Hernandez

Falls City man charged with attempted murder

By Jim Langan

A 33-year-old Falls City man appeared in Richardson County Court Monday morning and was charged with attempted second-degree murder.

Desiderio C. Hernandez allegedly cut the throat of Damon Gates during an altercation at a residence in Falls City at approximately 10:30 p.m. on July 14.

According to a probable cause affidavit filed by Falls City Police Officer Charles DiGiacomo, who responded to the call, Hernandez allegedly came up behind Gates, who at the time

Battle of Whitestone Hill

Dean Podell, La Vista, a history buff of the first order, who earlier contributed the origin of “Taps,” the bugle call played at veterans funerals, to a Journal column, has sent an account of early area history which is intriguing. It follows:

“Sept. 3, 2013, will mark the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Whitestone Hill. This part of Nebraska history that is not well known. The battle was fought in present-day Dickey County, N.D., and was between the United States Army and several tribes of the Sioux Nation. At the time the 2nd Nebraska Cavalry was part of the United States Army. Company G of the 2nd Nebraska Cavalry was from Richardson County and most of the members were from Falls City. (According to Lewis C. Edwards’ “History of Richardson County, Nebraska) Company L also was formed in Richardson County and participated in the battle.)

“It was a horrendous battle and was the biggest and bloodiest ever fought on North Dakota soil. Some native Nebraskans consider it a slaughter. The casualty count for the Indians was higher than the Battle of Wounded Knee in 1890.

“Two members, Privates John Van Order, 22, and Charles Davenport, 18, of Company G were killed on Sept. 3, 1863. The United States Army lost 22 men and 38 were wounded during the battle.” Podell notes that his hometown of Hecia, SD, is several miles southeast of the battlefield and is he very familiar with the details that led up to the battle. He adds:

“Inside the entrance to the Steele Cemetery in Falls City is the monument to Company G, 2nd Nebraska Cavalry. The names of Van Order and Davenport are inscribed on the monument. My sources indicate the monument was dedicated in 1869 and is the oldest marker in our state.”

Developing Podell’s account further, Edwards’ history has a couple of pages devoted to Company G, and Company L, 2nd Nebraska Cavalry. Those pages state that approximately 135 members of Company G and about the same number in Company L, 2nd Nebraska Cavalry, left Falls City on April 10, 1863, for Devil’s Lake in Dakota near the head of James River to quell an Indian uprising. The book lists the name, age and rank of each member, all of whom were from Falls City and Richardson County. If they “went over the hill” (deserted) that was noted, too.

Besides the two privates killed in the Battle of White Stone Hill,

New events added to Cobblestone lineup

The 2013 Falls City Cobblestone Festival is just around the corner, and it’s never too early to begin preparing for the fun-filled activities.

This year some new events have been added to the weekend’s agenda to help ensure everyone has a little extra fun. New this year will be a Friday night “beverage garden” with the band Partners N Crime providing entertainment for the crowd.

Additions to Saturday’s schedule will include a “Taste of Falls City” Taco Eating Contest, as well as a Cupcake Eating Contest, a “Falls City’s Next Top Pets” contest with both a talent division and a best costume division, and “Cobblestone’s Amazing Wheelchair Race,” an obstacle course guaranteed to entertain both the contestants and spectators.

Saturday evening a movie for all festival goers to enjoy will be shown on a giant, inflatable movie screen atop of the Cobblestone Stage. We would like everyone to visit the Falls City Chamber/Main Street Facebook Page to vote on their top pick for the evening’s movie.

Sunday’s activities will consist of a 3-on-3 basketball tournament. Divisions will be 6-8th grade, 9-12th grade, and adult. The tournament will be double elimination with co-ed teams consisting of at least three but no more than four players (one sub is allowed.) The entry fee will be $5 per player.

In addition, Cobblestone will be host to “Falls City’s Got Talent.” This contest is open to anyone or any group who wishes to display their unique talent (or lack of) while entertaining the crowd in four minutes or less. Since this is purely for fun, we encourage everyone to be creative and give it a try (lip synching is acceptable.) All acts must be suitable for a family environment. A sound system will be available but the act is responsible for providing their own accompaniment. Prizes will be awarded and will vary from contest to contest. The entry fee for each of these contests, with the exception of the 3-on-3 basketball tournament, is a non-perishable food item or $5, which will be donated to SENCA (a list of their current needs will be available on the Chamber website as well as with the entry forms.)

Of course, all of the classic Cobblestone events such as the Firemen’s fishing contest, 5K, frog jumping, little tuggers, classic cars, dodgeball, parade, Little Mr. and Miss Cobblestone, craft show/vendors, carnival rides, and Vespers service (as well as many more) will be going on Aug. 23-25. In order to better prepare for all contests, pre-entry is strongly encouraged and GREATLY appreciated. The entry forms, as well as the complete descriptions, rules, and guidelines for each contest are available at the Chamber/Main Street Office, 1705 Stone St., as well as online at www.fallscityareachamber.com

FormoreinfoonCobblestone or to be a volunteer or sponsor, please call the Chamber/Main Street Office at 402-245-4428 or email Eric at directorcems@sentco.net

Be sure to stop in the local Falls City Area Chamber businesses to pick up a complete list of Cobblestone events, times and locations.

There is still time to nominate deserving candidates for the honor of Grand Marshal of the 2013 Cobblestone Parade.

The Grand Marshal will be selected on Thursday, so to nominate an individual, couple or group, send a letter of nomination to Lori Gottula at gottula@sentco.net or at 2703 Abbott St., Falls City, NE 68355. The only requirement is that the candidate must have contributed to the betterment of the Falls City community. Detail in the nomination why your candidate deserves the honor. For more information call Lori Gottula at 402-245-8145.

The Cobblestone parade is just a month away—Saturday, Aug. 24, at 11 a.m.

It is time to start planning entries.

The theme is: Falls City: A Community on the rise.

