

Four Lincoln men arrested south of Salem on Saturday

Four Lincoln men were arrested the morning of Saturday, Aug. 5, south of Salem.

The men were detained for hunting without permission on private property. Three rifles were seized as part of the investigation.

A Honda Civic was located hidden in tall weeds located several hundred yards off the nearest roadway and had Lincoln plates. The men were believed to be in the field over night.

Nebraska Game Wardens have reported that for the last year they have been observing Asian groups from the Lincoln area illegally hunting non-game song birds along with other animals.

The public is reminded to be observant and report suspicious activity to the local Sheriff's Office or the Nebraska Game and Parks.

FC Schools closed Aug. 21 for eclipse

The Falls City Public Schools and Falls City Sacred Heart School will not have school on August 21, the day of the solar eclipse.

The decision comes after safety concerns as the event presents potential dangers to students if viewed without proper eye protection.

Another concern is traffic, as a major influx of visitors are expected to travel to the Falls City area to watch the eclipse. And while schools in the district will be closed August 21, solar eclipse informational material will be sent home with every student on August 18 and all students will receive solar viewing glasses as well.

School will resume as scheduled on August 22.

Painted Lady Butterfly, not Monarch making an entrance in Nebraska

The painted lady butterfly has really made its mark in southeast Nebraska the past couple of weeks. It seems everywhere you go, especially on country roads, you see thousands of these orange and dark colored butterflies.

Why are we seeing so many of these butterflies? There is really no explanation, much of it depends on environmental conditions. The painted lady butterflies tend to move northward through the summer months. They are even seeing several in Alberta, Canada this summer.

They look something like small monarch butterflies, but they are not. Will they cause problems with crops this year? That is a good question. Actually a few people have treated fields or areas of fields where the painted lady caterpillars has defoliated soybeans a great deal.

First let's look at the life cycle of the painted lady butterfly. The adult female butterflies lay their eggs, which are the size of a pin head on plants the painted lady caterpillars like to eat. These include thistles and hollyhock, although they have been found in soybean fields, defoliating soybeans earlier this summer.

The eggs will hatch in three to five days and the caterpillars will eat continuously, growing rapidly and shedding its skin four times.

The caterpillars are around five to ten days and the caterpillars are hairy, black and yellow in color and almost two inches long. The caterpillar will then spin a silk pad to attach to. The caterpillar then forms a chrysalis or pupa. The butterfly will come out of this case in seven to ten days.

When the butterfly emerges, it has a two week life span. During this period, its main goal is to reproduce and lay eggs so the cycle can begin again.

Should we be concerned about when the eggs hatching that the caterpillars will infest the soybeans, defoliating them, causing a reduction in yield?

MRS. A TURNS 90 YEARS YOUNG! - Julie Hopp, Marlene Schwarting, Jennifer James and Carole James look on as Mildred Appleoff blows out the candles on her doughnut birthday cake.

Surprise! Surprise! Surprise!

By Lori Gottula

For Mildred Appleoff, known to generations of Falls Cityans as Mrs. Appleoff or Mrs. A., Saturday, August 5, was full of surprises. The first one came at the David von Behren hymn sing at the Presbyterian church. There really was a hymn sing, and David von Behren really did play several numbers. But the whole thing was mainly a ruse for a 90-minute love fest for Mrs. Appleoff's 90th birthday—a morning celebration that featured many of her favorite hymns. Doug Kirkendall, Jennifer James and Mildred's daughter, Sandy Appleoff, had planned the whole thing with David, and Sandy had compiled the list of hymns after garnering information from her mom.

"I think Mom thought I was planning her funeral," Sandy joked.

The church sanctuary was packed with people, some who knew about the ruse, and some who had come to hear David play. All were treated to the incredible talents of the 23-year-old organist who also played the piano, violin, and trumpet during the hymn sing. For one song, he awed the crowd on the violin while playing the bass part on the organ pedals. In addition, he sang his own personal arrangement of "You Raise Me Up" and Amazing Grace (My Chains are Gone)," and dedicated the performance to Mrs. A.

"When I think of the influence that she has had on my life and the lives of countless others," he said, "Words cannot express our gratitude for the gift that Mrs. A has given to us – the gift of music. And in the words of Heinrich Heine, 'where words leave off, music speaks.'"

Although David was the main performer, he shared the limelight with several other people. His mom, Glenda, played the piano or organ for various numbers.

'BOATING IN CENTRAL PARK'

July 11, 1953

In New York's famous wilderness, Central Park, you can hike, boat, bicycle, ride horseback, woo a wife, climb small mountains, get lost in small woods, and on the zoo trails meet many wild animals including people who make faces at monkeys. If you don't think New Yorkers get more exercise than country people, buy some liniment and see how far you can trudge in the park without crying, "Help! Taxi!" To this resort go many sailors to take a vacation from water by rowing a boat weighted down by a girl—a curious phenomenon, as you would think the girl would row the sailor. That one soldier in the picture is not lost; he is following the girl. And that painter is not John Falter—John can paint without a beard.

