Turns out, 75 percent of Internet IP addresses are nonfunctioning and 70 percent of college grads can't pinpoint just which war goes with D-Day.

Seventy percent of useless nonproductive dead weight. Figure out how to deal with that problem, then, America, tackle the issue of worthless IP addresses!

'San Francisco Bay Boys'
May 26, 1956

If a small boy, when at play, is not doing something perilous, he must be sick. So, regarding that lad who is aviating out over San Francisco Bay, let us rejoice that he is in good health, and close our eyes until he gets back. When John Falter was risking his boyhood, he used to take off on a bag swing from the roof of a shed, part of his joy being to see if he could avoid demolishing his bones against the shed on the way back. Recently when Falter was strolling along Belvedere Island, admiring the grace of Golden Gate Bridge across the azure bay, he happily discovered that modern kids still relax in the mellow old hair-raising way. Falter's cliffside home is two blocks to the right of the painting, but he doesn't bag-swing from it. The poor fellow must be getting old.

‘Was it worth it?’

A good-sized crowd turned out on a sunny, warm and calm Monday morning at Steele Cemetery to pay tribute to the men and women who have made the supreme sacrifice for the United States.

As he has for more than a quarter century, Larry Whalen, Korean War veteran and commander of the Falls City Ceremonial Color Guard, arranged and presided over the service in Falls City, as he had earlier Monday morning at the Jim Prater Memorial Service at Rulo.

Mid Bauer sang two heart-felt numbers and color guards participating included the VFW Auxiliary Color Guard, Falls City Ceremonial Honor Guard and the Kansas-Nebraska Iowa Tribal Color Guard of White Cloud. At the replica bier at the Steele Cemetery service were Boy Scouts of Troop 396. The Scouts previously had placed American flags at the marked graves of all veterans.

Dorr & Clark Funeral Home Director Brian Daake, a member of the American Legion who has worked closely with the various color guards the past 25 years or so, spoke at Steele Cemetery. He noted that after two other scheduled addresses in previous years were rained out, Monday's perfect weather proved that the third time is indeed the charm.

"This is a question, sometimes politically-loaded, that is often asked of family members and war buddies of our fallen heroes," Daake said.

It's a question nobody walking among us can answer.

“Marine Corps General John Kelly recently offered a unique perspective,” Daake said. The Iraq and Afghanistan veteran’s son, 1st Lt. Robert Kelly, was killed in combat in 2010.

“General Kelly was asked if the loss was worth it by

Dorr & Clark Funeral Home owner/operator Brian Daake spoke Monday at the Memorial Day ceremony at Steele Cemetery. "We should insist that America remain the land of the free," he said. "A land where patriotism trumps politics, where the American flag is displayed proudly and frequently and where military veterans are society's true celebrities."

Friday, April 29-Day two of my five day Film Festival trip.

Batman: The Movie, what can you say about this film? If you haven't seen it, I have a copy and would be thrilled to loan it to you or you can buy a copy at a very reasonable price online. I've been a fan of Batman with Adam West for as long as I can remember. My love of the cheesy campiness of it all has led to my love of the Naked Gun films and Airplane. I know my sister and I had hours of laughs from the sheer corniness of it all. And when I say corny, I mean it's so incredibly, fantastically and wonderfully corny that you wonder how it got made in the first place. The film was shown pool side at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel. The atmosphere was so amazing. I truly don't know if I have ever been in an environment anywhere else in my life for a film that made me as happy as this one did. The weather was a bit chilly but nobody cared or bothered to complain about it.

We all waited with baited breath for Adam West to appear in front of us. Ben Mankiewicz first brought out the incredibly lovely Lee Meriwether who played Catwoman in the film. She was sweet and remembered her time while shooting as a great experience. While she was fun to see, time stood still as Adam West made his way on to the stage. Ben Mankiewicz, Meriwether and West all laughed about how campy the film was. Adam West said he insisted in keeping the sounds of the rubber shark in the movie because it was so ridiculous that it worked. If you've seen the film you may remember how a very obvious rubber shark latches onto Batman's leg. The shark leaks water and looks so fake that they ended up just going with it. The only way the shark can be removed is with 'Shark repellent Bat spray.' I think it's a classic scene in movie history. When West was asked why or how he can play himself as a complete idiot on 'Family Guy' he answered honestly when he said he did it for the bags of money they offered him. Everyone was both charmed and captivated by how personable and funny his interview was. Of the entire festival, Adam West ended up being my favorite interview. Once the celebrities had left the stage it was time for the film. We sat shivering by the pool laughing until we cried. Batman: The Movie is truly a must see for all ages and I'll watch it 200 more times in my life but none will make me as giddy as that one night I watched it under the palm trees in Hollywood.

