'THE DEATH OF A SOLDIER'

By Lori Gottula

None of us, except those who have been enlisted in the United States Navy, will ever understand the commitment that a sailor has to his or her shipmates and vessel. Sailors become so attached to their ship that the liner becomes wife, mistress, sister, mother, and friend. Many have fought to the bitter end for their ships, but it would hard to find one who has done so with more valor than Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, Reinhardt J. Keppler.

Keppler was just 18 when he enlisted in the US Navy, back in 1936. World War II wasn't even on the horizon yet. Keppler just wanted a place to call home, and a job to call a career.

The son of German immigrants, Keppler was a hard-working son-of-a-gun, and quickly advanced through the ranks to Boatswain's First Mate. He was 22 when he reported for duty aboard the U.S.S. San Francisco, and 24 when he collapsed aboard his vessel. The river of life that pumped through his veins had drenched his uniform as it drained out of his body through slices that had been administered by shards of steel.

But before Keppler's lifeblood drained out, he had saved the life of his best friend—his beloved ship—and all of the souls on board.

It all happened on Nov. 13, 1942, during the battle for Savo Island near Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands.

The San Francisco had been wounded on Nov. 12 when a Japanese torpedo plane that had been shot down spun out of control, and crashed into the after superstructure. Keppler was manning the machine-gun on the platform at the time, but was able to escape without injury. Many of his shipmates

Brenner Field upgrade nearly finished

Brenner Field is in the final stages of a $3.2 million face-lift which only adds to its general reputation as one of the finest small-town airports in the region.

The construction project, which has been off and on for the past two years, has included the widening of the main runway and the north taxi lane. This has required extensive grading and dirt work. The Federal Aviation Agency, which deemed the work as necessary for the airport's serviceability, is paying for 90 percent of the cost.

For much of the time the construction has been taking place, Brenner Field has been open for use; however, its runway was shut down from April to September of this year.

The Tom Williams Fertilizer, which operates out of the airport with its aerial spraying service and is widely used by area farmers, utilized a landing strip at Kean Seed, east of Dawson, during that period.

The airport is in its 68th year, having been initially funded by a 1945 $39,00 bond issue, which carried overwhelmingly, for the airport and swimming pool. Ninety-two acres at the northeast edge of Falls City were purchased for $28,500. It began operation in 1946 with Charlie Giese as manager.

(An excellent book, "Municipal Airports of Falls City, Nebraska" has been researched by Bob Ferguson, longtime chairman of the Airport Authority. It is available at the library.)

In the intervening years improvements and additions have been extensive with funding almost entirely by the FFA. The 4,000-foot paved runway (75 feet wide) is plenty adequate for the majority of personal and business aircraft. Brenner Field has a large parking apron, a comfortable terminal building with the manager's office, pilot's lounge and restrooms.

Philip Chaffee has been the airport manager and owner of FC Aero Service since April of 1987. He is a flight instructor and a certified aircraft and maintenance mechanic. His excellent mechanical work is widely recognized and attesting to this one can generally find one or two aircraft being serviced in the large maintenance hangar. He also is a certified FFA aircraft and mechanical inspector.

While Chaffee is the base manager, Brenner Field is "governed" by the Airport Authority, which was created by the mayor and city council in 1970. It is responsible for establishing policies and supervising the airport management and its unpaid members are chosen in city elections. Bob Ferguson has served as chairman for the past 17 years and other members are Ed O'Grady, Lewis Zentner, Darrell Rannebeck and Cliff Barnhill. Dawn Bennett is the recording secretary.

The majority of Brenner Field's income comes from hangar rent and a mill levy, set by law, in the city's budget. Other sources of income are from the 65 acres of leased airport farm ground, a percentage of aircraft fuel sold, a percentage of Chaffee's mechanical charges and rent from the home in which the Chaffees reside.

Tragedy was narrowly avoided Friday afternoon when a kitchen fire broke out at the home of Robert and Alison Sanders at 2021 McLean St. Alison and her young sons, four-month-old Alex and Robbie, who's 1 1/2, were on the main floor when a grease fire started on the stove and escaped, with the assistance of Alison's father, Tim Campbell, out the front door unharmed. The family rents out the second story to Cord Gibson and Lisa Williams, shown here being led to an ambulance by Emergency Management Director Brian Dixon, left, and John Moon III of the FC Volunteer Ambulance Squad. The two, who work nightshifts and were fast asleep when the blaze started, got trapped upstairs and were forced to evacuate from a second-floor window, helped to safety by Campbell and Mike Dishong, who just happened to be driving by the residence at the time and stopped to render aid.

Tragedy averted in Friday afternoon blaze

By Jason Schock

"The last thing in the world you want to see when you drive around the corner is...your daughter's house on fire," father, grandfather, husband, brother, mechanic, and life-long Falls City resident Tim Campbell said Monday, suppressing his emotions, albeit behind watery eyes.

The 49-year-old took a brief break from his job at Hullman's Ford to discuss his other full-time job — that of father and grandfather — that Friday afternoon with a ring of a telephone turned into any dad's worst nightmare. His married daughter, home alone with her infant sons, Tim and his wife Rita's grandsons, called her father at work.

A more horrifying message could never enter the man's ear: Allison and her baby boys Robbie (1 1/2) and Alex (four months) were calling from inside a burning building. And there were two others in the house, fast asleep and cornered on the second floor as flames quickly ascended the stairs.

Tim made like a 429 Boss, exploding from the garage at 14th and Harlan before coming to a screeching halt at 2021 McLean. In the meantime, Campbell made the 911 call. Firefighters were on the scene in minutes.

Unfortunately, Lisa Williams, 21, and Cord Gibson, 27, needed help in a matter of seconds. Campbell's frenzied drive was followed immediately by good news when he arrived at the southwest corner of 21st and McLean Sts., and father met daughter and those little boys at the front door. Safe, if not particularly sound.

His attention then redirected to saving Williams and Gibson, a couple who work nightshifts and rent the second floor of the house from Allison and her husband Robert Sanders. Tim said he made a short scramble around the neighborhood in search of a ladder before scrapping that idea. Williams and Gibson, both by now wide awake but struggling to breathe in an increasingly hot, smoke-filled environment, were forced out a second floor window.

Tim, with the aid of Mike Dishong, who by chance was driving by and stopped to help, convinced the young couple to hang from the window sill before dropping to the men and safety.

Both were taken to Community Medical Center for treatment of smoke

How do you find the words to describe what happened last Tuesday night during that wild, wild, Wildcard Game?

Brian and I got last minute tickets to the baseball game of the century. Our excitement was nearly too much to contain. Once we arrived in Kansas City and parked helicopters circled above as music rolled around us. An airplane circled with a banner that read “It was worth the wait.” I’m going to make a bold statement here but this was unlike any Husker tailgate I had been to. This was special and you could feel it.

Tailgating didn’t last long as excitement over took us and we pratically ran to the gates as they opened. Once inside I watched Oakland take their batting practice while Brian just stood in awe. He took everything in with a huge smile on his face.

Our star pitcher James Shields started the game. In the top of the first inning Brandon Moss of the A’s had a two run shot but we came back with a run in the bottom and two more in the third. Things were going alright for us until the sixth inning. Royals manager Ned Yost pulled “Big Game James” and replaced him with Ventura. It was a strange move but something we have come to expect from the very unpredictable Yost. Three pitches in, Moss, yes that same Moss hit a three-run homer turning a one-run lead into a two-run deficit. Two more runs silenced the crowd. People started leaving and our row cleared out. People gave up and I have to admit I was near my breaking point. I moved down a few seats so I could do some serious pouting. People all around us were booing Yost. It was upsetting to see Ned booed at home. The Royals had once again been “Yosted” and everyone wanted to make their headache known.

We finally caught fire as the A’s started to lose steam. Nobody in that stadium or who was watching could have predicted or imagined in their wildest dreams what was about to happen. The Royals had a run-scoring single by Cain followed by a walk. Salvy and Infante both struck out. Then came Josh Willingham. I am a bit anti-Willingham but low and behold he hit a single to right field. Dyson was brought in to pinch-run for him and with the speed of a jaguar, he advanced to second on a sacrificed bunt and stole third. Finally Dyson was allowed to score off a hit from Aoki.

We went into extra innings! People were cheering, screaming and jumping up and down. I know I had my mouth open with sound coming out but I couldn’t even hear myself scream. That is how loud it was at that moment.

The amazing Brandon Finnegan who only a few months ago pitched in the College World Series, kept the A’s at bay during the 10th and 11 innings. I was losing my steam. The emotional toll was nearly too much and I was exhausted. How much more could we take? Everyone around us started to agree with my inner monologue. They too were exhausted and emotionally drained.

