beyer, Janet Brase, Beth Rippe, Jennifer Zuelch.

LPN: Larissa Burns, Trisha Crosby, Jessica Dunlap, Tamara Durman, Shelley James, Deb Ross, Kelsey Schuetz and Jennifer Schell.

LPN-C: Lois Miller.

Please take this opportunity to show your appreciation to a nurse who has made difference in your life!

Delta Kappa Gamma

The Alpha Kappa Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met May 7 for a morning meeting at Vintage Park in Hiawatha, KS. Hostesses who arranged the meeting were Karen Benson, Barbara Chadwell and Ardis Huston. President Mary Parrish conducted the business meeting, with Helen Hageman presenting the Inspiration, which provided some humor with the reading of "Dad's Centerline Shuffle."

Mary read correspondence from Kathryn Hatfield concerning our chapter being a helper chapter for the 2017 state convention in Wichita, KS. Betty presented proposed changes in chapter rules, which will be voted upon at the September meeting.

It was decided to give Lucille Pennel money to attend the International Convention in Nashville, TN, this summer. Mary thanked the chapter for their support as she has served as president the past four years. Members expressed thanks to her and she thanked Lucille for serving as secretary for many years.

Carol Bishop conducted the Installation Ceremony for President

Lucille Pennel, First Vice President Karen Benson, Second Vice President Barbara Vitt, and Secretary Becki Sherrow.

Barb Vitt presented the Founder's Day Program by giving an interesting picture of fashions and events in 1929. This included "Rules for Teacher," such as "Do not wear bright colors," "Do not loiter in the ice cream parlors," and "Start the schoolhouse fire at 7 a.m. so the room is warm by 8, when the children arrive."

Lunch of sandwiches, relishes and "Birthday Pie" was enjoyed. The next meeting will be Sept. 16, with hostesses Lucille Pennel, Helen Hageman and Glenda Foley.

Zion UCC Women's Fellowship

Members of the Zion UCC Woman's Fellowship met on Wednesday, May 11 at the home of Pat Scheitel. Mrs. Scheitel was in charge of the lesson and opened with the song "One Pair of Hand's." Scriptures were read and "13 Articles of Faith" was discussed. Mrs. Scheitel closed with prayer.

Dianna Kottich conducted the business meeting. Minutes of the April meeting were read and approved, and the treasurer's report was given.

The group is hosting its tea in September; the exact date will be discussed with Betty Maze. Cleaning and new curtains before the tea was also discussed.

The location of the June meeting, with Cindy Kopf in charge, will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Scheitel served refreshments, assisted by JoAnn Koso.

Women's Circle

The Women's Circle of First United Presbyterian Church met Monday, May 9 at the church. Vice President Marlene Schwarting read the poem "Peace of Christ" to open the meeting.

Members donated small change for the Least Coin offering. Jennifer James read the minutes of the April 11, 2016 meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

Refreshments for the Little Stars' classes were discussed. There will be three age groups on three different Wednesdays. Refreshments and hosts will be needed each day.

David von Behren will present a Hymn Sing on Sunday, June 26 as part of the church's 150th anniversary celebration. The Palladium Brass from Omaha will also take part in the service. The main color for the reception will be red for celebration! Refreshments will include cake, punch, coffee and mixed nuts. Jennifer James will order the cake and will ask for volunteers to make punch, decorate, etc.

Marlene Schwarting gave the lesson, "A Dwelling Place for God," based on Ephesians 2:11-22. She then served a delicious creamy lemon dessert.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 12 at either the church or the home of Carolyn Joy. She will also give the lesson.

No joy ride

A 23-year-old Falls City man remains in jail on $4,000 bond after authorities say he last Tuesday, May 10, held his teenage brother captive and took him on a harrowing pickup ride through residential neighborhoods at speeds of some 100 miles per hour.

Zachary J. Bokelman appeared in Richardson County Court Monday and is being held on charges of terroristic threats, false imprisonment and willful reckless driving. He will be arraigned June 1.

Two citizens, one being the boys' mother, called "911" at about 5:30 p.m. to report a driver in a black pickup truck driving recklessly in the vicinity of 10th and Lane Streets. Falls City Police Officer Jeremy Goldsberry responded and located the truck, Bokelman and the purported victim at 807 McLean St. According to Goldsberry's report, the juvenile said he asked to get out of the truck because of his brother's wild driving, but Bokelman refused. The younger brother said he eventually was forced to jump from the vehicle when it slowed to a safer speed. He then told Goldsberry he thought his older brother indicated he was going to run him over with the truck.