After the movie was over we rushed over to the TCL Chinese Theatres across the street to catch The Manchurian Candidate. I had never seen the film and was incredibly excited to see it for the first time in such a historic theater. Angela Lansbury was going to do an interview with Alec Baldwin before the film and it was the hottest ticket in town that day. We walked to get in line and walked and walked and ended up going completely around the entire theater before we secured our place in line only steps from where we had started. I was given the number 504, by far the highest number I was given the entire festival. I waited with a couple of my roommates and a new friend I had made who was currently living in Japan. He was originally from Chicago so we talked about midwest living and I was fascinated to hear stories about Japanese baseball. It made the hour wait fly by and the next thing I knew we were entering the theater. We found four seats in the very front row. It was great for the interview but once the film started I had to leave. We were too close and my head started to pound. A couple of us excused ourselves and decided to go hang out in the lobby of the multiplex and wait for the midnight movie to start. I snacked on some ice cream and popcorn as I charged my phone and talked to other people waiting for the film.

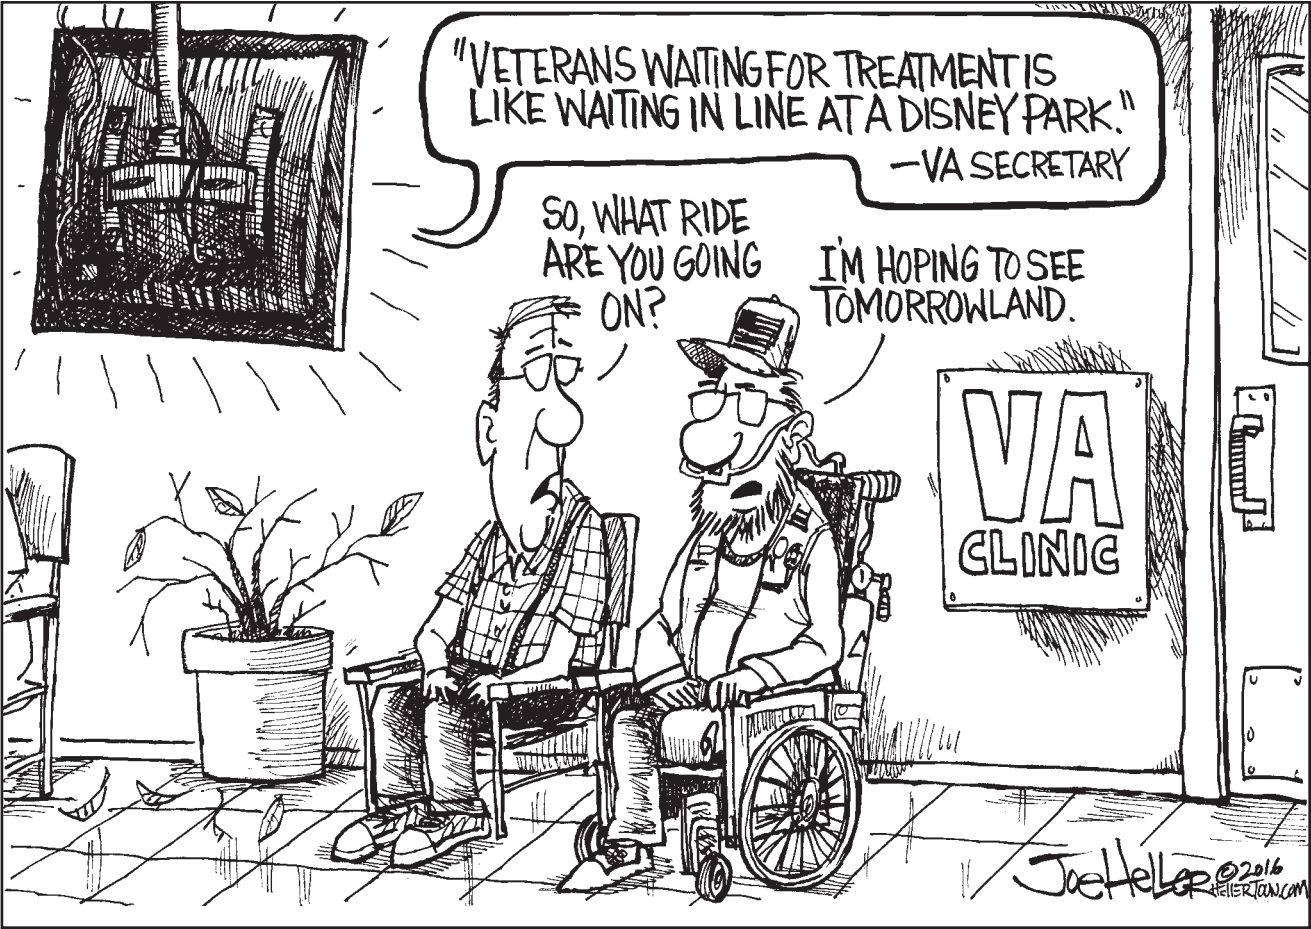

The film in question was one that I went to because my roommates were going. I didn't really care to see it but I'm thrilled I did end up joining the fun. The 1981 film Roar film is historic because it was plagued with production problems (it spent 11 years in production) and it used live, untrained animals, some of which actually lived with stars Tippi Hedren, Melanie Griffith, Noel Marshall, John Marshall, and Jerry Marshall. Many of the cast and crew were injured by the animals over the course of production. Nothing could have truly prepared me for the sheer insanity of what the movie is actually like.

