Judge sets bond at $1.5 million for alleged shooter; two others arrested

Desiderio C. "Desi" Hernandez, 34, of Falls City, appeared in Richardson County Court Friday, charged with attempted first degree murder in the alleged Aug. 4 shooting of his cousin, 31-year-old Joseph Debella Jr. Hernandez is in custody, held on a $1.5 million bond and a preliminary hearing is scheduled for Aug. 24.

Authorities believe Hernandez fired the gunshot that struck Debella in the head late last Tuesday night, Aug. 4. Police found Debella on the basement floor of a home at 1418 Morton St. in Falls City (directly east of FC Middle School) and he was eventually flown to Lincoln's Bryan Trauma Center West. The Kansas City, KS, man remained in critical condition as of Monday night (Aug. 10).

Police launched a regional manhunt for Hernandez in the early morning hours of Wednesday, Aug. 5, and by that evening had traced him to a residence in Horton, KS.

It was a wild Saturday night for southeast Nebraska. The National Weather Service issued two tornado warnings for Richardson County within a couple hours of each other. The first came at 8:56 p.m., when a possible tornado-producing storm was located near Humboldt. There were some reports of damage north of Humboldt and a tornado touchdown. The second tornado warning came at 10:33 p.m. for the east-central portion of the county. Earlier in the night, a tornado touched down just after 9 near Elk Creek. This image was captured shortly after the second tornado warning on the north edge of Falls City. The storm was part of a larger complex of severe storms that tore through southeastern Nebraska and into Iowa and Missouri.

Walk, Don't Run
By: Nikki McKim

Just when I'm starting to feel like myself, I get tired, winded and miserable. Pneumonia is no joke, it sticks around. But for me there is an upside to pneumonia and that is the fact that I have not smoked since about 1:05 p.m. on Wednesday, July 30. I have tried to quit smoking a few times before, especially a little over a year ago when my beloved uncle Danny had a life threatening heart attack. While in the hospital, he grabbed my hand and made me promise to quit smoking. I truly took it to heart, and when we returned to Nebraska, I gave it a shot.

While trying to quit smoking last year, it lasted about two days. I always found an excuse. Work has always been my major excuse. I was so stressed and needed to be allowed that one vice. It was just too hard and I didn't want to deal with it at that point in time. I took the easy way out.

Smoking felt good. I won't lie, I will admit that I looked forward to that first cigarette in the morning as I drove to work. It was both a habit and an immense pleasure. Sure, when I went to a hotel-I asked for a non-smoking room and hated to have to take the elevator downstairs and stand out front, sometimes in a scary area of whatever city we were in. I hated getting up during Royals games to find a designated smoking area that was always really far from my seat. I really hated having to get up from the couch in my own house to go outside to smoke. But, I loved having something to do when I drove. Going to St. Joe by myself was a breeze because my Basic Lights kept me company. If I drove late at night, no problem because I had something to do to stay awake. I like smoking and that is a huge problem.

The first few days I really didn't realize that I wasn't smoking. I was focused on trying to sleep and get control of my pain. Thursday came and went, then Friday and Saturday and no cigarettes. Then came Sunday. I went in to work to get some stuff done so I wasn't behind on Monday. I was sitting in the office working and I stood up and started walking towards the door reaching for my pocket. I stopped and thought about what I was doing. I was going outside to smoke. It was such a habit that I did it without even thinking. I stopped and went back to my seat and back to work, I wasn't upset.....yet.

As the week went on it started to get harder. The better I felt from the pneumonia, the worse the cravings got. Work got a bit stressful and I wanted a cigarette badly. I remembered that the last time I tried to quit I had bought a vapor electronic cigarette. So I dug it out and used it, but with a non-nicotine cartridge. It's just straight vapor. When I felt the urge to smoke, I would grab that and take in a few deep breaths. With the vapor device, I can see the vapor and it feels or looks like I am smoking. It isn't the best way to go, but it's what is working for me right now.

When the weekend came around I was glad I wouldn't be as tempted. I usually don't smoke as much while I'm at home so I thought the weekend would be easier. On Saturday afternoon Brian and I decided that I needed to get out of the house for a bit. So we drove to Hiawatha to get a late lunch. It was a real test, being in the car for that long and not smoking was brutal. I had to really focus on everything else. I stayed engaged in conversation and really listened to the sports talk radio hosts. It was a long 25 minutes, but I had made it. The ride home was easier, but there were still moments of reaching for the cigarette pack that wasn't there.

Saturday night was the worst night so far. I had some ice cream and a large dinner and there is nothing I love more than to eat a large meal with ice cream and step out to smoke. It just felt so good to me. I struggled and decided to clean the house instead. I would clean in spurts because the pneumonia that still remains left me drained after only a few moments of being up on my feet. (But if you want to come by my house this week, it's really clean and organized.) Sunday was much of the same, crave and clean, crave and clean, crave and clean. Some people have gum, jaw breakers or eating-for me I clean. The only problem with cleaning was finding all the packs of cigarettes I gave Brian to get rid of. He hid them thinking there was no way I'd find them but I did. That was rough seeing all of those gorgeous cigarettes screaming my name. My crutch, my friend and constant companion. The thing that had been there for so long and was always there, especially in the hard times. I have such a long history with cigarettes that it feels so unusual for me at this moment not to have one in my hand right now.

I won't sit here and claim that I have quit smoking. I feel that I have made wonderful progress this time. It's been nearly two weeks and someone told Brian that it gets easier after two weeks. My friend Chelsie told me that it takes 21 days to start a new habit. If I continue on this path, my habit will not be going outside to smoke or smoking in the car. I feel very confident that this will be my time. No more embarrassment by being caught smoking. No more smelling like smoke and no more racing heart. I know this opens so many doors for me and is great for my health. I am starting to see the light at the end of the tunnel. It's honestly one of the hardest things I have ever done and I so wish that I had never even started smoking but I did. A few weeks ago someone told me that I don't look like someone who would smoke. He said he wouldn't have guessed it. It kind of hit me right in the gut. I have never classified myself as a 'smoker,' but I was. I was dumb for a really long time and I hope to celebrate my 32nd birthday in a few weeks completely confident and one-hundred percent smoke free. For now I'll keep fighting. I loved smoking, I really did. I thought it was great, so if I can get through this and stop-anyone can. Maybe give it a try and see how it feels. So far I think it feels pretty good and I hope it will only get better.