The 16-year-old chose not to sign a complaint at that time, but several hours later apparently had a change of heart and appeared at the police station to make a formal statement.

Pedaling peddler?

A 27-year-old Falls City man arrested early Saturday morning on an active warrant out of Nemaha County now faces additional felony drug charges in Richardson County.

FCPD Officer Jonathan Kirkendall said he observed Cameron M. Gill riding a bicycle near Kwik Shop in Falls City and based on the knowledge of the outstanding warrant, made the arrest. According to Kirkendall's report, search of a backpack in Gill's possession turned up a substance that field tested positive for methamphetamine, a digital scale and a glass pipe.

Authorities in Richardson and nearby counties are quite familiar with Gill, who twice has been sentenced to the Nebraska Dept. of Corrections for burglary-related offenses in Pawnee County. Most recently, he spent five months of a 20-month sentence for thievery and other shenanigans in 2012-13 out of Pawnee.

Class of 2016

Grace Crofford, Charles Joseph Dawkins Jr., Melissa Richelle Feighner, Gregory Dwayne Folsom, Cody Christopher Frederick, Luke David Gifford, Abigail Lynn Gilkerson, Morgan Emma Hardenberger, McKayla LeShea Henderson, Kristin Alana Krohn, Julia Renee Landry, Kayly Elaine Leafy, Josie Ann Lunsford, Jamie Nichole Marie Mackey, Rhiannon Shaolin Mackey, Montana Ray Mirelez, Cassidi Jancyn Payne, Trenton Alexander Pentecost, Hannah Marie Popejoy, Colton Tyler Reiss, Martin Charles Richbourg, Jeremy Ashton Robinson, Bradley Taylor Rose, Bryan Tavis Rose, Austin Lee Scates, Avery Marie Scott, Summer Marie Slifer, Joost Tipke, Jeremy James Waggoner Jr., and Lance Cole White.

FCPS Supt. Tim Heckenlively welcomed everyone to the ceremony, thanked the Board of Education, parents, faculty and, "most importantly, members of the graduating Class of 2016," he said. "I have had the pleasure of watching most of you from the first time you walked through the front doors at North School and began kindergarten on Aug. 18, 2003," the former North School Principal said.

"I know this is a class full of talented and smart leaders ready for a new challenge.

"It is my hope that we have done everything possible to prepare you to achieve your dreams and goals. FCPS offers a wealth of courses, programs, and extracurricular activities. I hope you have taken advantage of these activities and that they have helped you develop your leadership skills, and driven you to take your next steps in life. And I hope you reach the ultimate level of success, by turning your dreams into reality.

"There are wonderful opportunities available for those who go into the future with the right mindset and the right work ethic. I want you to understand, success is about enjoying what you do in life," he said.

"Thank you as a class for your leadership, your commitment to excellence, and I challenge each of you to use your education to maximize your potential in the future. Congratulations, and I wish each and every one of you my very best," Heckenlively concluded.

Elizabeth Bauman was introduced as the first speaker.

"From the bottom of my heart, thank you. You all have taught me so much, maybe more than I ever learned in those classrooms.

"So as it is my final day with you all, I want to give some last minute advice. We have been looking forward to this moment for over 12 years. The great big world is waiting for us and I don't know about you guys, but I'm kind of scared. Our future is unknown and I know that what lies ahead of us is something great, powerful and meaningful, whatever it may be. So we should fear the amazing things that await." She finished her speech by telling her class, "you are all capable of doing so many great things. So when you walk out those doors as FCHS graduates, know what your true passion is and no matter how odd, strange and big it might be, I want you to follow it to wherever it is ready to take you. So thank you class of 2016, you have all given me so much."

The senior song, 'Homeward Bound' was performed by the Senior Singers before Christian Bennett took the stage to address his classmates. He thanked the teachers "that so desperately tried to teach us the many useful lessons that we will need to survive and thrive in the world.

"Graduating high school is just another small step towards the amazing things that will come in each and every one of our lives. Whether you are going to college or not you can be anything you want. We can become doctors or authors or anything we are willing to work for. The only person now that is in our way is ourselves," Bennett said.

