Former Richardson County Sheriff's Deputy Josh Nincehelsner

Former deputy pleads guilty to felony; could get prison term

Former Richardson County Deputy Sheriff Joshua Nincehelsner, of Dawson, has pled guilty to a felony charge of criminal mischief and misdemeanor charge of false reporting and in exchange two misdemeanors (official misconduct and obstructing government operations) were dropped as part of a plea agreement reached with special prosecutor Kyle Burdick in Richardson County District Court last week.

Nincehelsner, who last summer posted 10 percent of a $50,000 cash bond, appeared in District Court last Tuesday. He will be sentenced on Dec. 16 and faces up to five years in prison and could be fined up to $10,000.

Nincehelsner was charged for reporting to dispatchers on June 9 that he had been shot by an unidentified man when he stopped his patrol vehicle to see if a motorist parked on a county road needed assistance. Following the investigation by the Nebraska State Patrol in

Voters send Ricketts to Capitol; Oliver Falls City's new Mayor

In a contested race for Falls City's Mayor, City Councilman Jerry Oliver defeated Charles Bentley by 74 votes in last Tuesday's election. Oliver received 620 votes to Bentley's 556.

Oliver is the retired plant manager of Air Lanco and currently serves as First Ward councilman. Bentley is a retired long-time city employee.

Current Mayor Tim Hersh, completing his first term in the position, was not a candidate for re-election.

County voters went for Republicans Pete Ricketts/Foley with 1,497 to 961 for Democrats Hassebrook/Raybould in the contest for Governor. They also preferred Republican Ben Sasse for U.S. Senate giving him a 1,884 to 589 victory over Dave Domina, the Democratic candidate.

All county officials who ran for re-election were uncontested and included: County Attorney Doug Merz, County Clerk Mary L. Eickhoff, District Court Clerk Pamela Scott, County Treasurer Austin Duerfeldt and County Surveyor Robert Tichy. Eickhoff, Scott and Duerfeldt are Republicans and Merz and Tichy,

Mayor Elect Jerry Oliver

Governor Elect Pete Ricketts

Democrats.

County Commissioner James Davidson, a Democrat and representing District 1, ran unopposed for re-election.

Retired State Patrolman Don Pounds, a Republican and a primary election winner, was not opposed for sheriff.

In the city election, Donald Ferguson, a write-in candidate and a former Fourth Ward councilman, won the First Ward position; Judy Murphy was re-elected Second Ward councilman; John Vaughn defeated Kirby Robidoux, an incumbent, in the Third Ward. Ward Four had no candidates. Lewis Zentner and Darrell Rannebeck were re-elected to the Airport Authority.

At Humboldt, Mike Riley was re-elected mayor.

Elected to the Humboldt City Council were Doris DeJonge

Making spirits bright

By Lori Gottula

On Sunday, Nov. 9, a gorgeous fall afternoon, volunteers on horseback, hayrack, and horse-drawn sled trotted and rode through Falls City to collect toys for needy children. The program, called the Jingle Bell Ride, is sponsored by Southeast Nebraska Community Action, and coordinated by volunteer Sherry Huddleston. Cathy Davis, Bev Chesnut and Anne Youde also serve as volunteer coordinators. The program, originally founded by Bev Chesnut, is now in its eighth year.

This year, the Jingle Bell Ride was even bigger than normal because the group partnered with Thrivent Financial Group for an overall event called "Championing Charities."

According to Huddleston, Thrivent Financial Group invited

KU prof keynote speaker at FCHS

A grateful, daylong salute to this area's veterans will be made with a full schedule of activities on Veterans Day, Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Highlights of the day will be talks by Dr. Adrian Lewis, a retired Army major and Professor at the University of Kansas at Lawrence. He will speak at the 11 a.m. program at Falls City High School and again at 7 p.m. at the Stalder Gallery at the Falls City Library and Art Center. The latter program will be the opening in the Gallery of the John P. Falter's original paintings of seven World War II Medal of Honor winners.

Dr. Lewis' talk at the Gallery will be streamed to the veterans' dinner at the First United Methodist Church.

A world-renowned expert on World War II, his writings include his first book, "Omaha Beach: A Flawed Victory." This work is considered the best analysis of the Normandy invasion of June 6, 1944, and the horrific Battle for Omaha Beach. Dr. Lewis has taught at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, NY, the University of Cali-

Elegance and Comfort...

with a Modern Spin

Today, Veterans Day, we are in the midst of day-long activities honoring this area’s veterans.

It hasn’t always been so.

In the long-ago past, Armistice Day, Nov. 11, honored World War I veterans, and its only observance locally was a steak dinner at one of our eateries and later at the Vets Club where it became the Last Man’s Club dinner. The last surviving member of World War I got the bottle of whiskey designated for it. As I recall E. A. Lionberger finally “won” the bottle. World War II vets were not invited.

Then in 1954 President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a bill designating Nov. 11 as Veterans Day and a few days later Congress voted to replace the Armistice Day holiday, honoring World War I veterans, with Veterans Day, honoring all war veterans. In 1971 it was moved to the fourth Monday of October. In 1978 it was moved back to Nov. 11.

In doing a little checking in Journal files, I found that the Humboldt America Legion post inaugurated the celebration of Veterans Day in the county with a program in 1957 and it was attended by 100 persons. Dr. C. B. Arnot and Mrs. Jack Kent Sr. were honored for their work with veterans. I think it was the same year that Charles Schlicker, a FC World War II, vet decided there should be some Veterans Day observance. About a dozen of us gathered at the west door of the Courthouse, repeated the Pledge of Allegiance and that was about it. It was a terribly cold day and my camera froze up so there was no photo.

Falls City’s American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts got the ball rolling in 1958 with a Vets Day parade as the sole feature. But it was a good parade with saddle clubs from Falls City, Hiawatha, Dawson-Verdon and Sabetha riding and school kids marching. It got better. In 1959 another parade was held. In 1960, again with the Legion and VFW doing the sponsoring and a 3 p.m. program was held at the FCHS Stadium with students attending. Milton Martin, VFW commander, and Don Heinzelman, Legion commander, made a couple of presentations.

The next few years the Vets Club took over and programs were held in the FCHS auditorium with a speaker and the FCHS band and Sacred Heart chorus participating.

Then Marshall Maddox, a combat Vietnam War vet, came to town as a platoon sergeant in Company B, the National Guard unit. Marshall was not one to overlook Veterans Day. Today’s program evolved, generally someone of outside-FC importance as speaker. I remember a regular Army officer or two from Ft. Riley, KS, coming here to participate and couldn’t believe such a small town could throw such a super Veterans Day celebration as Marshall had organized.