Lori Gottula, perennial parade chairman, issues challenges:

“Show your American pride with your patriotic entry. Let your children ride their bikes through. Highlight your winning softball/baseball team. Blow the audience away with your elaborate float. Groom your horse and show her off. Strike up the band! No matter what your entry, we want you to participate!”

To register, stop by the Falls City Chamber office and pick up a registration form, or email Lori Gottula at gottula@sentco.net

The parade chairman is hoping for the best parade ever.

I'm her eighth old man, I'm (H)enery
(H)enery the eighth I am, I am
(H)enery the eighth I am!*

This is as close as I can come to the lyrics from a silly little song from, I believe, the 1960's at the time of the "British Invasion." Herman's Hermits had a bit of a hit with the song, one of only a few on their resume. It came to mind with all the publicity surrounding the birth of a baby. Not just any baby, mind you, a "Royal" baby — a Prince!

If all goes according to plan, this baby will one day be the King of England, succeeding his grandfather, Charles, and his father, William. Charles, the Prince of Wales, has been waiting off stage for years now as his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, has lived a long life and obviously has no immediate plans to step down. So Charles just keeps doing his Prince of Wales thing while living with the love of his life, the Duchess of Cornwall, Camilla Parker Bowles, who he apparently had a long relationship with before and during his marriage to Princess Diana of Wales, who split with Charles and then died in an auto accident.

The baby, a whopping 8-pound, 6-ouncer, was born to William, the Duke of Cambridge, and Kate, the Duchess of Cambridge, on Monday, July 22. For the time being, the baby will be known as the Prince of Cambridge.

Actually, he'll be known as more than that. He is Prince George Alexander Louis of Cambridge. Quite a mouthful.

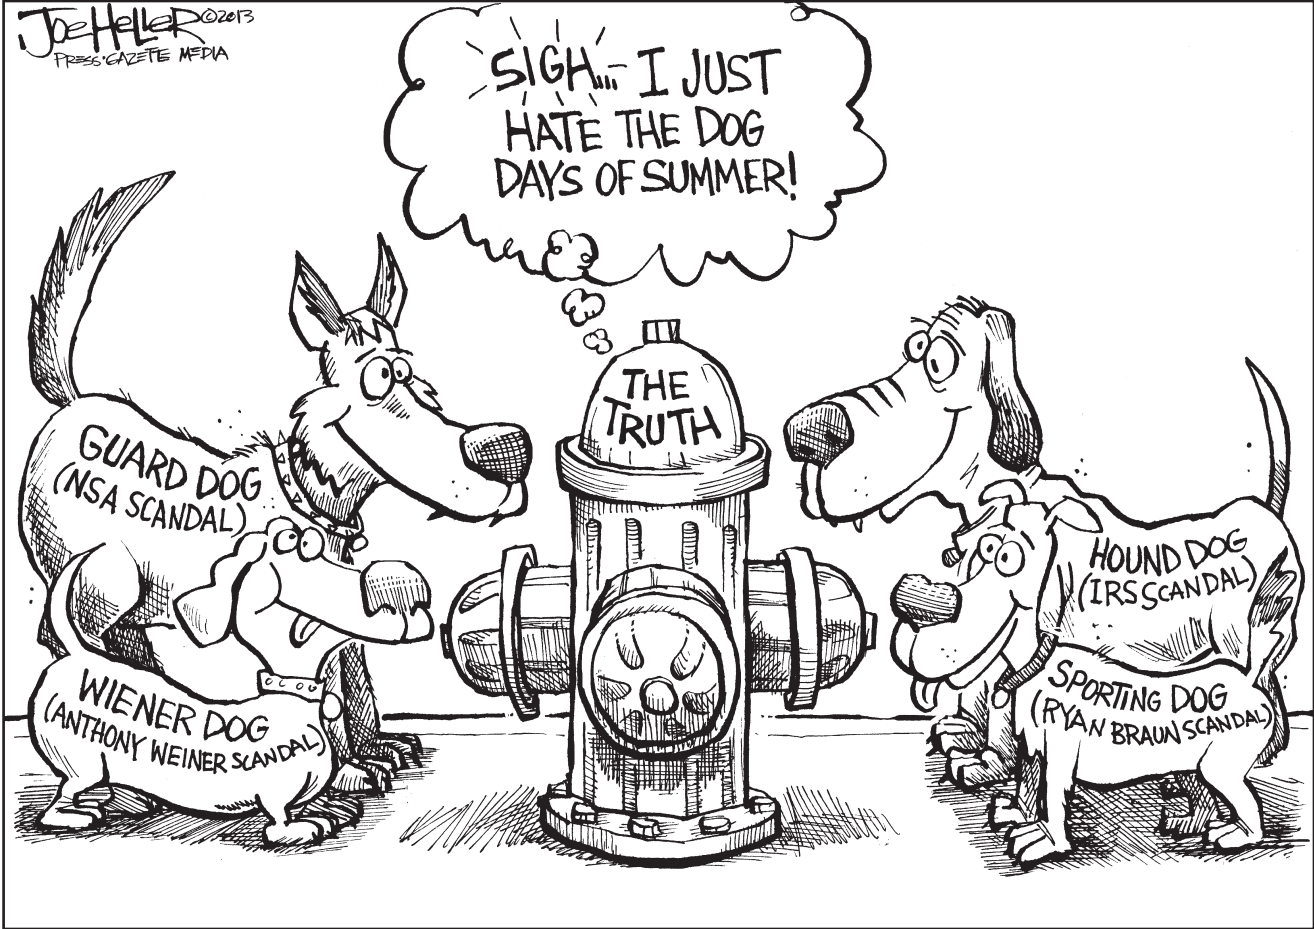

But at least his parents arrived at the name in pretty short order. Queen Elizabeth II and her main squeeze, Prince Phillip, the Duke of Edinburgh, didn't come up with a name for son Charles for a month after his birth.

I suppose if you are "Royal," selecting a baby's name can be dicey. Tradition is involved for a kid who may one day be King, so some names just wouldn't qualify. You wonder, though, how mom and dad will address the child in the confines of their palatial home. "Prince George Alexander Louis of Cambridge, get your hands off the crown jewels, you little monster!" Or, "Prince George Alexander Louis of Cambridge, eat your carrots."