Cecil Is Dead and Human Lives Are Threatened Every Day

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Don't get me wrong. I'm a cat person. My wife and I have two longhair domestic felines with whom I would not part. I support Ernie Chambers' proposed ban on hunting Mountain Lions. My high school mascot was the mythical Bearcat.

But people, let's get over this killing of Cecil the black-maned and well-loved lion (read that tourist attraction) in Zimbabwe.

Yes, we have heard that a dentist in Minnesota allegedly killed the lion and that the Zimbabwe government has arrested and charged the two local guides who baited the lion to come out of the protection of a wildlife refuge. The dentist is in hiding and the accusations and the headlines continue.

Yes, it's wrong. Baiting animals for the kill is illegal in Nebraska as well. Although, it does seem strange that it's OK to tree a mountain lion and shoot it for sport if the "lucky" hunter wins the lottery for a license to kill.

But what about the 4,800 people who were killed by Ebola last year? And the hundreds of Christians being slaughtered in the Middle East? Or the 200 missing school girls in Nigeria and the 43 male students missing from a school in Mexico? What about the 10 men on death row in the Nebraska prison system?

The issue here is ... there are other issues. Matters of the life and death of humans.

Advancements have been made in the treatment of Ebola. There were twice as many cases reported, as there were deaths, so something is working.

As for the Christians being slaughtered, the recent beheadings of 21 Egyptian Copts has led others to flee. Some say as many as 700,000 Christians have left Syria where they once numbered 1.1 million. Others have faced enslavement, torture, massacre or crucifixion.

The missing school children are seemingly unfathomable in this country. Yet we are told that kids go missing every day, some in custody disputes, some to sex trafficking, some just running away. They rarely make national headlines, but it is happening.

As for the 10 on Nebraska's Death Row, it seems that their individual lives are being overlooked as attention focuses on a group trying to undo a ban on capital punishment passed by the Legislature this year. Nebraskans for the Death Penalty have until the end of August to get enough valid signatures of registered voters to bring the matter to a vote of the people in the 2016 general election.

Election laws require that the group needs to collect signatures of at least 5 percent of the voters in each of 38 of the state's 93 counties. If they collect 115,000 signatures by the end of August, they can prevent the ban from taking effect before the election. The measure, passed by an override of Governor Pete Rickett's veto, takes effect 90 days from the date of the override.

Lawmakers were given fair warning that a veto was coming.

Ricketts was given fair warning that the Legislature would attempt an override. He vetoed, they overrode the veto. But it was only a matter of days before the petition group formed and the governor invested $100,000 of his own money and $100,000 of his dad's money in the effort. He recently donated another $100,000 to the Nebraskans for the Death Penalty.

Granted, that's not illegal. The governor can do whatever he wants to with his own money. But am I the only person in Nebraska who sees a dangerous precedent here? If things don't go your way, just throw some money at it and "buy" the results you wanted.

I know that there are those who believe that corporate America has bought Congress. But folks, right here in Nebraska?

One has to wonder why the governor is so intent on the death penalty that he had the Department of Corrections buy the drugs to perform lethal injections in spite of the Legislature's action. Drugs, I might add, that have yet to be delivered and may not be FDA approved.

What other issues do you suppose the governor is so serious about that he is willing to buy the outcome he wants?

What does that attitude do to the division of power? If legislative decisions can be changed with personal funds from the chief executive, where is the citizen's voice?

THINKING ABOUT HEALTH

Patients want drugs now, but at what risk?

By Trudy Lieberman, Rural Health News Service

As new drugs and medical devices are developed, it’s understandable that the public, always in love with new technologies, want to use them. They also want them to be safe, and most people think they are. It comes down to a balancing act that will soon be tested in Washington.

In the fall the U.S. Senate is likely to approve legislation that shifts the scales more in the direction of getting “cures” to market faster, and that could be a big step backward in regulating medical devices---things like breast implants, coronary stents and artificial knees.

The 21st Century Cures Act sailed through the House of Representatives in July on the premise that need outweighed the risk of inadequately tested products. Dr. Rita Redberg, a well-known cardiologist at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center, told me, “the emphasis has been on getting drugs and devices on the market quickly, not on making sure they are safe.”

In a New York Times op-ed Redberg wrote, “The bill would severely weaken not strengthen, the FDA’s already ineffective regulatory scheme for medical devices. The device industry, may stand to benefit from this legislation, but the health of the public does not.”

What does the legislation, pushed by the $110 billion device industry and patient advocacy groups, do? In a nutshell it changes the way FDA approves new drugs and devices. Manufacturers of so-called “breakthrough” devices would be able to submit evidence of safety and efficacy based on sources other than clinical trials, the gold standard. In other words, with a clinical trial scientific evidence determines whether a new product can be sold.

Under the 21st Century Cures Act a manufacturer could submit evidence that a device is safe and effective based on case histories; that is, it could offer the experiences of individuals that a new product should come to market. If patients showed some benefit, manufacturers could submit those experiences to the FDA.

According to Redberg, the proposed law would mean “anecdotal evidence rather than scientific studies, could be used to approve drugs and devices.” She told me, “This will result in a lot of dangerous drugs and devices on the market with no evidence. Allowing case studies as the standard is crazy. It lowers the data standard to non-existent.”

To understand what’s happening, you have to go back to 1997, another time when the same coalition of drug and device makers, patient groups, and Washington think tanks interested in deregulation convinced Congress to lower the approval standards. It reduced the number of clinical trials to establish safety and efficacy from two or more to one or more and allowed device companies to select and pay for-profit firms to review their products instead of the FDA---a sort of fox-in-the-hen house arrangement.

Redberg’s work shows there are fewer trials. A 2009 study published in JAMA showed that 65 percent of pre-market approvals for cardiovascular devices were based on a single study, and those studies were often prone to bias and lacked strength. John Fauber, a reporter at the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, has documented deaths and injuries resulting to patients who’ve taken cancer and diabetes drugs that were approved under the 1997 looser standards.