After Marshall’s untimely death, his wife Sherry took over the Veterans Day program and has done an outstanding job of it ever since.

Today’s celebration is really something special with Dr. Adrian Lewis, a professor at Kansas University and a renowned expert on World War, the speaker at the morning program at FCHS. I hope all the students attending listened carefully. His talk tonight at the Heroes program at the FC Library and Arts Center is being streamed to the Veterans Day dinner at the First United Methodist Church. I’m sure it will be outstanding. A great climax to the day.

Such is Veterans Day, past and present in Falls City.

Surprise, surprise! Nebraskans elect another Republican governor

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

Nebraskans have elected another Republican as governor. Oh boy. Nothing like celebrating the status quo. There hasn’t been a Democrat in the Governor’s Mansion in Lincoln since Ben Nelson spent some time there in the 1990s.

Early indications are that this new Republican Governor doesn’t plan to spend much time there either. He said he expected to spend most of his time in Lincoln (read that, in the office). But the beautiful two-story Georgian style brick mansion on H Street will likely just be used for formal events. Governor-elect Ricketts expects to keep his family in place in Omaha.

If you’ve been paying attention, you know that you can count the number of Nebraska Democrat Governors in the last 54 years on one hand. There have been five since Ralph Brooks, a Democrat, died in office in 1960 and was replaced by Republican Dwight Burney who was replaced 9 years later by Democrat Frank Morrison. Morrison served three 2-year terms through 1967 and was replaced by Republican Norbert Tiemann who served one term 1967-1971 and was replaced by Democrat J. James Exon who served two terms from 1971 to 1979.

Exon was replaced by one term Republican Charlie Thone who lost re-election to Vietnam War veteran, Democrat Bob Kerrey. Kerrey announced that he was tired of the office after one term and Republican Kay Orr was elected in the nation’s first all-female contest (she defeated Democrat Helen Boosalis). Democrat Ben Nelson defeated Orr in 1990 and served two terms until 1999. Republican Mike Johanns who served one term and two years of the next before resigning to become U.S. Agriculture Secretary replaced him. He was replaced by Lt. Governor Dave Heineman who was re-elected twice and has been the longest serving governor in Nebraska history.

The Associated Press recently revealed that about 48 percent (559,494 people) of registered Nebraska voters are Republicans, while Democrats account for nearly 31 percent (357,899) and Independent voters make up 20 percent (235,984). In 2014, Libertarians accounted for the balance with 5,708 registered voters.

A report from the Nebraska Secretary of State said that the Independent voter ranks have swelled 11 percent since the last nonpresidential election year and that Republicans have grown by 2 percent. The number of Democrats has declined in every election since 2008.

In other election news, Republicans also took the top constitutional offices. Nebraska’s next Attorney General, Auditor, Secretary of State and Treasurer will all be Republicans.

The last time Nebraska had a Democrat Attorney General was Harold Caldwell who served for 31 hours in 1951. Before that it was Richard Hunter who served from 1937 to 1939.

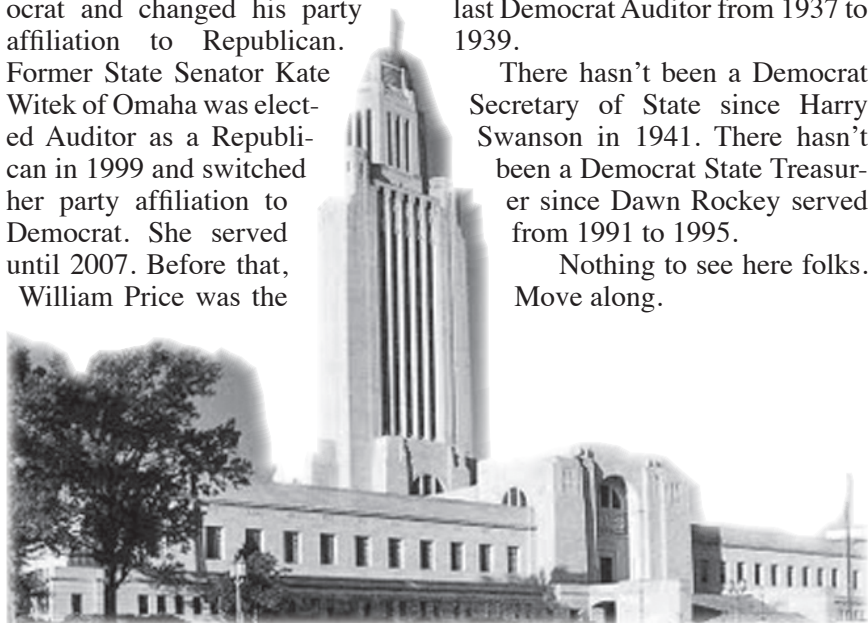

There hasn’t been a Democrat State Auditor since John Breslow in 1991 to 1999. He won as a Democrat and changed his party affiliation to Republican. Former State Senator Kate Witek of Omaha was elected Auditor as a Republican in 1999 and switched her party affiliation to Democrat. She served until 2007. Before that, William Price was the last Democrat Auditor from 1937 to 1939.

There hasn’t been a Democrat Secretary of State since Harry Swanson in 1941. There hasn’t been a Democrat State Treasurer since Dawn Rockey served from 1991 to 1995.

Nothing to see here folks. Move along.

'He has a future, because HE has a past'

Lori Gottula snapped this timeless image of the late Ralph Lampe, a Korean War Veteran, and three-year-old Khysen Blundell of Sidney, NE, at Legion Memorial Park in Auburn during Memorial Day activities earlier this year. Mr. Lampe passed away on Aug. 24, 2014, after battling cancer. "I was at the Legion Memorial Park in Auburn when Ralph asked me to take a few pictures of him in his uniform. After we finished, a young woman (Khysen's mom) came up and shook his hand and thanked him for his service. Then, Khysen did the same. It was one of those moments that takes your breath away," Gottula said.

Working with active duty Army and Air Force officers, Dr. Lewis specializes in World War II, as mentioned, the Korean and Vietnam Wars, and the more recent military operations, including Operation Enduring Freedom, Afghanistan and Operation Iraqi Freedom.

The 11 a.m. program in the hymn at the high school will include numbers by the FCHS band and chorus and Sacred Heart chorus. The public is encouraged to attend.

The parade down Stone Street, from 20th to 14th Street, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and will include veterans' organizations' color guards, high school bands and elementary schools' students.

