Main Street First Phase Underway

Construction of the First Phase of Main Street's Downtown Revitalization Project in Falls City, put on hold in July, got underway on the south side of 17th Street between Stone and Harlan Streets, immediately following this year's Cobblestone Festival.

AHR'S Construction, lead contractors on the project, were scheduled to begin the six-week-long First Phase in July, but due to some concerns with the depth of ductwork below the street, decided to pull off the site until adjustments to the plans could be made.

"My understanding is that when the contractors were on site, they had the telephone company (Southeast Nebraska Communications) locate their fiber optic cable which runs parallel to the sidewalk on the south side of 17th St.," City Clerk Gary Jorn said. "The contractors concern was the location of the original ducts in relationship to the new planters being placed in the Main Street project."

The planters will be used for flowers and trees that are part of the new design.

Jorn noted that the exact depth of the ductwork was not in the plans and added that was normal procedure on projects like this.

Once concerns were voiced, Jorn said City employees teamed up with Southeast Nebraska Communications to locate the depth and that information was passed along to Kirkham Michael Engineers, the Omaha-based engineering company in charge of the plans.

Ray Joy with SNC explained that the ductwork sitting below the street is 40-50 years old and contains the new fiber optic cable SNC installed in 2009. The design plans call for a retaining wall to be built almost directly above where the ductwork runs. Joy went on to say the duct sits approximately two feet below the ground and the retaining wall is to be built to a depth of three feet.

AHR'S Construction Project Manager Jerry Stallbaumer said the original plans showed only a television line running under where the retaining wall is to be built, but said there were many more cables than anticipated and that adjustments to the plans were needed before his crew could begin. Stallbaumer noted that the adjustments were minor and no major setbacks are expected in the other phases of the project.

Authorities seek 35-year-old man

Authorities in Richardson and Nemaha Counties in Nebraska have issued arrest warrants for 35-year-old Paul Fouraker, on charges of failure to appear and failure to register as a sex offender. Fouraker is also wanted in Brown County, KS, as a person of interest in criminal activity.

Fouraker is 6-foot, 250 pounds, has a shaved head with a red goatee beard. He wears glasses, has blue eyes and has tattoos on his arms, chest and on the left side of his neck. Citizens knowing Fouraker's whereabouts are urged to contact the Sheriff's Office at 402-245-2479.

New charter, name for FNB&T

Phil Burns, Chairman of the Board of Directors of First National Bank and Trust Company, has announced that First National Bank has filed an application with the Nebraska Department of Banking and Finance to convert the bank from a National Bank Charter to a State Bank Charter, with a new name of F&M Bank.

It is anticipated this change will occur later this year.

It is important to note that, while this conversion will change the bank's name, ownership of the bank is not changing and bank personnel will remain the same. The conversion will have little effect on the day-to-day operations of the bank. Aside from the name change, customers should not experience much if any change in their relationship with F&M Bank. Customers' account numbers will remain unchanged, and all electronic transactions will continue uninterrupted after the merger.

The F&M Bank will continue to operate as a local independent bank, not a branch of another bank, with Falls City and Richardson County as its banking focus and will continue to be an excellent corporate citizen committed to investing in the community to promote growth and prosperity.

The bank invites its customers and friends to stop by or call if they have any questions or concerns regarding the conversion.

Milestone for Cancer Fund

Since its inception in January 2006, the Richardson County Cancer Fund, Inc., has paid out 250 benefits totaling $102,400, said President Peggy Davidson, who added that "the need continues."

Mrs. Davidson provided some history. In 1993, Nellie Hoffman of Humboldt bequeathed $56,00 to the American Cancer Society to help people in Richardson County who had been diagnosed with cancer. Her money was used to create hospice care rooms at Community Medical Center, the Humboldt Hospital and In-Home Health Care. This fund provided PSA screening tests at the Health Fair for 10 years and provided over 100 cancer patients with $300 for transportation costs when they traveled out of the county for therapy.

The Hoffman fund has been depleted. But Nellie Hoffman's generosity inspired a local group, including Mrs. Davidson, Tony Brunette, Jo Crawford, Sandra Hartman and Kelly Carpenter to organize the Richardson County Cancer Fund, Inc. This charity is a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation, 501(c)(3), chartered in the state of Nebraska. All money donated to this fund is tax deductible.