He finished by telling his class that graduation "is not the end of anything; it's only the beginning. The beginning of a life of adventure and hard work. A life full of love and passion for what you love. Graduating more like promoting from childhood to adulthood."

Principal Gale Dunkhas closed the ceremony by telling the class that each year he looks for something motivational or profound to say, something they will remember.

"I generally call on the audience to think back to their graduation day. Words of wisdom by a speaker or the principal are not generally the first thing that pops into your mind," he joked.

"But one thing that I always remember even though for me it was 34 years ago, I remember the pride that my parents and family had in me. I was proud of myself, proud of my classmates. We had spent our whole lives working for this day, just like the graduates here have today. But I think some advice and what I have to say now is important. I don't want you, the Class of 2016, to wonder if the time, hard work, and your classes accomplishments were appreciated, because they were. The profound and memorable things I will share today are things that I have learned from my teachers, my friends, and my parents, and on my own.

"Hold on to your dreams and never let them go. Be yourself and show the world how wonderful you are. Be strong when adversity strikes — and it will. You are stronger than you can imagine; you're going to make it through, no matter what. Look on the bright side of things — listen to the wishes of your heart. It always seems to know what's true, what's right, and what to do, and if you are honest with yourself will lead you in the right direction.

"I wish for you a path that will lead to beautiful tomorrows. Every one of you deserves that," Dunkhas concluded.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were captured by Omaha photographer Nathaniel Dewell in 1927 during a visit to Nebraska.

The Sultan of Swat meets a 'Babe' of a hen

When New York Yankee sluggers Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig came to Omaha for an exhibition game in October 1927, following the Yankees' victory in the World Series, the "Bambino" met the "Babe Ruth" of the poultry world. The chicken, officially named "Lady Norfolk" and belonging to A. R. Lander of Norfolk, had just set a world record with 166 days of continuous egg-laying. The hen had been fed on "Amco Egg Mash" produced by Omaha's American Milling Company, which sponsored the egg-laying contest. Company Supt. George Danforth had the record-setting egg No. 166 carefully wrapped in a jewel case and airmailed to President Calvin Coolidge at the White House to be served for breakfast.

After establishing the record, more eggs were forthcoming from Lady Norfolk, whose prowess had earned her the nickname "Babe Ruth." Eggs Nos. 170 and 171 coincided with the real Babe Ruth's visit to Omaha. Naturally the American Milling Co. could not pass up an opportunity to gain even more publicity for the chicken and the feed supposedly responsible for her prolific output. The Omaha Bee-News of Oct. 17, 1927, gave the meeting of the two "Babes" front page coverage.

"It was a sight for sore eyes when Babe Ruth, king of the bat, and Babe Ruth, queen of nonstop egg-laying hens of the entire world shook hands, exchanged compliments, and smiled at each other in the backyard of the American Milling Company at 11 a.m. Sunday...When the Babe arrived at the roosts, a crowd of several hundred persons gathered around the milling company grounds to see the world champs.

"The first item of this formal affair, at which Ruth and Gehrig were bedecked in their ball togs, was the introduction of the latest egg to both players by E. L. Altrock and Frank Robinson, managers of the company. But this was all routine to the Babe—he wanted to meet the little hen herself. 'The chick! The chick!' Babe exclaimed when he spotted Superintendent George Danforth with the 'Babe' in his arms. At this point the crowd was tense.

"May I introduce Babe Ruth (the hen), champion of the world as far as eggs are concerned," said Mr. Robinson to 'Mr. Babe Ruth, famous home run king.' 'Howdy chick,' said the Babe with one of his largest and most inviting smiles. 'Cut, cut, cut, cut' clucked 'Babe Ruth,' flapping her wings wildly. The hen was excited and the crowd was cheering. 'I'll bet this chicken won't lay any more eggs after this, and I sure want her to,' said the Babe, with the smile now changed to a worried expression. But Mr. Robinson assured the Babe that it was all right for she had already established a record for the world and that was enough."

After the exhibition baseball game held that afternoon, egg No. 170 was presented to Babe Ruth in front of a crowd of 4,500 fans. It was in a jewel box inscribed, "From the Queen of Eggs to the King of Hitters." The article noted that the egg would be sent to New York and there drained and preserved so Ruth "can keep a souvenir of his namesake."