A reception honoring veterans will be held at ShopKo following the parade. The Stalder Gallery at the Library and Art Center will be open for one hour following the parade.

The busy day will conclude with the veterans' dinner at the First United Methodist Church at 6 p.m. and the "Heroes" program at the Library and Art Center at 7.

Sherry Maddox is the overall chairman and coordinator, which she has been for a number of years.

MADDOX DONATION

The Falls City Library and Arts Center has received an extensive collection of books from the private library of the late Marshall Maddox donated by his family, Sherry, Alex and Wade. Marshall's request was to share his literary treasures with patrons of the library and students in the schools.

The Maddox acquisitions greatly enhance the library's collection in the areas of biography, military history, and sports. Some selections have been donated to the Falls City Public and Sacred Heart Schools.

Marshall Maddox retired from the U.S. Army after almost 30 years finishing his career with the Falls City National Guard Company B. He was a member of the VFW and American Legion. Maddox served the community as a city council member, mayor, teacher, football coach and wrestling coach.

Nincehelser to be sentenced next month

cooperation with the Richardson County Sheriff's Office, the 25-year-old deputy admitted to shooting himself in the arm and firing several shots into his patrol pickup, admitting there was no stranded motorist.

Nebraska State Patrol investigators one day after the incident plotted the trajectories of the bullets that struck Nincehelser's vehicle and determined that the bullets were fired from a higher point than could've been possible if fired by a person seated in a car. Later, shell casings found at the scene were determined to have been fired by two different guns, though both weapons proved to be property of the Richardson County Sheriff's Office. Forensic technicians determined that the .40 caliber shell casing claimed by Nincehelser to be fired by the unknown assailant had actually been fired by his department-issued pistol. It was retrieved, from Nincehelser, on June 12.

When confronted about the shell casings and questionable trajectories of the bullets, Nincehelser, according to the arrest affidavit, confessed that the entire thing had been staged and he had falsely radioed his emergency to dispatch.

Houser said that Nincehelser's admission included a motive, but would not divulge that information with this reporter.

Houser, who recognized Nincehelser, a 2007 Humboldt-TR-S High School graduate, with a certificate of commendation just one year prior was noticeably disheartened when reached by phone shortly after the arrest in June. The ordeal came on the heels of a primary election loss and marred the last few months of his term.

"We all feel betrayed," he said. "This is someone we were close to and believed in.

"I - we - have to depend on these guys."

"He has lost so much, his pension and job," Houser said. "He had so much promise and opportunity. He is tremendously disappointed and embarrassed."

Shirley (Hackett) George recently moved back to Falls City after living in Illinois. She's been an active member of Women at Risk and is bringing the fight back home to Nebraska with her, raising money and awareness for WAR, which rescues women from slavery and prostitution all over the world.

Shirley brings WAR back home to Falls City

Talk to Shirley (Hackett) George, and you'll never guess that she used to be incredibly shy. The thought of talking to a freelance writer would have petrified her. Now, just ask her about her passionate subject—human trafficking—and she'll rattle off facts and statistics as if she's giving a speech to 500 people (which she has done.)

Nobody wants to talk about human trafficking. It's a horror that happens "over there." It's not something we need to worry about here! And it's not something we want to discuss over pie and coffee either! O.K., maybe not. But as Shirley will tell you, it IS a topic that we need to discuss, because it's not just "over there" anymore.

According to a recent segment on Fox News, more than 12 million people are currently victims of slavery around the world. Women at Risk International, the organization that Shirley supports, reports on its website that 800,000 people are trafficked across borders every year. Half are children. Most are sold into prostitution, and the average age is 12 to 13.

Sixteen thousand women and children are trafficked into the United States every year. The FBI estimates that 100,000 to 300,000 US children are missing. According to further statistics, the FBI reports that 300 children are sold in Atlanta, Georgia per MONTH.

So much for burying our heads in the sand.

"Most people find these statistics staggering," Shirley said during a recent interview. "They think that the problem is so big that they can't do anything that matters. But if we can help rescue one, it matters to that one."

Shirley has been supporting WAR for several years. She recently moved back to Falls City from Illinois, and brought her message with her. On Thursday and Saturday of last week, she held a jewelry party at the Falls City Library and Arts Center to raise money and awareness for the organization. WAR helps women at risk all over the world by rescuing them from slavery and prostitution, providing safe houses, and offering training for skills that will help them live safe, fulfilling lives. The organization has 18 safe houses in the U.S., and representation in all 50 states and 40 countries.

Many of the women and children who are rescued are taught trades where they work with their hands, making jewelry, scarves, Christmas ornaments, hand-blown glass, and more. Those items are sold at jewelry parties, and 100 percent of the funds and unsold products are returned to the organization.

"When these women sell something that they have made with their own hands and hearts, it gives them joy and pride, as well as jobs so they can feed their families," Shirley said. "Ninety percent of the proceeds from these parties goes directly to help them, and to help rescue other women who have been sold into prostitution and slavery."

Shirley's jewelry party raised $1,200 for the organization, and two more people booked parties of their own. More importantly, it raised awareness about the issue of human trafficking.

"We need awareness, prayer, and action," Shirley said. "We can no longer bury our heads in the sand."

For more info about WAR, International, go to warinternational.org/about-us/ on the internet, or call Shirley George at (309) 313-3964.

If each of us helped one woman or child escape from prostitution or slavery, it would make all the difference in the world to that one.

Jingle Bell Ride

local charities to set up booths in Prichard Auditorium before and during the ride, so that each group could distribute information, and raise funds. The charities hung stockings by their booths, and accepted donations throughout the afternoon. The charity that collected the most money received an additional $300 from Thrivent. Second place was $200, and third was $100. The Jingle Bell Ride and the Richardson County Humane Society tied for first, so each received $250. Third place went to the Richardson County Arts and Humanities Council. Checks were presented to each group by Thrivent Financial representatives Steve and Joan Stoller, and Amanda Hersh.

Meanwhile, horsemen and women who had spent hours grooming and hauling their horses, preparing hay racks, and cleaning sleds, gathered with more than 50 volunteers to collect toys. The masses were separated into four different groups, and each group trotted and rode through a Falls City neighborhood, to collect toys from pre-determined locations. Santa Claus even rode along on one of the hayracks.

At the end of the ride, the groups gathered at Prichard Auditorium, to combine their toys. The stash was overwhelming. Piles of new toys were stacked on the cement block outside Prichard. And 100 percent will be distributed to local children in need.