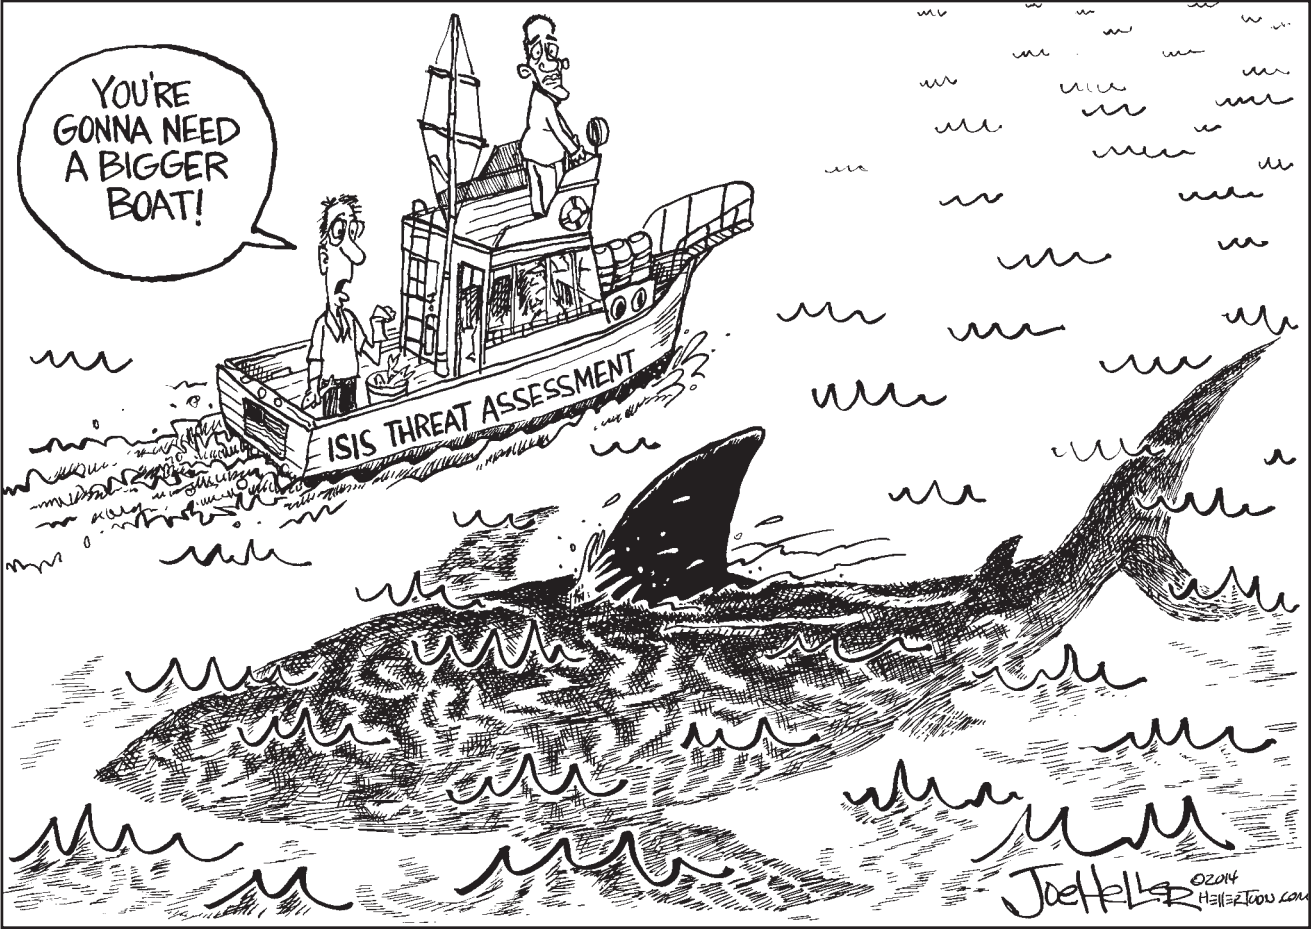

Finally after heartbreak and joy that had nearly killed us all we were about to see something pretty magical. Salvy hit a walk-off single in the 12th inning. It went right down the left field line and Colon was able to score.

We all lost our minds in a big way. Okay, I want you to stop right now and try to remember the last time you felt so much excitement and joy as an adult that you couldn’t contain yourself. When was the last time you felt that kind of intense excitement? I’m talking jumping, crying, screaming, hugging stranger’s kind of excitement. I have sat here and tried to remember the last time I had done that. I honestly don’t believe I’ve had that kind of emotional reaction to anything in my life. Sure when my son was born I was the happiest I had ever been but there is no jumping, screaming and grabbing strangers. This was intense and different. 40,000 people in one place were completely losing their minds. There is nothing like it. Most of the people there had waited a full 29 years for this moment, for some it was literally their entire life. I had only waited 12 years so any reaction I had was intensified for so many others in that stadium.

We stood cheering for a good chunk of time after the game. We waited for others to leave while we celebrated and watched the team do their interviews and shower in champagne in the locker room. We wanted to get down to the dugout but an usher told me that the team wouldn’t be back out so we went to find our car. (She was a lying liar by the way.) On the way to our vehicle we watched grown men sobbing while hugging strangers. I received so many high fives my hand hurt and we watched fireworks going off all around us. We made it back to our car and enjoyed the blue glow of Arrowhead, fireworks that I felt in my chest and people singing and cheering. It was the greatest party I had ever been to. We had no choice but to enjoy the party and dance in the rain because our car was blocked in as everyone else left. We pulled into Falls City a little before 4:00 a.m. Excitement wound down and sleep finally set in and 3 hours later we were up and ready for work. We rode our euphoric Royals high all day. It was totally worth it.

To be a part of such a wild experience was amazing. Anyone who says baseball is boring will need to be shown that game. There has been nothing boring about this season and now with the first series under our belts, the ride continues to be the stuff dreams are made of. I will continue to wear my lucky long socks, K.C. headband and wrong-side-out rally cap. I will stick with what works, even if it sounds slightly insane. This last week has been absolutely unbelievable. Billy Butler stole second! We swept the best team in the league! But I still can’t imagine anything being better than that Wildcard game. I would love to see these guys go to the World Series but after that incredible game, how could it get any better?

Time will tell.

Native Americans, rock legends and the pipeline saga

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

Help me get my head around something here friends. There are nearly 21,000 miles of hazardous liquid and natural gas pipelines in Nebraska already. So what makes the battle over the latest one proposed – the Keystone XL – so special? Just asking.

Nearly 8,000 people gathered on an Antelope County farm on a beautiful fall Saturday afternoon to listen to music legends Willie Nelson and Neil Young perform. If you don’t know these artists, stop reading right now. The crowds gathered in protest of the pipeline and in support of alternative energy proposals. They also saw members of several Native American tribes honor the musicians who have been familiar performers at the scattered series of Farm Aid concerts over the years.

The Nebraska Pipeline Association says the prairie is criss-crossed by interstate, intrastate, and distribution lines. Those pipelines may include large-diameter lines carrying energy products to population centers, as well as small-diameter lines that may deliver natural gas to businesses and households in your neighborhood, the Association says. The industry association calls pipelines the safest method for transporting energy products, but admits that when pipeline incidents occur they can present significant risks to the public and the environment.

The Nelson-Young concert and a number of protest-related activities have been sponsored by a group called Bold Nebraska. That group’s activist leader Jane Kleeb says a report by University of Nebraska civil engineering professor John Stansbury predicts that there could be as many as 91 leaks in the anticipated 50-year lifespan of the Keystone XL pipeline if it is built. Stansbury apparently researched pipelines’ history and TransCanada regulatory filings to predict that the leaks could potentially put 6.5 million gallons of tar sands oil in the Ogallala aquifer and essentially contaminate drinking water.

In May, TransCanada – the company that wants to build the Keystone XL Pipeline – submitted a revised route to the State Department, bypassing an original Sandhills route but still passing over parts of the massive aquifer. That action followed President Obama’s rejection of the original route some months earlier.

Protestors have planted crops and built a barn and Native Americans have planted sacred grasses in the proposed path. The outdoor concert occurred on land near Neligh that also lies in the proposed path. While the Harvest of Hope Concert was going on, looking not-unlike a miniature Woodstock or another version of Farm Aid, thousands of other people were driving trucks with trailers and SUV’s and station wagons along the multi-stop Junk Jaunt route from Arcadia to Wood River and a number of points (and towns starting with other letters of the alphabet) in between. The garage sale atmosphere in those communities was heart-warming as people turned the event into an outdoor fair. In fact, county fairgrounds in a number of those towns were crammed with flea market booths offering everything from homemade food to antiques and crafts.

I was driving in the Sandhills as well, enjoying the beauty of the crops and the trees and the sky filled with puffy white clouds on a day that was perfectly perched on the edge of fall. Occasionally I would see an orange and white pipe with a warning sign poking up several feet out of the ground, often at the edge of a pasture or near the rustling stalks of brown and nearly ready for harvest corn or soybeans. Over the years, I have come to recognize these as the indicator that pipelines are buried below.

Knowing this and seeing the passion of the folks who are protesting the Keystone XL, I have pause to wonder if we need another pipeline ... another threat to the peace and tranquility of the environment and the lifestyle we have come to appreciate in one of those mostly square states out west.

But I also have to ask if there is a political agenda or a social undertow that I do not recognize. It has been six long years since this pipeline was proposed. Hopefully we can see the matter resolved, one way or the other, sometime soon.

THINKING ABOUT HEALTH

Generic drug field full of pricing traps

By Trudy Lieberman, Rural Health News Service

A friend of mine, a diabetic, stumbled on to another booby trap in the pricing of generic drugs. In my last column I described the new two-tiered arrangements insurers are pushing on patients. You can choose a non-preferred generic and pay more, maybe a lot more, or a preferred generic and get a price break. That’s the same pricing scheme insurers use for the expensive brand-name drugs.

Consumer groups, doctors, and insurance carriers have encouraged patients to choose generics over the name brands as a way to help lower the nation’s healthcare tab. So for many years my friend has been using a generic drug called gemfibrozil that diabetics often take to lower triglycerides and cholesterol.

It has worked for him. No nasty drug interactions. No nasty side effects. And the price has been low--$2.71 for 60 pills. In August the price more than doubled to $6.14. He was still OK with that.

He was not OK when he got a bill in September from Express Scripts, the pharmacy benefit manager for his Medigap carrier whose plan is offered by his former employer, the City of New York. (PBMs, as they’re called, manage the drug benefits for employers and insurers and supposedly help hold the line on prices.)

Express Scripts wrote his doctor without consulting my friend, the patient, suggesting that for reasons of “safety and efficacy,” he should switch his patient to a different drug, a generic called fenofibric acid. His share of the cost would now be $156.70 for 90 pills. Fenofibric acid costs $1.74 per pill compared to gemfibrozil’s 10 cents a pill resulting in an out-of-pocket cost increase of 1,640 percent.