Paul High Horse artwork on display in Brownville

Brownville Fine Arts has announced the first of five Art Shows for the 2016 Summer Season starting, with the artwork of Paul High Horse, noted Lakota artist, showing from June 2-26 at the Schoolhouse Art Gallery in Brownville with a welcoming reception on June 3rd at 6 p.m. The Schoolhouse Art Gallery is open Thursday through Sunday from 1-4 p.m.

Paul High Horse is member of the Sicangu (Sičhángŋu) Lakota tribe. Son of a Lakota father and Italian mother, Paul was born in New Jersey; however, at the age of three, his parents moved to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota so Paul and his siblings could be immersed in their native culture. He lived on the reservation until he left to attend college at Creighton University, where he earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

Paul's artistic philosophy incorporates a modern approach to communicate a rich historical context of the Lakota people. His art captures the symbols, traditions, and values inherent to the Lakota tribe. His work also explores different media including acrylics, archival pens, watercolor, and ledger paper. Paul currently teaches 7th-12th grade art at Fort Calhoun Community School, but resides in Council Bluffs, Iowa with his wife and three children.

Celebrate ARBOR DAY

(RIGHT, TOP) The Humboldt Lions Club presented an Arbor Day program for the Humboldt-TR-S 4th graders on Arbor Day, April 29. Lions Ron and Sherlyn Rist (middle, surrounded by the young students) presented the program. Mr. Rist made a presentation concerning Arbor Day, as well as the many products made of wood, derived chemicals made from wood, products made with cork and different things derived from the sap that trees produce. He also explained that Lions worldwide in 210 countries and geographical areas have planted several million trees in the past years. There are three million acres of trees within the state of Nebraska.

"I was please with the statements and questions that the students had for us," Mr. Rist said. "I was impressed with their interest in tree planting and the importance for caring for trees, as well as their knowledge of the history of Arbor Day. It's very obvious that Mrs. Wittrock and Mrs. Werts do an excellent job with teaching their students about the history of this very important day."

It is interesting that to grow a pound of wood, a tree uses 1.47 pounds of carbon dioxide and gives off 1.07 pounds of oxygen. It is very important to continue planting trees, not for the oxygen output, but for the many uses of wood for building materials, for windbreaks, for shade, for the habitat and for the beautification.

Following the presentation, each student received a Black Hills Spruce seedling that they will take home and plant. Lion Ron shared instructions as to the proper way of planting the trees. The seedlings were purchased from the NNRD in Tecumseh.

(MIDDLE) Arbor Day was celebrated on April 29 in Falls City by planting a cherry tree at FC Sacred Heart School. Grades 3 through 6 participated in planting the tree; The third graders recited the poem "Why We Plant Trees" and the proclamation was written by SH teacher Mary Barker and read by Council President Judy Murphy. Photographed, from left: FCSH School Supt. Fr. Tom Dunavan, and City Tree Board members Gerald Hopp, John von Behren, Don Baldwin, Ed Harris, Bruce Walker and Eleanor Last. Tree Board members Gary Jom and Darrell Huettnr are not pictured.

The cherry tree was selected because throughout the world it symbolizes Awakenings and Rebirth; a blooming cherry tree is considered a sign of good fortune.

(RIGHT, BELOW) More than 100 cities, including Falls City, colleges and utilities were recognized at the annual Tree City USA Recognition Day in early April in Lincoln. Together they invested more than $6.5 million in their communities. The NE Forest Service and the NE Community Forestry Council acknowledged their work through awards for Tree City Growth, Tree City, Tree Campus and Tree Line USA. Nebraska First Lady Susanne Shore (photographed, middle) was a guest speaker for the event.

"Communities are realizing they have to take a proactive role to protect and plant trees that offer beauty, shade, diversity, energy savings and so many other benefits," said Jessica Kelling, coordinator of the ReTree Nebraska Initiative. Mayor Jerry Oliver (photographed to the right of the First Lady) and City Administrator Gary Jom (left of her) accepted the 2015 Tree City USA Award. This marked the 24th year as Tree City USA for Falls City.

Also pictured, to the far left, is Nebraska Community Forestry Council Chairman Lyle Minshall and, to the far right, Nebraska Forest Service Director Scott Josiah.

America's Night Out Against Crime

The Richardson County Sheriff's Office will participate in the National Night Out Against Crime event for the citizens of Humboldt, and the surrounding areas at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 2, at the Humboldt City Park.