My personal hope was that William and Kate would break with tradition and give the Prince a break with a less traditional moniker. Maybe Zeke or Biff, even Bronco or Bruce. Has there ever been a Prince Jerry, a Prince Doug or Prince Reggie? How about Prince Herm, Prince Cal or Prince Steve? All good, solid names.

It just seems to me the Royals need to get off their high horses and relax a bit. Sure, the pressures of monarchy are heavy. There are ribbons to cut, polo matches to attend, tea to drink, miniature cakes to eat, walks to take, ceremonies to attend, state dinners, tuxedos to try on and checks to deposit. But couldn't King Zeke do all of that as well as King Charles, King William or King George Alexander Louis?

And while were at it, what about Prince Harry of Wales? Why won't he get a shot at the throne? Forget that episode in Vegas. This guy's paid his dues, too.

Nebraska Is ready for wildfire season

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

The ounce of prevention has been taken. The state is now waiting for the pound of cure benefit.

In the aftermath of 1,570 wildfires that burned 786 square miles of Nebraska grassland and forest and 65 buildings – at a cost of $12 million – last summer, lawmakers approved and the governor signed a bill (LB634) offered by freshman State Senator Al Davis of Hyannis.

The Sandhills senator had watched last summer as wildfires consumed acres of some of Nebraska's most scenic countryside, hundreds of thousands of acres from the Panhandle to Northeast Nebraska and a lot of places in between. Nebraska officials called 2012 the worst wild land fire year on record with nearly 500,000 acres burned, 65 structures lost and at least $12 million spent on fighting the fires (more than 390 fires recorded by this time last year).

Experts have said the problem will occur far more frequently than in the past because of recurring drought. The Nebraska Forest Service says major fires have been avoided so far this summer because of higher humidity and fewer windy days. But, this IS Nebraska, and that situation can change with just a few days of hot, dry weather.

Summer is far from over. Nearly 98 percent of Nebraska is in some stage of drought, according to the latest U.S. Drought Monitor report. More than 39 percent of the state is in "extreme or exceptional" drought conditions, the most severe reported.

Davis' bill called on the Nebraska Forest Service to contract with private aviation companies to place two single engine air tankers during the fire season at airports near Chadron and Valentine. Lawmakers and the governor settled on one plane, which is now under contract and will operate mostly out of bases in Alliance, Chadron and Valentine.

The measure also directed the forest service to thin forests to reduce fuel loads, substantially reducing wildfire risk, intensity, and rate of the spread, and reduce risks to residents, communities and emergency personnel. That is happening in northern Nebraska where state officials confirm they have also contracts with earth moving companies to quickly provide bulldozers and heavy machinery to set fire lines.

The Nebraska Emergency Management Agency has urged local officials to act quickly to enlist mutual aid and call for state assistance earlier to prevent situations from rapidly deteriorating. Assistant Director Al Berndt says it takes time to put together a large-scale response.

Congratulations to those involved on being proactive. If we can get along on issues for the common good, think what else we can conquer.

I know that I have mentioned this before. Helen Thomas, who died recently at the age of 92, was married to Doug Cornell, who grew up in Falls City, the son of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Cornell. Dr. Cornell was an osteopath with an office on the second floor of 1602 Stone Street.

As you read over the weekend and perhaps knew from watching her sitting on the front row at White House press conferences, Ms. Thomas posed difficult questions at times for whoever was president. She covered the White House for the United Press and Doug did the same for the Associated Press. As dean of the White House press corps she had the honor of ending the conferences with “Thank you, Mr. President.” Most Presidents were happy when she ended them. However, I can remember President Kennedy joustling with her at the press conferences.

Doug Cornell was in the midst of everything when he was covering the White House during the years of Franklin D. Roosevelt’s presidency and I think I’m right in saying that Doug and FDR had an excellent relationship. On one of the President’s special train trips in the Midwest, Dr. Cornell was invited aboard and Doug introduced his dad to the President. Doug died a number of years ago. I remember meeting him—but he wasn’t all that impressed.

While thinking about Doug and his journalistic career, I decided to share the names of others from our bailiwick who made names for themselves in that field.

Emmitt Deadman, of my vintage, was the son of a First Christian Church pastor and lived here during Junior High years. After World War II he became editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, which was some doings. Incidentally, probably for a good reason, he changed his last name to Dedmon. I didn’t know it until later years but during World War II he was a B-17 navigator and ended up in the same Nazi POW camp as I did. There were 9,000 of us Kriegies and he was in a different camp compound.

Charlie Nutter, who got his start at the Journal, made it big as a newsman in New Orleans, I believe for the Associated Press and then for the Times-Picayune. He went on to become the CEO of the big trade center there. Charlie had a brother, Joe, who became sports editor of the Providence, R. I., Journal.

Then there was Ed Greenwald, one of five brothers growing up here, who wrote for the Associated Press in the South. I believe it was in Mississippi. Anyway, what I recall about Ed and his journalistic career is that he was the AP newsman who went along with some group that tried to locate Noah’s Ark. Of course, that hunt became a bummer. Other groups are still hunting.

Leonard Castle, Mike Castle’s uncle, was a newsman for 50 years, starting with the Falls City Daily News which about that time also featured me as a carrier on south Harlan and Stone. Leonard worked for the United Press and also for the Indianapolis Star and Chicago Times. Old timers will remember the Daily News holding forth where the Richardson County Bank & Trust now does business.

I am sure a journalist who grew up in Humboldt wrote for the United Press, but I can’t recall his name.

Our most recent contribution is Robert Nelson, a writer for the Omaha World-Herald before working as a newsman in Arizona, then returning and writing a very popular column for the World-Herald until leaving the newspaper field. Bob spent a summer interning at the Journal and we knew then he would be climbing the journalism ladder.

Not bad contributions for guys emanating from our metropolis.