Why the switch, my friend asked his doctor. The doctor pointed to the reasons given in the letter about an increased risk of skeletal muscle effects and said maybe it was advisable to try the new drug. He was, however, astounded by the price, but my friend said it was clear the doctor wasn’t going to fight the PBM.

My friend spoke to an official at New York City’s employee benefits office who said her office has never heard of a PBM recommending that a more expensive generic drug replace a cheaper one.

I rang up John Rother, former chief lobbyist for AARP and now head of a group called the National Coalition on Health Care. The Coalition is waging a campaign to educate the public about the exorbitant prices of drugs, particularly the Hepatitis C drug Sovaldi and other specialty drugs in the pipeline that will carry super high price tags.

“Generic drug prices have been rising steeply, and there doesn’t seem to be an explanation for it,” Rother told me. He said he could only guess that some generic drug makers are leaving the market and the ones remaining will have less competition and the power to increase market share and raise prices.

Maybe there are medical reasons my friend should make the switch, but so far his doctor hasn’t been persuasive. Has the PBM discovered new side effects for the drug he’s been taking? Who’s treating the patient--the doctor or the PBM? And how does this big price jump fit in with the PBM’s purported mission: to save money for insurers and employers? Was my friend caught in a tussle between the clinician and the bean counters? How does he know who’s right without doing extensive research himself?

Since individuals can’t negotiate prices with drug companies, and Congress has prohibited Medicare from negotiating prices when it passed the prescription drug benefit law in 2003, my friend says, “companies have carte blanche to rip people off. In situations like this no one ever talks straight, but someone is making a lot more money.” He’s trying to get back on gemfibrozil or a similar generic that’s cheaper than the one the PBM suggested.

Rother looks at the big picture now coming into focus from the sharply rising prices of generics. “Four years after we passed what we thought was universal health coverage, you can’t get the medicines you need because of the prices. It’s tragic,” he says.

We want to hear your questions and comments about your healthcare experiences. Tell us about your experiences with generic drugs. Write to Trudy at trudy.lieberman@gmail.com

SEZ I

Proud of home town

I am a former resident of Falls City and recently had the opportunity to park my family’s motor home at the Stanton Lake parking area.

I would just like to compliment everyone who has a part in making this one of the finest camp areas in the state.

The grounds were immaculate from the lawn, trees and planting areas to the well-maintained path and benches around the lake. The children loved the play areas and the fishing was great.

We were also most impressed by the easy accessibility to the wetland area (I remember ice skating there as a child!) and all the “nature” that we saw there.

“Thank you” doesn’t cover the amount of work it takes to keep a park this nice. Residents of Falls City--you owe your park workers and City Fathers a pat on the back for making this area a priority.

I’m very proud to call Falls City my hometown.

Get car seat checked
Oct. 18th at hospital

Area parents and caregivers will have an opportunity to have child safety seats checked at Falls City’s Community Medical Center from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18.

Southeast Safety for Kids and Nebraska Safe Kids will have nationally-certified child passenger safety technicians on hand to assist parents and other caregivers with correct use of child safety seats.

“For this event, parents and caregivers can call and schedule a specific time to come to the event rather than driving up and possibly having to wait in line for assistance,” says Laura Osborne, SE Safety for Kids Coordinator. “We are looking forward to helping as many families as we can that day. It is our goal that children leave our event safer than they arrive. When our technicians work with a family, they are working to empower the parent and/or caregiver to install the child safety seat correctly themselves. This is important as we strive to keep the youngest citizens of southeast Nebraska as safe as possible while traveling in motor vehicles.”

To schedule an appointment, call Sara at 402-245-6537 or Lisa at 402-245-6571.

The event’s sponsors are CMC, SE Safety for Kids, NE Safe Kids, and State Farm Insurance.

Hayes’ lawyer seeks change of venue

Presumably, it’s a Falls City Journal article written by Editor Jason Schock and published in the Aug. 26, 2014 edition that has made it “impossible to secure a fair and impartial jury” in the County’s latest case against convicted felon 43-year-old Scott D. Hayes. His lawyer last week in Richardson County Court filed a motion for a change of venue.

Prosecutors are seeking, for the third time in his life, the enhanced penalty of being a habitual criminal for Hayes, who was a felon by the age of 19, was later convicted of ramming a car into a RC Sheriff’s patrol vehicle and then shooting the Falls City Chief of Police. He currently stands accused of yet again assaulting a peace officer and is looking at a fifth prison sentence.

The minimum sentence for being a habitual criminal is 10 years in prison; the maximum is 60. The previous two times were dismissed through plea agreements with the Richardson County Attorney’s Office. Hayes is currently being housed at the Diagnostic & Evaluation Center in Lincoln and did not appear in Court with his lawyer, William von Seggern, last week.

County Court Judge Curtis Maschman took the filing for a change of venue “under advisement.”

According to Nebraska State Statutes, “a party seeking change of venue must show that publicity has made it impossible to secure a fair and impartial jury. The factors to be evaluated in determining whether a change of venue is required due to pretrial publicity include the nature of the publicity, the degree to which the publicity has circulated throughout the community, the degree to which the publicity circulated in areas to which venue could be changed, the length of time between the dissemination of the publicity complained of and the date of trial.”

The Aug. 26 Journal story detailed Hayes’ past convictions, as well as the current case. Hayes, in addition to the habitual criminal penalty, in District Court faces two felony charges of terroristic threats. He’s scheduled to go on trial Nov. 12.

On May 5, Hayes, out of prison a couple months shy of one year, was arrested on suspicion of DUI after police received a call from his sister, Tonya Shopteese, at 1004 Stone St., requesting assistance as Hayes was “yelling and kicking the door, trying to get inside” the residence. Shopteese was in the home with her daughter, who was crying in fear, according to the arrest affidavit.

When FCPD Officers Jason Wasson and Chuck DiGiacomo arrived on the scene, Hayes allegedly spit in Wasson’s face and threatened the officer.

The Aug. 26 Journal article pointed out that 100 percent of criminal cases held in Richardson County District Court the past three years have been amended via plea bargains.

In other news:
— A 22-year-old Falls City man was sentenced to 18 months probation after attempting to pass a phony $20 in Atchison last July.

Wendtlandt had earlier pled guilty to one count of making false information. In exchange for the plea, one count of theft was dropped.

— A 22-year-old Falls City man faces up to five years in prison or a $10,000 fine, or both, after being charged with DUI—.15-plus (second offense).

Tyler S. Wintz was arrested in August and last week appeared in County Court on the additional charges of refusal to submit to pretest; driving under suspension; possess/consume an open alcohol container; and disobey stop light.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Oct. 27.

— A 27-year-old Falls City woman faces felony criminal mischief charges after allegedly entering the home of Paul E. Schawang III at 1912 Morton St. on Sept. 1 and causing extensive damage to a TV, computer and printer, and refrigerator/freezer.

Colby L. Elms is scheduled to appear in County Court for a preliminary hearing Oct. 27.

According to court documents, Elms upon her arrest admitted to officers of causing the damage, which exceeded $1,500.

McCULLOUGH — Michael and Missy McCullough are happy to announce the birth of their son, Thaddeus Michael, who was born on Sunday, Sept. 28, at Baptist St. Anthony Medical Center in Amarillo, TX. He weighted 6 pounds, 15 ounces, and was 19 1/2 inches long. Brothers Riley, Everett and Maddox, and sisters Mazey and Indie welcome him home. Maternal grandparents of Thaddeus are the late Rose and Leo Conrad. Fraternal grandparents are Lynn McCullough and the late Bill McCullough.

Weddings

Lehmkuhl - Walker wed last spring

Amanda Ruth Lehmkuhl and Benjamin Bruce Walker both of Hiawatha were united in marriage on Sunday, March 23, 2014 at 3 p.m. at the Eternal Hope Worship Center in Hiawatha. Parents of the bride are Richard and Susan Lehmkuhl, of Hiawatha, and parents of the groom are Brian and Cindy Walker, of Hickman.

Friends of the couple, LeAnn Merrett and Jessica Nobbe of Lincoln, presided at the guestbook. Guests were ushered to their seats by Joel Thompson, Falls City, friend of the couple, Wayne Harris, Lincoln, brother-in-law of groom, and Chris Yoesel, Falls City, cousin of the bride, while favorite songs of the couple were being played.

Candle lighters, Kaitlyn Rutt, Lincoln, friend of the couple, and Avery Lehmkuhl, Hiawatha, cousin of the bride, lit the candles on the remembrance table. The church platform was decorated with two antique tables with hurricane lamps with ivory candles lit in memory of the groom’s grandmothers, Mary Walker and Jean Kechley.

The groom, wearing a black suit with a purple tie and a fresh white rose boutonniere, escorted the grandparents, Karen and Larry Lehmkuhl, Hiawatha, Doris and Clarence Yoesel, of Falls City, and Bruce Walker, of Falls City, followed by his parents. The bride’s brother, Levi, escorted his mother.

The bride was escorted by her father, Richard Lehmkuhl. Her dress was a strapless, organza, a-line gown with a side draping style along with a two tier, fingertip floral embroidered veil adorned with a bridal comb with a scroll detail of crystal and pearls. A pearl necklace and earrings were borrowed from her mother to complete her gown. The bride carried a fresh bouquet of white roses and purple hydrangeas wrapped with white satin and adorned with pearls. The song, Keeper of the Stars by Tracy Bird, was played as the bride made her way down the aisle.

The Pastor Todd Grove, Lincoln, friend of groom and Pastor Richard Lehmkuhl, the bride’s father, performed the ceremony. During the ceremony, Annie Tollefson, of Hiawatha, friend of couple, and Kevin Rieger, of Falls City, cousin of bride, sang, “When God Made You and When I Say I Do” during the unity sand. Matron of Honor was Emily Thompson, of Falls City, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Stephanie Hagedorn, of Parkville, MO, friend of the bride; Kayla Nigus, of Hiawatha, cousin of the bride, Madison Lehmkuhl, Rossville, cousin of the bride, Amanda Adams, of Louisburg, friend of the bride and Christy Huntsucker, of Kansas City, friend of the bride. They wore strapless, floor length gowns of chiffon lapis. All carried silk bouquets of yellow roses and white hydrangeas wrapped in burlap.