The Sheriff's Office will be serving hot dogs, chips and water to folks at the park. After enjoying the meal, participants are invited to watch demonstrations from the Sheriff's K-9 Unit, and take an up-close look at the police, fire, road and ambulance vehicles. Finally, all participants can go for a dip in the swimming pool to finish the evening, courtesy of the City of Humboldt.

The National Night Out is an annual community-building campaign that promotes police/community partnerships and neighborhood camaraderie to make our neighborhoods safer, better places to live.

The Sheriff's Office would like to thank all businesses who have offered to help make this event possible including FC Mercantile, June Dettman and the Table Rock Bank of Humboldt.

Zella Schawang

Zella Schawang, 93, of Falls City, passed away Tuesday, May 10, 2016 at Falls City. She was born on Dec. 24, 1922 to the late John and Nellie (Cozad) Schlicker.

Zella was raised in Falls City and graduated from FC High School in 1940. She worked at One Stop Café, where she met her future husband. She married Peter Schawang on Jan. 1, 1943 at Falls City. He passed away on Aug. 11, 1994.

Once the couple was married, they established their home in Falls City until moving to Salem, where they lived for 15 years until returning to Falls City. She worked as a cook until becoming employed at Pamida, where she worked in the office as bookkeeper. She retired in 1992.

She is survived by her sons, Joseph Thomas (Cheryl) Schawang, of Olathe, KS, and Michael (Janet) Schawang, of Omaha; daughters, Zita Ebel, of Hiawatha, KS, and Lisa (Kiven) Moormeier, of Roca, NE; a sister, Twila Strukooff, of Lincoln; nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband; son-in-law, Gene Ebel; and four brothers.

Services were held Thursday, May 12, 2016 at Dorr & Clark Funeral Home, with Pastor Andrew Chavanak officiating. Interment was at Steele Cemetery.

The HTRS Family and Consumer Science Adaptive Skills class sponsored a community service project for their last academic unit of the year. They have been busy making "Caps for Cancer." With four students in the class, they worked hard cutting, pinning, and sewing the pattern pieces together. They have several colors for the caps and some different sizes to choose from for child, adolescent, or adult. The students have had a good time knowing they are doing something worthwhile for someone else. It has been a wonderful project and great experience for the students. Photographed, from left: Instructor Kathie Hall, Donovan Specht, Kyla Doles and Dane Specht. Brandon Dreier was not available for the picture.

NNRD to spend nearly $350,000 on Steamboat Trace improvements

Groundwater rules updates were once again on the agenda for the NNRD's regular board of directors meeting held May 12, though, no action was scheduled as the board and its Program and Projects Committee are still delving into all the concerns that were reviewed in a special working session of the board held on May 4. A variety of items to be investigated were identified, and the board is beginning work on finding answers for updating its rules governing groundwater quantity. The committee discussed an aggressive meeting schedule to allow more time to work on the updates with a goal of having something in place by the end of the summer.

Dave Hume from Legette, Brashears, & Graham, Inc., was at the meeting to update the board on the progress they have made in their hydrogeologic assessment and mapping project in aquifer regions in the Shubert/Elk Creek area. He reviewed the data they have collected and what they have generated. Their plan is to provide the District with a tool for identifying areas of concern and how to utilize this information.

Only one well permit was on the agenda for approval, and it was submitted by Shawn Kreienhop for an irrigation well in Nemaha County. The ranking score was 293, well above the 201 points required for approval. The board approved the permit.

Five applications were received for the District's Urban Special Project cost-share program. The board voted to approve funding, which is a 50/50 match, for four of the five. Those approved included Johnson-Brock Schools, $24,400 for an outdoor classroom area; Village of Shubert, $500 for a native planting in their park; Auburn Public Schools, $25,000 for a greenhouse project; and Lewiston Public Schools, $3,000 for a butterfly garden/outdoor classroom. The fifth application was from City of Syracuse for a trail project, but it was determined this project was not yet in a position to use the funds within the next year.

Seven bids were presented to the board for a trail improvement project on a two-mile stretch of the Steamboat Trace between Peru and Brownville. Work will include drainage improvements and concrete surfacing of various problem areas. The low bid of $346,311.85 submitted by Kreifels Conservation & Excavating, of Nebraska City, was approved. Work will begin around July 1 and is anticipated to take about 60 days to complete. This section of the trail must be closed during the construction.