The plot was incredibly thin. Noel Marshall goes to Africa to study lions and lets them all live with him in his dilapidated house. Tippi Hedren plays his estranged wife who brings their kids (Melanie Griffith, John Marshall, and Jerry Marshall) out to see him. But is he home when they arrive? Nope! So the family arrives to a house full of big, wild cats who begin terrorizing them and they all have to avoid the cats by doing things like hiding in cabinets and iceboxes. This goes on for quite a while, like a really long while, then they all fall asleep and wake up with a whole new perspective on the situation. Enter laughs and playful moments between the actors and the lions, tigers and elephants. The movie ends with a big montage showing the entire family living in peace with the cats and a thoughtful song plays in the background. I'm not kidding, that's how it ended.

I laughed a lot through this film. The sheer insanity of it all was hilarious. I asked those seated around me several times if they knew how this film got made? Tippi Hedren who is fabulous in The Birds was a caricature of herself, her acting was awful and cringe worthy but again the hilarity of it all made it one of my favorites during the festival. You think 'It's just a movie,' but then you remember no, those are real cats and they did cause several injuries to everyone on set. People could have died and should have died. It left me shaking my head one moment and laughing hysterically the next, but you're not entirely sure you should be laughing at this movie. While watching actors get attacked by wild animals in and of itself isn't funny, the fact that this movie has an awful plot, a ridiculous musical score, and really terrible dialogue that's made even funnier by Noel Marshall's hilariously bad line delivery makes it comedy gold. I bought it the moment I got home.

I had spent the last six hours laughing, cringing and questioning everything I had known about Tippi Hedren. It was a total blast that made the entire festival completely worth every penny. Getting to see people like Alec Baldwin, Norman Lloyd and others is amazing but spending hours with your friends laughing and enjoying great films is somehow even better.

Term limits, Partisan Governor changing the face of Nebraska Legislature

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

There was a time when the prospects of at least 12 new faces in the Nebraska Legislature wasn't a bad thing. There were still enough seasoned veterans in the body to explain the art and nuance of law-making to the greenest of freshmen.

That has changed because of term limits and a partisan governor who is calling out the names of Republican (his party) senators in the officially non-partisan legislature for failing to support his legislative agenda. Governor Pete Ricketts is even supporting a challenger in one of the races against 11 incumbents who have four years of experience. That incumbent, Les Seiler of Hastings, is chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

At least five of those incumbents finished behind their challengers in the recent primary. While it's too early to sound the alarm, if those five are replaced by newbies, that's 17 of 49 senators – one-third of the body -- who face a straight-up learning curve. It takes a while to find the bathrooms in the marvelously historic state Capitol. It's an even bigger task to learn to read and resist the lobby, dodge the scrutinizing eye of the governor and his minions and pay attention to the constituents – the folks who brought you to the dance.

By the numbers: Ernie Chambers, clearly the senior statesman of the whole bunch, has 41 years of experience. He's likely to return for his second four-year term after sitting out the mandatory one term required by the term limits law, which was designed to get rid of him.

The next closest is Omaha Senator Bob Krist, Chairman of the Legislature's Executive Committee, who comes in second in seniority with a whopping 7 years of experience. Next up are five senators with 6 years under their belts. They include Business and Labor Chair Burke Harr of Omaha;

For Release Wednesday, June 1, 2016 – Page 2

General Affairs Chair Tyson Larson of O'Neill; Transportation Chair Jim Smith of Papillion; Lydia Brasch of Bancroft and Paul Schumacher of Columbus.

That leaves the next seniority level at 11 senators who have 4 years of experience. Senator Tommy Garrett of Bellevue has 3 years. Eighteen senators have 2 years of experience and, at least 12 will have no experience. That depends on which of the 11 incumbents stumble.

Veteran lawmaker Jeremy Nordquist of Omaha, a Democrat in the officially non-partisan legislature who represents a heavily Democrat and Hispanic area of the city, left the Unicameral last year to go to work for U.S. Representative Brad Ashford of Omaha. Ricketts appointed Nicole Fox, a Republican, to replace him. She came in third in the primary and won't be coming back.

Left in that race in Omaha's District 7 are John Synowiecki and Tony Vargas. Synowiecki served 6 years in the Legislature a few years ago and is a Democrat. Vargas is Hispanic and a member of the Omaha Public School Board. This single legislative race is enough to give one hope that representative government still exists.

Troubled incumbents who finished second to newcomers include: Seiler who finished 1,926 votes behind his challenger; Al Davis of Hyannis who finished 808 votes back; Jerry Johnson of Wahoo, Agriculture Committee Chairman who finished 595 votes behind his challenger and Rick Kolowski of Omaha who garnered 481 fewer votes than his challenger. The fifth, Fox, finished in third place behind her two challengers and is out of the race.