"What makes the Richardson County Cancer Fund, Inc., unique is that all of the money donated and collected will remain in Richardson County to help cancer patients with travel expenses when their cancer treatments take them out of Richardson County," Mrs. Davidson said.

She explained that to qualify for travel expenses, a person needs to be a resident of Richardson County and diagnosed with cancer. The original expense outlay was $300. In January 2009 the benefit amount was increased to $400. The organization's goal of $500 for each cancer patient to help with expenses was met in January 2012.

If traveling outside of Richardson County for cancer treatment continues for more than one year, a second application may be made 12 months from the date of the first application.

"The high incidence of diagnosed cancer in Richardson County affects us all," Mrs. Davidson said. "Because Richardson County is in a rural area, the recommended cancer treatment is often only available in metropolitan areas. Therefore, we believe that every resident of Richardson County diagnosed with cancer deserves help with transportation costs."

Benefit forms are available at Falls City Family Practice, Family Medicine in Falls City and Humboldt, the outpatient department at Community Medical Center, and from Tony Brunette at First National Bank and Mrs. Davidson at 402-245-3070.

The present officers of the Richardson County Cancer Fund, Inc., are: Mrs. Davidson, president; Sandra Hartman, 1st vice president; Kelly Carpenter, 2nd vice president; Jackie Johnson, secretary; and Brunette, treasurer.

Speaker Flood exploring run for governor

By Scott Schock

Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature Mike Flood was in Falls City last week as part of a tour of the state in which he is exploring the possibility of a 2014 run for governor on the Republican ticket.

Flood, Nebraska's youngest and longest-serving Speaker, received a boost later in the week from U.S. Sen. Mike Johanns, the former Nebraska governor and U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. While not formally endorsing Flood, Johanns spoke very highly of him in a story in the Friday, Aug. 31, issue of the Omaha World-Herald.

As Speaker for six years, Flood said he has been "on the front lines" of "every major state issue." He said he understands the issues and the budget and likes "finding solutions without regard to (political) party." The key, he said, is finding "common ground."

"I want to continue that," Flood said.

During his tour, Flood said he has found support for a gubernatorial run.

"I believe in the Legislature" and that, "at the end of the day, people are there to do what's right," said Flood. "I love working in that environment." He added that he believes Democrats in the non-partisan Unicameral "would say they can trust me."

During a time when many states were wrestling with bud-

From the vault:

*Marvelous Jarvis, the Big Red juice, hand him the ball and turn him loose.
When Redwine makes the turn downfield,
Missouri will know its fate is sealed.*

Obviously, someone here at the Journal had way too much time on his hands to come up with the above, which was shared with then Journal city and sports editor Del Sutherland, who included it in one of his columns. My mind tended to wander during the fall and it took a real walk in the autumn of 1980, when, to the best of my recollection, the verse appeared. Apparently, typing bowling scores and the latest bridge club report brought on a severe case of daydreaming.