The sponsoring organization, SENCA, will distribute the toys to qualifying children on Dec. 19 at Northridge Church, 1820 Morton St. According to Melissa Hardenberger, the Richardson County Family Development Specialist at SENCA, the times for distribution are from 8 a.m. to noon, and 1-3 p.m.

"Families are welcome to apply for the toys by filling out an application form that they can pick up in my office on the first floor of the courthouse," Melissa said. "The forms need to be returned no later than Nov. 26."

For more information about the application, contact Melissa at (402) 245-5284. To donate toys or money to the Jingle Bell Ride, call Huddleston at (402) 245-3191.

Ceiling fan likely caused Saturday fire that destroyed house at 911 E. 11th St.

A Falls City home likely caught fire because of a faulty ceiling fan and was completely destroyed Saturday night at 911 E. 11th St.
The home, owned by Bob Witt and rented out to Frank Sanchez, was called a “total loss” by the Falls City Fire Dept. No one was injured.
Members of the FC Volunteer Fire Dept. were called to the blaze shortly after 11 p.m., according to State Fire Marshal Jeff Goings. According to Goings’ report, the fire was electrical in nature and likely started in a bedroom ceiling fan. In all, 13 members of the FC Volunteer Fire Dept. were on the scene, joined by six rural firefighters.
This was the second fire at this particular home firemen responded to in recent months, and third significant house fire in Falls City the past few weeks.
On Oct. 23, a fire, also electrical in nature, caused an estimated $40,000 damage at a home located at 1215 Stone St. Adam Matzner, Chief Investigator of the Nebraska State Fire Marshal’s Office, reported that the home of Charles Edward caught on fire under a computer desk, as two power strip surge protectors were utilized to operate a computer and its accessories.
Tragedy was only narrowly avoided weeks earlier when a kitchen fire broke out at the home of Robert and Alison Sanders at 2021 McLean St. Alison and her young sons were on the main floor when a grease fire started on the stove and escaped, with the assistance of Alison’s father, Tim Campbell, out the front door unharmed. The family rents out the second story to a couple who were fast asleep and quickly trapped by the blaze. They were forced to evacuate from a second-floor window, helped to safety by Campbell and Mike Dishong, who just happened to be driving by the residence at the time and stopped to render aid.

Irish due some home-cookin' after trip to Stuart

By Jason Schock

The well-oiled Falls City Sacred Heart football machine performed with efficiency and precision, or up to its long-earned top-of-the-line reputation, Wednesday in a 44-20 second round playoff dismantling of previously unbeaten and second-ranked Stuart on a faraway patch of Nebraska soil. But nobody in that camp was in the mood for mechanical analogies when 13 hours after its initial departure the Irish's chartered bus sat motionless on the side of the road for three (plus) hours and the sign agonizingly always read 62 miles to Norfolk. Norfolk, a city so close, yet so far away - and yet a beacon of proof that you're almost only 200 miles from home!

Yes, the hardest part of FCSH's second round playoff experience was the travel. Moments into the 340-mile return trip came the first misstep of otherwise nimble navigation through northeast Nebraska. Stuart football players didn't hinder this journey, but a flat tire nearly made everyone lose it. The air went out at 7 p.m. — 12 1/2 hours after the day began — and that very same stretch of shoulder was after 10 p.m. still home to the most patience-challenged of all known living things: Teenage boys. Hungry ones.

Otherwise, it was a glorious day to run freely through a small Nebraska town called Stuart. It was for Austin Malone. The senior QB rushed for five touchdowns and threw for a sixth as the fifth-ranked Irish overcame a pair of early deficits and once again cruised to a playoff victory over the Stuart Broncos. In a rematch of last year's Class D2 State Championship - a 63-14 Irish romp - Malone and FCSH scored 36 consecutive points to turn a 14-8 first-quarter deficit into a 44-14 second-half rout. Malone scored on runs of five, 55 and 10 yards in the first half, then broke for 32- and 55-yard TDs in the second.

The Undisputed Player of the Game led his team to the end zone on each

Stuart's chances of stopping Austin Malone (left), Logan Scheitel (right) and the Class D2 defending state champion Irish? A reach, at best. Malone rolled up some 340 yards of offense and produced six touchdowns - five with his legs and another with his arm - in a 44-20 blowout win on the road. Scheitel caught three passes for 31 yards and keyed a defensive effort that limited a potent Stuart offense to six points total the last three quarters of play. The victory sends FCSH back home tonight to face Kenesaw for a 4 p.m. kickoff at Jug Brown Stadium. A ninth win on the season puts FCSH back on the bus to either Humphrey St. Francis or Exeter-Milligan next Monday for the semifinals. The D2 Final is Monday morning, Nov. 24, at Memorial Stadium in Lincoln.

the two-pointer to make it 22-14.

Sacred Heart, 8-2, returns to Jug Brown Stadium tonight for the quarterfinal round to face No. 7 Kenesaw, a 53-40 winner over No. 9 Randolph. Kickoff is set for 4 p.m.

Kenesaw is dominated by the Schnitzler family: Coach Craig, a starting QB at Nebraska during the late-1980s and sons Austin, a senior, and Preston, a junior. The two players got hurt and missed last year, but returned in '14 and combined for about 2,500 rushing yards at some 10 yards per clip offensively - and defensively are Kenesaw's linebacking corps. They run behind a good line that averages about 225 pounds per man.

"Big, big boys," Goltz said.

And they have a big drive ahead of them, too. It's 200 miles from Kenesaw to Falls City, a distance which can be driven in anywhere from four to nine hours. Regardless, at the end of the road Kenesaw will find a rested and ready Irish football team never happier to be playing a home football game.

of its first two second-half possessions, effectively ending any potential drama. With the wind at his back, Malone threw a 43-yard scoring strike to junior Bailey Witt before busting free on the 32-yard TD run, pushing the lead to 38-14. On Stuart's ensuing possession, freshman Christian Harring, playing for the injured Henry Arnold, intercepted Kunz deep in FCSH territory, further snuffing the Broncos' chances to rebound. Harring assumed the position last week after the Irish junior broke his leg on an interception return, but he's hardly played like a rookie and FCSH hasn't missed a beat. Harring finished the first round win with eight total tackles and then Wednesday turned in arguably the afternoon's defensive clincher.

"It was a great interception," FCSH Head Coach Goltz said. "They were starting to move the ball a little bit."

Malone was the hands-down hero and brought the Irish back from a couple early holes with three first-half rushing TDs, but the game ultimately pivoted SH's way in the final moments of the second quarter. With 80 seconds remaining and No. 2 and previously unbeaten Stuart facing third-and-goal from inside the Irish one-yard-line, the FCSH defense first staged a dramatic goal-line stand to preserve a 22-14 lead, and then the offense only narrowly avoided undoing it.