New faces coming for sure. Whether it means fresh ideas or fresh meat for the governor and the lobby, that's a matter of perspective. Let's just hope that the Nebraska Legislature doesn't become embroiled in the same partisan divisiveness that has hamstrung Washington.

‘Is Trans-Gender an option?’

When the issue of same-sex marriage gained approval in the Supreme Court of the United States, it was hoped by those who have a love for morality, “surely things can’t get any worse than this!” How quickly has that hope been disappointed by the uprising of the transgender activists who now have the support of President Barack Obama, as did the homosexual activists before them! By his recent directive, the president is threatening public institutions, especially schools, colleges, and universities with the loss of government funding for refusal to comply with the lie that a person’s sex is not determined by his or her birth but by personal preference. The resulting consequences will be unavoidable, and public rest rooms will be turned into places for the expression of shame and wickedness rather than of modesty and decency.

But God has not nor will change His created order to please a clamoring multitude of men and women, boys and girls who corrupt their way, because He “at the beginning made them male and female; For he spoke and it was done; he commanded, and stood fast.” (Mt. 19:4; Psa. 33:9). The president is but usurping authority that is not his, neither should he be obeyed by any school administration if his edict is enforced as law. The early apostles of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, when threatened by those who had power over their very lives, refused to cease or change their preaching, but “answered and said unto them, Whether is he right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:19, 20). Every true believer in Jesus Christ has seen and heard by personal experience “that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pet. 2:3), and does not need the allurements of sin to have satisfaction in living.

Inspiring others to ‘pay it forward,’ for Tami

This past February, family members of Tami Feek, rallied together in search of donations to do something special for cancer patients. It had become a goal of Amanda (Weaver) Crowley’s to organize the event in hopes that we could help others going through the same struggles that her beloved aunt Tami did.

In mid-February 2014, Tami was diagnosed with inflammatory breast cancer, a rare form. She underwent two rounds of chemotherapy, surgery and radiation. In December, it was discovered that the cancer had spread to her vertebrae. She went through another round of radiation, with no success, so she started chemo again. She was traveling frequently to Bellevue for her treatments, as well as seeking care at M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, TX. After a long hard-fought battle, Tami passed away on Oct. 29, 2015.

Soon a Facebook event was created to help spread the word of Amanda’s mission. Her goal was to donate at least 10 bags in memory of her aunt Tami. A donation of $26 was asked for in order to purchase the bags from her “Thirty-One Gifts” business. Crowley would then fill the bags using her commission. There were several family members, friends and friends-of-friends who donated to the cause, breaking Crowley’s goal of 10 bags. Pam Scott even applied for $250 from Thrivent for Lutherans Action Team. After all of the donations had come in, Amanda was able purchase 60 bags, filled with items such as hand sanitizer, lotion, Biotene mouthwash, hard candy, socks, crossword puzzles, pens/pencils, Kleenex, Chapstick, blankets and a notebook with an inspirational quote handwritten on the inside. There were also bag tags, with Tami’s picture on them, greeting the patient, describing why they were receiving this special bag and who it was sponsored by. The family of Tami Feek was able to deliver 25 Chemo Care Bags to Village Pointe Cancer Center in Omaha, 25 bags to Bellevue Hospital Cancer Center and 10 bags to the Falls City Community Medical Center.

Crowley said that a number of thank you cards have started coming in, reminding them all of why it is so important to “pay it forward.”

Kathy H. of Papillion wrote, “After one of chemo sessions, I was sitting in my car, ready to go home when I saw this troop of women walking through the parking lot of the hospital. They were all lugging bags. I thought to myself, ‘I wonder who the fortunate people are who are receiving the bags?’ I found out at my next appointment that I was one of them-I keep the card with Tami’s picture on it in the bag and show it to everyone when I am telling the story of the bags.”

Amanda said the response was outstanding and that she expects next year’s numbers to be even bigger.

“From multiple communities and states, we came together as one, and got the job done! I can only imagine what next year’s numbers will look like,” she said.

To sponsor a bag, join the group “Chemo Care Bags In Memory of Tami Feek” on Facebook or contact Amanda at ajweaver87@gmail.com or (660)605-1363.

City to begin flushing hydrants this weekend

By Alan Romine,
Utility Supt., City of Falls City

Falls City Utilities will be flushing fire hydrants throughout the city over the next few weeks to flow test and remove any sediment built up in the water mains. This is scheduled to start on June 6.

Customers may experience a temporary brownish-red discoloration of their water during this flushing process. However, the Utility Dept. notes that this water discoloration does not pose any health threat and is safe to use.

Persons who notice flushing in progress in their area are advised not to use water for a short period of time until the flushing is complete, so as to not pull discolored water into their service piping. For those who do experience discoloration of water, the Water Department reminds then not to wash white clothes during this time since the brownish-red minerals will stain white cloth.