FALLS CITY, NE

Where has the summer gone? A few days before July a couple of my friends told me they would in Falls City in July, and I made a mental note to text them back, and now it’s August (I forgot to text them back). I honestly have no idea how that happened. The summer flying by is nothing new, everyone you talk to will tell you the same thing wasn’t it just May?

Some of you may have noticed that the Falls City Journal website has a new look. We have been working with our host site to get it up and running for the past few months. Its been a long and tedious process, but we finally see the light at the end of the tunnel

This last week we got all of our E-edition subscribers switched to the new site. The problem is that everyone was listed as expired. So it was my task to go through all of our subscribers, all of them, not just the e-edition subscribers, each print subscriber and compare names and adjust the expiration date. So if you think I may have missed you in this process, please email me at nikkifcjournal@sentco.net or fcjournalads@sentco.net, and I will get that fixed. Send me your address so I can get your expiration date on there. It’s not a perfect system and if someone has a paper in someone else’s name, but they share a house address I wouldn’t catch that. So feel free to shoot me an email, and I will get things taken care of on our end.

Basically, with the big website rehaul and work, my life has been going to work and going home and trying to catch a little bit of a movie before bed. August is my favorite time on TCM because its Summer Under The Stars. Each day is a new star to highlight, and some amazing stars get to shine. The other day was Lon Chaney day, and I so wish I could have just called in sick. Want to see the greatest acting scene of all time? Go find The Unknown staring Lon Chaney and a very young Joan Crawford from 1927. Because I am not doing anything fun or of note, I really want to recommend some excellent movies to catch this month if the weather gets unbearably hot again.

August 9, Sandra Dee Day - 4:45 PM Imitation of Life, while I prefer the Colbert version, this story is timeless.

August 10, Sidney Poitier - 11:00 PM In The Heat of the Night

August 11, Ginger Rogers - 7:00 PM Kitty Foyle, This is my favorite Rogers film and she isn’t dancing and playing a serious roll and she is incredible in it.

August 12, John Wayne - 4:45 PM The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance, it took me years to give in to John Wayne. I am not a ‘western’ person, but when Larry Nedrow tells you to watch a John Wayne film, you do it. This one has stuck with me like a heavy meal. I savored it and loved every moment of it. Its just so good.

August 13, Barbara Stanwyck - 11:00 The Lady Eve, Stanwyck is so deliciously mischievous towards Henry Fonda, how can you not love it?

August 14, Vanessa Redgrave and August 15, Ricardo Montalban - I don’t know enough about them to recommend anything for these days. Maybe I’ll be home in time to catch something to recommend at a later date or someone can recommend something to me.

August 16, Elvis Presley - (40th Anniversary of his death) - 7:00 PM Elvis That’s The Way It Is. Brian really got me into Elvis and there is just something so wonderful and kind of sad about this documentary. It makes me a little teary, but the voice is so beautiful. It’s a must.

August 17, Rosalind Russell - She is one of my very favorite women who has ever graced the silver screen. So I will tell you to watch every film on that day, but I know that is not doable on a Thursday. So my second favorite film of all time is The Women, and that is on at 8:15 AM that morning. You can also see His Girl Friday at 11:00 PM.

August 18, Rod Taylor - 5:00 PM Sunday in New York or 7:00 PM The Birds. Both beautiful classics.

August 19, Angela Lansbury - 9:30 PM Gaslight.

August 20, Cary Grant - All of them. Its a Sunday so you can watch them all. If you can’t there better be a good excuse. You can watch my all time favorite film, The Philadelphia Story at 5:00 PM or the film for which this column was named Walk Don’t Run at 3:00 AM. It’s worth staying up for.

August 21, Ann Harding - Brian McKim will tell you that 5:00 PM It Happened on 5th Ave. is 100 percent worth watching, as its one of his favorites.

August 22, Glen Ford - 3:00 PM Blackboard Jungle, the first time I saw this I was mesmerized by Ford and Poitier’s performance.

August 23, Greer Garson - She may be the only woman who can make me break down in tears just by seeing her face. Random Harvest is one of the best and saddest films of all time. Goodness, I love it so much, but my heart can’t take watching it that often. Her eyes and her face break my heart into so many pieces. I have fallen in love with Garson so hard over the years. TCM is not showing Random Harvest on her big day, but they are showing another of my favorites, Mrs. Miniver at 12:00 AM. If you have time, (its a Wednesday) fall in love with her too. It’s easy.

Yin-Yang: Stories that didn’t make the obituaries

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

In journalism school we had to write obituaries as “punishment” for having misspelled words in our stories.

Today, while I don’t relish death, I do look forward to reading the obits of people I knew and saying some things about the deceased that would never make the obituaries. I was recently afforded the opportunity by the deaths of two prominent Nebraskans.

Warren Urbom was 91. John DeCamp was 76. Both attorneys. Both veterans. One was a judge, the other was judged.

Yin and Yang. One was the dark swirl who operated in the shadows. The other was light, brightness. But, while seemingly the opposite, they were actually complementary and both played important roles in the tapestry of government and justice that often landed on this reporter’s plate.