Attempted murder

of the incident was at a house located at 813 Harlan St. grabbed Gates’ head and cut his throat with a razor knife. The victim said he then ran to 813 Chase, where Officer DiGiacomo was called. The victim stated that earlier in the evening the defendant struck him in the nose with a fist and broke his nose. Then, two hours later, the defendant returned and cut his throat. Gates was transported to the Community Medical Center for treatment.

A witness, Tomasina Stevens, who lives at 813 Harlan, gave both verbal and written statements to officers with the FCPD stating verbal and physical altercations had been going on between the victim and the defendant for several hours. Stevens stated that after she believed things had calmed down, the victim was standing inside the doorway of her house and Hernandez came from outside, walked up behind Gates, who was still standing just inside the doorway, grabbed his head and pulled something across Gates’ neck. Stevens said Hernandez then fled the scene and initial attempts by the FCPD to make contact with him were unsuccessful.

A warrant was filed in Richardson County Court and signed by Judge Curtis Maschman last Wednesday. Hernandez was taken into custody on Thursday and remains in county jail on a $200,000 surety bond.

Hernandez’ preliminary hearing is scheduled for Aug. 26 in County Court.

An altercation at a Humboldt residence led to the arrest of a 23-year-old man last week.

Devon J. Cooper was taken into custody at his residence in Humboldt by Richardson County Sheriff Randy Houser and Deputy Jeff Frederick July 22. Cooper was arrested for terroristic threats, a Class IV felony, and misdemeanor criminal mischief.

According to the probable cause affidavit, Frederick was dispatched to a residence in Humboldt just after 10 a.m. where he was informed by Cooper’s father, John, that John’s son had damaged two of his pickups with a claw hammer. Mr. Cooper also stated that his son threatened to kill him if he did not quit “burning his stuff.”

Cooper was transported to the Richardson County Jail where he was booked and placed in a cell.

SEZ ‘I’

Responsive, professional

Several weeks ago I experienced a small grass fire near the side of my home. To ensure that the structure was completely safe, I called the Fire Department. To my complete surprise the fire truck and full crew arrived in three to four minutes after the call. They immediately began to take control of the situation and did a thorough job of inspecting the house for smoldering areas and applying water to the underside of the flooring. They also shut down the power and gas as an extra precaution. They were organized, methodical and mindful to try and minimize smoke and water damage. I doubt if any big city fire department could have been more responsive or professional.

How fortunate we are to have such well-trained and selfless individuals in our community. Remember that most of our firefighters are volunteers. I am sure that they had better ways to spend their Sunday afternoon than crawling under my house with a heavy fire hose.

I might add that although the Ambulance Squad was not needed on this occasion, these good citizens also give so much of themselves on our behalf and are deserving of our gratitude, as well.

Thanks also to Ben Howard and the crew from Gary Jones for coming the next day to restore power and gas. It was good of you to help out in my emergency.

Lastly, I would like to thank Steve Hoy for coming over immediately to help before the Fire Department arrived. Steve and Stacy have assisted me many times in the past. It is a comfort to know they are close by in my advancing years. They are very much appreciated and I am glad that I have the opportunity to thank them publicly for all that they have done. In fact, many of my neighbors have done favors for me in the past and I am grateful that I live in this particular neighborhood and count them among my friends.

When I retired I could have moved anywhere I chose, but I came back to the place of my birth and the many happy boyhood memories of my grandparents’ home, in which I now reside.

This recent incident proves that I made the right choice. I feel blessed to finish out my days here in Falls City, among so many good people.

Finally, we have a nice tradition of giving a “Card of Thanks” to our health care providers at Community Medical Center. I would like to propose that we do the same for the firefighters and Ambulance Squad volunteers as well.

Given all that they do for us, it is the least we can do for them.

Thanks again everybody,
Scott Massin

St. Paul’s Lutheran ELCA
“An Affair to Remember,” the 12th annual Festival of the Tables and silent auction was held July 20 at St. Paul’s Lutheran Church, 20th and Towle, sponsored by the Women of the ELCA.

The welcome was given by Mary Ann Rieschick. The table blessing was sung to the tune of “Michael Row the Boat Ashore” with Marilyn McKinsey playing the piano. A salad buffet was enjoyed by all.

Carol Bierman gave several readings, “My Seat in Church,” “The Middle of the Bible” and “Basic Rules of Clothes Lines.” Diann Mez shared special music and Dixie Pethoud presented a program on her “Travels to India.” Silent auction results were revealed. Money from the auction, supplemented by Thrivent Financial for Lutherans, will be divided between the Falls City Area Ministerial Association and the St Sx3 youth group.

Twelve hostesses and host set up their theme tables and served 110 guests. Money from ticket sales will go to support church and community projects. Pastor Andrew Chavanak gave the closing prayer.

The planning committee for the event included Carol Bierman, Marilyn McKinsey and Ann Smith. Greeters were Linda Meyer, Glenda Nelson, Nancy DeKlotz and Karen Radatz. On the kitchen committee were Chuck Smith, Dennis Meyer, Gary Nelson and Charles Radatz; silent auction committee, Mary Ann Rieschick and Pam Scott. Food preparation, silent auction items and table setups were by members of St. Paul’s. Karen Maze, church secretary, made the programs.

ELCA members are looking forward to the Festival of the Tables in July of 2014.

Area Bridge

Four tables of bridge were played at the Falls City Area Bridge session July 23 at the Elks Club. Judy Slominski and Lorna Simon were hostesses.

Winning the prizes were Judy Slominski, Carol Heine- man, Nancy Kelley and Marilyn Kentopp.

The next meeting will be Aug. 13 with Nancy Wittwer and Vi Heim as hostesses.

Thirteen friends were at Falls City Community Health Care on July 23 to help celebrate the birthdays of Roy and Naomi Bahr. Roy is celebrating 93 years and Naomi 92. Several readings were read, along with a closing prayer. The birthday song was sung by the group and refreshments were served by the LWML Remembrance Committee of St. Paul’s Lutheran Church, six miles north. Roy and Naomi were confirmed together on April 14, 1935, at St. Paul’s and have been active lifetime members of the church.