If the current legislation passes, device makers could conduct the more rigorous trials to see if their products really are safe and effective after they’ve already been on the market. This is hardly foolproof. Sometimes trials are delayed for years after a product is sold, and many are never completed.

What’s troubling about all this is the lack of critical discussion of the proposed changes in the media and elsewhere. There has been, however, plenty of commentary and op-eds supporting the 21st Century Cures Act. “You’d think Mother Teresa had written this bill considering the overwhelming praise it’s getting,” says Gregg Gonsalves, a research scholar at the Yale Law School.

In the Huffington Post TV personality Katie Couric, a former F.D.A. commissioner and the founder of a disease advocacy group claimed the legislation “does not reduce safety standards.” They talk about “genetic analysis” and “newly discovered biomarkers,” to evaluate new drugs, but don’t mention products could be marketed without clinical trials.

As our standards for drugs and devices take a U-turn, the death of Dr. Frances Kelsey who died in early August at age 101 should remind us what happens when marketing trumps safety. Kelsey was the F.D.A. official who kept the drug thalidomide off the U.S. market because of safety concerns.

No one wants another thalidomide scandal, but what are we willing to risk to sell drugs and devices faster perhaps without sufficient testing? Have you had experiences with unsafe drugs or devices? Write to Trudy at trudy.lieberman@gmail.com

Nebraska State Patrol investigators brought out all the tools in search for evidence outside a home at 1418 Morton St. last Wednesday, hours after they allege “Desi” Hernandez fired the gunshot that struck and critically wounded his cousin, Joseph Debella Jr. The bullet hit Debella in the head and police found him on the basement floor of the home. He was flown to a Lincoln hospital, where he remained in critical condition as of Monday night.

Two others allegedly tampered with scene

People there were alerted between 8:30 and 9 p.m. via a group emergency text message, the convicted felon refused to exit the house, and a more than five-hour standoff ensued. The ordeal came to a loud but mostly peaceful end at 2:15 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 6, when tear gas and flash bombs prompted the suspect to surrender.

Hernandez walked with a noticeable limp when being led from the scene and a family member told The Journal Hernandez needed stitches to close a minor wound. He was taken to Brown County (KS) Jail and then transported to Falls City for Friday’s court appearance.

Hernandez and Debella, according to another cousin, Benita Howard, of Ottawa, KS, grew up together in Wolcott, KS, and were “very close.” Hernandez has lived in Falls City for several years, but Debella had only been here visiting for about a month, according to Mrs. Howard.

Howard, on behalf of the Hispanic family, urged area citizens to avoid a rush to judgment and asked that people refrain from posting hateful, racist remarks on social media outlets.

“We don’t know what happened,” Howard said. “We are praying it was an accident, and praying Joey pulls through.”

Initial reports of the shooting occurring after midnight Wednesday, Aug. 5, were contradicted by yet another extended family member, who wished to be unnamed. The Journal’s source said the 9-1-1 call came before midnight. The person knew this, they asserted, because they were the ones who actually made the call.

Since then, two men, allegedly in the home at the time of the shooting — 29-year-old John Hall, of Shubert, and Brett Winters, of Falls City, who had his 19th birthday Friday — have been arrested in connection with the case, accused of tampering with evidence. Authorities say Hall was on the ground floor when he heard the shot go off, and then removed drug-related items, including a scale, from the scene.

This is not Hernandez’ first rodeo: He’s been charged with attempted murder before. In early July 2013, authorities said Hernandez cut the throat of Damon Gates with a razor knife during at altercation at a residence in Falls City. Months later, after accepting a plea bargain from Richardson County prosecutors, he was sentenced by First District Judge Daniel Bryan to three years of intensive supervised probation on a felony charge of assault in the second degree. Said probation will most likely be revoked.

In June 2014, after successfully completing work ethic camp in McCook, and not yet a full year after sneaking up on a man and cutting his throat, Hernandez walked free. Days served in the Nebraska Dept. of Corrections: Zero.

ALICAP returning $1.3 million to schools, including Falls City PS

The All Lines Interlocal Cooperative Aggregate Pool (ALICAP) Board of Trustees is proud to announce that it is returning $1.3 million back to member school districts, including Falls City Public Schools, and educational service units for the 2015-16 school year in the form of a dividend.

ALICAP is an insurance program that was formed by the Nebraska Association of School Boards in 1990 for the purpose of covering Nebraska schools. During that formation there were six fundamental promises established.

Stabilize the marketplace; Provide enhanced coverage; Supply a customized loss control program; Deliver claims management and allow district input; Offer competitive pricing and Return Surplus to the owner districts/ESUs

ALICAP provides property, liability, errors and omissions, auto, and workers' compensation insurance to school districts and ESUs that choose to join.

ALICAP is formed under Nebraska's Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, which allows participating members to pool its assets together to provide insurance services to its members. This pooling concept has proven to be a success as $16,413,884 million has been returned back to schools and ESUs in the form of a dividend since 1990. This concept of shared risk management has demonstrated cost savings for Nebraska schools, ESUs, and tax payers.

Each member district/ESU is an owner of the ALICAP pool, and when the pool has a surplus from any given year, those dollars may be returned to the owners, instead of the traditional insurance provider's stockholders.

ALICAP provides coverage to 158 school districts and ESUs in Nebraska, and is governed by school board members and administrators. "I'm proud of ALICAP and what we've been able to do for Nebraska's schools," said Megan Boldt, Director of ALICAP.

Hearing From You This Month
By U.S. Senator Deb Fischer

The dog days of summer are upon us. Families in Nebraska are enjoying the final few days of vacation before children head back to school and the crisp fall air rolls in. This time of year is always exciting for me because I am able to travel across Nebraska and visit with you. Your voice guides my work in the U.S. Senate, and is my most important source of information.

During the month of August, I will hold over a dozen listening sessions across the state. These sessions are important opportunities for Nebraskans to share their questions, suggestions, and concerns with me directly. The forums will take place in cities throughout Nebraska, including: Omaha, Lincoln, Wayne, Ainsworth, Chadron, Alliance, Scottsbluff, Sidney, Imperial, McCook, North Platte, Broken Bow, and Beatrice. You can find more information on these listening sessions in your local newspaper, by visiting my website, or by following me on Facebook and Twitter.