DeCamp, a Vietnam veteran, spent 16 years in the Nebraska Unicameral. He also ran for the Republican Party nomination for the U.S. Senate and for Governor. Urbom was drafted into the Army in 1944. He became a United States District Court Judge in 1970 and spent more than 40 years on the bench.

Descriptions of DeCamp ranged from colorful to iconoclastic to lecherous. Depending on who you asked, there were also words that couldn’t be printed. He was a master of the rules of the Legislature and used them to his advantage, often changing his mind – and the game – at the last minute. He had a full-size ping-pong table in his Capitol office and a lot of business was conducted one-on-one from opposite ends of that table. DeCamp, with or without a ping-pong paddle, was a competitor.

Urbom was lauded as fair and innovative. He survived the Dust Bowl, the loss of his left eye at age 3, and a stint in the Army during World War II. He spent a year in seminary and summers working for his dad’s earth-moving business in South Central Nebraska, before deciding he was going to be an attorney. Among the innovations he brought to the court was allowing jurors to take notes during trial and allowing them to ask questions of witnesses.

DeCamp and his close colleague Senator Loran Schmit of Bellwood (he sat behind Schmit in the George W. Norris Legislative Chamber) often teamed up on issues. One of their collaborations was a proposed pipeline from the coalfields of Wyoming to the steel mills of the eastern United States. It called for crushing the coal into a powder, mixing it with water and pumping the slurry through the pipes across several states. Opposition from the railroads and lack of a plan to return the water to the valuable Ogallala Aquifer effectively killed that measure.

Urbom signed on in 1974 for what he thought would be a weeklong trial of Native Americans who had been arrested during the second battle of Wounded Knee in South Dakota. He stayed on the multiple cases for a year. Early in the trials, federal marshals told Urbom that some of the Native Americans in the courtroom didn’t stand when he entered the room. One of the Natives explained that they didn’t mean disrespect, but simply didn’t want to act as if they did respect the prosecution. Urbom told the bailiffs to leave out the words “all rise” when he entered the court. He said no one ever explained the reason for the “all-rise” to him anyway.

I don’t know that DeCamp ever appeared in Urbom’s courtroom. I don’t know if they ever met. As DeCamp was overcome with conspiracy theories in the case of the failed Franklin Credit Union – he wrote a book about it – it could have happened. But those matters, including several deaths, which DeCamp blamed on the subsequent probe, never made it to Urbom’s court.

That leaves an unwritten chapter in the lives of these two prominent Nebraskans. So alike, yet so different.

Surprise! Surprise! Surprise!

-bers, and his dad, John, made his percussion debut at David's request. In addition, Cindy Bangert performed a song that she had written for Mrs. Appleoff, to the tune of "Hallelujah," Cindy was backed up by a choir of approximately 30 former students and/or people whose lives had been touched by Mrs. A. The choir then sang "Oh Happy Day," featuring soloist Patty Kimmel, (who had traveled from Washington State). The choir finished with "Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's Messiah.

"My students sang 'Hallelujah Chorus' every year," Mrs. A. said during a post hymn- sing interview. "But I was amazed that everyone still knew the song so well! Some of them graduated in the early to mid-70's!" But she knew the song verbatim as well, and she was turning 90! "I guess when you practice a song so much, you sing it on autopilot," she said.

Several other people participated in the hymn sing, too. Doug Kirkendall conducted the choir, and also served as emcee. The Giles sisters—Jennifer (James), Julie (Hopp), and Janine (McClintock) sang "Be Thou My Vision" with their mother, Jeanne Giles. Dwight Mullins, a native of Reserve, added extra flair throughout the program on the guitar and trombone. And yours truly performed American Sign Language as the congregation sang "Here I Am, Lord."

"It was a wonderful program," Mrs. Appleoff said, "I can't say enough about David von Behren, his talent and his generosity. And the church was perfect. The acoustics were exceptional. It was a nice gesture by the Presbyterian Church, to host the event."

The church not only hosted, but provided a reception afterward with two birthday cakes, coffee, and a tier of donuts that Sandy had brought along. Kudos, Presbyterians!

Mrs. Appleoff's second surprise of the day came right before the final song at the hymn sing. Debbie Palmer of Natural Designs and I presented Mildred with a beautiful bouquet that Debbie had made, and we announced that Mildred had been selected to serve as the grand marshal of the Falls City Cobblestone parade on August 26th. An audible gasp rose from the audience, followed by raucous applause. The selection committee had obviously made a very popular choice. Mildred will follow the American flag, and lead the rest of the parade down Harlan Street. The honoree was visibly overwhelmed.

"I think I have died and gone to heaven," she said. Following the hymn sing, Mildred's family and friends dispersed, and many reconvened an hour later at the Appleoff farm for the final surprise of the day; a picnic and an afternoon full of show tunes. Everyone who sang gave tribute to the woman who had planted the seed of music in Falls City residents for decades. She taught in the public school system for 23 years, and at Sacred Heart for two years. She also taught piano and organ lessons for decades, so in some way, she has touched every Falls City resident. Even if she didn't teach someone directly, she taught his or her parent, teacher, or friend.