May 21-22 free park permit weekend at Nemaha NRD parks

Nemaha Natural Resources District officials have set May 21-22 as Free Park Permit Weekend at three of its public recreation areas: Kirkman's Cove near Humboldt, Iron Horse Trail Lake near DuBois, and Wirth Brothers Lake near Tecumseh. Though a vehicle permit issued by the Nemaha NRD is required at these parks, the NRD board has proclaimed this weekend every year as a free weekend. Visitors have an opportunity to try out the parks at no cost for these two days and perhaps decide if they wish to purchase a permit for future visits.

Annual permits cost $12; or temporary, two-day permits are available for $5. Temporary permits are available at each park from iron collection boxes near the main entrances. Annual permits may be purchased in a variety of ways: at the NRD office east of Tecumseh weekdays from 8-4:30; through the mail by first calling (335-3325) and requesting an application or by printing one from the NRD's website, www.nemahanrd.org; or through the same temporary permit envelopes available at the parks (just mark the appropriate section and insert $12 in the envelope; your permit will be mailed to you within two weeks). Keep in mind that electrical hookup fees for camping are still required during this weekend.

As much as $10,000 is collected annually from the sale of NNRD park permits, which are not the same as Nebraska Game & Parks Commission park entry permits. NNRD permits only admit your vehicle to Kirkman's Cove, Iron Horse Trail Lake, and Wirth Brothers Lake and expire on December 31, regardless of the date of purchase. Proceeds from the sale of the permits are returned directly to these parks for ongoing maintenance and improvements. For example, a new boat dock will be installed at Kirkman's Cove this spring; and a hiking trail is being developed at Iron Horse Trail Lake. Prairie Owl, a small recreation site south of Dunbar in Otoe County, is also operated by the NRD but does not require a permit.

For more information contact the NRD at (402) 335-3325 or check the website at www.nemahanrd.org.

Practical gifts for recent graduates

What graduate doesn't wish to find a new car with a big bow on top in the driveway? While it would be nice to begin a new phase in life with a fresh set of wheels, many gift-givers tend to lean toward more practical items when buying gifts for recent graduates.

Though they might not prove as flashy as a new car, the following gifts can still excite and help students who are going off to work or continuing their educations.

Resumé service: In this competitive job market, individuals need to take advantage of every opportunity to stand out from the crowd. Résumé rules have changed, and graduates will be best served by companies that know the ins and outs of writing effective résumés. Employers often use digital scanning software to sift through applicants, so knowing which keywords and tags to use can ensure a résumé gets noticed. Costs can range from $100 to $200, depending on the services desired.

Electronics: Technology changes on a dime, and it benefits graduates to be equipped with the latest gadgets. A new tablet, laptop or desktop computer may make a great gift. If the price tag is a little high, consider pooling resources with other family members or friends and give electronics as a joint gift.

Noise-cancelling headphones: A set of durable headphones to block out ambient noise may be helpful for graduates going on to college or post-graduate work. Grads entering the workforce can enjoy silence or music as they commute to their offices. These headphones also work well on flights, making them ideal gifts for new grads whose first jobs require a lot of travel.

Home luxuries: Outfit soon-to-be college freshmen with some of the niceties of home. Upgrade dorm furniture with accent pillows or a more comfortable mattress. Put together a luxury gift basket with a high-quality robe, electric razor, spa shampoo, and other toiletries.

Travel tickets: Treat graduates to a trip away from home. Travelers often gain new perspectives and inspiration when visiting a city, state or country for the first time. Travel is good for future entrepreneurs and may help a person stand out in a long list of job applicants. According to Forbes.com, travel can help cultivate relationships outside of one's existing network and provide ideas from others outside of graduates' existing personal and professional circles.

New wardrobe: Gift cards to retailers that specialize in business attire often make welcome gifts for new grads. Some students may need to update their wardrobes so they can look more professional on interviews or at school networking functions.

Luggage: A new suitcase or travel bag is quite handy for students studying abroad. Choose durable luggage that can handle the rigors of travel so cash-strapped new grads have something they can rely on for years to come.

Money: Money remains a one-size-fits-all gift that can be put to many uses. Invest in a graduate's future by buying stock in a stable company, contribute to a college savings account or help grads begin paying back their student loans.

Practicality can come in handy when buying graduation gifts. The best gifts are often those that graduates can put to good use.

We can't wait to meet... ...the other campers in our groups.

Newspaper Fun!

Camp has so many new activities to try!

Are you going to any summer camp? If so, what kind of camp?