At each listening session, I will begin with an update on my work in the Senate during the first seven months of the 114th Congress. For the first time in several years, the Senate advanced a bill to authorize funding for important transportation projects for the next six years. I have strongly advocated for a long-term highway bill since my first year in office. By working closely with key transportation stakeholders in Nebraska, we were able to reduce burdensome regulations, keep goods moving, and improve support for rural communities. This bill will be a crucial step forward in providing greater certainty and economic relief to our state, our businesses, and American families.

In July, the Senate also passed important legislation to put education decisions back in the hands of Nebraska families and our local communities. The bill, known as the Every Child Achieves Act, would end the Common Core mandate by letting states determine their academic standards without interference from Washington. This legislation replaces Washington's "one-size-fits-all" bureaucracy with real reforms. Parents, teachers, and our communities will be empowered to determine the best policies. Future generations will also be able to gain the skills they need to succeed.

I also want to hear your opinions regarding the Obama administration's nuclear agreement with Iran. Since this deal was announced, many Nebraskans have contacted me to express their apprehensions about this deal. They are right to be concerned. As your elected representatives in Congress, I have the responsibility to spend the next month examining and debating this agreement.

As I review this deal, it's become clear that the reality is not matching the rhetoric. The terms fail to satisfy the president's watered-down threshold of "where necessary, when necessary" for inspections of Iranian nuclear sites. I believe the administration needs to spend more time addressing this and the real options we have at our disposal. So far, we have been presented with false predictions of how any opposition to the agreement will lead to war and offend our allies.

These are just a few highlights of my work over the past few months. I look forward to visiting with you and discussing the positive progress we have made. The input I receive from Nebraskans is an essential component of this ongoing conversation. In addition to my Nebraska listening sessions, I will be holding several meetings and roundtable discussions on a variety of important issues. I hope that you will be able to join me at one of these events this month.

Thank you for participating in the democratic process. I look forward to visiting with you in person during the month of August.

National Safe Digging Day today

An underground utility line is damaged every six minutes, meaning that ten times an hour, a potentially dangerous and quite costly incident causes a utility outage for anywhere from one customer to an entire neighborhood, business park or factory.

Don’t be a statistic: take just a couple of minutes to hear a message so important that it has its own day. National Safe Digging Day (811 Day) is today, Tuesday, Aug. 11, serving as an important reminder that everyone, whether a homeowner with a shovel or a professional excavator with an earth-mover, must Call Before You Dig.

Call 811 two to five business days before you dig to have underground utility lines marked for free by professionals using flags, spray paint or both. In Nebraska, call 811 toll-free to reach Nebraska One-Call to schedule your visit. You also can schedule online at www.nelcall.com.

Black Hills employees will be visiting construction crews around the state today to provide information on safe digging, and the public is invited to learn safe digging practices by visiting Earl May Nursery & Garden Center in Lincoln or Omaha.

“No matter the size of job you are planning, digging without knowing the location of underground utilities can result in damages to gas, electric, communications, water and sewer lines that may affect neighborhood service, require costly repairs or even result in widespread, serious injury,” said Jeff Sylvester, Black Hills Energy’s vice president for Nebraska gas operations. “Even small jobs like planting a tree require a call to 811.”

Even if you had your lines marked before, call again to have them located before every project. Erosion, the freeze/thaw cycle, drought or flooding and root growth can alter the depth or location of buried lines. Your utility companies also may have completed work on their lines that you are unaware of since the last time you dug.

Visit <http://www.blackhillsenergy.com> for more information about 811, safe digging practices, how to save money by saving energy and other energy-related services and information. Don’t make a judgment call, make a phone call. Know what’s below. Every time you plan to dig, call 811 two to five working days before you begin.

Parental involvement often results in school success

By Sarah Purcell
NE Extension Educator

School will be in session in just a couple days now. In the excitement of the new school year, it may be time to review your involvement in your child’s education.

Research shows the importance of strong parent involvement in education. Academic achievement for children and schools is linked to parental involvement and meaningful partnerships in all areas of school and community life. So it’s important for you to get involved!

Increasing numbers of two breadwinner families, one-parent families and parents who hold more than one job makes time an issue for almost everyone. However, in spite of our busy lifestyles being involved is still very important. The following are a few suggestions.

Daily family routine.

Provide a home environment that supports learning including giving the child time and a quiet place to study, assign responsibility for household chores, be firm about bedtime so your child gets a good night’s sleep, have dinner together, and make sure your child eats breakfast in the morning.

Out-of-School Activities.

Set limits on TV watching, check up on children when you are not home, and arrange for after-school activities and supervised care.

Value Self-Discipline, Hard Work

Communicate through questioning and conversation, and demonstrate that achievement comes from working hard.

High, but Realistic, Expectations

Set goals and standards that are appropriate for your children’s age and maturity, recognize and encourage special talents, and inform friends and family about successes.

Encourage Progress in School

Maintain a warm and supportive home being positive about school and learning, show interest in children’s progress at school, help with homework as needed, discuss the value of a good education and possible career options, maintain open channels of communication with teachers and school staff, and attend parent-teacher conferences regularly.

Encourage Discussions

Read to your children daily - research shows the benefits of at least 15 minutes of reading to each child daily, listen to your children read, and discuss what you are reading.

Gordo Nation on Thursdays

Merz Country Sunday

Ultimate Funday Sunday: Silas meets, Gordo greets

The Tanner Shelby Merz Foundation - and the Falls City community - was well represented and easy to find among the 36,000 or so fans in Royal blue Sunday afternoon. All decked out in orange, Gordo Nation became Merz Country and witnessed the Royals' 5-4 series-sweeping win over Chicago.

Speaking of the Royal All-Star and Gold Glove left fielder, Alex Gordon may be riding the pine and resting an angry groin injury another month while KC cruises to its first Division title since 1985 (12-game lead and AL's best record last I checked), but he's still Fan Favorite No. 1, particularly to young Huskers.