Trailing by eight, Stuart rode a wicked breeze the length of the field with an opportunity to either cut into or negate entirely Sacred Heart's lead. With a third-and-goal from inside the Irish one-yard-line, FCSH senior lineman Ben Mullins sacked Stuart QB Alex Kunz for a two-yard loss, setting up a fourth-and-goal from the three. There, a Kunz pass into the end zone was broken up by FCSH senior Sawyer Kean and the threat was extinguished - BARELY. After the Irish took over on downs, a fumbled shotgun snap was recovered by Malone just outside the end zone with just 20 ticks left. The eight-point lead was preserved by inches.

"That gave us some real momentum going into the second half," Goltz said. "And we really took control in the third quarter."

"Ben beat his block," Goltz said. "I thought they kind of challenged our guys - their coach had said earlier that our line wasn't nearly as good as it was a year ago, and things like that. I thought our guys responded very well and played well. We've never gotten on a bus at 6:30 in the morning to go play a football game, but the kids played just like they always did. Honestly, I thought they were going to be very tough to stop. I was afraid this could be a 52-48 type of game. I was surprised because I was afraid we weren't going to be able to stop them - nobody had all year. I was afraid we weren't going to be able to get to the perimeter."

Kunz was one of D2's best signal-callers this fall, rushing for 1,484 yards while throwing for 808 yards and 10 touchdowns to just three picks. Goltz suspected an early tackle dinged up the Stuart star in this one, and then the wind and Irish defense conspired to increasingly reduce his effectiveness as the day grew on.

Not the case, though, on the other side. After a 340-mile bus ride, Malone then directed his team to advance another 411 yards.

"I think maybe he had one bad read all day," Goltz said of his first-year QB, who threw for nearly 800 yards and 14 scores during the regular season. "He just had a great game, and our line did a good job, too. They were really lining up to stop Sawyer as the pitch man on the option, letting Austin cut it up. Then we started running some of our dive option stuff and they weren't very disciplined and Austin was able to get free several times."

Stuart led 6-0 and 14-8. With 7:58 to play in the opening quarter, Stuart's Mitchell Dvorak scored on a nine-yard run for the game's first score.

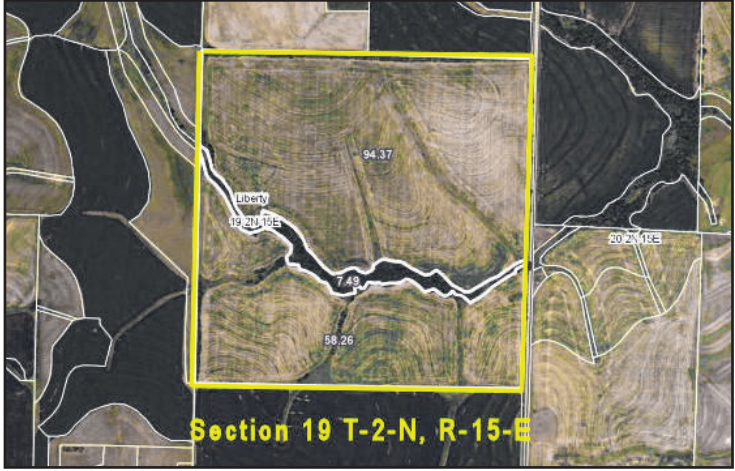

Malone scored the first of his five first-half rushing touchdowns from the five-yard-line with 3:42 to play in the quarter and then added the two-point conversion run to give FCSH an 8-6 lead.

Stuart, 9-1 on the year, answered with 2:10 to play in the quarter on an 18-yard TD pass from Kunce to Micah Dexter. The conversion was no good and the Bronco lead remained 14-8.

Malone struck for a second time with 1:20 to play in the quarter on a QB keeper, taking the ball 55 yards to the house to tie the game. Sacred Heart never trailed again. Malone earned a TD trifecta and FCSH got its first lead of the day with 9:36 to play in the half, as he blew in from the 10. Kean added

2015 FORD MUSTANG

(TOP) The Tiger volleyball team had the full-fledged support of the student body Friday night at Nebraska City High School for the Class C1-1 District Final. The Lady Tigers gave them plenty to cheer during a five-game thriller with Ashland-Greenwood. Unfortunately, though, the most successful season of FCHS volleyball didn't extend to this week's state tournament, as FC fell in five: 25-15, 28-30, 28-26, 19-25, 10-15. (RIGHT) Libby Bauman, left, and Baylee Vrtiska record an ace block in the District Final loss to Ashland-Greenwood.

Lady Tigers painfully close to first-ever trip to State VB Tourney

The miraculous turnaround that was the 2014 Falls City High School volleyball season will go down as the most successful in school history, with the school-record 22 victories nearly equaling the Lady Tigers' win total from the past six years combined (26). The 2014 team came oh-so-close to making more history, too, as FC Friday night had two chances to win just one more set and advance to the state volleyball tournament for the first time in FCHS history. Leading Ashland-Greenwood 2-1 in the Class C1-1 District Final (after taking the first 25-15 and third 28-26) at Nebraska City High, the Lady Tigers lost set four 19-25 to force a dramatic winner-take-all fifth. The Bluejays quickly took a 12-6 lead and eventually won the set 15-10 to advance to state for the fourth time since 2003. The Tigers committed 14 hitting errors in the final two sets, allowing Ashland-Greenwood, which improved to 13-17 on the season, to first get back in the match and ultimately advance.

Falls City, meanwhile, was left to ponder what could've been, while at the same time celebrate the program's greatest fall of all-time. "Our girls were willing to put the time and effort in the offseason, and it paid off. I'm proud of them," Falls City Coach Julie Frederick said. "Our first goal this season was to break the school record for wins, which we did, and our second goal was to get to state."

The Tigers won the opening set easily and held a set point in the second at 27-26. FC then fought through a pair of Ashland set points in the third and captured it on back-to-back Ashland hitting errors.

"Falls City is a very good defensive team, and I told our team that if you want to win this match, you can't make errors," Ashland-Greenwood coach Megan Rossell said. "It took them a little bit to settle in, but they did well. I could tell they were nervous at the start."

FCHS sophomore Alyssa Frederick led with 11 kills, while senior outside hitter Maygan Ramsey added nine and senior middle hitter Jerrica Beckner contributed seven to go with four ace blocks. Senior setter Baylee Vrtiska had 32 assists along with four kills and four ace serves.