The Water Dept. apologizes for any inconvenience that this flushing process might cause for consumers. The process of flushing the system at the fire hydrants removes as much of the build-up as possible. If we do not flush the system, excessive iron and manganese build up over time and could lead to long-term problems such as clogging of lines and water fixtures. Your patience is appreciated.

OPPD preps for stormy weather

The Omaha Public Power District is preparing for stormy weather. “We have planned and proven procedures in place in order to respond should our customers’ electric service be impacted by lightning, wind, hail or heavy rain,” OPPD reported in a statement. “As part of our storm plan, we will have repair crews on standby in case they need to be called back to work. Our communications team will post outage updates, as well as other pertinent weather and safety information at stormandoutage.com” “Safety is a top priority for our employees and our customers. With that in mind, we have important safety strategies for anyone who should encounter downed power lines:

-Never touch a downed power line or go near one. Always assume the line is live and high-voltage.
-Do not touch a fallen power line or anything touching the wire. This includes other people or equipment.
-Keep children and pets away from fallen electric wires.
-Do not drive over a fallen power line.
Call OPPD at 1-800-554-6773 or 911 immediately to report a fallen power line.

Society

Retired School Personnel
The Southeast Nebraska Association of Retired School Personnel met May 17 at the Richardson County Historical Museum. Paul Weinert led the invocation, which was followed by a lovely lunch. Guests were scholarship winners Anthony Baker, Louise Hamilton, Carley Youde and their parents (see Page 8).
Each winner introduced his or her family and spoke briefly about their future plans and goals.
The business meeting was led by President Ann Meinzer. The next meeting will be held in September.

Humane Society
The Humane Society held its regular monthly meeting at the Sun Mart Cafeteria May 17. President Ardis Ramsey called the meeting to order with seven members present. The secretary and treasurer’s reports were read by Julie Phroper; both were approved as read.
The spay/neuter fund account was discussed, including the recent cat food donation from CJ Foods. Evan Bailey chose to have a donation drive instead of birthday gifts for us for his birthday. Evan and his family adopted a dog from us, “Hugo,” and has since been such great supporters. Our furry friends have enjoyed their love and gifts! Thank you, Evan, and family! Five Tail salute!
Animal report: Two kitty adoptions — “Adele,” the kitten that was rescued from a cistern, was adopted at our pet adoption day at Yesterday’s Closet. “Babs,” a sweet torti/Siamese kitty, also found her forever home! An update on “Dottie,” a heeler mix that was adopted a short time ago: She is doing fantastic and loves have the run of the farm! Way to go Dottie, Babs and Adele!
It is kitten season, so please be aware if you’re trapping cats, don’t trap a momma kitty and leave her kittens to starve.
The next meeting will be June 21 at the Sun Mart Cafeteria.

Area Bridge
Sandy Boatman, Marilyn Kentopp, Nancy Demmel and Nancy Kelley won the prizes when four tables of Falls City Area Bridge played May 24.
Hostesses were Sheila Kirken-dall and Leona Knobbe. Marilyn Kentopp and Judy Munn will host the next session June 14.

Nigerian orphanage director to speak in Falls City June 13

Simon Benjamin, orphanage director for a Jalingo, Nigeria, orphanage sponsored through a partnership between the Great Plains and Nigeria Conferences of the United Methodist Church, will appear in Falls City at 7 p.m. Monday, June 13, at the First United Methodist Church.

Benjamin will share stories about the more than 100 young people cared for at the orphanage. The original partnership originated through the former Nebraska Conference.

With some support from local Jalingo churches, community members and even some government funding, the students rely on partnership funding from United Methodist contributions in Nebraska and Kansas for school tuition, food, clothes, medical care and more.

Located on a gated school campus, the orphaned children range in ages from preschool to college age.

Benjamin

What started in 2007 upon the encouragement from the United Methodist Council of Bishop's initiative called Hope for the Children of Africa, the concept partnered U.S. churches with areas of need in Africa. A period of discovery led the Nebraska Conference to partner with the Nigerian Conference to care for orphaned children.

The children lost their parents to such things as liver disease, malaria, car accidents, HIV and other natural causes. Benjamin has traveled to Nebraska to connect with — and thank — supporters. He will be in Falls City following his attendance at the Great Plains Annual Conference session.

Donations in support of the children and orphanage can be made to Great Plains Nigeria Mission Partnership; Advance #300, P.O. Box 4187, Topeka, KS 66604, or dropped off at the Falls City United Methodist Church.

Falls City High School juniors, from left, Darcy Snethen, Josie Nolte, Jace Starner-Bents, Morgan Bletscher and Sydney Brewer attended the 2016 Capitol Forum on America's future in International relations held at the State Capitol in Lincoln in March. Students from across the state discussed issues such as immigration, global trade, nuclear proliferation, climate change and terrorism. Capitol Forum is sponsored by Humanities Nebraska, Brown University and the Watson Institute. Mrs. Lori Rech was the group's sponsor.