For the show tunes portion of the afternoon, approximately 50 people braved the on-and-off downpours under a huge tent that Sandy had set up for the rainy day. Mildred's son, Doug, a professional musician based in Los Angeles, played accompaniment for anyone who wanted to get up and sing. The cool temperatures only added to the ambiance as friends and family huddled together to listen to tunes like "The Lion Sleeps Tonight," and "By My Side" from the musical, Godspell.

Mildred's daughter, Connie, placed a crown on her mom's head, and the queen for the day reigned over her party.

"My three kids have been with me every inch of the way on my musical journey,"

Mildred said. "My husband Bob, was, too." (She and Bob were married for 54 years when he passed away in 2001. She later married Gale Marsh, who has since passed, also.)

"Music brings people together," Mildred said. "It's not mechanical. It's music. It breathes. It lives." What a beautiful quote from Falls City's matriarch of music. And the fact that it came from Mildred is truly no surprise at all.

Happy Anniversary

Elliott’s celebrate 60th wedding anniversary

Norman ‘Norm’ and Joyce Elliott celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on August 25, 2017. The two were high school sweethearts and married at the Christian Church in Verdon, NE. The Lord blessed the couple with two children, Donna Sue (Jim) Balke and Brent Lee Elliott, five ‘grands’ and nine ‘greats.’ The two enjoy global travel touring six of the seven continents, 65 countries (most several times) and all 50 U.S. states. As enthusiastic cyclists they pedaled the USA coast-to-coast solo at age 60 followed by short cycling tours in Denmark, Norway and South Africa, the June 2001 Bike Ride Across Nebraska (BRAN) and biked 600 miles throughout Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and Laos in Southeast Asia at age 66. They were self-employed partners in banking, insurance and real estate sales and appraisals and active volunteers in Christian ministry. They plan to celebrate their milestone touring Israel.

Kids of all ages danced in the middle of Stone Street in Falls City, to the music of the popular children’s group The String Beans.

The String Beans come to Falls City

From pop and country to rap and rock n’ roll, The String Beans performed a wide variety of original, family-friendly songs on July 8, 2017. They entertained the crowd with their music about animals, cartoons, food, science, sports and lots more. The show was hilarious, inclusive and spontaneous, and each catchy tune had the audience dancing and singing along. Falls City Public Schools Sixpence Program hosted The String Beans! SENCA Outreach served hot dogs along with the Chamber Main Street serving lemonade and providing a balloon artist and a face painter.

Brownville Fine Arts to present Herpetology speaker

The Brownville Fine Arts Association is proud to present a talk by Professor Dennis Ferraro on “Amphibians, Turtles and Reptiles of Nemaha County and Brownville Area” at the Schoolhouse Art Gallery Aug. 18 at 6:00pm. This is the fourth of five talks scheduled as part of the ongoing Summer 2017 Speaker Series. Dennis Ferraro is the resident herpetologist and professor of practice at the School of Natural Resources at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

He has been a UNL faculty member since 1990. He is originally from Connecticut, and grew up fascinated with the creatures in and around ponds near his home. By the time he was in third grade, he knew what a herpetologist was and that he wanted to be one. “My mother started out being afraid of snakes, but after so many got loose in the house, she had to learn to live with it,” he recalled. “My husbandry technique was not as refined as it is now. Now nothing gets out.”

Concordia Guild

Nine members and two guests, Barbara Shurtleff and Karson Simpson, attended the July 17, quarterly meeting of the Falls City Chapter of Concordia Guild of Seward held at Christ Lutheran Church in Falls City.

The meeting began with the program, an informative talk by Timothy von Behren, a graduate of Concordia University in Seward, NE with a triple major in Biology, Chemistry and Exercise Science with a concentration in Cell and Molecular Biology. Timothy is beginning his third year of study in the Doctorate of Physical Therapy program at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City. His very informative program focused on his studies in Neuroanatomy, Pathophysiology, and Pharmacology. The group partook asking lots of questions and learned much about the things we wear and drink and their link to cancer cells.

Connie Rowland led the devotion for the day with an article from Soup and Salad. We learned that seen things are temporary and unseen or not seen things are eternal and that only things belonging to God will last. Gods word lasts forever!

President Jane Huebner called the business meeting to order. Roll call was taken and the April meeting minutes were read and approved. Treasurer Marleen Mehlin was absent but filed her report.

The next meeting will be held on October 16, at Faith Lutheran Church in Humboldt, with Humboldt members hosting.

President Jan and Ruth Groothis were the auctioneers for the food and craft items after which the group enjoyed angel food cake with whipped cream, strawberries and blueberries, carrying out the July 4 theme. Hostesses were Marjorie Eames and Ruth Groothis.

Southeast Nebraska Community
Action Partnership, Inc. (SENCA)
Head Start annual report to the public

Head Start is an early childhood development program that provides comprehensive services to children age three to five and their families. Families served are primarily at or below the 100 percent poverty level. Head start can serve up to 35 percent of children that are at or below the 130percent level and up to 10 percent of children above the poverty guideline.

Head Start is a federally funded program receiving its federal dollars via the Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families, and Office of Head Start. The federal government requires Head Start programs to obtain a 25 percent non-federal match on every federal dollar expended within their program.