Take Silas Amanullah (right), 10-year-old son of Sara Amanullah Ruiz and soon-to-be South School fifth grader, who just experienced a time in his life he will never forget - and the TSMF made it happen. His mom won the "Alex Gordon Meet & Greet"

NEW FARM LISTING: Currently accepting offers on this Brown County, Kansas farm. 80 acres more or less with 46.86 cropland acres, 13.0 acres of grassland, and 17.5 acres of timber. Legal description: E/2 SW/4 Section 15 Township 1 South, Range 15 East.

at this summer's TSMF "Memorial Cruise" auction and Silas, as well as Marc and Sally Merz, met Gordon and the other players and coaches under Kauffman Stadium after Sunday's victory.

"He was smiling all day and was quite bashful when he walked up," Sara said. "He's speechless right now. He is such a great kid he deserved to meet him."

And Gordon's a great guy, as well as a great player; one KC will not let leave via free agency this winter, right? He's helped mold this team on the field as much as GMDM has on the waiver wire. On the field - and in the clubhouse. Shortstop Alcides Escobar came around to shake hands, they met Manager Ned Yost and Silas took a good-natured bump on the noggin from pitcher Danny Duffy, even though Danny had kind of a rough afternoon.

"We're so glad TSMF had this up for auction and we would do it again!," Sara said.

The TSMF is "a non-profit organization working toward safety in athletics for our youth today and in years to come by bring awareness to TBI (Traumatic Brain Injury)."

The Foundation was established in honor of Tanner Merz, 21-year-old son of Marc and Sally, who passed away tragically in a car accident on March 30, 2013.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this day in 1934, the first federal civilian prisoners landed on Alcatraz, a 22-acre rocky outcrop situated more than a mile and a half offshore in San Francisco Bay. It was designed to hold the most dangerous prisoners, especially those with a penchant for escape attempts. Later that month, more ship loads arrived, featuring, among other convicts, infamous mobster Al Capone. In September, George "Machine Gun" Kelly, another luminary of organized crime, landed on Alcatraz.

ASBESTOS NOTIFICATION

Asbestos is an issue we have been dealing with for many years. The Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act of 1986 (referred to as AHERA), was enacted recently by Congress. AHERA was enacted to determine the extent of and develop solutions for any problems schools may have with asbestos.

To give you some background, asbestos has been used as a building material for many years. It is a naturally occurring mineral that is mined primarily in Canada, South Africa, and the U.S.S.R. Asbestos properties made it an ideal building material for insulation, sound absorption, decorative plasters, fireproofing and a variety of miscellaneous uses. There have been over 36,000 different products made using asbestos materials. EPA began action to limit uses of asbestos products in 1973 and most uses of asbestos products as building materials were banned in 1978.

We have had our facilities inspected by a certified asbestos inspector, as required by AHERA. The inspector located, sampled and rated the condition and hazard potential of all material in our facilities suspected of containing asbestos. The inspection and laboratory analysis records were turned over to a professional certified firm to develop asbestos management plans.

An asbestos management plan was developed for our facilities which includes: this notification letter, education and training of our employees, a set of plans and procedures designed to minimize the disturbance of the asbestos containing materials (ACM) and plans for regular surveillance of the ACM.

Falls City Public School, complying to this plan, removed all of the friable asbestos from its buildings. Some floor tile containing asbestos still remain.

A copy of the asbestos management plan is available for your inspection in our administrative offices during regular office hours. Mike Kafer is our asbestos program coordinator and all inquiries regarding the plan should be directed to him.

We have implemented the asbestos management plan. We are intent on not only complying with, but exceeding federal, state and local regulations in this area. We plan on taking whatever steps are necessary to insure your children and our employees have a healthy, safe environment in which to learn and work.

MISSING CHILDREN IDENTIFICATION ACT

The law requires all new enrolling students to provide; 1) a certified birth certificate, or 2) other reliable proof of the student’s identity and age accompanied by an affidavit explaining the inability to produce a birth certificate.

and Demi Cox; and other relatives and friends.

Visitation will be at the funeral home from 1-8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 11, with the family greeting friends 6-7:30, and beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday, until time of the service.

Milton L. ‘Bud’ Gilsoul

Milton L. “Bud” Gilsoul, 92, of Green Bay, WI, died Wednesday, Aug. 5, 2015. He was born on Nov. 3, 1922 in Green Bay to the late Gustave “Gus” and Mary (Babiash) Gilsoul.

As a young man, he attended Green Bay East High School, graduating in 1941, and then served in the US Army during WWII in the 29th Infantry Division (“Blue and Grey”), 116th Combat Team, Co. B, 111th Field Artillery Battalion. Bud’s division was part of the second amphibious wave of assaults on Omaha Beach in Normandy, France, in the early morning darkness of Operation Overlord, aka D-Day: June 6, 1944. The boat, navigating in rising tides and under heavy fire, landed far from of its intended target, and though their exact casualties are unknown, Bud was one of the one-third to one-half who made it to shore and spent the rest of the day pinned down by snipers at the water’s edge (“It was a nightmare,” he said). But by day’s end, 155,000 Allied troops had successfully stormed Normandy’s beaches.

At a tremendous cost. According to the National Archives, the 16th Infantry suffered 797 of the 29th Division’s 928 casualties at Omaha Beach, with 341 killed in action, 241 WIA and 26 men MIA — on June 6, alone. By comparison, the other two Regiments of the 29th combined suffered 41 dead and 89 wounded over the course of the entire three-day assault. Some 2,500 Americans, and 9,000 Allied soldiers, were killed during the invasion of Omaha Beach, and another 6,700 US men were wounded in the historic turning point of World War II, which brought on the beginning of the end for Hitler and the Nazis.

Bud received the Arrowhead Medal, as well as five Combat Stars. He was honorably discharged in 1945.

After the war, he was employed at Bay West Paper for 29 years. Bud was a member of St. Mary of the Angels Catholic Church and enjoyed visiting with everyone and “seeing the little ones.”

Bud is survived by a niece and three nephews, including Rick Lemerond, of Falls City, and his children, Alicia (Jason) Schock, of FC, Rachel (Ryan) Baumert, of Lincoln, and Brian (Jessie) Lemerond and Abby (Austin) Merz, all of FC; along with cousins and friends.