Memorial Day

a reporter with National Public Radio. He said, ‘I think what I tell families now is the only person really that has a right to answer that question – was it worth it? – is the young man or woman that lost their life. And I believe what they would say is that they were doing what they wanted to do. They were where they wanted to be. So that’s the answer, I think, to that question. It’s not for us that survived to answer it. I think it’s for those young people to answer. And I think they do answer it with their actions and obviously their lives.’

“Who can deny the heartfelt wisdom and logic of General Kelly’s words?,” Daake asked. “But just as we should not presume to speak for the fallen, we can make the country for which they have died a better place – one that honors their sacrifice and epitomizes the ideals enshrined in our Constitution.

“The American Legion will always be proud of the more than one million men and women who made the supreme sacrifice for the United States since our nation’s founding.

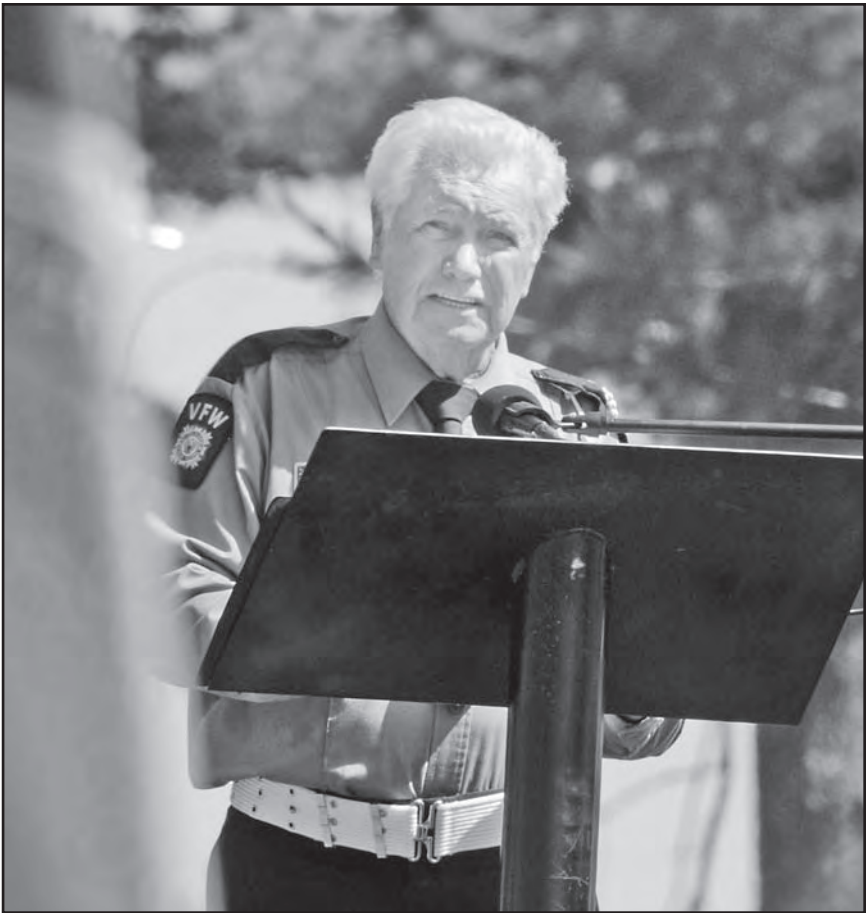

Photos by Jason Schock

Cassie Whalen places a flag at the replica bier at Steele Cemetery Monday morning.

‘Was it worth it?’ is the wrong question for us to answer. Instead, we should commit ourselves to Make it Worth It.”

Daake said the people should insist “that America remain the land of the free. A land where patriotism trumps politics, where the American Flag is displayed proudly and frequently and where military veterans are society’s true celebrities.”

“While there is nothing unpatriotic about an auto race, a trip to the beach or a barbecue, we are here today to reflect on the true meaning of Memorial Day. Let us remember that tyrannical regimes have been toppled and genocides stopped because Americans sacrificed life and limb. Let us remember that terrorist plots were foiled and killers brought to justice because Americans were willing to pay a high price. Let us remember that without a U.S. military, the world would be a far more oppressive and darker place.”

Larry Whalen, a Korean War veteran and commander of the Falls City Ceremonial Honor Guard, planned and emceed Memorial Day programs at Rulo and Falls City cemeteries, as he’s done every year the past quarter-century or longer.