UNL paleontologist Shane Tucker will present a Summer Reading Program at the Falls City Library and Arts Center from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 31. Tucker will talk about his job collecting fossils from Nebraska highway projects and the different prehistoric animals that once lived here. There will also be a fossil display, including mammoth teeth, a cast of a saber-toothed carnivore skull and a vertebra from a 40-foot long plesiosaur (sea lizard) that lived during the Age of Dinosaurs. This is the fifth presentation in this year’s Summer Reading Program. Families and children of all ages are invited. Stories will be read, a craft will be constructed and refreshments will be served. The Apple Valley Reading Council sponsors this program.

Antique auction to be held in one of county’s 1st houses

A four-generation antique auction will be held Saturday, Aug. 10, on the premises six miles north of Falls City on Highway 73 of what is believed to be one of the first houses built in Richardson County.

Many of the antiques to be auctioned off have been stored in the house’s attic for a great many years. According to oral and written records, the house was built shortly after the Civil War. It was put together with square nails and the windows and doors are original. It was among the first to have an inside toilet. Nothing has been changed or remodeled except for vinyl siding put on in the early 1980s. It was lived in continuously until the death of Howard Grush in February of this year.

The four-generation antiques are from the Kimmel-Prichard-J. Grush and H. Grush families. Falls City area history is involved.

The area north of town, known as Silver Creek in the “olden days,” became inhabited when John Forney sold his holdings in Illinois and brought his family many of them married others who were related, to Falls City, where he bought more than 1,000 acres in the Muddy Creek valley from Stephen B. Miles. A son, William, an excellent carpenter and builder, took over the construction of houses, and no doubt was the builder of the house still standing and livable.

In an article which appeared in the Journal, John H. Judy, an ex-Falls Cityan, wrote an interesting account of how the Forney clan came to Nebraska. The extended family formed a caravan 1 1/2 miles long. “First,” Judy wrote, “here were the covered wagons in which the families rode and in which beds and bedding and cooking utensils were carried. Then there were more covered wagons in which were loaded furniture, feed and seed. Then came wagons without covers, which were loaded with plows and other farm utensils. Then came horses and cows and other loose stock while youngsters, both boys and girls, rode horseback and herded the stock.

The journey took them to the Missouri River across from Iowa Point, KS. The crossing was to be made March 1, 1869. The ferry boat would only accommodate one team and wagon at a time and the grades were very steep and dangerous. In less than 10 days the crossing was accomplished. They came on to the Falls City area “and became a community at once.”

Arriving on the scene in 1870 Samuel Kimmel and his wife came to Falls City from Pennsylvania and bought 160 acres of land north of Falls City. The John Forneys lived in the upstairs of the house being written about and the Kimmels lived downstairs while their house was being built across the road.

One of the Kimmels’ daughters, Eva Ada, married H. J. Prichard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prichard, who had moved from eastern Kentucky in 1865 and settled in Arago Precinct. The Hugh Prichards lived in the house until moving into Falls City and later launched the H. J. Prichard & Son auto dealership.

The David R. Grush family moved to the Silver Creek area from Illinois in 1876. Later, a son, Jesse, married Allie Kimmel and they occupied the house until their deaths, when their son, Howard, took over.

With their father deceased, Howard’s children, Sheryl Hunzeker, Charlene Wamsley, John and Bill Grush, decided it was time to sell the four generations’ items which had become antiques.

DID YOU KNOW?

A controversial archeological site is the Bighorn medicine wheel in northern Wyoming, so named because Native Americans often use the name “medicine” for an object believed to give control over natural or magical forces. The wheel, made up of rocks carefully positioned on the ground, has 27 spokes and a circumference of 245 feet. Scientists believe it was constructed about 2,500 years ago.

It’s not just the wheel that is intriguing. All across Wyoming giant stone arrows point the way to the medicine wheel. Some of those arrows are 200 miles away. It appears that some ancient peoples wanted to make sure that anyone could find the wheel, but the wheel’s importance is unknown today.

Thy Compassions
They Fail Not
Our sin separates us from God and God's purity.
But God has compassion on us, even though we do not deserve it.
Because of God's compassion, Jesus reconciled us to God.
Give thanks to God for that this week in church.

CRA plan

Cpl. Pharagus Pollard, 32, died at Camp 13, Dakota Territory, and William C. Penn, died at Ft. Pierre, Dakota Territory. Pvt. Joel Hoppe, Company L, died at Ft. Antitium, Dakota Territory.

Both companies returned to Falls City in November 1863 and members “were mustered out.”

Bill Rowan, historian for the Richardson County Historical Society, earlier had researched Company G’s involvement in the Battle of White Stone (Podell writes it Whitestone) Hill in Dakota Territory. A portion of his account follows:

“...The cavalry fought the Indians at the Battle of White Stone Hill in present-day Dickey County, ND. General Alfred Sully attacked a large Sioux village at White Stone Hill on Sept. 3, 1863, and defeated them. About two thousand Sioux were camped near present-day Ashley, ND, near White Stone Hill. Sully with 1,200 cavalrymen killed more than 200 Sioux and took over 150 prisoners. He destroyed all the Indians’ possessions, including 400,000 pounds of dried buffalo meat meant for winter provisions.”

As to the monument in Steele Cemetery, Rowan wrote that the area members of the Nebraska Cavalry who died in service are memorialized on the monument.

He noted that it is unknown when the monument at Steele was erected. The inscription as it was put up by members of Co. G. and Co. L with no date inscribed. However, it previously was noted that Co. G was demobilized in 1863.

Rowan found in his research that Steele Cemetery was established later so it is possible that the monument first was erected somewhere else, perhaps, the old Falls City Cemetery or possibly even the Courthouse Square. It often is called the G.A.R. (Grand Army of the Republic, a Civil War veterans’ organization) memorial because that organization put a G.A.R. marker in front of it.” A number of Civil War veterans are buried at Steele.