Off to Summer Camp!

Chitter and Chatter are going to go to day camp. Forest and I are going to overnight camp for two weeks. Chitter and Chatter only need to bring their lunches each day, but Forest and I must pack more stuff.

Look at Forest on the zip line!

Fill in the blanks below to help Forest and Glade make their list of things to bring to camp:

1. __oo__hbrush	8. __tamp__
2. sh__ts	9. j__ck__t
3. fla__ight	10. h__
4. hair__
5. t__ls
6. so__s
7. pill__

What? I can do the dog paddle too.

How many fireflies are on this page?

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle with the names of different kinds of camps:

Cheerleading	Space	Computer
Marital Arts	Sports	Cartoon
Equestrian	Nature	Theater

Science Music Writing Bible Cooking Dance

I love to read comics by flashlight!

Do you see the glow from that tent?

Freebies! Yay!

More free puzzles: www.readingclubfun.com

Hey guys! Pull harder! Forest is as strong as a bear!

Eeek! Look out for me!!!

No kidding!

Hey! When did you find time to write home?

VERDON MINUTES REGULAR MEETING - MAY 4, 2016 7:30 P.M. - VILLAGE HALL

Chairperson Denise Koso informed the room at large that the revised Open Meetings Act was posted on the wall and called the meeting to order at 7:35 p.m.

ROLL CALL: Present: Gary Cochran, James Cockerham, Denise Koso, Brenda Streit and Clerk Brenda Daniels. Absent: Shannon Weinmann. GUESTS: Tammie Bents, Sheriff Don Pounds, Brian Kirkendall and Emily Scribner.

MINUTES: Motion by Streit, second by Cochran to approve; all trustees present voted YEA. AGENDA: Motion by Streit, second by Cockerham to approve; all trustees present voted YEA. TREASURER'S REPORT: Motion by Koso, second by Cochran to approve; all trustees present voted YEA. MAY 2016 CLAIMS: Motion by Streit, second by Koso to approve paying the claims; all trustees voted YEA.

COMMUNICATIONS 1. The May 2016 shut off notices were reviewed by the Board and all had been paid; 2. Time cards and daily work sheets for April 2016 were reviewed by the Trustees and initialed; 3. A letter from Richardson County Historical Society was read and will be posted if individuals want to donate to them; 4. Clerk Daniels gave a report on the Animal Clinic held on April 30. There was a very good turnout for it and many of the Verdon animal owners are great about getting rabies shots and animal tags for their pets. For those who missed the clinic, you can purchase Verdon animal tags with proof of current rabies shots during regular office hours at the Village Hall.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS 1. Copies of the written update reports for the Village from Maintenance Supervisor Tammie Bents were passed out to each board member.

NEW BUSINESS (1A) Sheriff Pounds requested that the former contract between the Village of Verdon and Richardson County Sheriff's Dept. be revised regarding page 2, 4. C. This is in regards to animals picked up and kept at the Falls City Animal Clinic and that the village would be responsible for the cost if owner of animal didn't pay the expense. Motion made by Streit, with second by Cochran to accept the revised contract and all trustees present voted YEA. (1B) Pounds would like to have the clerk e-mail him copies of the weed or other notice violations when she sends them out. 2. Brian Kirkendall, the new RC Emergency Management Director, introduced himself and answered any questions that came up. 3. Emily Scribner, also from R.C. Emergency Management, was on hand to take applications and pictures for the ID card and badges for the board members and employees to use if a disaster happens. 4. Motion by Koso, second by Streit to put a cap of $300 per month as the top amount to be paid on health insurance for employees; all the trustees voted YEA. 5. The storage building that holds all the old Verdon files needs repairs. Tammie is to check on prices for the materials to do repairs. 6. Two new lawnmower tires are needed for the mower and Tammie had checked on prices and quoted them to the Board. Motion by Koso, second by Cockerham to purchase the tires; all trustees voted YEA. 7. The big tube under the street at 2nd & Walnut needs replaced. We are waiting on a price quote for this project. 8. Clerk was given a list of weed/grass notices to send to those in violation.

ORDINANCES ORDINANCE 2016-100 "SEWER RATE INCREASE" was introduced and read by James Cockerham. Motion by Koso, second by Cochran to pass the first reading with all the trustees present voting YEA. First reading of Ordinance 2016-100 passed and approved.