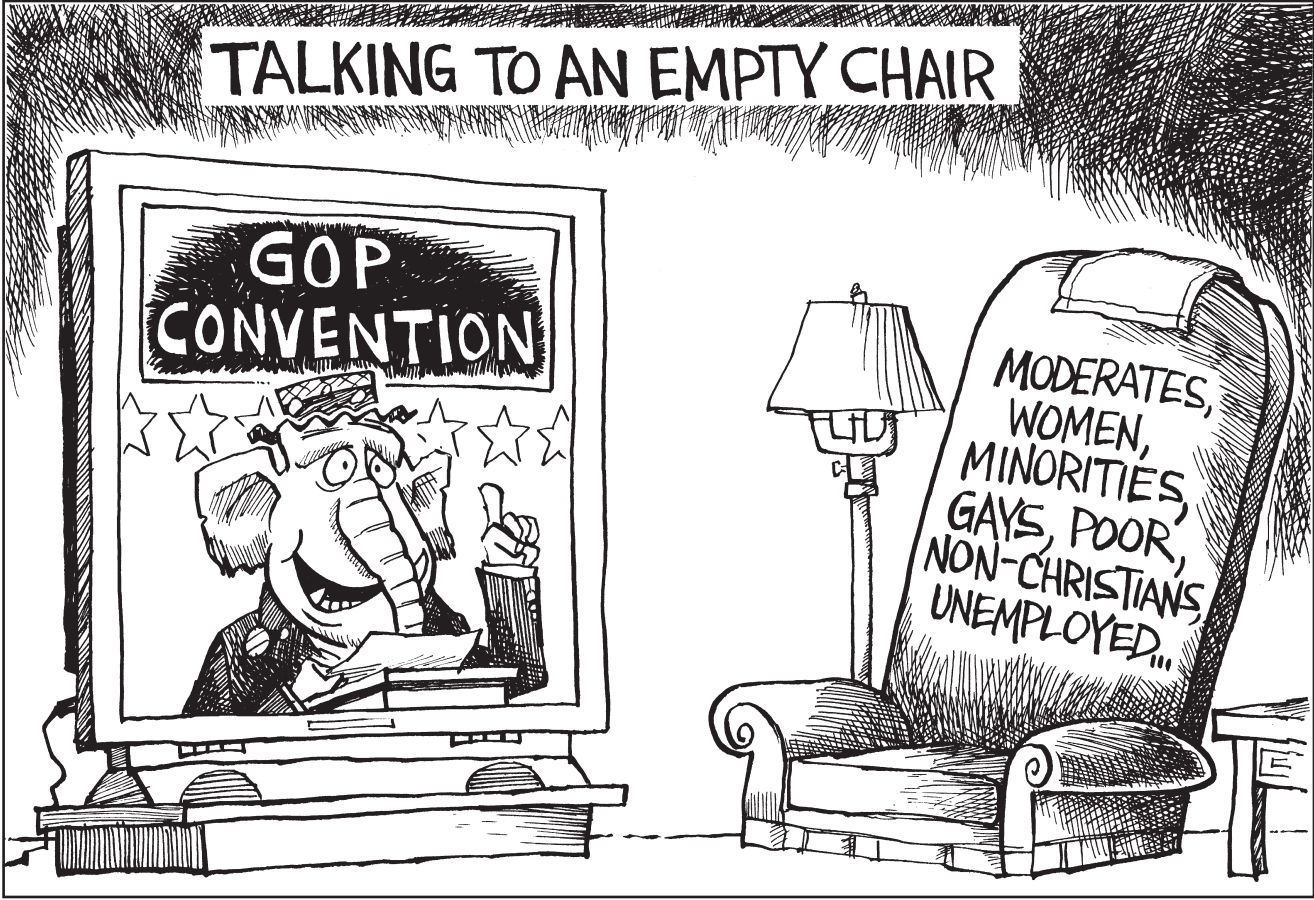

Jarvis Redwine made an All America team or two that year. He also shared top honors in my quest for the greatest name in Husker history. The co-No. 1? I.M. Hipp, of course. Hipp played I-back at Nebraska a couple of years before Redwine (both were on the team in '79) and is listed as one of NU's all-time leading rushers.

A couple of "Thunders" were mentioned in my informal poll. A local guy recalled Bill "Thunder" Thornton, who played fullback and halfback in the early 1960's, when Nebraska again became relevant in college football after a long siesta. Then there was Thunder Collins, whose name provided more promise than actual impact. Last I read, Mr. Collins was in prison after a drug transaction went bad and bullets flew.

Two Husker historians submitted one of the truly great names ever to grace a Saturday program: Wonderful Monds. He went by "Wonder" and was an All America defensive back in 1975. These two guys also came up with Constantine Dumitrescu, Watshidimba "Patrick" Kabongo, Tobi Okuyemi, Monte Cristo, Mark Goodspeed, Adi Kunalic, Leodis Flowers, Bob Sledge, Harry Grimminger and Nate Swift. No one submitted Danny Noonan, even though that name later played a prominent role in the movie, "Caddyshack." I kind of expected to see Toniú Fonoti, Charles Toogood or one of the Makovickas. Maybe even Harry Tolly.