In an article that Rowan wrote sometime ago for the Richardson County Historical Society newsletter he opined:

The graves of these soldiers in whose memory it was erected are unmarked on the Dakota prairies. ‘This monument does not properly belong in the cemetery, but the founders of Steele Cemetery wanted something to advertise their property and start a graveyard, so it was removed to its present location.” He added that moving the monument back to the Courthouse Square with the rest of the war monuments ought to be considered.

It might be in order to mention other war memorials in Falls City. The names of all World War I veterans are inscribed on the first-floor wall of the Courthouse. Also on the Courthouse first floor is a war museum, mostly of World War II artifacts, and on the southeast corner of the Courthouse square is a war memorial listing the names of Richardson County veterans who were killed in action in World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War and in Iraq. In the 800 block of Harlan Street, south of the American Legion club, the War Memorial includes military vehicles, of the World War I, Korean and Vietnam eras and the wall is made up of bricks inscribed with the names of men and women who have served in the military.

Marcia Schwartz
book-signing
Saturday at library

“In Jars of Clay,” by Marcia Schwartz, is an eclectic mix of stories, anecdotes and events connected to various Scriptures in her most recent book of meditations.

What does the ancient dodo bird have to do with “jars of clay”? What does the “Got Milk” advertising campaign have to do with Christian growth? How is Jethro’s Old Testament advice to Moses still good for us as we handle stress in our lives? How do the trials and triumphs of past heroes inform our present-day lives with hope and inspiration? These and many other topics are addressed in 80 thought-provoking devotions.

Tootie Ebel provided illustrations for the book.

Ms. Schwartz will be signing and selling copies of “In Jars of Clay” at the Falls City Library and Arts Center on Saturday morning, Aug. 3, from 10 a.m. until noon. For those who may wish to own a signed copy of one of her other four books, she will also have on hand copies of “Lobo and the Rabbit Stew,” “Ghosts of the Missouri River,” “Annie’s Ordeal” and “Apples for the Soul.”

Review, finalize property tax protests

The Richardson County Commissioners, meeting as a Board of Equalization, began their review and preparation to finalize property valuation protests heard on June 18 and 25 and July 2, 9 and 23. In addition, a motor vehicle tax exemption application from Community Medical Center for a 2013 Dodge van was approved.

The board authorized Chairman Dave Sickel to sign an assignment agreement with Dobson Brothers Construction Co. and Constructors, Inc., with the stipulation that Dobson Brothers must keep their performance bond in effect as per the contract document or with an agreement between Constructor’s Inc. to hold Richardson County harmless in the event that Dobson Brothers would have claim with Constructor’s Inc.

Hopefully, this agreement will help in getting the delayed Preston Road project underway.

In other developments, Commissioners Sickel, Jim Davidson and Jim Standerford:

—Met with Randy Gilsdorf, Steve Darveau and Jim Olberding representing the Road and Bridge Department union.

—Met with Joann Auxier, Richard Meinzer and Gary Nelson, officers of the Richardson County Historical Society, who presented the annual report and request for continued funding from Richardson County. They requested $15,000.

—Moved to enter into an agreement with OPPD for the use of county road right-of-way six miles north of Falls City on 652 Avenue, south of 714 Road.

—Authorized Sickel to sign the “Certificate of Completion of the Richardson County Courthouse Water Chiller Replacement.”

—As per resolution, designated County Clerk Mary L. Eickhoff as the budget-making authority for the fiscal year 2013-14 budget.

—Held their weekly meeting with Highway Supt. Scott Huppert, who reviewed bridge construction projects and equipment purchases. The board voted to enter into agreement with the Nebraska Department of Roads for underwater bridge inspections.

Meeting in special session Monday, July 22, the City Council approved a resolution amending the Community Development Authority’s (CRA) redevelopment plan.

During a public hearing, Charlie Radatz, CRA president, said the action would encourage development, which would result in an enhanced tax base and job creation. He said redevelopment “stimulates the economy,” attracts new residences and encourages business development. EDGE Executive Director Beckie Cromer also attending the meeting to answer any questions, but none was expressed.

Radatz spoke about Tax Increment Financing and specific ways it can be implemented. Some of the projects on the CRA horizon include paving of the Airport Road, infrastructure improvements (Industrial Park), a Community Medical Center access road, as well as residential, industrial and commercial development.

In old business, the Council voted to remove from the table a health insurance item from the previous meeting, then voted to continue the policy with Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

Monday’s meeting lasted 10 minutes.

DID YOU KNOW?
A CT SCAN (Computerized tomography) — also called CT — combines a series of X-ray views taken from many different angles and computer processing to create cross-sectional images of the bones and soft tissues inside your body.

CT scan images can provide much more information than do plain X-rays.

A CT scan has many uses, but is particularly well suited to quickly examine people who may have internal injuries from car accidents or other types of trauma. A CT scan can be used to visualize nearly all parts of the body.

Blue Storm season ends, but hosts leave impression

By Jim Langan

A few too many errors and walks against possibly the top team in Class B proved to spell the end for Falls City’s Blue Storm Seniors’ season. FC was defeated 11-0 by Hickman last Tuesday in the Nebraska American Legion Baseball Area 1 District Championship, which was held in Falls City for the first time ever. The Blue Storm allowed Hickman a bevy of extra outs, as they committed four errors, walked eight batters and plunked another three. Eight of the 11 runs were not earned and Hickman, which outscored their district foes 41-0 in four games, finished the game with no extra-base hits for the first time all tournament. Hickman rolled past Elkhorn Mt. Michael 10-5 Friday and Saturday defeated Waverly 7-0 to set up a game with Area 4 champion Seward last night at the Class B State Tournament in Gering. A win and Hickman would be three wins away from another state championship, after winning Class B this past spring.