The in-kind match is meant to have communities show support and have a stake in the Head Start program. Without the tremendous support of volunteers this program would not be possible. Southeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership, Inc. (SENCA) is a grantee for the Head Start program that currently serves the southeast Nebraska counties of Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, and Richardson. SENCA has been the grantee agency for the Head Start program in southeast Nebraska since 1968. SENCA Head Start is funded to serve 151 children with 32 slots in Nemaha County, 53 slots in Otoe County, 18 slots in Pawnee County, and 48 slots in Richardson County. The SENCA Head Start centers are located in Auburn, Nebraska City, Table Rock, and Falls City. Collaboration sites include Bulldog Beginnings at Auburn Public Schools, HTRS Early Education Center at HTRS Public Schools, and Parent Child Center at Falls City Public Schools. With a fleet of seven buses, one being handicap accessible, every effort is made to provide transportation to all children who attend school at SENCA Head Start sites. SENCA Head Start operates Monday through Friday with classes held Monday through Thursday in part-day and full-day programs.

SENCA Head Start utilizes the Creative Curriculum 5th edition for Preschool in our classrooms. We also implement Positive Behavior Instructional Support, a systematic approach to preventing or reducing challenging behaviors and, eventually, enhancing the quality of life for individuals and support providers. All activities in the Head Start classrooms are based on learning through play, allowing for the educational opportunity to be given to every child. The program starts by teaching children school readiness and self-sufficiency skills of: listening, following directions, letters, names, numbers, cutting, sharing, snapping, zipping, pouring, setting the tables, as well as cleaning up. Individualization is done with every child, making it a fun and safe atmosphere on a daily basis. Our goal is to have every child ready for kindergarten when that time arrives.

Good health and wellness are essential components of the SENCA Head Start program. These components consist of physical health, dental health, social and emotional health, and nutrition. The objective of the health component is to ensure all child health and development concerns are identified and children and families are linked to ongoing sources of continuous, accessible care to meet their health needs. A registered dietician reviews nutritional information for each child allowing the dietician to make suggestions for families on how to improve or maintain their child’s nutritional needs for growth and development.

Parent and family engagement is a critical component of the Head Start program. Parents are encouraged to work at home with their own children. Home visits by teaching and social service staff are another way we involve and reinforce parents in their role as prime educators of their children. SENCA Head Start guides and assists parents in encouraging their children’s development. This kind of parent participation reinforces and supports the child’s total Head Start experience.

Angela K. Antholz, SENCA Head Start and Deputy Director, along with a team of Coordinators, Teachers, and support staff are preparing for the 2017-2018 school year. To review the full Head Start Annual Report to the Public for the 2016-2017 program year, please visit www.senca.org.

Once Upon A Stage performance at Harkendorff Center

The performance of ‘Once Upon A Stage’ was well attended as over 75 people were highly entertained at the Harkendorff Event Center in Falls City on Sunday, July 9. The show was the culmination of 17 students who enrolled in the first ever Youth Theater Workshop in Falls City.

The six week course, directed by Samantha Berry, a recent York College Theatre graduate was set to music and dazzling lights as the unconventional fairy tales unfolded from a Substitute Fairy Godmother, to an Evil Queen with her Talking Mirror, to a Big Bad Wolf who wasn’t so awfully bad, all the way to a misunderstood Goldilocks, an angry Maleficent, the vengeful Three Little Pigs and finally a small group of adorable munchkins. It was a rollicking food time and community is looking forward to more productions from Samantha Berry and the Harkendorff Event Center.

Off duty officer pulls woman off Mo. river bridge

On Saturday, July 29, 2017, off duty Richardson Co. Deputy Jonathon Kirkendall, noticed a woman sitting on the north railing of the Missouri River Bridge at Rulo. Kirkendall exited his vehicle and conversed with the woman at a distance. The woman was threatening to jump off the bridge.

Officer Kirkendall talked to the woman until Sgt. Jeff Frederick of the R.C. Sheriff's office arrived on the scene. Kirkendall motioned for Sgt. Frederick to keep a short distance away. Kirkendall later stated that the arrival of the marked patrol car and uniformed Deputy made the woman more agitated.

Kirkendall continued to talk to the woman as he made his way closer to her until he was able to wrap his arms around her and pull her away from the railing. Both officers were able to get the woman into Sgt. Frederick's patrol car and off of the bridge.

The Targeted Adult Service Coordination Crisis Response Team (TASC) was called. The Mental Health Professionals were able to do an evaluation on the woman.

Other agencies on the scene were the Iowa Tribal Police Department, Sac and Fox Police Department and Brown County Sheriff's Department.

Police Department preparing for influx of tourists ahead of eclipse

By Nikki McKim

Some people have been preparing nearly ten years for the Great American Eclipse, others may wait until the week before to prepare for the show, but local law enforcement has been thinking and preparing for the public's safety for quite a while now.

With the population of Falls City and several neighboring communities expected to swell, local law enforcement anticipates a busy weekend ahead of the eclipse. The Falls City Police Department plans to have extra officers on duty, and a lot of those officers will specifically be out doing traffic enforcement. The high volume of people expected to flock to Falls City due to its speculator eclipse viewing location could cause several issues. The Falls City Police Department hopes that working on traffic enforcement will prevent people from breaking traffic laws and in turn keep other drivers and pedestrians out of danger as well.