I remember most of the names that were submitted, but not all. Constantine Dumitrescu threw me for a loop. Archie Cobb is a name from Husker past. I believe he played center and know he punted in 1960. Lyell Bremser used to rave about Archie's booming punts. That was about all there was to celebrate until Bob Devaney arrived in Lincoln in 1962. No coaching names were provided, either. I think I'd have to go with Dana X. Bible. Carroll Zaruba has always been one of my favorite Husker names. He played fullback in the late 50's. Honestly, the list could go on and on. Remember Zaven Yaralian? Or Joe Blahak? How about Fred "Zippidy" Duda? Richie Incognito could have been a star except for his anger issues — issues that still plague him.

The current crop of Huskers includes a couple of unique names, including Jack Gangwish, Mohammed Seisay, Ameer Abdullah and Jared Afalava. A new one cropped up during Saturday's season-opening win. I'd not heard of Tyler Wullenwaber, a sophomore receiver who is one of the fastest guys on the team. Also new to me is Murat Kuzu, a redshirt freshman from Rex Burkhead's old stomping grounds in Plano, TX.

Stop me if you’ve heard this one before...

On a day when the big news from the Nebraska State Fair was a record-breaking number of classic tractors in a parade, a long-awaited debate between two U.S. Senate candidates seemed a bit anti-climactic.

Former Nebraska Governor and U.S. Senator Bob Kerrey, a Democrat, squared off with State Senator Deb Fischer, a Republican, in a 90-minute main event before an estimated 2,000 people in the Heartland Events Center on the fairgrounds in Grand Island. Almost immediately after both sides had declared victory, debate about the number of remaining debates – if there are any – resumed. The Kerrey camp wanted seven. The Fischer folks have agreed in principle to perhaps two more.

The two former Lincoln residents – Kerrey graduated from Northeast High School and Fischer from Southeast – might as well have engaged in a discussion about whether the Northeast Rockets or the Southeast Knights would win the next head-to-head inner-city football game, for all the things that weren't said ... but you knew somebody had them on the tip of their tongue.

Kerrey appeared to be following the playbook of predecessor Governors– turned–U.S. Senators, Jim Exon and Ben Nelson, by touting a Centrist stance. The late Exon and Nelson are both Democrats who were recognized for their middle-of-the-road ability to make things happen – both at the statehouse and in Washington.

"We're not going to be able to get this done unless we move to the middle," Kerrey said. He promised to cross party lines and be a challenge to the Democratic leadership and an annoyance to the Republicans.

Fischer planted her feet firmly as a conservative touting less government involvement and no tax increases.

Kerrey spoke in favor of health care reforms and financial reforms adopted by Congress after discovery of unregulated practices on Wall Street. Fischer said she would vote to repeal Obamacare as well as financial reform laws she says are hurting community banks.

In brief questioning by reporters, someone asked if Kerrey's absence from Nebraska for the last 10 years made him a Carpetbagger. He said there was no name-calling the first time he left the state and returned to a hero's welcome as a decorated and disabled veteran of the Vietnam conflict. Fischer avoided being dragged into the fray by acknowledging only that Kerrey is the Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate seat from Nebraska.

Did we mention that Fair officials assembled 1,140 tractors for the parade to set a new world's record?

Speaker Flood

get shortfalls (Nebraska’s was about $1 billion), Flood said he “knew we had to make some tough choices,” and “we did.” One of the differences in the Nebraska approach involved a willingness to work together. “I’m glad we stayed away from the partisan rhetoric and made-for-TV disputes.” In some states, he said, the “wounds will take a long time to heal.”

Flood said Nebraska’s lawmakers settled on budgetary adjustments that were “fair to cities, taxpayers and employees,” solutions that the state can point to as a source of pride for years to come. “We were all on the same page,” he explained.

With an improving state economy, Nebraska is again operating with a cash reserve, a rarity in recession years.

Speaker Flood described state infrastructure as “a big deal to me.” He noted construction of the much-needed new bridge at Rulo and said the need for a Nebraska Expressway and natural gas production are among his top issues. Another issue he is “really focused in on” is state income taxes. Flood said neighbors Kansas and South Dakota are “doing some very creative” things in regard to taxes and that Nebraska can learn from those states.

In his travels, Flood said he’s noticed communities in western Nebraska “really feel disconnected” from eastern Nebraska. “I want to improve statewide communication” so that the people of the state can “learn about each other” and promote one another; tourism would be an example in which improved communication could be beneficial throughout the state.