Brownville Concert Series presents Heatwave and Elton Dan & The Rocket Band

The Brownville Concert Series is thrilled to bring back the Kansas City based band from Saucy Jack Productions. They will perform their “Heatwave” tribute to Linda Ronstadt and “Elton Dan & The Rocket Band” tribute to the legendary Elton John. They will preform both these fun tribute bands at each show! Don’t miss out. They will perform in cabaret at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, June 24-25 and in concert at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 26. We give special thanks to Annie Thomas, The Holland Foundation, and Donald and Kitty Wenger for helping to sponsor these concerts. “Heatwave” is a musical tribute to multi-platinum and Rock and Roll Hall of Fame member, Linda Ronstadt. Linda Ronstadt was the top grossing female artist of the 1970’s and is considered the number one female artist of that decade. “Heatwave” tribute band features Kim Osborne, a Kansas City native heavily influenced by Linda Ronstadt’s music. Kim for years has performed with many popular area bands. She has won a number of singing competitions and has played on stages across the country, from Florida to Las Vegas. She is a huge Linda Ronstadt fan and is thrilled to have the opportunity to cover some of Linda’s most popular material. “Elton Dan and the Rocket Band” is a tribute to one of the most highly acclaimed and successful solo artists of all time, Elton John! Over the five decades since his career began in 1969, Elton John has played nearly 4,000 concerts in over 80 countries. “Elton Dan and the Rocket Band” puts on a spectacular show Elton John fans won’t want to miss! Cabaret tickets are $25; concert tickets are $20 ($15 for students). www.brownvilleconcertseries.com 402-825-3331

The historic Fort Robinson Cemetery

Post cemeteries were common adjuncts to the often isolated U.S. military posts scattered across the West during the nineteenth century. These cemeteries were not exclusively reserved for the burial of soldiers. Others interred there included military wives and children, civilians who worked at the post and their dependents, and scouts and interpreters associated with the army. At long-lived posts such as Fort Robinson, active from 1874 to 1948, the cemetery might hold the graves of hundreds of individuals. The first burial in the Fort Robinson Cemetery was that of Pvt. James Brogan in July 1875, barely a year after the troops arrived. The last was Fred Lester, a retired army sergeant, who died in nearby Crawford in the summer of 1945.

Contrary to expectations, few of the deaths at western military posts resulted from combat. Most were from disease or accidents. The latter included careless handling of firearms, runaway animals, building fires, and being run over by trains. Alcoholism, suicide, and getting struck by lightning were other causes. Murders accounted for several of the burials at the Fort Robinson Cemetery, including Sgt. William Bell of the Tenth U.S. Cavalry, who was shot by his wife during a 1904 dance at the fort.

The only men to die during military conflict involving Fort Robinson were 11 soldiers killed during what is known as the “Cheyenne Breakout” in January 1879. This was the desperate escape by starving Northern Cheyenne from a Fort Robinson barracks where they had been imprisoned by the army to force their return to a hated Oklahoma reservation, where many had previously died.

Among the notables buried in Fort Robinson’s cemetery were Moses “California Joe” Milner, a famous civilian scout for the army who was murdered in 1876, Medal of Honor recipient and “Buffalo Soldier” Sgt. Emmanuel Stance of the Ninth Cavalry, found dead of gunshot wounds along the road to Crawford, and Lt. James A. Swift, who committed suicide while being investigated for a shortage of some $4,000 during his management of the Post Exchange. Another famous scout, Baptiste “Little Bat” Garnier, ended up in the cemetery after being shot to death by a Crawford bartender in 1900. Several of “Little Bat’s” children who succumbed to disease were buried nearby. A tragic loss was that of Gertrude, age four, and Mattie, age two, daughters of Sgt. and Mrs. Henry Wallace of the African American Ninth Cavalry, who burned to death when the barracks where the family lived caught fire in March 1898.

When Fort Robinson was about to be abandoned after World War II, the U.S. Army made arrangements to move the remains from the post cemetery to Fort McPherson National Cemetery near Maxwell, Nebraska. In July 1947 more than 250 remains were exhumed for transfer to the national cemetery, although none were found beneath several stones. Some of the graves held more than one set of remains, such as in the case of children of the same family who were interred together.

The Nebraska State Historical Society has preserved and marked the post cemetery site, which now lies within Fort Robinson State Park and is accessible to park visitors. Several of the original grave markers that were declared surplus and defaced in 1947 have been recovered and re-installed to enhance interpretation of the post cemetery site.

DID YOU KNOW?

During a trip to Asia in the early 1800s, a German merchant – it is said – noticed that the nomadic Tartars softened their meat by keeping it under their saddles. The motion of the horse pounded the meat to bits. The Tartars would then scrape it together and season it for eating. The idea of pounded beef found its way back to the merchant’s home town of Hamburg, where cooks broiled the meat and referred to it as it as “Hamburg meat.”

Community safety, what to know in these changing times

(StatePoint) Older generations may recall a time when doors were left unlocked. While that practice may no longer seem wise alongside today’s headline news, you should have an expectation of safety and security in your community.

In these changing times, here are some things to know and consider about your family’s safety.

Work and School Safety - Does your place of work have a safety plan? Does your child’s school? No one wants to live in fear of the day that a worst case scenario will occur, but thinking about these matters can help protect workers and students in the event of emergency. Consider being part of efforts to create or amend actionable safety plans for the places your family spends time.