ADJOURNMENT Motion by Koso, second by Streit to adjourn the meeting at 8:48 p.m.; all the trustees present voted YEA. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned. The next regular monthly meeting for the Village of Verdon will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 1, 2016 at the Verdon Village Hall.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this day in 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court handed down an unanimous decision in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, ruling that racial segregation in public educational facilities is unconstitutional. The historic decision, which brought an end to federal tolerance of racial segregation, specifically dealt with Linda Brown, who had been denied admission to her local elementary school because of the color of her skin.

Groundbreaking

Larsen, the clinic addition will be designed to accommodate additional practitioners moving into the community. The existing clinic was created to handle three to five primary care physicians. The new Family Medicine Clinic and orthopedics will be housed separately, and a new entrance to the physical therapy room will be constructed, as well.

The surgical expansion is driven by an ever-growing demand for orthopedic procedures. Such procedures, incidentally, are driving a healthy bottom line. At the annual meeting in early 2015, Larsen reported 2014 gross revenues at more than $23 million, against $22 million in expenses. The hospital brought in some $5 million more in '14 than it did in 2011, and for three consecutive years it has operated with net annual gains of about $1.5 million each fiscal year.

The community is invited to the event, where they can view the project plans. State Senator Dan Watermeier will be in attendance, along with local dignitaries.

Richardson County Commissioners last month signed a proclamation declaring May as Community Action Month. This month holds special significance for SENCA, which this year is recognizing 50 years of assisting economically challenged residents throughout southeast Nebraska. Photographed, from left: County Board Chairman David Sickel, Ruth Ann Huppert, SENCA Family Development Specialist Melissa Hardenberger, and Commissioners Jim Davidson and James Standerford.

May officially Community Action Month

The Richardson County Commissioners last month signed a proclamation declaring May as Community Action Month. This month holds special significance for Southeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership; in addition to Community Action Month, this year SENCA is recognizing 50 years of helping economically challenged residents throughout southeast Nebraska attain their goal of self-sufficiency.

SENCA focuses on three primary program areas: Community

Economic Development, Family Outreach and Youth Education.

The SENCA Central Office is located at 802 4th St. in Humboldt. ## CONGRATULATIONS THE DALE E. AND EILLEN M. HEINEMAN SCHOLARSHIP

Maggie Goltz

The Richardson Foundation, Inc. is pleased to announce the 2016 Dale E. & Eilleen M. Heineman Scholarship Winner. This year the recipient is Maggie Goltz. Maggie will receive an award of $2,000.00 to the institution of her choice to further her education. The Heineman scholarship is offered to graduates of any Richardson County Nebraska High School who will be enrolled in a college or university program in medicine or other healthcare field. Maggie will be a 2016 graduate of Sacred Heart High School. She is the Valedictorian of her class. She plans to attend Concordia University in Seward this fall. Maggie will major in Biology with the intent of pursuing a Physical Therapy or Occupational Therapy designation. Maggie is the daughter of Doug and Janice Goltz, of Falls City. "The Richardson Foundation, Inc. is pleased to present the winner of the Heineman Scholarship. We wish Maggie and all Richardson County graduates the best in their future endeavors' stated Richardson Foundation, Inc. President Steve Kottich.

Spotlight On: Alice Cleaver May 10-Aug. 7, 2017

By Christina Wertenberger
Curator, Stalder Gallery

If you have visited the Falls City Library and Arts Center lately you may have noticed that something — rather, many — things are missing. What things? The Alice Cleaver paintings that have graced the walls since the opening of the new library and for years before at the Lydia Bruun Memorial Library are missing. The paintings are part of a spotlight exhibition at the Museum of Nebraska Art in Kearney, and will be on display through Aug. 7, 2016.

Alice Cleaver was one of Nebraska's talented and well-trained early women artists. An 1895 graduate of the University of Nebraska, Cleaver pursued further training at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, studying with William Merritt Chase and Cecilia Beaux. During World War I, Cleaver returned to her home town of Falls City, where she continued to paint and exhibit, garnering several honors. This exhibit is comprised of works from MONA's collection and those on loan from the library and Richardson Foundation.

The Museum of Nebraska Art's mission is to promote and sustain art created by Nebraska Artists. It is an honor to have the Cleaver paintings on loan to the Museum of Nebraska Art. If you are traveling west on I-80 this summer, stop in Kearney and visit the Cleaver paintings, you won't regret it.