Caleb Merrett, of Lincoln, friend of groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Colin Earnest, Brandon Earnest, Scott Earnest, Cory Jurgens, all of Lincoln, friends of groom, and Levi Lehmkuhl, of Hiawatha, brother of the bride. All wore black slacks and white shirts with matching yellow ties along with boutonnieres of yellow and purple silk mini roses wrapped in burlap.

Ring bearers were Reed and Tate Harris, of Lincoln, nephews of the groom. They pulled the younger flower girls, Sayla Harris and Olivia Smith, of Lincoln, nieces of groom, in a wagon adorned with burlap and white tuleri. The other flower girls were Hallie Harris, Emma Smith and Ava Smith, of Lincoln, all nieces of the groom.

The couple was escorted to the Fisher Center for the reception in a 1953 Chevy Bel Air owned by the bride’s grandparents and driven by Steve Yoesel, uncle of bride. A light supper was served. Guests enjoyed viewing a display of pictures of the couple growing up and their families. Tables were decorated with the burlap theme with candle lit mason jars.

The three-tiered wedding cake and groom’s cake were made by the bride’s grandmother, Karen Lehmkuhl, and Dawn Boyles, friend of the couple. It was decorated with burlap, purple and yellow flowers and topped with the Willow Tree “Together” cake topper. Cake servers were Linda Cook, aunt of groom, Vicky Yoesel, Beth Yoesel, and Ann Lehmkuhl, all aunts of the bride, and Rachel Cook, cousin of the groom.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Branson, MO, and Eureka Springs, AR, area in May. The couple resides in Hiawatha and both are employed by USD#615.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

IDC most common type

Many people have been touched by breast cancer. Whether you have dealt with your own diagnosis or that of a friend or family member, the prevalence of breast cancer has left few people without a story to tell about a personal experience with this potentially deadly disease.

According to Breastcancer.org, a nonprofit organization dedicated to proving reliable, complete and up-to-date information about breast cancer, roughly one in eight women in the United States will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of her life, while the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation notes the figures are slightly more optimistic in Canada, where one in nine women is expected to develop the disease during her lifetime.

Many of the women who develop breast cancer will be diagnosed with invasive ductal carcinoma, or IDC, which the National Breast Cancer Foundation notes is the most common type of breast cancer, accounting for between 70 and 80 percent of all diagnoses. While women and even men who develop breast cancer are most likely to be diagnosed with IDC, there are less common forms of breast cancer, and learning about these rare cancers may help save your life or that of a loved one.

Medullary carcinoma - Though medullary carcinoma diagnoses are rare, this is an invasive type of breast cancer that begins in the milk duct and spreads beyond it. The tumor that forms when a person has medullary carcinoma is a soft and fleshy mass. Medullary carcinoma cells typically appear like aggressive, abnormal cancer cells, but these cells do not grow quickly and often do not spread outside the breast to the lymph nodes, which makes medullary carcinoma a relatively easy cancer to treat. Medullary carcinoma can occur at any age, though it typically affects women in their late 40s and early 50s.

Tubular carcinoma - Tubular carcinoma is a type of IDC that starts as small, tube-shaped structures known as tubules that appear similar to normal, healthy cells. Tubular carcinoma cells grow slowly and are unlikely to spread outside of the breast, and, for that reason, tubular carcinoma typically responds well to treatment. Though tubular carcinoma once accounted for a very small percentage of breast cancer diagnoses, they are now being diagnosed more often, thanks in large part to the prevalence of screening mammography that has been catching cases of breast cancer before doctors feel a lump. Tubular carcinoma may feel less like a lump and more like a cushiony area of breast tissue.

Mucinous carcinoma - Mucinous carcinoma is also a rare type of IDC in which tumors are made up of abnormal cells in mucus, which is a part of mucus. Many types of cancer cells, including the majority of breast cancer cells, produce some mucus, which lines most of the inner surface of the normal human body. But when a person is diagnosed with mucinous carcinoma, the mucin has become part of the tumor, so when examined under a microscope, the cancer cells appear to be scattered in pools of mucus. Mucinous cancer can affect people at any age, though it is especially rare in men and most often diagnosed in women after they have gone through menopause. Mucinous carcinoma is a less aggressive type of breast cancer than others and is less likely than other types to spread to the lymph nodes. As a result, it typically responds well to treatment.

Paget's disease of the nipple - Paget's disease of the nipple is characterized by breast cancer cells that collect in or around the nipple. The cancer typically affects the ducts of the nipple first before spreading to the nipple surface and areola, which is the dark circle of skin around the nipple. Both the nipple and areola can and likely will become irritated, itchy, red, and scaly when a person has Paget's disease, and these signs may be the first indicators that breast cancer is present. While Paget's disease of the nipple is rare, the National Cancer Institute notes the importance of recognizing its symptoms, as 97 percent of people with Paget's disease also have cancer elsewhere in the breast. Though the NCI notes that Paget's disease can develop in both men and women, it is more common in women, among whom the average age for diagnosis is 62.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

DISTRICT COURT

— Chance Simon, 31, of Falls City, last Tuesday was sentenced by Judge Daniel E. Bryan to serve 30 days in Richardson County Jail and placed on probation for three years after pleading no contest to a pair of felony possession of a controlled substance charges. The jail sentence began immediately after sentencing. If he breaks the terms of the probation order, Simon is subject to serve a subsequent series of 30-day sentences (beginning March 30, 2015; Sept. 30, 2015; March 30, 2016; Sept. 30, 2016; March 30, 2017; Sept. 30, 2017). He was also ordered to undergo a drug and alcohol evaluation and pay Court and probation costs totaling $1,316.

— Jeremy S. Kaster, 30, of Rulo (formerly Tecumseh), last Tuesday was found guilty of violating the terms of his four-year probation and will be resentenced on felony theft and misdemeanor criminal mischief and attempted burglary charges on Nov. 18.

Terms of Kaster’s probation included obeying the law and in June he was charged with making terroristic threats, a Class IV Felony, in Johnson County Court in Tecumseh.

Kaster was originally sentenced to probation in relation to 2013 thefts from Douglas Kirkendall, Kenneth Arnold and Brandon Duerfeldt. He was ordered to pay restitution totaling $7,541.20, in addition to costs and fees of $2,010.50.

Kaster also appeared in County Court last week and was formally charged with obstructing a peace officer, a Class I Misdemeanor, stemming from an Aug. 11 incident. He pled not guilty and a pretrial hearing was set for Oct. 20.

— Robert S. Hilliard, 42, of Falls City, was sentenced by Judge Bryan to serve six months in Richardson County Jail (to be served in the Nebraska Dept. of Corrections) for a charge of attempted operation of a motor vehicle during revocation period, a Class I Misdemeanor.

or. — Ethen M. Bentley, 22, of Falls City, pled no contest and was found guilty to the charges of terroristic threats, a Class IV Felony, criminal mischief, a Class II Misdemeanor, after reaching a plea agreement with the County Attorney’s Office. A felony charge of burglary was dismissed and the criminal mischief charge was dropped from a Class I Misdemeanor (up to a $1,000 fine and one year in jail) to a Class II ($1,000 fine, six months in jail).

Kaster

A jury trial had been set for Nov. 12. He will now be sentenced Nov. 18 and a Judge Byran ordered a presentence investigation.

Bentley was arrested on July 12 and accused of throwing a brick threw the Burbank Apartment (2704 Chase St.) window of Heidi Jones and entering and ransacking the residence while Jones and her infant daughter barricaded themselves in a bedroom. Jones told police Bentley threatened to shoot her and “make her stop breathing.”

Bentley in March 2012 was found guilty of attempted burglary, a Class IV Felony, and spent 278 days in RC Jail.

CIVIL COURT

Judgment entered in favor of Credit Management Services, and against Wesley Twyman, of Shubert, in the amount of $153.51, plus prejudgment interest of $7.77, attorney fees of $20.35 and Court costs of $58.40.

COUNTY COURT

Amber D. Barr, Verdon, possession of burglar’s tools, a Class IV Felony. Plead not guilty; scheduling conference set for Oct. 20.

Christopher J. Reeves, Falls City, DUI—.15-plus (one prior conviction), amended to DUI—.15-plus. Pled guilty to amended charge. Sentencing set for Nov. 3.

Cole E. Ramer, Shubert, count one, speeding (21-35); count two, reckless driving, first offense. Probation extended to Nov. 30. Ordered to complete alcohol counseling by Nov. 15 or appear in Court Nov. 17 and serve five days in Richardson County Jail.

Paige N. Frederick, Falls City, count one, no proof of insurance; count two, operating a vehicle without proof of ownership; count three, unlawful/fictitious display of plates; count four, non-transparent material (window tint). Counts one and two dismissed with prejudice (ED NOTE - dismissal with prejudice bars the government from prosecuting the accused later on the same charge). Found guilty on counts three and four. Fined $75, plus Court costs of $49.

Enrique Ramirez, Sabetha, KS, count one, DUI, first offense; count two, refusal to submit to test, first offense; count three, non-resident violating 30-day immunity. Trial set for Oct. 29.

Bentley

Timothy A. Scheele, Falls City, count one, DUI, first offense; count two, refusal to submit to pretest. Trial set for Nov. 12.

Randy E. Ninemires, Leona, KS, theft by shoplifting (less than $200). Case continued to Oct. 22 for entry of plea.