“We didn’t go into either game with Hickman and play scared,” Huppert said. We were ready and they knew it too. It was one or two plays from being a one or two run game. We had a few too many errors and walks. It’s the old story, you walk two or three guys, they get one timely hit and it will change the game.” FC lefthander Reese Hogue took the loss on the mound against Hickman after he allowed three earned runs and walked four in one inning of work. Hogue struggled with his control out of the gates and tossed 36 pitches in the first inning, 12 of which crossed as strikes. Chaz Dunn, Jordy Stoller and Lane Scheitel were responsible for FC’s three hits. Dunn and Stoller had back-to-back singles in the first inning against Hickman starter Payton Kinney and Scheitel’s came in the top of the fifth off of Jake Peterson, who had just entered the game in relief. FC finished 3-2 in the district tournament, 19-12 overall and should return all but two players – first baseman Wade Witt and pitcher Lane Scheitel – in 2014. That experience coming back and the opportunity to play a quality opponent like Hickman twice will keep Huppert optimistic. FC thrived on the base paths this season and the lack of base runners in the two losses to Hickman put the clamps on their “small ball” philosophy, a philosophy adopted prior to the 2012 season. Huppert mentioned a story he read about Nebraska Cornhusker head coach Darin Erstad, who said one of the things the Huskers would do was be aggressive on the bases. Erstad said when they were on base, the other team would have to do everything they could to keep them out of scoring position. Huppert began instilling this in his players before last season and said they have made huge strides, no pun intended, since they started working on situational running. “I told the guys we were going to be aggressive,” Huppert said. “We are going to push ourselves on the base paths. We practiced base running and still have more work to do on our leads and jumps, but I’ve had a lot of coaches tell us how much it affects how they game plan us or adjust during the games. It (aggressive base running) breaks up double plays and sets up the style we want to play. “We still have to work on the mental part and I think the biggest thing is their mentality when they bunt. Getting over that, ‘I’d rather swing away’ mentality and moving more towards, ‘What do I have to do to get on base or to move one of my teammates over.’” The Seniors swiped 162 bases this summer and were caught 26 times, which equates to an 86 percent success rate. Up from 80 percent last summer when they stole 160 bags and a dramatic improvement from the 60 stolen bases recorded in 2011. Huppert also mentioned beefing up the schedule next year and in the future. Waterloo Valley, Springfield, Louisville, whose Juniors recently won the Class C State Championship, and Ashland to the Southeast Nebraska Baseball Conference. “We may finish .500 next year, but I think it will help us in the long run and push these guys to show them where we stand. “My biggest thing about wanting these boys to do well this year in the program and putting all the time we put into it, from the players, the parents and the coaches, is to basically show that we need spring baseball at the high school level. We deserve it. These boys want it and most importantly, they deserve it.” Huppert pointed to the Juniors’ wins over Beatrice and Nebraska City at the area tourney and the competitive games the Seniors had with Plattsmouth and state qualifier Sabetha, KS. The other big takeaways from the weekend and the season were the reactions to the brand new Fiedler Complex, notably Southeast Nebraska Communications Field. Huppert said he spoke with people from each of the other five communities represented at the tournament, as well as visitors throughout the summer and almost unanimously, the sentiments were the same. “The players, coaches and fans loved it. I heard a lot of good things said about the field. People were really impressed.” Huppert thanked Tournament Director Kevin Scheitel and all the volunteers for making Falls City’s first district tournament and this season a success. “The overall experience was very positive,” Hickman assistant coach Randy Peterson said. “Beautiful facility, great field, very clean, nice restrooms, very nice staff and parents. Just a very well ran tournament and very positive feedback from the players.” “It’s appreciated, especially coming from their type of program,” Huppert said in response to Peterson’s remarks. “It all went really well, the new facility, everything kind of came together this year. It would have been nice to get two more wins and have been in Gering this weekend, but it helps us because their word is going to get around to the rest of the area. For so many years we had trouble getting people down here to play us, especially the bigger schools, so I’m hoping now Falls City will be more of a draw.”

‘I Came, I Tri’d, I Conquered’

Some 44 athletes compete in FCAC’s 4th annual triathlon

“I Came, I Tri’d, I Conquered” that was the theme of the 2013 Falls City Aquatic Center’s 4th Annual Triathlon.

The day started out chillier than a normal July day, but the day ended up being great for athletes competing in a race that consisted of a 300 Meter Swim, 15 K Bike and a 5 K Run. The Sprint Triathlon, 15 years of age and older, had 31 Individual Triathletes of all levels and 1 Relay Team. Overall Male was Lincoln Murdoch, 56, from Omaha, NE with a time of 53:41 minutes. Overall Female was Sandy Collins, 51, from Hiawatha, KS, with a time of 1:05:54. The 2nd Annual Super Sprint Triathlon, 7-14 years of age, a race consisting of a 150 Meter Swim, 2 Mile Bike Ride and a 1 Mile Run, had 13 Individual Triathletes and 4 Relay Teams. The Overall Male was returning champion Tyler Boswell, 14, Hiawatha, KS, with a time of 23:00 minutes. Overall Female was returning champion Elizabeth Kettler, 12, Hiawatha, KS with a time of 23:15 minutes. Final results for all athletes are listed.

The success of this event is due to the cooperation of Sheriff Randy Houser and his deputies, Jim Gerweck and Brian Dixon and their crew from the Richardson County Emergency Management, the Falls City Ambulance Squad, the Falls City Aquatic Center lifeguards, and to the Volunteers who take the time to come and help, whether they are recruited prior to the race or being recruited the day of the race. To the sponsors who feel it is important to support this event, also to the families who come and cheer their athletes on to the finish.

Next year’s triathlon is set for Saturday, July 26, 2014 – start your training today.

Rocky road ahead for Farm Bill, but still doable

LINCOLN, Neb. — Farm-bill politics this year reflect the broader political dynamics in Congress these days – the triumph of ideology over consensus, said a University of Nebraska-Lincoln public policy specialist.

The Republican-controlled House of Representatives finally approved a new farm bill earlier this month, but one that stripped out the food-stamp provisions that have been part of the package for decades. The House bill now heads to an uncertain future in conference with the Senate version, which includes the nutrition elements.

It's likely to take many months to sort out, perhaps going past the ostensible Sept. 30 deadline to the "real" Dec. 31 deadline, said Brad Lubben, UNL public policy specialist.

The political environment has changed, Lubben said. Redistricting of House districts has made many of them less competitive between the parties.