He was preceded in death by sister, Ethel Lemerond; and good friend and neighbor, Laura Pautz.

A funeral service was held Saturday, Aug. 9, 2015 at St. Mary of the Angels Catholic Church, with full military honors following at the church. Burial in Allouez Catholic Cemetery. Memorials to the MS Foundation for Bud’s great-nephew, Kyle.

Craig L. Davis

Craig Lynn Davis, 61, of Shubert, passed away Wednesday, July 29, 2015 at his home. The son of Alice Davis and stepson of Leonard West, he was born April 1, 1954 in Auburn.

He attended Parsons District 80 rural school near his home and Southeast Nebraska Consolidated Schools in Stella.

On June 9, 1975, Craig was united in marriage to Mary Maddox in Humboldt by Rev. Ward Merritt. They made their home in Nemaha until 2005, when the couple moved to Shubert.

Craig’s work included welding at Auburn Machine Works, working outages at Sutherland Power Station and other plants, and hiring on at Cooper Nuclear Station near Brownville. He worked in utility maintenance at Cooper until his health would no longer allow it.

A man of many talents and interests, Craig’s leisure time varied accordingly. He was a former member of the Nemaha Volunteer Fire Dept., and in his early years he enjoyed camping and fishing. You could find him working in his vegetable garden or sitting on the front porch watching ball games across the street in Shubert. Craig enjoyed drives in the country, working on cars, and listening to music from the 50’s and 60’s. On occasion, Craig liked to sit at the Centerfield Bar near his house and visit with family and friends. He was a good carpenter, and completely remodeled their home in Shubert. Most of all, Craig was a family man, and enjoyed the company of his nieces and nephews in addition to his wife, son, and grandson.

Mildred L. Mayfield

Mildred LaVerne Mayfield, 99, of Nemaha, died peacefully on Saturday, Aug. 1, 2015 in Cedar Falls, IA. She was born to John and Vere (Hoover) Shafer on the family farm on Aug. 16, 1915 — she was just two weeks from celebrating her 100th birthday with family and friends.

She spent her youth on the farm attending McCandless rural elementary school and graduated from Shubert High School in 1932. Upon graduation from Peru State College, she taught high school math and home economics at Elk Horn and Brock, and later became County Home Extension Agent, living at Weeping Water. She also attended the University of Nebraska for graduate studies.

On Nov. 24, 1946, she married Bob C. Mayfield. They devoted their lives to raising their five sons on the family farm. When the family grew to include daughters-in-law, 18 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren, they continued the same love, faith and support that was the hallmark of their lives. The much-anticipated family gatherings were always the highlight of their year.

Bob and LaVerne spent the first seven years of their married life farming in the Louisville area until they relocated, in 1953, to the Shafer family farm where she grew up. LaVerne loved the Nemaha Christian Church, where she was baptized and was a lifelong member, and where she devoted many years to teaching and leading the youth group. She also gave of herself throughout her life to the support of 4-H clubs and community organizations and activities. Bob and LaVerne dedicated their lives to their church, their family and their community.

LaVerne and Bob spent winters in their retirement years in Harlingen, TX, where they enjoyed square dancing, cards, golf and many other activities. She loved socializing with friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband of 55 years; and her sister, Elaine Holdorf.

Survivors include five sons and daughters-in-law, John (Sheila). of Auburn, Bob (Carol), of Cedar Falls, IA, Steve (Peggy), of Syracuse, Ronald (Pamela), of Vonore, TN, and Vern (Pamela), of Highland Village, TX; sister, Marilyn Keithley, of Falls City; 18 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Funeral service was Friday, Aug. 7, 2015 at the Nemaha Christian Church. Burial followed at the Nemaha Cemetery. Visitation at Hemmingsen Funeral Home, Auburn, was Thursday. Memorials are suggested to family choice.

Bobbie Wilson

Bobbie Wilson, 80, of Falls City, passed away Wednesday, July 22, 2015 at the St. Elizabeth Regional Medical Center in Lincoln. She was directly cremated and a memorial service will be announced at a later date.

She is survived by her husband, David B. Wilson, of Falls City; children, David (Joanne) Wilson Jr., of Funk, NE, Brenda (Daniel) Judy, of Deshler, and Leetta Hafner, of Kearney; nine grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; other relatives and friends.

Hall Funeral Home of Falls City, is in charge of arrangements.

Don E. ‘Jiggs’ Mullins

Don Edward “Jiggs” Mullins, 83 of Salem, passed away Wednesday, April 22, at his home in Salem. He was born on Nov. 30, 1931 in Stella, one of eight children born to the late Clyde E. and Opal S. Mullins.

A graveside memorial service at Maple Cemetery in Salem was held Saturday, Aug. 8, 2015, with graveside Military Honors provided by the Falls City Ceremonial Honor Guard. The family requests in lieu of flowers, memorials be given to family choice.

Jiggs was raised around Salem and in 1949 graduated from Salem High School. In May 1949, he enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard.

On March 23, 1958 he married Ruth Frederick in Salem.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth of Salem; son, Keith (Donna) Mullins, of South Duxbury, VT; three grandsons, Jeremy, Nathan and Troy Mullins; brother, Jerry (Evelyn) Mullins, of Ames, IA; sisters, Phyllis Davis, of Jacksonville, FL, Karen Kanatzar and Dixie Trusty, both of Kingman, AZ; close family friends, Lonnie and Kim Goff and their family, other relatives and friends.

Hall Funeral Home, Falls City, was in charge of arrangements.

Make the most of sale season

Fall can be an ideal time of year for homeowners to tackle home improvement projects, as the moderate temperatures make for ideal conditions to work in and around the house. In addition, many retailers offer consumer-friendly sales in autumn, helping homeowners to save money.

As early as September, many stores begin stocking their shelves in advance of the holiday season. As a result, stores look to unload summer and fall seasonal items. The following are just a few types of items homeowners might find at reduced prices this fall.