Prior to the eclipse, starting on August 18, law enforcement will be participating in the "You Drink and Drive, You Lose" campaign. This enforcement campaign will put extra officers on the streets in hopes of deterring drunk drivers. There will be zero tolerance for drunk driving.

The Falls City Police Department assured the Journal that they are prepared for the potential of several calls. They also would like to assure the public that there will be a significant law enforcement presence in Falls City on Monday, Aug. 21.

Law enforcement agencies around the United States have announced their plan to step up law enforcement in smaller communities within the prime viewing area. Other tips to follow: Don't drive and try to look at the eclipse. Please pull to the shoulder if you plan to watch the event. Be aware of distracted drivers. Keep an eye on others who may not follow the law. Officials are more concerned with driving safety during the eclipse than anything. Be aware of your surroundings; Falls City may be inundated with several strangers from all over. Play it safe and use common sense.

For everyone keeping track at home, and I know I’m not the only one, the Husker football season is less than a month away. Nebraska started practice a week ago, and so far there are no major injuries to report, so that’s good news. Also, there has not been anything substantial to report on quite yet. The offense looks ok according to reports, don’t look for major changes out of the offense. With a pro style quarterback running the show we will see more progressions on pass plays, tighter spirals, and sharper passes. Not to worry though Husker nation we will still see plenty of opportunities from our stable of running backs. I don’t foresee us going to a strictly passing attack while abandoning the run.

What I fully expect to see is far better execution, not only from the quarterback but also from our offensive line. I feel in the past Tommy Armstrong Jr. made up his mind in the huddle whom he was going to throw the ball to, whether covered or not. You will not see that out of any of our quarterbacks this season. If a receiver is not open, they will continue to check down until they find an open man, you will even see the running backs catching more passes if that’s what the defense is giving us.

I’m not too worried about the offense. However, the defense with Bob Diaco’s new scheme may give us some trouble. The Blackshirts will do an excellent job. However, it will take some time for the defense to get completely comfortable in the new 3-4. We will see some guys out of position early on and maybe guys looking a little lost at times, there is always a learning curve, but once things start to gel, the Blackshirts will once again be a force to be reckoned with.

This past week the Huskers also added Gary Darnell as a defensive consultant to help install the new defense. Darnell will add considerable expertise on the defensive side of the ball this fall. Previously, Darnell was a defensive coordinator at Kansas St., Wake Forrest, Notre Dame, Florida, Texas and Texas A&M. He was also a head coach at Florida (interim), Western Michigan and Texas A&M (interim). Darnell was hired after the passing Coach Bob Elliott last month.

Also in the news last week, according to a report by the Lincoln Journal Star, the Husker athletic department is close to a new licensing agreement with Adidas. If the report is correct the new deal would significantly increase the money Adidas already pays Nebraska.

Reports indicate the deal could be worth as much as 128 million over 11 years. Roughly half of the estimated dollars would come in the form of shoes and apparel for the athletes and coaches. Adidas and Nebraska have been partners since 1995, and with the new deal, they will remain partners for many years to come.

Has anyone else seen the alternate uniforms they were unveiled last week. Usually, I’m not a fan of this; I prefer to keep things the same when it comes to uniforms and helmets. This year’s jerseys to be worn against Wisconsin are amazing. They are a tribute to the 1997 team, our last national title team. The jerseys will have mesh on the numbers and stripes on the arms as a nod to the jerseys worn by the ’97 team. I have a feeling these will be quite popular with the fan base.

Finally, the preseason Amway Coaches Poll was released last week with Alabama garnering the top spot. Four Big Ten schools were represented in the top 10 with Ohio St. at #2, Penn S. at #6, Michigan at #9 and Wisconsin coming in at #10. Nebraska received votes to come in at the equivalent at #36. I will now go on record and make my predictions for this fall. Nebraska will over-achieve and finish the regular season at 9-3. The Huskers will lose early at Oregon but will bounce back with a home win against Wisconsin on October 7.

Nebraska will then fall the following week to Ohio St. but will bounce back two weeks later with a win against Northwestern. The final loss will come at the hands of Penn St. before beating Iowa to bring the season to a close. With wins against the Badgers, Northwestern, and Iowa, the Huskers will win the Big Ten West division and will travel to Indianapolis to take on the Michigan Wolverines.

Look for the Huskers to give the Wolverines a good game but they will fall just short but will be rewarded with a top tier bowl game and finish the season with a victory and a 10-4 record. I know wishful thinking right? We’ll see come January. Go Big Red.