Blake M. Westcott, Falls City, count one, assault in the third degree; count two, disturbing the peace. Count one dismissed with prejudice, pled guilty to count two. Sentencing set for Oct. 27.

Jack Fritts Jr., Falls City, theft by deception (less than $200). Pled not guilty. Pretrial hearing set for Oct. 20.

John M. Hall, Shubert, count one, speeding (6-10); count two, driving under suspension. Case continued to Oct. 20 for entry of plea.

Michelle L. Bice, Falls City, count one, maintaining a nuisance; three counts of application - mobile and modular home storage prohibited. Pled not guilty to all four counts. Trial scheduled for Oct. 29.

Michelle L. Bice, Falls City, animal running at large. Pled guilty. Fined $25, plus Court costs of $49.

Michelle L. Bice, Falls City, four counts dog(s)/cat(s) unlicensed; count five, nuisance - dogs as a nuisance (Rottweiler mix dog without compliance with City ordinance). Pled guilty to counts one,

Making It Right

In the Public Record which appeared in the Tuesday, Sept. 30, 2014 edition of The Journal, it was reported that Deborah L. Hundley, Falls City, pled not guilty to assault in the third degree. It should’ve read Deborah L. Holloway, of Falls City. The Journal apologizes for the error.

two, three and four; pled not guilty to count five. Trial on counts one, two, three and four, and sentencing on count five, set for Oct. 29.

Kevin Craig, Falls City, weeds/grasses higher than 12 inches (property at 2023 Wilson St.). Pled not guilty. Pretrial hearing set for Oct. 27.

Frank Worthey, Humboldt, construction of owner’s initiative (built sidewalk that didn’t conform to “the estimated grade or elevation indicated by the Street Commission”). Pled not guilty. Trial set for Oct. 29.

Stephen J. Hundley, Falls City, count one, operating a motor vehicle to avoid arrest; count two, obstructing a peace officer; count three, speeding (16-20). Count one dismissed, pled guilty to counts two and three. Fined $475, plus Court costs of $49, and placed on six months probation.

The Falls City High School Lady Tiger volleyball team celebrates its championship victory over Exeter-Milligan Saturday in Tecumseh at the Johnson County Central Invite. FCHS defeated the hosts (25-19, 25-17), avenged an earlier loss to NC Lourdes (25-23, 25-21) and then upended Exeter-Milligan 25-22, 11-25, 25-21 in the title match. The Lady Tigers, winners of five in a row and six of their last seven matches, improved to 14-5 on the 2014 season. Falls City travels to 4-17 Conestoga tonight and hosts the four-team FCHS Invite Saturday. The team is on the road next week, at St. Joseph (MO) Lafayette Oct. 13 and at Marysville, KS, Oct. 16. "The girls are playing hard and improving everyday," Coach Julie Frederick said. In the big victory over Exeter, sophomore Alyssa Frederick recorded eight team-high kills and made just two errors attacking. As a team, FC had just seven errors at the net. Senior Maygan Ramsey finished with six kills and junior Libby Bauman recorded five. Senior Jerrica Beckner was the defensive leader with seven blocks, two for aces. Senior Baylee Vrtiska set up the hitters with 17 assists.

Twenty-nine Irish champs honored at NE Hall of Fame Banquet Sunday

The Nebraska High School Sports Hall of Fame Foundation honored Falls City Sacred Heart for the Dominant Dynasties Award for 2014 and coaches and players from 29 Irish championship teams (between 1988 and 2011) Sunday at the NSAA Hall of Fame Induction and Awards Ceremony held at the Lied Center in Lincoln.

FCSH Principal, Athletic Director and Coach Doug Goltz accepted the award on behalf of the school, made a few remarks and introduced several former Sacred Heart athletes on stage.

Sacred Heart teams to be honored include:

- Football - 1989, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94
- Volleyball - 1997, 2006
- Girls Basketball - 1998, 99, 2000
- Boys Basketball - 1988, 89, 90, 91, 99, 2001, 2004, 2008
- Girls Track - 1998, 99, 2000, 2001
- Boys Track - 90, 91, 93, 04, 98, 2006

FC Sacred Heart's 2013 boys track and football titles are not included in the "Dynasty" Award, as the nomination and voting process was held prior.

This year's other inductees and honorees:

Athletes

--Wally Anderzunas (Omaha Creighton Prep, 1964): A two-time all-state player, he led Creighton Prep to the state basketball title in 1964, played at Creighton University and for the Cincinnati Royals of the NBA.

--Cory Eikmeier (Dodge, 1997): State record-setting running back rushed for 8,330 yards and scored 156 touchdowns in his prep career. Went on to play at UNO.

--Gerry Ferguson (Scottsbluff, 1947):

A four-sport standout, he was All-Big Ten in football and basketball, leading the Bearcats to the mythical state football title in 1945. Also a state long jump champion, he earned three letters playing football for the Cornhuskers.

--Dennis Harrison (Ralston, 1990): He was a two-time state high school all-around champion in gymnastics and the 1994 NCAA all-around champion leading the Huskers to the national title.

--Cedric Hunter (Omaha South, 1983): A four-year letterman and 1,000-point scorer for the Kansas Jayhawks basketball team, he averaged more than 23 points per game his junior and senior seasons.

--Peaches (James) Keaton (Papillion-LaVista, 1999): The ace pitcher on four straight Monarch state championship teams, she set numerous state records, including throwing 11 no-hitters, five perfect games and a .04 ERA in 1999. An All-American for the Huskers, she pitched professionally for four years.

--Kristie (Korth) Brezenski (Columbus Scotus, 1998): A standout on three volleyball and three basketball state championship teams, she set assist records while leading the Shamrocks to the state soccer championship in 1998 and became a four-time conference offensive player of the year for the College of St. Mary soccer team.

--Jerry Murtaugh (Omaha North, 1967): An undefeated state high school wrestling champion and an All-American linebacker at Nebraska, he set tackle records for the national champion Cornhuskers in 1970. Signed by the New England Patriots, his professional career never took off because of knee injuries.

--Gary Neibauer (Scottsbluff, 1963): All-state in football and basketball and a state champion hurdler, he pitched and ran track for the Cornhuskers then went on to play professional baseball for the Atlanta Braves and Philadelphia Phillies.

--Larry Riessland (Pleasanton, 1967): He scored a national-record nine touchdowns in a single football game and finished with 80 his career. He also scored 400 or more points in his junior and senior basketball seasons and twice placed at the state track meet in the 880.

Coaches

--Kelly Flynn (South Sioux City): He coached South Sioux City to 11 state championships and 508 victories in 27 years.

--John Larsen (Lincoln SE): As a basketball coach, he won 560 games in 31 seasons and won nine state championships. He was an assistant coach for eight Southeast state championships and head coach for four years.

--Roger Mathiesen (Kearney High): Architect of Kearney High's track dynasty that has the nation's all-time regular-season winning streak of 21 years. His Bearcats have won 15 state championships and finished second three times since 1994.

--John Petersen (Columbus Scotus): His 41-year coaching career includes 863 volleyball victories and 353 basketball victories as well as 15 state volleyball championships and three state basketball titles.

Contributors

--Dick Beechner (Kearney): The current Hall of Fame Board of Directors president and a past executive director, he has been an athlete, coach and administrator and an organizer of state high school cross country and golf meets.

--Chuck Stevens (Lincoln): The voice of Lincoln high school sports for 30 years while working at KFOR radio, he often would broadcast more than 100 games in a year.

Official

--Roger Berney (Fremont): A registered wrestling official for 32 years, he worked 20 state tournaments as well as the NAIA National Championships of 1980. He also officiated volleyball for 25 years and football for 15 years.

Honorees

Great Moment in High School Sports -- Twins Darren and Damon Schmadeke of Boone Central led their team to the 1991 Class C state track championship with a 1-2 finish in the 200.

Gustafson Inspiration Award -- Josh Jones, Omaha Central's career leader in scoring, saw his basketball career at Creighton end because of a heart ailment.

Fischer Family Award -- Bill and Delores Kropp Family from Aurora includes successful college athletes in several sports as well as successful coaches. Son Tom played in the NBA and granddaughter Jenny is a professional beach volleyball player.

Silver Anniversary Team -- Elkhorn football (1989), Class B state champions went 13-0 and outscored foes an average of 33.5-7.7.

Silver Anniversary Team -- Hastings St. Cecilia volleyball (1989), Class C2 state champions, went 27-0, while opponents averaged less than five points per set.

Golden Anniversary Team -- Columbus football (1964), went 10-0, outscoring opponents 318-87 and chosen as the state champion by the Omaha W-H.

Golden Anniversary Team -- Cozad Wrestling (1965), won Class B state title for the third straight year with five individual champions.

FCMS Students of the Month of September

The students of the month for September at the Falls City Middle School were: Jake Joy, eighth grade, Kade Bredemeier, seventh grade, and Thayer Armbruster, sixth grade. Each student received a T-shirt printed with the Student of the Month logo. The shirts are compliments of Stripes and Signs. The Elks Club will sponsor a complimentary meal during Youth Week for all of this year's student of the month recipients and their parents.

To receive student of the month, students must first be nominated by one of their teachers. The criteria for nomination this year once again focuses on the 212 degree message. The teachers are continuously looking for the students that give the extra degree. This is a student that demonstrates extra effort by being an exemplary student. Someone who internalizes the truth that is "Not enough to be good when you have the ability to be BETTER!" Each month the teachers choose an individual from each grade that were identified as a 212 degree student and met the criteria. This includes: turning work in on time, exemplary behavior everywhere, goes out of their way to help peers, good grades and/or improvement; always showing effort, active and/or involved in the community, leadership accomplishments: academic, athletic, or in the community, school attendance, positive attitude toward others, honest and trustworthy, cooperative and dependable, helpful to teachers, positive attitude toward school, and considerate of other's feelings.

Teachers vote by private balloting. To win student of the month, one student must receive a majority of the votes. Those students who don't win are given honorable mention and are eligible in future months.