Ellen R. 'Becky' Greenwald

Ellen Rebecca, "Becky" Greenwald, 93, of Lincoln, passed away from this life on Nov. 5, 2014. She was born July 24, 1921 in Wheatland, WY, to John and Miriam (Horrocks) Evans and grew up in Falls City with her sister, Marianne (Aunt Mimo) and cousin Itzy.

She was a long-time member of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and belonged to P.E.O. Chapter FG. Becky's legacy will be carried on by family members, including daughter, Gretchen (Dick) Bomberger, of Lincoln; her sons, John (Paula) Greenwald, of Minneapolis, MN, Jeff (Judy) Greenwald, of Lincoln, Fred (Mary) Greenwald, of Farmington, NM and Todd Greenwald, of Lincoln. Her devoted grandchildren include Sarah (Charles) Keller, Jennifer Doggett, Sue Ann Strauss, all of Lincoln, Michelle (Steve) Blomquist of Hallock, MN, Molly Greenwald of Hollywood, CA, Jessica Greenwald and Rick Carter, Noah (Jessica) Greenwald, Kate Greenwald and Nolan Day and Chelsea Greenwald, all of Lincoln; 13 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren. Her sister, Marianne (Don) Nicola resides in Omaha.

Becky was preceded in death by her husband, Charles (Chuck), the love of her life, whom she married in 1942 in Falls City. Theirs was a war-time love story that flourished for 33 years. Becky was a devoted member of her church since 1953, serving on the Alter Guild, the Vestry, and St. Anne's Guild. She was a kitchen maven who mastered the fine art of cooking pheasant and quail that Chuck brought home, serving family feasts and simple delights, always with enough for unexpected guests and children. She enjoyed a good bridge game, including duplicate, crosswords, Boggle, and Scrabble, at any of which she could beat the best of us. Entertaining family friends was one of her joys, which frequently ended in a little demonstration of the Charleston! Her keen sense of English grammar and spelling, attributed to the strict teaching in public school and her tenure at Peru State College, was generously shared, pouring over grandchildren's writing assignments at the dining room table.

Becky was known for her light-hearted limericks, tucked into birthday cards or scribed and attached to Christmas gifts. She also took up cross-stitching and needlepoint later in life, which several of us enjoy in our homes. She was loved by her two cats, Lily and Jack, who gave her endless pleasure. Becky will long be remembered as an unassuming, kind, and non-judgmental friend, mother, and grandmother who loved and was proud of us all.

Services were held Monday, Nov. 10, 2014 at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, with Fr. Craig Gavin officiating. Memorials to the church or Clark Jeary Retirement Center of Lincoln. Visitation was Sunday at Roper and Sons. Condolences online at Roperandsons.com

We Salute Our Veterans

Veteran’s day is a time to remember all of America’s heroes who have fought and in some cases, lost their lives to protect our country, rights and freedom. When Veteran’s day arrives, many people have family members and friends who are currently serving in the military or who have served in the military in previous years and wars. Today take a moment to honor and pray for “The Bravest Men We Know.” The men who have served, and who are currently serving their country. Take a moment to read this list of Veterans submitted by our readers and sponsored by these local businesses. We Salute Our Veterans today, and every day!

Tips to Grill Your Thanksgiving Turkey and Trimmings

(StatePoint) Thanksgiving can mean too many cooks in the kitchen, so consider taking some prep outside. While grilling is usually associated with summer, more Americans are recognizing its year-round potential.

In fact, 80 percent of North American households own a grill or smoker and 60 percent use it year-round, according to recent statistics from the Hearth, Patio & Barbecue Association. It's no surprise that many Thanksgiving recipes can be reinvented outdoors.

"Grilling your bird over lump charcoal creates a succulent, flavorful entrée," says Don Crace, President of Cowboy Charcoal, a brand that caters to grilling purists of the charcoal variety.

For a uniquely smoky flavor sure to impress the crowd, try this recipe for Cowboy's Perfect Bourbon-Maple Smoked Turkey:

Ingredients

- 1 thawed or fresh turkey
- 1 onion
- 2-3 garlic cloves
- 3 sprigs rosemary
- 3 sprigs thyme
- 1 bay leaf
- Olive oil
- Salt (at least 2 cups)
- Pepper
- Cowboy All Natural Lump Charcoal
- Hickory wood chips
- 1 cup bourbon
- 1/2 cup real maple syrup

Directions

- Remove neck, giblets and excess fat from turkey. Make gravy from giblets and neck, if desired.
- Completely rinse turkey inside and out.
- Place turkey in large brining bag that will fit in your refrigerator.
- Create brine with 2 gallons water (or enough to cover turkey), 2 cups salt, 1 cup bourbon and 1/2 cup maple syrup.
- Refrigerate at least four hours.
- Remove turkey from brine, rinse and thoroughly pat dry.
- Add onion (sliced in half), garlic cloves, rosemary, thyme and bay leaf to inside of turkey. Season the inside with salt and pepper.
- Tie legs together with cooking string and twist wing tips under the back or cover with foil to prevent burning.
- Brush outside of turkey with olive oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper.
- Soak a full package of Cowboy's Hickory Wood Chips in a large bowl for 30 minutes.
- Place a foil pan below the grate on one side of grill to catch drippings. To prevent excess smoke, fill it halfway with water.
- On the other side of grill, add two pounds charcoal and light it.
- Drain water from wood chips.
- When lump charcoal is ash gray, add about one cup of wood chips to the fire. Place grate back on grill. Let preheat for about 10 minutes.
- Arrange turkey on the grate, above the pan.
- Place lid on grill and cook turkey for approximately 15 to 20 minutes per pound, until internal temperature reaches 180 degrees.
- Add additional wood chips and charcoal every 30 minutes or as needed.
- When done, transfer turkey to serving platter, cover with foil and let stand 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

Turkey isn't the only food to take outdoors on Thanksgiving -- impart dynamic, smoky flavors to vegetables, fruits and even desserts by grilling over charcoal.

For year-round outdoor cooking tips, as well as food safety handling tips, visit the Cowboy Charcoal Blog, "The Roundup" at www.cowboycharcoal.com/blog.

Cooking outdoors knows no seasonal bounds. Delight Thanksgiving feasters by grilling your bird and the trimmings.

Count on Me!

I'm not sure how I got stuck with this job, but you can count on me when you need help counting. If you need to know how many of something you have, you must count the items.

Throughout history, people all over the world have counted items using different systems. Once they know the number of their items, they use a symbol to mark it down or enter it into their computers. Just think of all the counting of merchandise that must be done in stores or all the counting of money in banks.