Students are required to be immunized against measles, mumps, rubella, poliomyelitis, diphtheria, pertussis, varicella and tetanus prior to enrollment and any student not in compliance shall not be permitted to continue in school. Two (2) doses of MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) are required for all K-12 students. All 7th grade students are required to have had one dose of Tdap (must contain pertussis booster) after 10 or 11 years of age. Exemptions shall be granted for: 1) medical exceptions for health reasons substantiated by a signed statement from a physician, physician's assistant or nurse practitioner; or 2) religious conflict substantiated by a signed affidavit from the student or the student's legal guardian, if the student is a minor. Students may be provisionally enrolled in a Nebraska school if they have begun the required immunizations and continue to receive the necessary immunizations as rapidly as is medically feasible. ASBESTOS NOTIFICATION

Asbestos is an issue we have been dealing with for many years. The Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act of 1986 (referred to as AHERA), was enacted recently by Congress. AHERA was enacted to determine the extent of and develop solutions for any problems schools may have with asbestos.

To give you some background, asbestos has been used as a building material for many years. It is a naturally occurring mineral that is mined primarily in Canada, South Africa, and the U.S.S.R. Asbestos properties made it an ideal building material for insulation, sound absorption, decorative plasters, fireproofing and a variety of miscellaneous uses. There have been over 36,000 different products made using asbestos materials. EPA began action to limit uses of asbestos products in 1973 and most uses of asbestos products as building materials were banned in 1978.

We have had our facilities inspected by a certified asbestos inspector, as required by AHERA. The inspector located, sampled and rated the condition and hazard potential of all material in our facilities suspected of containing asbestos. The inspection and laboratory analysis records were turned over to a professional certified firm to develop asbestos management plans.

An asbestos management plan was developed for our facilities which includes: this notification letter, education and training of our employees, a set of plans and procedures designed to minimize the disturbance of the asbestos containing materials (ACM) and plans for regular surveillance of the ACM.

Falls City Public School, complying with this plan, removed all of the friable asbestos from its buildings. Some floor tile containing asbestos still remain.

A copy of the asbestos management plan is available for your inspection in our administrative offices during regular office hours. Mike Kafer is our asbestos program coordinator and all inquiries regarding the plan should be directed to him.

We have implemented the asbestos management plan. We are intent on not only complying with, but exceeding federal, state and local regulations in this area. We plan on taking whatever steps are necessary to insure your children and our employees have a healthy, safe environment in which to learn and work.

MISSING CHILDREN IDENTIFICATION ACT

The law requires all new enrolling students to provide: 1) a certified birth certificate, or 2) other reliable proof of the student's identity and age accompanied by an affidavit explaining the inability to produce a birth certificate.

Female grade school teacher supervision at ball games

By Gerri Hunter

We hear horror stories about adults losing control of their emotions at baseball and softball games across America. They’re assaulting umpires, coaches and other parents and children. I have a no-nonsense approach to this problem that will work.

We need female grade school teachers to supervise these games. These are tough ladies who can stand up to any bully. I remember the female grade school teachers I knew in school. One scowl, with their arms crossed at their midsection, left all of us quivering where we stood. We were instantly sweating and looking for the building’s nearest exit sign.

These ladies had lunchroom duty, too. No green beans and spinach flew through the air when they were watching. No trays were thrown at the boys who didn’t participate in sports. The girls who weren’t wearing the most fashionable clothing were not taunted by girls who could afford the best dress and winter coat.

Recess was chaos every day. Boys were pulling girls’ hair and hogging the swing set. Once these tough lady teachers monitored the playground, normalcy returned.

When school ended for the day, our female teachers were outside monitoring our behavior as we boarded buses or entered the cars of our parents. Little Bobby and the big brute, Larry, knew better than to attack any of us.

Nothing has changed in the twenty-first century when it comes to tough, female grade school teachers. Today’s teachers are just as professional as the ones I knew.

That’s why my idea of using these glorious teachers to control parents at games would work. Schools would be forced to pay these ladies handsomely to appear at baseball and softball games. The ladies could stand near the dugouts and just scowl and watch everything that transpires. If they were to see a parent in the bleachers explode in anger, they would quietly march over and have a serious talk with that parent before they had a chance to enter the playing field and do something silly. All of these parents had tough female teachers when growing up. They have just forgotten what it means to face one again.

Another nice touch would be to purchase Oxford shoes and a sun hat for each lady umpire. A wooden 12-inch ruler would also be a nice touch. The teacher supervisor could stand near the bleachers quietly slapping the ruler into the palm of one hand. Her body language would do her talking for her. None of the adults in the crowd would cause trouble.

We all learned basic lessons in grade school concerning respect and playing fair. If some folks need a reminder, these tough ladies will get the job done.

SEZ-I

‘Heroin epidemic’

Drug overdose is now the leading cause of accidental death in the United States. In 2014, it surpassed both car accidents and gun violence in number of deaths. Those with loved ones who are using opiates or heroin need to be aware that opiates are the main contributors to this problem. With drug dealers across the United States mixing new and powerful synthetic drugs into street opiates such as heroin, the chance of accidental overdose has exponentially increased. The drug Fentanyl, U-47700, and Fentanyl can be 50 to 100 times more powerful than heroin, making the risk of a fatal overdose much higher. Drug dealers have been using this drug to increase the potency of their heroin at a lower cost.

These new drugs are increasing the risk to any who abuse drugs as drug dealers press drugs into pills and selling them under the guise of being something else. Today, those who abuse drugs truly are at risk as there is no telling what drugs they are taking.