The Department of Homeland security offers free safety resources and tips for employers, workers, schools, parents and students.

Neighborhood Safety - If you’re not already friendly with your neighbors, it’s a good idea to develop a rapport with those who live nearby. Beyond the social benefits of having friends a stone’s throw from your front door, neighbors are a natural safety net. They can keep an eye on your home when you’re not home, noticing any unfamiliar vehicles or people on your property.

On a more formal level, consider forming or joining a neighborhood watch organization. A collective stake in the community can serve as an effective crime deterrent.

National and Global Safety - Individuals may not feel like they have strong roles when it comes to safety at the national and global level, but having a deeper understanding of the associated issues can alleviate anxieties and provide a nuanced look at the factors behind such threats.

For example, those interested in global terrorism can seek out new books like “Demand by Terror,” the second book by Abayomi Nurain Mumuni, a fellow at the American Society of Criminology. Mumuni’s second book focuses on terrorist demands. He uses case studies to build an argument in favor of negotiation strategies.

More broadly, Mumuni’s books seek to raise awareness and understanding of what terrorism is and the extent of its existence. “Terrorism will not stay away from any part of the world simply because prospective victims do not know about it,” he says.

Your family’s safety is likely of the utmost importance to you. Take time to consider the ways you can stay safe at home and wherever you go.

Most animals can jump. Did you know that some cannot jump? Follow the dots to see two that do not jump. One is too heavy and the other is too slow.

Most kangaroos live in Australia. We travel together in "mobs." We like to eat grass and shrubs. We can jump up to 40 feet in distance and 10 feet high. We can hop as fast as 40 miles per hour for a short time. We use our tails to push us and to help us jump.

ROAD & BRIDGE DEPARTMENT

Scott Huppert, Highway Superintendent updated the Board on the routine maintenance being done on county roads and bridges this week. Equipment maintenance was discussed. Mr. Huppert reported that the bridge crew are inspecting bridges for erosion after the heavy rainfall recently and checking on signage. He also gave an update on the completion of the FEMA sites from the disaster declaration of 2015. Mr. Huppert also informed the Board that the Department has also switched to their summer hours starting at 6:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. He also requested the Board consider the approval of adding a tint to the windows on the motorgraders to help with the sun glare and to help with cooling of the cab.

The Verdon NW bridge project is progressing and the guardrail should be installed by the end of the week. If progress continues the bridge could be completed and opened before the end of the month.

Motion was made by Sickel to approve a permit for A.H. Cohron to operate an oversize/overweight vehicle on county road 644 Avenue north of Hwy 73 or 712 Road for 1 mile then east on 713 Road to a bridge site. Motion seconded by Davidson. SHERIFF POUNDS

Sheriff Pounds reviewed further with the Board the proposed contract with Catering By Marlin's, Inc., dba CBM Managed Services, a professional food service company to provide meals to inmates at the Jail and other services for the Law Enforcement Center. This contract will be considered at next week's meeting.

The current status of the delivery of meals to the jail inmates was reviewed. Sheriff Pounds also informed the Board that the current version of the "Slueth" program needed by the Sheriff's Department and Jail be considered and that contact has been made with the City of Falls City to share the Version 10 of the program. The Board and Sheriff Pounds contacted the City Administrator, Gary Jorn during the meeting to inquire as to the status of a response to the Sheriff's request. Mr. Jorn relayed that it was to be discussed with staff at a meeting later today.

A brief review of the current agreement with the City of Falls City for the 911 dispatch services, PSAP, was held. Sheriff Pounds informed the Board that he was researching options for 911 dispatching.

Sheriff Pounds requested that the Board consider the approval of grant funds for a COPS Grant to hire a "School Resource Officer" for the County. The grant funding would provide 75% of the costs for the position for three years with the fourth year being funded totally by Richardson County. The Board instructed the Sheriff to proceed with the grant application and if the grant would be awarded then the Board will consider to accept the grant funding at that time depending on the resources that would be available to fund the 25% match and the full funding for the fourth year and on.

Grant funding has also been received for the purchase of preliminary breath testing equipment and applications have been made for additional grant funding to purchase radar and in-car video equipment and bullet proof vests.

The Board also discussed with Sheriff Pounds the need for a maintenance person at the Jail/Law Enforcement Center when it becomes occupied. Ideas of hiring a person or contracting the service was reviewed.

2016 Opinions of the Property Tax Administrator for Richardson County

My opinions and recommendations are stated as a conclusion based on all of the factors known to me regarding the assessment practices and statistical analysis for this county. See, Neb. Rev. Stat. § 77-5027 (2011). While the median assessment-to-sales ratio from the Qualified Statistical Reports for each class of real property is considered, my opinion of the level of value for a class of real property may be determined from other evidence contained within these Reports and Opinions of the Property Tax Administrator. My opinion of quality of assessment for a class of real property may be influenced by the assessment practices of the county assessor.