Counting Systems

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle:

- _____ numerals
- _____ system - used in computers
- _____ and toes
- 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7...
- tally marks or _____ in sand
- _____ in leather pouch

Why People Count Things

Count your money so it doesn't just "fly away"!

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle:

- count spoonfuls, cups to _____ the right amount when baking
- we use rulers, yardsticks to count inches to measure _____
- count _____ beats to keep time - all musicians on same timing
- we organize our _____ by counting hours, days, weeks
- we count to _____ items up...for three dogs need three leashes
- count money to _____ or make change
- to keep _____ of items like the inventory in a store
- to keep _____ - 24 stitches in each row of knitting
- we count _____ before a rocket takes off or a race starts
- to keep from _____ things: keys; puzzle or game pieces

You Can Count On Me, Boss!

This busy beaver works hard for his boss. He is counting the logs in the swamp. He wants to keep good records of the number he has in stock. He is using paper and a pencil to help him keep track. What other things can we use to count, add or keep records?

Fill in the spaces with letters from the word "count" to find out. (Hint: cross off each letter as you use it.)

1. __ ash regis __ er
2. __ __ mp __ __ er
3. __ al __ __ la __ __ r
4. aba __ __ s
5. r __ __ ler

Inventory Sheet

2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12... a dozen maple logs!

We're Number One!

Why bother to count? We do it because we like to measure and keep track of things. We like to know how much we have and how much we need. Can you find and circle the words or phrases to the right in the puzzle?

We like to count our: merchandise belongings place in line rank population money time age weight height miles traveled animals

WOMEN’S WORK

By Craig R. Christiansen, NSEA Executive Director

In high school, my daughter lettered in volleyball, swimming and dance. Those interests, plus softball, triathlon and half-marathons, led to a master’s degree in sports administration and a life’s career. She once questioned why there were no girls’ sports in my high school yearbook. When I went to high school, boys played sports and the girls watched or cheered. It was a reflection of society at that time...and, in some ways, still reflects the fact that many women and girls watch the success of men from the sidelines.

My grandmother used to talk of “bloomers” — the pants that some daring women wore in the late 1800s to allow them the freedom of movement to bike, hike or play sports. Amelia Bloomer, a vocal proponent for women wearing pants, was belittled and ridiculed for what society now accepts as perfectly natural behavior. Bloomer was fighting against a cultural norm that did not expect women to wear pants. When my daughter asked why girls did not play sports in my high school, she was really asking about an institutional norm — a regulation — that did not allow girls to participate. While Iowa has had girls’ school sports since 1898, Nebraska did not allow girls to participate in school sports until much later. These are institutional norms — laws, regulations, or institutional expectations.

Invisible Practice

When institutional rules are coupled with cultural norms of behavior for girls, the ensuring barriers to opportunity, participation — and achievement — is formidable. But this is not just about who gets to play in high school sports. The majority of most school boards — and school superintendents — are men. The overwhelming majority of teachers are women. Surprised? This is not a result of law or regulation. It is my daughter’s question: why do women and girls have to watch the success of men from the sidelines?

The practice of gender discrimination is so prevalent that it is often invisible. Many of the institutions in our lives have significantly higher expectations — and opportunities — for men than for women. Women are in relatively fewer positions of leadership, tend to earn less money, and tend to be regarded as less competent or experienced in important, sought-after characteristics for candidates for advancement or leadership positions. We are all familiar with job application forms that ask for experience related to the available job. The cultural barrier for women is that much of women’s expert experience is disregarded. If an applicant reported deep experience as a transportation pool coordinator, budget analyst, human resource counselor, procurement officer, training manager, or bookkeeper, the prospective employer would be very impressed. If that experience came from a young mother with a family, most employers could be expected to completely ignore it. It is a common example of cultural, and for many jobs, a structural bias against the competent experience of women.

An Impossible Task

Most western European countries provide state-sponsored childcare, based on the ability of the family to pay. In our society, most families, especially single mothers, must work out a delicate balance between work and childcare. It is often an impossible task that mothers in other industrialized nations do not have to face. In our society, the high cost is not only in childcare, but in the barriers to success for women who work hard to succeed without the structural or institutional support they need to ensure either their own or their child’s success.

Many girls in our communities will not have the same future that boys can expect. Our daughters, sisters, and nieces deserve better. Our society deserves better. Working towards true equality for women in all of this society’s institutions, including our community’s public schools, ought to be the work of all of us. It is not, and never has been, only “women’s work.” What part in this work will you take?

The Nebraska State Education Association was founded in 1867 and has 28,000 members across the state.

Panelists reflect on challenges facing ag industry

Consumers are asking questions about the food-production system they’ve never asked before, and agriculture needs to do a better job of answering those questions, panelists at a University of Nebraska-Lincoln lecture agreed Thursday.

The discussion, titled “What Does Agricultural Communication Mean in the 21st Century?,” was the second lecture in the 2014-15 season for the Heuermann Lectures. Moderated by Orion Samuelson, longtime agricultural broadcaster, panelists reflected on the challenges facing the agriculture industry in explaining the science of food production in an environment of low scientific literacy.

“People are looking at the food system and asking questions they’ve never asked before,” said Kevin Murphy, owner and founder of Food-Chain Communication, a marketing organization devoted to helping food-chain stakeholders communicate more effectively.

Those questions often focus on the ethics and morality of food production and frame agriculture “as a problem, as a culprit in social ills,” Murphy added.

Marcy Tessman, president of Charleston-Orwig, an integrated marketing business, said she encourages her clients in food production to “sit at the table with people with opposing views ... We need to be accessible, we need to be transparent.”

“Everybody should understand where their food comes from,” said Barb Glenn, chief executive officer of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

“That’s good for society, that’s good for public health, that’s good for stewardship of the environment.”

Murphy noted that high school and college students are being taught the work of agriculture critics such as Michael Pollan and being shown slanted documentaries such as “Food Inc.” but are not hearing voices speaking on behalf of agriculture.

Ronnie Green, vice chancellor of UNL’s Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said it makes good sense, especially in Nebraska, to integrate agricultural science into middle- and high-school curricula.

Green said, “Scientists are trained to not make value judgments,” but rather to simply present their scientific findings.

“I would argue we live in a world where we can’t do that anymore,” Green said.

Heuermann Lectures, sponsored by IANR, focus on providing and sustaining enough food, natural resources and renewable energy for the world’s people, and on securing the sustainability of rural communities where the vital work of producing food and renewable energy occurs. They are made possible by a gift from B. Keith and Norma Heuermann of Phillips, long-time university supporters with a strong commitment to Nebraska’s production agriculture, natural resources, rural areas and people.