Thayer Armbruster is the sixth grade student of the month for September. She is the daughter of Andy and Sarah Armbruster. Thayer is a responsible, polite, and respectful student that is attentive in class and helpful to teachers and classmates. She has been on the honor roll and participates in band and chorus. Thayer stays active outside of school with Falls City Recreation softball, soccer, and basketball.

Kade Bredemeier is the seventh grade student of the month for September. He is the son of Jason and Mandy Bredemeier. Kade is a quiet, responsible, and respectful student that strives to do his best each and every day. He has received recognition for honor roll and ABBIT. Kade participates in band, chorus, show choir, football, basketball, track, and quiz bowl. Outside of school, Kade is active in CCD and baseball.

Jake Joy is the eighth grade student of the month for September. He is the son of Ray and Pam Joy. Jake is described as a model student that is responsible, respectful, and a delightful member of classroom discussions. He has been on the honor roll and ABBIT lists in previous years. Jake participates in chorus, basketball, track, and quiz bowl. Beyond the school, Jake is an active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, ELCA, the Falls City Trap Team, and Falls City Recreation baseball.

The students who received honorable mention for September include: Stephen Acton, Ali Ivey, Dillon Ebel, Travis Ott, Courtney Rumbaugh, Josie Crofford, and Jessica Burns.

Tigers earn third consecutive blowout; expect 4th verse Friday with Cougars

FC High senior Brenden Heckenlively rushed 11 times for 129 yards and three touchdowns, senior Jack Hartman added 114 yards on 18 carries and senior Jordy Stoller rushed four times for 67 yards and a score, and also returned a fumble 84 yards for a touchdown as the Tigers beat Louisville 47-12 on the road to get a third consecutive victory and improve to 5-1 on the season.

FC has outscored its last three opponents 139-24 and should only add to the lopsidedness this Friday when they host a winless Johnson County Central team coming off a 26-16 loss to Auburn.

At Louisville, FC racked up 386 yards of total offense, but also surrendered 233 Louisville passing yards. Defensively, Zayne Heckenlively rushed for a couple TDs and on the other side of the ball recorded six solo stops, while Derek McCann and Tucker Merz each had a couple sack dances. Zach Jordening also snagged a pick, returning it 30 yards.

The preliminaries are over this week, though, as Falls City travels to Syracuse Oct. 17 in a game that will decide the District Title and perhaps inevitably a state playoff berth.

50 Years Ago
(Oct. 5-10, 1964)

In an early harvest corn, at the edge of the severe drought (it was spelled drouth then) area west of Verdon was making about 60 bushels per acre. However, there was some 100-bushel milo.

Bonnie Cook, a member of the FC Saddle Club, won two children's events at the Dawson-Verdon Saddle Club horse show. Weldon Bowers was the announcer.

Fifty-one Richardson Countyans were attending Peru State College. Capt. Larry Apel, FC, was stationed at Forbes AFB, Topeka, KS.

Roger West, a Missouri Pacific Railroad brakeman, was selected to attend the railroad's officer training course at St. Louis.

A son was born Oct. 4 to Mr./Mrs. Michael Pagnano, Verdon. At Hackett's anniversary sale famous name bras were selling for 88 cents and ladies' wool skirts for $5.44.

The first month of the North and South School lunch program directed by Sally Stanton 1,172 meals were served.

At the Oil City John Wayne was starring in "The Commanche" and at the Rivoli Frankie Avalon and Don Rickles had the leading roles in "Bikini Beach."

Butch Haws, FC, played his guitar and sang at the Peru State College "Variety Show."

Mr./Mrs. Dale Goodhart, Humboldt, purchased the Western Auto store in Auburn.

An item from United Press:
Houston, TX--The city's humane department head Harold Fife was asked why there was no law in the city against letting cats run loose as there was for dogs. Harold's reply: "Have you ever tried to catch a cat?"

25 Years Ago

Navy Lt. Sandra Schawang, FC, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, MD, was stationed at Whidby Island, WA.

Nicole Hopper, Southeast Consolidated, was the Journal's Richardson County Athlete of the Week.

Juliann Goltz and Donnie Stice, both of Rulo, were married Sept. 2 at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Rulo.

Airman 1st Class Vernell Schutte, Verdon, was in Air Force intelligence training at Goodfellow AFB, TX.

Chad Wilson, 18, was awarded his Eagle Scout Badge. He was a member of Troop 393 sponsored by the Elks Lodge. Roger Lampe was Scoutmaster.

The stork report: daughter Oct. 8 to Mr./Mrs. Dean Stevens, Reserve; daughter Oct. 9 to Mr./Mrs. Bill Pohlman, Humboldt.

Novak Realty bought the Carter building at 1423 Harlan Street.

Kristy Snethen, Sacred Heart, and Tom Stumbo, FCHS, were selected as Junior Rotarians of the Month.

The FCHS Tigers shut out Auburn 34-0. Juniors Cameron McNabb, Jason McNeely and Jason Schock led the way for the Tigers. McNabb rushed for 144 yards and McNeely connected with Schock three times - A 22-yard diving circus catch by Schock set up one score, another 21-yarder went for a touchdown and the third followed for the two-point conversion.

Minnie Klebba, Grand Island, and Leonard Stout, FC, were married Sept. 16 at the FC First United Methodist Church.

15 Years Ago

The Journal ran a photo and story of horses Cap and Queenie pulling a wagon at The Nursery School, Highway 159 west of Rulo. Cap and Queenie were made of cornstalks by Betty Majerus and her sister, Violet McTaggart. The horses were so realistic that the 159 traffic became terrific as people from near and far drove by to see them and to snap photos.

Homecoming royalty: Sacred Heart, Matt Mosiman and Julie Froeschl; Southeast Consolidated, Curtis Aue and Anna Avery; D-V, Jacob Fritz and Hilary Koso.

Ivy Campbell, FC, received a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Creighton University.

An open house was held for Sandy Catlin, nurse practitioner, at Family Medicine.

The stork report: son Oct. 4 to Mr./Mrs. Kenneth Thiltges, Rulo; son Oct. 1 to Mr./Mrs. Max Milam, FC; daughter Oct. 4 to Mr./Mrs. Michael Stoller, FC.

The Journal's Athletes of the Week were Carla Hunzeker, FCHS, softball, and Josh Rhodd, Sacred Heart, football.

Dan Wittwer, Dawson, sold his Wittwer Fertilizer Service to Stateline Ag, owned by Neal Kanel and J. R. Isch.

At the 4-H Fun Night at Humboldt Vivian Hall, FC, was honored for her 30 years of leadership service and Ron Hilgenfeld and Lois Hersh for 15 years.

Mary Benderson

Mary Benderson, 90, formerly of Fremont, died Friday, Oct. 2, 2014, at Stella Maris Nursing Home in Timonium, MD, following a long illness. Mary was born to Patrick and Josephine (Miller) Quinlan in Dawson on Sept. 15, 1924.

Mary Quinlan married Ben Benderson, who she met three weeks after moving to Fremont in 1945, on Jan. 26, 1952. Ben preceded Mary in death in 2005. She was also preceded in death by her parents and two older brothers, Michael and William Quinlan.

Mary is survived by her three children, Joan (Tony) Paulson, of University Place, WA, David (Susan) Benderson, of Cedar Rapids, IA, and Esther (Eric) Frey, of Lutherville, MD; as well as six grandchildren, Brian (Nadia), Julia Gingerich (Corey), Philip, Monica, Ethan and Sarah; and two great-granddaughters, Yasmine and Salma.

Mary was a longtime member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Fremont and worked in the school lunch program at St Patrick's School for nearly 20 years. She also worked at JC Penneys and Hormel. Mary and Ben were avid walkers in their retirement. They led the Fremont Volkswalk Club and completed Volkswalks in every US state followed by Volkswalks in every US state capitol city. Mary was also a 30-plus year member of TOPS in Fremont.

A Funeral Mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 9, 2014. Visitation will be from 4-8 p.m. Wednesday, with a Vigil/Rosary Service at 7, all at Moser Memorial Chapel in Fremont. Visitation will continue at church one hour prior to the service at the church. Mary will be buried next to Ben at Calvary Cemetery in Fremont.

Memorial donations can be sent to Stella Maris, the skilled nursing facility that cared for Mary (2300 Dulaney Valley Rd., Timonium, MD 21093) or to Archbishop Bergan High School in Fremont.

Donna K. (Overfield) Winker

Donna Kay (Overfield) Winker, 60, of Humboldt, passed away Thursday, Oct. 2, 2014 at Good Samaritan Society in Auburn. She was born Feb. 3, 1954 in Falls City to Don and Mary (Mullins) Overfield.

Donna attended Chadron Elementary School through the 3rd grade and then Holbrook Elementary School through 6th grade. After her family moved, Donna attended public school in Humboldt, where she graduated from Humboldt High School with the Class of 1972. Donna continued her education at Peru State College and later received her LPN degree from Southeast Community College in Beatrice.

Donna was united in marriage to Eldon Paul Hunzeker from June 18, 1972 until 1979. To this union four children, Kari, Nathan, Eric and Aaron were born. Donna spent most of her life in Humboldt, where she lived and raised her four children. She worked as a nurse's aide and LPN in hospitals and nursing homes in southeast Nebraska. In April of 1991, Donna was united in marriage to Bruce Anthony Edward Winker in Humboldt. After the passing of her husband, she continued to devote her life to the raising of her children and, later, her grandchildren.

Donna was a member of The Christian Church in Humboldt, where she attended services and Bible study regularly. She enjoyed spending time with her family, watching sports, cross-stitching, poetry, drawing, and word puzzles.

Her favorite entertainment was watching grandchildren play sports, especially baseball, basketball, football and volleyball. She became a resident of Colonial Acres Nursing Home and later Good Samaritan Society when her health began to decline.