Lawn and garden

If you want to revamp your backyard, wait until late summer or early autumn to do so. At this time of year, you can find great deals on patio furniture, lawn mowers, perennials, shrubs, sheds, and many other lawn and garden items. In addition, check with local contractors to see if they will offer discounts late in the season. Tree-removal companies, landscapers, fence installers, masons, and others may cut prices in mid- to late-autumn as they look to earn a bit more money before the arrival of winter.

Snow removal

Retailers looking to move snow blowers, shovels and other winter accessories may offer teaser deals to attract customers. It's best to purchase such tools now before the first big storm drives up demand.

Cooking appliances

Manufacturers typically introduce new stoves, cooktops and other cooking supplies in advance of the holiday season. Older models may be discounted to make room for the new arrivals, and you may be able to score even bigger savings on floor models. If renovating the kitchen is in the works, wait until early autumn to start appliance shopping.

Painting supplies

The weekends surrounding Labor Day and Columbus Day are also great times to find deals on home improvement, as retailers know customers have extra time to complete projects during these long weekends. Paint, rollers and other supplies may be discounted on such weekends, and you also may find discounts on power tools.

Vehicles

If you are in the market for a new SUV or truck to transport your home improvement project supplies, autumn is a good time to visit a dealership. Many dealerships liquidate their inventory in autumn to free up space for new model releases about to hit the market. Come autumn, you may find it easier to negotiate financing and leasing deals.

Homeowners can save on home improvement projects and other needs by taking advantage of late-summer, early-autumn discounts.

School Days Around the World

Students in countries all over the world are excited to be starting a new school year. Read the fun clues, then match each one to the country it describes.

1. strict dress code that even limits hair styles; sometimes pack lunches in 'bento' boxes: rice, meat, soup and vegetables

2. boys and girls in separate classrooms; enjoy spiced meat and noodles for lunch; some live far away so a bus with books is used to reach them

3. students have the same classmates from grades 1-10; no uniforms, students told to dress warmly; schools serve beet soup, bread, meat and a grain

5. in southern hemisphere so summer vacation is December and January; lunch: meat pies, egg and lettuce sandwich

6. school year is January to December, with a month break each semester; classes are in one of three languages: Hausa, Yoruba or Ibo; bread, vegetables and fruit for lunches

The Best Beginning
Wisdom is more than intelligence, top grades in school, or street smarts.
We think of wisdom as seasoned insight, learned over time.
The Bible says true wisdom is that, but more: true wisdom comes from God.
Seek wisdom this week in church.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

Opera Omaha Chorus in Brownville Sept. 13

The Brownville Concert Series is proud to present the Opera Omaha Chorus, with guest soloist John Moore, the star of Opera Omaha’s October presentation of The Barber of Seville, in concert at 2 and 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13 at the Brownville Concert Hall. We give special thanks to Richard D. Holland, John and Mary Lauber and Carl and Jane Rohman for helping to sponsor these concerts.

Baritone JOHN MOORE, a recent graduate of the Metropolitan Opera’s Lindemann Young Artist Development Program, makes his Opera Omaha debut this September in the 2015 Opera Outdoors Concert at Turner Park in Omaha’s Midtown Crossing. He returns to the Company in October as Figaro in Rossini’s comedy, The Barber of Seville, at the Orpheum Theater. His recent engagements include Moráles (Carmen) and Nachtigal (Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg) with the Metropolitan Opera and Count Almaviva (Le Nozze di Figaro) in his debut with Atlanta Opera. Since making his first appearance at the Metropolitan Opera in 2007 as Fiorello in The Barber of Seville, he has gone on to sing more than eight roles with the Company in such operas as Peter Grimes, The Magic Flute, Madama Butterfly, Billy Budd, Francesca da Rimini, Giulio Cesare, and Andrea Chénier. Mr. Moore is a native of Spencer, IA.

For more than 55 years, the OPERA OMAHA CHORUS has performed in more than 50 operas, including the world premieres of Anthony Davis’s Wakonda’s Dream in 2007 and Paul Moravec’s Blizard Voices in 2009. Under the current direction of Chorus Master J. Gawf, these professional musicians from Omaha, Lincoln and the surrounding communities have worked with such esteemed conductors as Hal France, Nicholas Cleobury, Christopher Rountree, and Steven White. They have also collaborated with such creative teams as Joan Font and the Comediants and James Darrah and Chromatic.

These concerts will delight audiences with some of opera’s most beloved melodies, including Figa-ro’s famous entrance aria, “Largo al Factotum,” from Rossini’s The Barber of Seville, the Toreador’s song (“Votre toast”) from Bizet’s Carmen, the barcarolle (“Belle nuit”) from Offenbach’s The Tales of Hoffman, the famous “Humming Chorus” from Puccini’s Madama Butterfly and more. Dipping into the worlds of operetta and musical theatre, there will also be highlights from Gilbert and Sullivan’s The Mikado and The Pirates of Penzance, Mitch Leigh’s Man of La Mancha and Rodgers and Hammerstein’s classic, Oklahoma. Not to be missed—these concerts are sure to provide a little something for everyone.

Concert tickets are $19 ($15 for students). To purchase tickets online go to www.brownvilleconcertseries.com or call 402-825-3331. Stay overnight at the River Inn Resort and get a 10% discount on tickets. Eat dinner at the Lyceum before the show. This Series is a program of the Brownville Fine Arts Association. The Nebraska Arts Council (www.nebraskaaartscouncil.org), a state agency, supports this program through a matching grant funded by the Nebraska Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts and the Nebraska Cultural Endowment.

50 Years Ago
(Aug. 3-10, 1965)

Falls City Chamber President E.R. “Dick” Baker presented trophies to FC Riding Club Queen Cheryl Kirkendall and 4-H Fair Queen Kay Duey at the annual Horseplay Days Horse Show held at City Park.

In Rulo news, it was announced that Gary Jones was an overnight guest of Norman Olson.

Forty-four of the 387 students (289 female; 98 male — can you say “KEG-GER?!”) enrolled at Peru State for the fall of ‘65 were residents of Richardson County: Louis Fritz and Ruth Harkendorff, of Verdon; Thelma Stalder and Marleen Mehlin, of Humboldt; Stephen Miles, Violet Sailors, Elaine Schwartz and Barbara Young, from Falls City; Carolee Heim and Irene Ogle, of Dawson; Lois Jones and Bonnie Linderman, of Salem; and Carol Voegel, of Rulo.