"Redistricting has left us with fewer competitive races and some members have to worry more about their primary races than the general election," Lub-ben said. In that environment, members from both parties are likely to take their cues from their respective political bases. That leads to increased ideology and less bridge-building consensus.

Lubben pointed out that while conservative Republicans are taking the heat for the House's split of farm and food legislation, liberal Democrats, too, have contributed to the current standoff.

"Politically speaking, the food side of the coalition abandoned the coalition too. ... Back in June, the food side was arguing they shouldn't take any cuts and the farm side should shoulder all of the proposed budget cuts," Lubben said.

That bill proposed less than 3 percent in cuts for food programs and more than 10 percent in cuts for farm and conservation planks. It still didn't get enough Democratic support, Lubben said.

As for what happens next, House Republicans are suggesting action on a nutrition-only bill that could also become part of the farm-bill conference process. If that fails, they could go into conference without an official position on the nutrition package. That could put them in a weak position in negotiations with Senate colleagues, Lubben said.

Lubben said a nutrition-only bill that could get House approval likely would have even bigger cuts than the bill proposed in June, meaning it would draw few Democrats' votes. But any package that emerges from conference with both farm and food-program planks is likely to be "a bill that (House Republicans) like even less" than what they've previously opposed.

"It seems clear that the final version from conferencing with the Senate would be something left of what the House passed in July and probably left even of what they failed to pass back in June," Lubben predicted.

Still, many conservatives are getting exactly what they sought, Lubben said. "Far right interest groups pushed for separating

2.0 INFORMATIONAL ITEMS/REPORTS

2.1 Staff/Student/Organization Reports: Kent Stutheit, Falls City Band Director was present at the meeting and spoke to the Board about the Band program, the recent trip to Branson for the Senior band members, and the various ways he is working with the students to get them involved and helping to make the band program more successful. Mr. Stutheit stated that he has replaced the band trip which was held every four years for the entire band with an annual trip for the Senior band members only. He hopes this will do away with the increase in members just prior to the trip and the sudden decrease in members after the trip is over.

2.2 Principal Reports: There were no reports from the Principals at this meeting.

2.3 Board President's Report: President Hollens stated that he appreciated the report from Band Director Kent Stutheit and appreciates his positive attitude.

President Hollens stated that Board member Kathy Bartek will be greatly missed and that she was an extremely good Board member. Due to the death of BOE member Kathy Bartek, a vacancy on the Falls City Board of Education was created on June 23, 2013. The office vacated was that of a School Board member. The term of this position will expire January 2017.

The Falls City Board of Education is soliciting applications for this position on the Board and interested individuals may contact the Central Office with questions or visit the District website at www.fctigers.org. Applicants are asked to deliver a letter of interest which states why he or she wants to become a Board member, why he or she thinks he or she would be a good Board member, some personal background on himself or herself, and proof that he or she is a registered voter.

The Board has set a special meeting to review the applications for July 22, 2013 at 7:00 p.m. at the Superintendent's Office at Middle School.

The District's primary grounds mower, originally purchased in 1999, needs to be replaced. Southeast Nebraska woods

The woodlands of southeast Nebraska contain a rich diversity of tree species, including many that cannot be found anywhere else in the state.

Indian Cave State Park, located in the steep Missouri River bluffs in Nemaha and Richardson counties, is well-known for its fall foliage – but its trees can be just as fully appreciated on a spring or summer hike. Several types of oaks, including bur, chinkapin, red and black, dominate the upland slopes as an overstory while smaller trees like American hophornbeam and redbud fill in the understory. The occasional shagbark hickory is unmistakable with its namesake gray, peeling bark somewhat resembling a leaf-spring from an old pickup.

In the lowland areas along rivers and streams, giant cottonwoods and pillar-like hackberries make a walk through the woods seem more like a stroll through a cathedral. Silver maples and green ash shoot toward the sky like leafy fountains, shouldering each other in competition for space and light. These fast-growing trees are a far cry from their domesticated cousins that have gained a poor reputation as limb-dropping, seed-spewing shade trees. In the woods, these trees live fast and grow close, taking on a completely different appearance and form.

An under-appreciated woodland closer to Lincoln is the aptly-named Oak Glen Wildlife Management Area just north of Garland. Bur oaks form the gnarly old bones of this 633-acre wilderness, which likely represents the largest remaining stand of native woods in Seward County. A truly massive cottonwood, hidden along the creek bottom, can be seen if you're willing to walk through a couple hundred yards of cedar-infested forest from the parking area on the southern end of the property.

Wildlife Management Areas are a great place to start if you're looking for some solitude in the native woods – just remember to be aware of hunting seasons both for your own safety and for the consideration of others using the area. A quick check of satellite imagery, available widely online, can give you a reasonable guess as to whether there are woods worth the drive. The best bets would be WMAs located in Richardson, Otoe or Nemaha counties.

Wilderness Park in Lincoln is the most familiar place to see riparian forest for most Lincolniters, and it certainly has some nice trees within the forest. Look for several large American elms in the southern end of the park, survivors of the Dutch elm disease that killed so many of the iconic street trees in cities across the country.

Perhaps no other town in Nebraska is as well-situated within the woods as Peru. The college bills itself as the "Campus of a Thousand Oaks" and it's not an overstatement. The small city is so nestled into the hilly oak forest that it can be difficult to tell where the street trees end and the woods begin. Steamboat Trace Trail runs past Peru to the east; it's one of the best ways to see the native forest in the hills.

While it's an easy matter for most to identify a bur oak or cottonwood while walking the woods, unless you know what you're looking at, it's easy to miss a black oak, bitternut hickory, bladdernut, pricklyash or paw-paw unless you're either very experienced or have a good tree ID book at hand. Most public libraries have several good resources available. Get a book as specific to the region as possible – and color pictures can make things a lot easier.

Nebraska may be located in the heart of the Great Plains, but woodlands have found niches throughout the state, especially in the relatively wetter southeastern corner of Nebraska. So take a walk in the woods today. They're not as far away as you think.