She was preceded in death by husband Bruce Winker and her father Don Overfield.

Donna is survived by her daughter, Kari (Mike) Preclik, of The Czech Republic; sons, Nathan (Lisy) Hunzeker, of Altavista, VA, Eric (Amberly) Hunzeker, of Lincoln, Aaron (Melinda) Hunzeker, of Humboldt; 10 grandchildren; mother, Mary Overfield, of Humboldt; sisters, Debbie (Dan) James, Deane Overfield and Darcy Weldon, all of Humboldt; brother, Dan (Cindy) Overfield, of Auburn; and many other nieces, nephews, relatives and friends.

Funeral Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 8, 2014 at The Christian Church in Humboldt, with Pastor Howard Blecha officiating. Visitation will be from 9 a.m.-8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7, at Wherry Mortuary in Humboldt. Family will greet friends from 6-8 p.m. at the mortuary. Interment at the Humboldt Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be given to The Humboldt Christian Church, Bruun Memorial Library Fund or Good Samaritan Society in Auburn. Online messages of condolence can be left at www.wherry-mortuary.com

Kenneth J. Keller

Kenneth J. Keller, 97, of Nebraska City, died Friday, Oct. 3, 2014 at Morton Place in Nebraska City. He was born July 25, 1917 in Syracuse, the son of Harry and Elizabeth (Brammier) Keller.

Survivors include his son, Dennis (Carol) Keller, of Tucson, AZ; daughter, Kay (Gene) Nannen, of Nebraska City; seven grandchildren; eight great grandchildren; daughter-in-law, Madeline Wilhelm, of Falls City; many other relatives and friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Delores (Meyer) Keller; son, Ronald Keller; infant daughter, Phyllis Anne; grandson, Nathan Nannen; and brothers, Denver Keller and August Keller.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, 2014 at Bethel United Church of Christ in Nebraska City with burial in Wyuka Cemetery in Nebraska City. Memorials are suggested to the Bethel United Church of Christ.

Local newspaper is ‘tie that binds’

By Robert M. Williams, Jr.

What do you care most about in life?

Most of us would put family at, or near, the top of such a list. Friends would be there. So would our jobs or businesses, our livelihoods. Our homes. Maybe our pets. Our hobbies and pastimes. Add in those around us: Neighbors, the community, etc.

That’s our world, our “sphere of influence.” Whatever happens to those who inhabit that place in our hearts and lives means something to us.

We monitor.

We respond.

We pay attention. We laugh. We cry. We hurt. We rejoice.

We care.

And that is what well-run newspapers do, too. (The italics on well-run are mine.)

As I have traveled the nation this past year, it’s been reassuring to see so many dedicated men and women who see newspapering as so much more than a “job.” Newspapering is a job in the same sense that being a father or mother is a “job.”

Parents are responsible for the well-being of their family. Good newspapers take on that role with the communities we serve. Newspapers are vigilant in protecting our communities from destructive influences, both from without and within. Newspapers sound the alarm with swift, accurate and thorough coverage when sensitive issues arise. We provide not just facts, but clearly labeled editorials and analysis stories that offer in-depth points — and counterpoints — to help everyone weigh matters with sufficient information.

Newspapers also serve as “points of pride” where communities celebrate individual and collective achievement, offering congratulations and joining in mass celebration.

Newspapers serve communities in sad times as well, providing clear, concise facts about tragic events, their causes and how they might be prevented from re-occurring. When communities are sick or injured, newspapers bleed. We share the pain and shed tears along with our readers.

If the newspaper I’ve described sounds like a living, breathing thing ... that’s because they are. Despite what a few might have you believe, newspapers are far from dead.

As long as parents take pride in the birth of a baby, a home run by their Little Leaguer, or graduation, marriage, promotion or any number of life’s milestones, people will enjoy reading about them in their community newspaper.

As long as people care about who died in their community this week, how high their taxes may rise or who scored the winning touchdown at the high school football game — community newspapers will be alive.

As long as bulletin boards and refrigerator doors display cherished family memories, community newspapers will be alive.

John Donne said: “No man is an island.” Because we don’t live isolated lives, apart from everyone around, newspapers are going to be here to help us celebrate, mourn and record life’s history as it happens. Newspapers are the “tie that binds” people together.

And in the words of that old hymn: “Blest be the tie that binds.”

Grateful Grandfather

Dear Editor,

Recently there was a fire at my daughter’s home in Falls City that started as a small grease fire on the stove as she was preparing her lunch.

Despite her efforts to extinguish, it rapidly turned into an uncontrollable blaze. The Falls City Volunteer Fire Department response time was awesome, they were there in a matter of very few minutes. Upon learning that people were trapped inside the house, our VOLUNTEER community sprang into action...Wow! What a great relief and welcome sight that was to see. The Falls City PD, FC Volunteer Ambulance, FC Volunteer Rural Fire, Verdon Volunteer Fire, Richardson County Sheriff, Emergency Management and The American Red Cross were all there in assistance in only minutes.

I want ALL of you FIRT RESPONDERS to know how grateful I am to you.

vol-un-teen

noun: volunteer; plural noun: volunteers

1. a person who freely offers to take part in an enterprise or undertake a task.

My wife, Rita, is — and has been — a very active member of the Falls City Volunteer Ambulance Service for the last few years. I know from experience how hard they all work and some of the sacrifices the family has to undertake to support their Volunteer. If you are one, THANK YOU! Or if you know someone who is, please do not take them for granted and give them all of your support.

Sincerely,

inhalation. Gibson was then transferred to Lincoln for more intensive treatment on his lungs. Both are now out of the hospital and recovering well. Neither Allison or the little boys were injured.

FC Fire Chief Kenny Simpson said 13 volunteers from Falls City, nine more rural (including Tim’s youngest brother, Bob, who heard the call, believed it was his niece’s home and got info that people - no names - were trapped on the second floor), were there in minutes, as were members of the FC Volunteer Ambulance Squad and the Richardson County Emergency Management Agency. Firemen quickly extinguished the grease fire, packed up and left in time for happy hour.

Firemen quickly deduced that the fire started in the kitchen and, as fires do, sought oxygen and moved vertically. The stairs leading to the second floor sit directly adjacent to the kitchen.

The home is a “total loss,” according to Tim. The young couples are each back in living with parents, all or most of their belongings are destroyed and everything else will forever smell like Friday, Oct. 3, 2014 — and yet this was, and is, truly a “happy” hour. If for no other reason other than they are not the saddest of days for Falls City, these families and their friends. The potential depth of tragedy avoided Friday is nearly incomprehensible, yet very much real.

“Five more minutes, I’m not sure we would’ve gotten the fire out,” Simpson said. “I don’t know that we would’ve gotten inside the home and you have to get in the house to get water on the fire.”

Tucked inside the 4H building at the Minnesota State Fair is a working museum filled with old presses, two Linotypes and other features of a 1930s-era newspaper. During the two weeks of the state fair each year, I, along with many other volunteers have the opportunity to share with visitors the importance of newspapers in our communities.

Hundreds of visitors, in just the one day I volunteered at the museum, talked about the important role the newspaper industry has played in their lives - past and present. They showed a great appreciation and passion for the longest running media source.

The newspaper industry, with its print and online formats, continues to play a critical role in documenting the daily activities of communities across Minnesota.

Despite our changing world, the daily and weekly community newspapers remain a prime source for recording local news events. Newspaper staffs document the lives of local citizens from birth announcements to their obituaries, the developments of city councils, county boards and school boards, the hometown school athletics and arts programs, and all the news and year-round area event coverage.

Newspapers provide vital information for readers. Other media sources, like online news networks and radio stations, no longer have many news reporters and depend on newspaper coverage to inform their audience. And television network news barely touches the tip of the iceberg for coverage in each community around the state.

It comes down to the newspaper industry to provide community entertainment and news coverage, not to mention key advertising and public notice information. Newspapers continue to serve as an important function of the democratic process in America.

Newspaper staffs across the country can be proud of their efforts to inform and document the events of their communities. The newspaper industry continues to be the best media outlet for reaching mass audiences, especially with the combined print and online capabilities.

Checkoff programs issue statement on gubernatorial debate

Five of Nebraska's commodity checkoff programs have issued a joint statement in response to endorsement claims made during the Nebraska gubernatorial debate held Thursday night.

The Nebraska Corn Board, Nebraska Pork Producers, Nebraska Soybean Board, Nebraska Wheat Board, and Nebraska Beef Council are all prohibited by law from endorsing or opposing political candidates at any level. Comments made during the debate may have led voters to believe that these checkoff programs had made endorsements in the governor's race.

In Thursday night's gubernatorial debate on NET Television, Democratic candidate Chuck Hassebrook said he had received endorsements from "presidents and board chairs of the commodity organizations and boards from every one of the five major commodities—beef, pork, corn soybeans and wheat..."

Since checkoff funds are collected from all farmers and ranchers, state and federal laws do not allow those funds to be used to support or oppose political candidates at any level.

I love to explore in the oceans. Can you read these clues and put the last name of each world-traveling explorer in the puzzle?

1. Leif _____ - an explorer from Iceland who landed in North America about 500 years before Columbus.

2. Marco _____ - Venetian explorer; traveled into China and other parts of Asia. He was the first European to meet Kublai Khan, the emperor of China.

3. Amerigo _____ - Italian explorer, thought to have sailed past Brazil. The Americas were named after him.

4. Christopher _____ - born in Genoa, (which is now part of Italy), but was sponsored by Spain's King and Queen, who gave him three famous ships: Niña, Pinta and Santa Maria. He made 4 trips to the "New World."

5. Ida Laura _____ - Austrian explorer; traveled around the world more than once. Her books about her travels were published in seven languages.