Lectures are streamed live online at <http://heuermannlectures.unl.edu>, and aired live on UNL campus and state cable channel 4. Lectures are archived after the event and are broadcast on NET2 World at a later date.

Comstock, Fasano on stage this weekend

The Brownville Concert Series is thrilled to bring Eric Comstock and Barbara Fasano, a husband and wife team presenting the music of the American Song Book.

Their electrifying combination of warmth, wit, swing, and sensuality has made them the nightclub world's most celebrated team. They will perform in cabaret Friday and Saturday, Nov. 14-15 at 7:30 p.m. and in concert at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 16.

We give special thanks to Blake and Julia Hurst and Harold and Marian Andersen for helping to sponsor these concerts.

Although they've been compared to Nick and Nora, Fred and Ginger, and Lunt and Fontanne, the "golden couple's" style is all their own. Whether the song is by Cole Porter or Paul Simon, Duke Ellington or Joni Mitchell, Comstock and Fasano make it fresh and new.

Stephen Holden of The New York Times declares that, "Mr. Comstock and Ms. Fasano are turning the neighborhood into a hotbed of pleasure." Rex Reed of The New York Observer writes, "He is hip, daring, confident and dynamic. She gives off palpable electricity. If love is a wave, they're riding the crest of it." The New York Post's Frank Scheck raves, "Their joint venture is a capital idea. When they sing together the evening is transformed from collaboration to alchemy."

Comstock and Fasano have been honored as vocalists, recording artists, and writers of their numerous performance pieces. They received an unprecedented three MAC Awards in one year including Vocal Duo of the Year, Outstanding Female Vocalist and Record of the Year. Barbara's award-winning Record of the Year, "Written In The Stars", a Harold Arlen collection, is played on radio stations throughout the world, and has been praised in such diverse publications as JazzTimes and Playbill. Eric, the co-creator and star of the long-running Off-Broadway hit revue OUR SINATRA, recently released his fourth CD, "bitter/sweet", an intimate guitar-vocal collaboration with guitar star Randy Napoleon.

Their many New York engagements include Carnegie Hall, The Allen Room and Dizzy's Club Coca-Cola at Jazz at Lincoln Center, Merkin Hall, Symphony Space, New York Festival of Song, The Algonquin, Feinstein's, The Carlyle, Birdland, Jazz at Kitano, and the 92nd Street Y's 'Lyrics and Lyrics' series. Across the country, they headline at Caramoor, Cooperstown Music Festival, Arizona Jazz Festival, The Rrazz Room in San Francisco, Guild Hall in East Hampton, Sheldon Concert Hall and Jazz at The Bistro in St. Louis, Fairmont Copley Plaza in Boston, Prince Music Theatre in Philadelphia, The Colony Hotel in Palm Beach, and in jazz and cabaret clubs, music festivals and concert halls worldwide.

This past summer, they made their London debut at Brasserie Zédel in Piccadilly and will return in 2014. In the words of jazz critic Ira Gitler, they "have it all, and then some ... artistic, swinging, and superbly entertaining."

Cabaret tickets are $25, concert tickets are $19 ($15 for students). To purchase tickets online go to www.brownvilleconcertseries.com or call 402-825-3331. Stay overnight at the River Inn Resort and get a 10 percent discount on tickets.

Eat dinner at the Lyceum before the show and get a free dessert with your ticket. This Series is a program of the Brownville Fine Arts Association. The Nebraska Arts Council (www.nebraskaartscouncil.org), a state agency, supports this program through a matching grant funded by the Nebraska Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Nebraska Cultural Endowment.

State voter turnout inches upwards, but still less than half

Voter turnout in Nebraska inched up slightly to 47.41 percent with the addition of early voting ballots to those ballots already cast on Election Day. Secretary of State John Gale stressed that the numbers are still considered unofficial until the Nebraska Board of State Canvassers meets in December.

Initially Gale had predicted a turnout of 50 percent statewide. "Sixty-three counties exceeded that turnout and another three were statistically close to that. The county with the highest turnout was McPherson at almost 72 percent. Thurston County had the lowest turnout, just about 31 percent."

County election officials had until Monday, Nov. 10 to complete counting of their provisional ballots. As they finish that process, each county canvass board will meet to certify the local results. That deadline is Nov. 24. Results from the local, state and federal races will be compiled by the Secretary of State's office and presented to the state canvass board which will convene on Monday, Dec. 1. Only results for offices filed through the Secretary of State's office are included in that record.

If the final certified results of a race fall within the parameters of an automatic recount, the state canvass board will order that a recount be carried out on Dec. 3.

The Nebraska Legislature will canvass the results from the state constitutional races. That will occur at the first meeting on Jan. 7.

Gale said overall, he was pleased with how the general election turned out.

"Each election is different, no two are the same. We had some highly contested races on all levels and the minimum wage issue was a big draw. Early voting certainly played a significant role in this election and I'm sure it will again in 2016. The message that we want to keep drumming home is that of citizen participation in the election process. In the end, every vote counts, as demonstrated by some of the races we witnessed earlier this week."

Learn more about Veteran's Day

Remembering is easy for the Greatest Generation because many of them lived through WWII. But, it is more difficult to teach children about war history, war-time sacrifices, and paying respect to those who served because those conflicts seem so far removed from their daily experience. They memorize the facts from history text books without really understanding what took place and then usually forget everything they have learned once the test is finished. We all have a tendency to retain more information when we can visit a memorial or a museum. Try to incorporate these activities into your family vacations, to further an understanding of the major conflicts of the last century.

If it's not possible to actually travel to these locations, there are several other ways to make sure that the children of today understand the significance of Veteran's Day on every November 11th.

Take your family to the library. Search their history section for books or magazines that tell about 20th century wars. The staff will be happy to help you find the information.

Talk to a Veteran. If you don't happen to have any living relatives that are Veterans, call and go to your local retired nursing facility or senior living center. The men & women who served our country will be happy to see that young people are interested. And they'll enjoy the visit, too!

Maybe your own hometown even has some type of War Memorial or Museum of War History. Many towns still have an Army National Guard Installation.

Get on your computer, laptop, smart phone or iPad. Search for WW1, WW2, Korean War, Vietnam War. Just type in "20th Century Wars" or "USA at War" or "The Greatest Generation". There are any number of war topics that will give you information so that you can teach your children the true meaning of Veteran's Day.