The federal minimum wage was increased $.50, up to $1.25 per hour. That included 700,000 or so farm workers, who had never before had any kind of wage protection.

Mary Schroedl was the Richardson County 4-H Style Champion and Pam Tubach was Reserve Champ at the 4-H Fair Coronation at Prichard Auditorium.

Larry, Glen and Dale Gatz were top Showmanship Award winners at the 4-H Pavilion at City Park.

Mr. and Mrs. A.O. Shafer opened the Lakeview Drive-In at Verdon Lake.

Thousands of people across the midlands and southwestern U.S. reported seeing “mysterious flashing, twinkling and sparkling” phenomena across the night skies. Gov’t officials had no comment.

Congressman Clair Callan announced a $262,000 rebuild of the FC Post Office building, with 50 percent new space and a loading dock. “The expenditure envisages a Falls City which will grow to seven or eight thousand in population in the next 20 years,” he said. Furthermore, traffic lights were going up at 16th and Harlan Streets.

Frank Reavis pled guilty and was fined $10 for speeding, and made the front page of The Journal for doing so.

Mike Castle hit .316 with a couple dingers and pitched to a 1.17 ERA, striking out 76 batters to just 20 walks. Likewise, Jim Cummings threw to an ERA of 1.78 and Bob Stone fanned 50 while walking 15. The team, though, finished 9-10 because Castle was the lone batter to hit over .200! The team batting average was .167 and they struck out a collective 204 times. (NOTE: This all according to The Journal; I wasn’t even born yet, so leave the phone where it lay.)

25 Years Ago (1990)

The upcoming marriage of Tracy Lynne Baumert, daughter of Pat Baumert, of Falls City, and Dale Baumert, of Fremont, to Sean R. Gerety was announced to be held Sept. 15 in New Fairfield, CT.

The Jim Hills Jr. Midget team, coached by Ron and Dan Hill, were tourney champs, led by Brian McKim, Korey Schawang, Ryan Chaffee, Aaron Hill, Paul Rue, Brad Olberding and Jason Hillyard. AI’s Barber Shop, coached by Tom Zimmerman and Marty Froeschl, tied Hill’s for the season trophy. They were led by Scot Hartman, Ed Loubey and Davis Beekman. And bat boy Lucas Froeschl.

Gas prices had jumped 15 cents since Iraq’s invasion of Kuwait. Politicians were furious when it hit $1.20 a gallon in Nebraska, accusing oil companies of “profiteering.” SAY IT AIN’T SO! In related news, NU Coach Tom Osborne tried to turn down a pay raise that increased his annual salary to $114,000. Also, according to Freddie Mac, the average cost of a fixed-rate mortgage dropped to 9.84 percent. (Good news?)

Brian McRae, son of Royals Hall of Famer and Manager Hal McRae, hit a triple in his first MLB at-bat in front of more than 27,000 at Royals Stadium. KC lost 5-3 to the White Sox and fell 18 games behind Oakland in the West. (You’ll get yours, A’s — “Bunch a &%* fools,” as Hal would say.)

1990 Lil Miss, Mister Cobblestone candidates: Mitch and Drew Foster, Adriene and Daniel Werner, Mitch Witt, Dustin Mez, Mariah Ann Thomas, Hayley Milam, Ashton Lampe, Katelyn Huppert, Jenna Frederick, Brandi Olberding, Jessica Stevens and Adriene Werner.

Dr. Terry Symonds and Kim Goff met with the County Board to discuss a Volunteer Ambulance Squad crisis - where there were once 63 volunteers, there were now 29.

FCSH Girls’ BB Coach Dennis Prichard and his star forward, Julie Froeschl, participated in the annual NCA All-Star Game at the Devaney Center. Froeschl hit her one 3-pt. attempt and scored seven, but Prich’s South Team fell, 75-68.

It was announced that a Radio Shack was seeking an existing retail business in Falls City to talk business.

FC Care Center announced that Val Buckminster was one of just six (out of 663 employees) Lantis Enterprises Regional Leadership Award winners.

Fifteen teams of walkers raised more than $12,000 for the American Cancer Society’s Relay For Life at Jug Brown Stadium.

The City Council voted to make the Electric Dept. reimburse the Parks Dept. $12,832 for renovations made on the Pee Wee ball field.

Burdeen Prater captured her 29th FCCC Ladies’ Golf Title (shooting 77 Saturday to lead by seven strokes at halftime) and the following Monday the ladies’ No. 11 tee box was dedicated in her honor.

Notice was given that a recall election involving four members of the Village of Stella Board of Trustees was to be held the following month.

Stork Report: Son, Aug. 8, to Dan and Kristi Schawang, of FC; daughter, Aug. 4, to Rex and Pat Frazier, of Holton, KS; son, Aug. 5, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns.

Book documents farming in Nebraska

In Commemoration of the 150th Anniversary of Nebraska statehood, the AKSARBEN Foundation is sponsoring a new book that will document farming throughout the state and, in particular, celebrate generational family farming through the Pioneer and Heritage Farm Awards program. Acclaim Press, one of our nation’s leading publishers of commemorative history books, has been commissioned to oversee this landmark project.

The book, Nebraska’s Historic Farms, is being written by a team of Nebraska’s most prominent historians, and will include regional histories, crops, technology, and more. In addition, a special section will showcase biographical profiles (with photos) of family farms that have received the AKSARBEN Pioneer and Heritage Farm Award, in recognition for maintaining their family farm for 100-150 years.

In addition, all Pioneer and Heritage Farm owners will have the first opportunity to purchase Nebraska’s Historic Farms before it is offered to the public. These books will sell out quickly, so if you want one for yourself, or as gifts to others, or know someone who might want one, reserve your copies by the Oct. 15, 2015 deadline.

Brochures describing the book in detail, with information on how Pioneer and Heritage farms in Richardson County may be included at no charge, is available at the Extension Office in the Courthouse in Falls City.