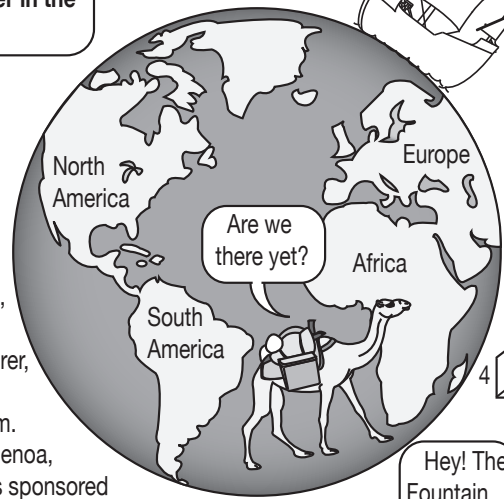

6. Juan _____ - first European explorer to land in Florida (which he named). Legend says that he wanted to find "The Fountain of Youth."

7. Hernando _____ - Spanish Explorer who led an expedition to South America, which in turn led to the downfall of the Aztec Empire.

8. _____ - thought to be the first African-born man to step in North America. He was a slave to an explorer and he scouted much of the Southwest.

Bold and Risk-Taking “Explorers”

I'm not bold or a risk-taker. I hardly leave my shell. People who travel and explore the world going into unknown and unmapped areas have to be risk-takers. They often put themselves in some danger to learn about new things. They may achieve great success!

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF RICHARDSON COUNTY, NEBRASKA, Case CI 14-129, ADAIR ASSET MANAGEMENT, LLC, Plaintiff, vs. RICHARD A. LIBERTY and THE HEIRS & DEVISEES OF LEORA M. LIBERTY, Husband & Wife; STEWART TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, Trustee for FIRST-PLUS FINANCIAL, INC., d/b/a FIRST PLUS DIRECT, a Texas Corporation; JOHN DOE AND MARY DOE; and all other persons/entities UNKNOWN claiming any right, interest or title in the real estate described herein,

To: Richard A. Liberty and The Heirs & Devisees of Leora M. Liberty, Husband & Wife; Stewart Title Guaranty Company, Trustee for FirstPlus Financial, Inc., d/b/a First Plus Direct, a Texas Corporation and all other persons/entities UNKNOWN having or claiming any right, interest or title in Lots Five (5) and Six (6), Block One Hundred Ninety-five (195), Falls City, Richardson County, Nebraska.

You have been sued by Adair Asset Management, LLC. The object of the plaintiff's Complaint is to foreclose on Tax Sale Certificate No. 11-002 for the delinquent taxes on the real estate described above. The taxes due under the certificate are for the 2009 thru 2013 taxes plus interest at the rate of 14% per annum. The Complaint asks the court to find that the taxes are a lien against the real estate, as provided by law, and that upon establishment of such lien, the real estate, which may remain unredeemed, be sold at public sale to satisfy the decree so entered, together with interest and costs, including attorney's fees as provided for and by Nebraska Revised Statute §77-1909, as amended, and that the defendants be forever barred of all claims upon, interest in, right or title to, lien upon or equity of redemption in the real estate upon confirmation of the sale. To defend this lawsuit, an appropriate written response must be filed with the District Court of Richardson County, Nebraska, 1700 Stone Street, Falls City, Nebraska 68355, within 30 days of the last publication of this notice. If you fail to respond, the court may enter a judgment for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

Village of Stella Budget Workshop,
Aug. 19, 2014 at 7:00 P.M. at the Stella Community Building
Present: Henry Sullwold, Heath Stanley, Jerry Joy and Allen McNeely. Absent: Adam Stanley. Guests: Andy McMullen.

The workshop was called to order at 7 P.M. and roll call was taken. Chairman Joy noted the posting of the open meeting act. The clerk provided the members with figures from 2012-13, 2013-14 and sheets for 2014-15. Members mentioned projects they would like to see accomplished in the future for the park, library and community building. After reviewing the figures it was decided to lower budget figures in water and general due to projects which were completed or are to be completed this fiscal year and raise budget figures for the library-park. It was the consensus of the members present to try to keep the levy at about the same level.

Motion by H. Sullwold and second by McNeely to adjourn the workshop at 7:55 P.M. All voted yea.

Vicki Owings, Clerk

Cards of Thanks
Many thanks to all our friends, relatives and family for their love and support the past 7 years of Dean's illness. The flowers, cards, visits and food sent are appreciated. Thank you, Pastor Jerry Yount, for being with us that last afternoon and the years of being our special friends also. The Barada Ladies prepared such a fine meal at the parsonage following the funeral. Thank you. We can be ever thankful for the best care and kindness shown Dean these past years at our Community hospital, Family Clinic, Creighton, In-Home Health and Hospice. The hospice group made Dean's wish to remain at home possible. Thank you Sally, Doris, Janice and all. A special thanks for the families being with us that last day which made his passing more bearable. Also, a special thanks goes to Tom McCann for being there for Dean when he needed assistance. Your making him laugh and tell one of his many stories, lightened his problems. Many thanks to Dorr Funeral Home for their exceptional service and kindness. Thank you Brian and Donna so very much. My prayers are all that God Blesses each of you forever. ‘THE DEATH OF A SOLDIER’ weren’t so lucky. Bodies of the dead were strewn about, lying among sailors who writhed in pain or lie motionless in shock.

Keppler quickly went into action and tended to those who held on. He directed the triage, bandaged wounds, installed tourniquets, and did whatever else was necessary to save the lives of his shipmates—many of whom would have otherwise perished.

In the aftermath, he nursed his beloved ship, cleaning and repairing its wounds with the gentle tenderness of a nurse caring for a patient.

That night, the U.S.S. San Francisco led an American fleet into battle with the Japanese, even though the U.S. fleet was outgunned and outnumbered. Keppler, and the young sailors who had escaped injury during the morning’s battle, followed the commands of Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan, and fed the guns while the coal-black sky burst with the fireworks of the enemy’s rockets, and the explosions of crippling hits.

One of the strikes landed squarely on the navigation deck of the San Francisco, instantly killing the admiral and captain. Another ripped through the hangar, killing and maiming dozens of Keppler’s shipmates, and slicing the steel vessel into flying, shredding shards. The hangar erupted, and the fire spread like a cancer through the body of Keppler’s best friend. Flames of death licked at Keppler’s arms. Blood seeped from dozens of julienne slices on his body. A furnace of heat ripped air from his lungs. Most men would have abandoned ship then, purely by instinct. But not Keppler.

Ignoring the warm blood that ran down his arms, legs, and torso, Keppler dragged one of the ship’s hoses through the flames, like a surgeon expertly running a life-saving vein through the body of an injured soldier. Sweat mingled with his blood, and drenched his uniform. His weakening body slumped. Still, he battled on.

While naval brothers, buddies, and bunk mates moaned and pleaded for aid, Keppler forged ahead. He knew that the hangar contained the ship’s gas reserves and its stock of ammunition. If fire met gasoline, the ship would burst into oblivion, leaving its sailors to the annals of history. So he single-handedly battled the jumping flames, protecting his beloved vessel and all souls on board from certain demise. When reinforcements arrived, Keppler issued commands to his subordinates, then disappeared into the thick smoke. While the flames sizzled into steam, Keppler responded to the moans of his shipmates. Blood surged through his body and spurted from his injuries as he ran from comrade to comrade, knowing with relative certainty that his own life was drifting away with each beat of his pulsating heart. Still, he and the rest of the men who were able bandaged the wounded, carried friends to safety, and ensured them that help was coming. All the while, Keppler resisted all pleas to care for himself.

Finally, when he couldn’t go on, he collapsed. At 24, he took his final breath. All had given some that night, but Keppler had given all, to save his fellow sailors, and above all, his best friend—the ship that had carried him for two years, the ship that had become his home and his career—the U.S.S. San Francisco.

None of us will ever understand the commitment that a sailor gives to his shipmates or his ship. But maybe, because of stories like Keppler’s, we will show unending respect to those who do.

The scene described above was painted in captivating detail by author Paul Gallico, in a March 1944 article written for Esquire magazine. The article accompanied a painting that was also commissioned by the magazine, and was painted by Falls City native son, John Falter.

The Death of a Soldier will be on display in the Stalder Gallery of the Falls City Library and Arts Center from Nov. 11 through Dec. 31, along with six other original Falter paintings that were commissioned during WWII. An art opening will be held on the first night, (which is Veterans Day), at seven p.m. and will feature a gallery talk by Dr. Adrian Lewis, a professor at KU, and one of the most renowned WWII scholars in America. The doors will open at 6 p.m. for gallery viewing.

The event is free and open to the public. It is sponsored by the Richardson County Arts and Humanities Council, with help from the Richardson County Visitors Committee.

Museum ceremony

A ribbon cutting ceremony will be held tomorrow for the new Falter Museum. The museum is still under construction but the ceremony is planned for 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Falter Museum, which will be located at 17th and Stone Street, will display the works of local artist John P. Falter.

Museum coordinator Dobey Falter Haws says that several people will be giving remarks during the ceremony, including Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman. Other speakers will include Deb Arnez of the NE State Historical Society; Sandy Hartman with the Library and Community Foundation; Steve Kottich, representing the Richardson Foundation; and Mitch Glaser. Music by Falls City Public and Sacred Heart students will also be included in the ceremony.

The museum will include both Falter’s artwork as well as personal artifacts. The highlight of the museum will be the studio that was in Falter’s Philadelphia home at the time of his death. The studio was donated by Falter’s widow to the Nebraska Historical Society and has been housed in Lincoln since. The Historical Society has agreed to loan the studio to the Falter

Museum in Falls City.

John Philip Falter is best known for illustrating 129 Saturday Evening Post covers.

The museum will not be open for tours due to construction, but they hope to have work wrapped in time for the Falls City window opening Nov. 28.

Promoting community projects, benefits, and events with organizations and individuals that matter to our community is something SNC does almost every day.