Now more than ever, it is essential to help those you know who are addicted to alcohol or drugs. Trying to help someone with an addiction can be more than frustrating. And although you just want to help, many times they fight against you as if you were the enemy. Don’t be surprised if your loved even accuses you of contributing to their addiction. Hear them out and take their words into consideration but at the end of the day realize getting them sober and continuing to live is the most important thing.

These drugs have made it potentially life threatening to be an abuser of any types of drugs. Get yourself educated. If one of your loved ones is struggling with addiction, get them into treatment. Don’t wait until it is too late. There are many different approaches to the challenge of how to help a substance abuser. For free information, learn the steps of how to get someone into treatment for heroin addiction. You can also visit <http://www.narcononnewliferetreat.org/blog/are-you-an-addict.html> or call 1 800-431-1754 to get help for your loved ones.

-tion in yield? This is a possibility.

In speaking with UNL Extension Entomologist, Robert Wright, his recommendation is to continually scout soybean fields for the painted lady caterpillars.

If defoliation reaches 20 percent during the reproductive stage, treatment with an insecticide may be warranted. So it would be a good idea to check your fields the next few weeks in August to watch out for the painted lady caterpillar. You may have other pests in your soybeans as well, i.e bean leaf beetle and/or the soybean aphid, which may show up with the cool weather we are having.

If you recall a few years ago we had an infestation of the spotted skipper butterflies in the early summer and then in August, some people had an infestation of the spotted skipper caterpillars in their soybeans with a few people treating fields. If you have questions, feel free to call me at (402) 274-4755 or email glesoing2@unl.edu or gary.lesoing@unl.edu.

Find The Power
When the disciple Peter's faith failed, he almost drowned. Later, Spirit-filled and full of faith, he helped change history. Doubt allows defeat. Faith enables victory. The faith that counts is faith in Jesus. Hear faith-building words this week in church.

Gearing up for fall sports seasons

(StatePoint) Whatever your outdoor athletic passions are, the fall season is an ideal time of year to get out and enjoy them. However, the pleasant weather and fresh air may have you pushing new boundaries and venturing farther than ever. Whether you are hiking a trail or training for a fall marathon, this great gear can help you before, during and after your next big activity.

Before You Go: You are likely well-versed in the need for sunscreen and bug spray to prevent burns and itch. But there is one more essential skin care item that all endurance athletes should have and apply before their next long run or hike: chafing and blister prevention products. While there are many name brand glides and gels on the market, a thin layer of petroleum jelly applied to areas prone to this irritation often works just as well.

While You're There: Just because you're off the beaten path doesn't mean you want to be off the grid. Stay connected wherever your journey takes you. A timepiece is often the best choice for active outdoor adventures, since it keeps one's hands free. Consider the WSD-F20 Protek smart outdoor watch from Casio, which features low power consumption GPS and location memory that can help you map your course and stay on track even when you're offline. Its rugged build and water resistance makes it a good choice for the outdoors, while its functions like altimeter, barometer, thermometer and compass can help keep you informed.

Then You Get Home: The benefits of a foam roller are numerous, and no fall athlete should be without this simple tool. After a long workout, hike or training session, use a foam roller to help reduce muscle tightness and recover faster, so you can get back to your favorite activities sooner. While there are a range of varieties available in sporting goods stores, most foam rollers are affordable and durable, making them a great investment for athletes of all levels.

This fall, get geared up properly to make the most of all your athletic endeavors.

Missouri River Bridge inspection at Rulo to begin next week

The Missouri Department of Transportation's employs a program of inspection, repair and maintenance of the more than 10,000 bridges across the state.

This program ensures the bridges are kept in the best possible condition for as long as possible for all those that travel across Missouri's roadways.

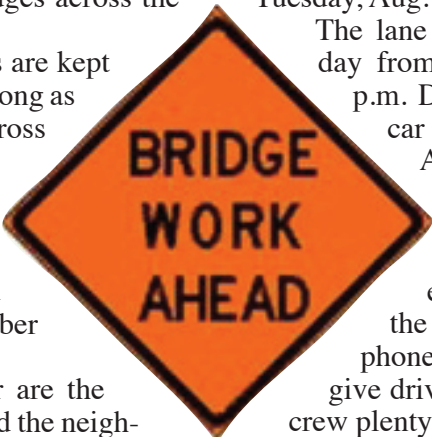

The Missouri River Bridge on U.S. Route 159 connecting Missouri and Rulo, was rebuilt beginning in September 2010 and reopened to the public in September 2013.

Bridges along Missouri's border are the shared responsibility of Missouri and the neighboring states. The Nebraska Department of Transportation maintains the Rulo bridge and has scheduled an inspection of this bridge with lane closures Tuesday, Aug. 15 through Friday, Aug. 18.

The lane closure will remain in place each day from approximately 7:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. During the work a flagger and pilot car will direct traffic across the bridge.

All work is weather permitting and schedules are subject to change.

Motorists are advised to be alert for work zone signs and extra equipment on the roadways during the inspection. Please put down your phone and other distractions so you can give driving your full attention and give the crew plenty of room to safely do their work.