Flood said he had visited the offices of Southeast Nebraska Communications in Falls City and came away impressed with the company’s Fiber To The Home project. Internet broadband is vital for rural areas, Flood said, SNC has that “problem solved.”

He described the company’s efforts as “amazing.” Major phone companies in the state are simply “not making those kinds of investments.” Yet, “bar none,” fiber communications service is the “most needed development” in the next 20 years, not only in Nebraska but throughout the Great Plains.

Job creation, bringing people back to rural areas, broadband and increased economic activity are issues the people of Nebraska care about, said Flood. He said he’s had a “great reception” as he’s traveled the state, doing a lot more “listening than talking.”

Flood said he liked what he saw in Falls City. “What’s impressive about Falls City (development) is that so much is private investment. No one’s waiting for the cavalry to come in — people are doing it themselves.”

Flood, whose home is in Norfolk, and his wife, Mandi, are the parents of two children. He was accompanied to the Journal office Wednesday morning by attorney Richard Halbert and former Mayor Rod Vandenberg. Flood said he expects to make a campaign decision after the November General Election.

He said he’s excited about the possible run for governor. “I think I connect with the next generation of leaders, as well as the current leaders. I want to help shape the future of that state. This chance may never be here again,” Flood said.

At the same time, while we feel this project will be very beneficial to us as farmers, we also feel it will be a wonderful enhancement for the City of Falls City, with those enhancements defined very well in Rod Vandenberg’s “open letter” mentioned above.

And, since we all have many good relations with Falls City’s merchants and the people of Falls City, we just wanted our feeling to be known in this way. Thank you.

Reunion

One hundred six relatives, descendants of 14 families who settled in the Dawson area in the late 1880s, attended the 91st consecutive reunion at the Ag Building in Humboldt Sunday, Aug. 12. A dinner catered by Wooden Spoon was served, followed by a business meeting at which President Dan Pleiss announced that construction on a museum building at the site near Dawson would begin shortly.

Genevieve (Ulmer) Young, 90, was the oldest member present, and the youngest was Eli Schafer, 3, of Lincoln. Fran Whited of Newport, OR, traveled the greatest distance while Lloyd and Donna Epley of Coralville, IA, had been married the longest--60 years.

Tours of the recently restored Henry Heim house, site of the museum, were given in the afternoon. A traditional watermelon feed was held at the site on Saturday evening, attended by 50 people, and a breakfast was served in the social hall of the Christian Church at Humboldt prior to the morning services on Sunday. Keith Heim of Lincoln delivered the memorial moment during the services.

Nebraska Territory’s Ghost Counties

Today many Nebraskans live in counties known by different names than they were during Nebraska's territorial years. The first eight counties in the state were Douglas, Cass, Dodge, Washington, Richardson, Burt, Forney, and Pierce, all named for prominent political leaders. Six of these names remained unchanged, but Forney became Nemaha County, and Pierce became Otoe County. In 1855, five counties which no longer exist were set up—Greene, McNeale, Jackson, Izard, and Blackbird. Later Nebraska had a Calhoun County, a L'eau Qui Court County, and a Shorter County.

Two other long-forgotten counties dating to territorial days were Morton and Wilson, created by act of the territorial legislature and approved January 6, 1860. Morton County was named for J. Sterling Morton, then territorial secretary; Wilson was named after a land office official. “At that time,” said the Lincoln Evening News in a January 25, 1903, review of the counties’ history, “Nebraska [Territory] included all the territory north of Kansas between the Missouri river and the Rocky mountains, extending to the British possessions. The western boundary began at the northwest corner of Kansas and extended northwestwardly along the summit of the Rockies to the British line.”

The News said that the two counties were located about 200 miles northwest of Fort Laramie, now in the state of Wyoming, “and it is intimated that their formation was due to the ambitious projects of railroad promoters. In the legislative act the boundary of Morton county is given as follows: commencing at a point fifteen miles up the A-la-Prelle river, emptying into the North Platte river from the south; hence in a northerly direction down the A-la-Prelle river to its mouth across the North Platte and to a point fifteen miles in a northerly direction from the North Platte; thence fifty miles in a westerly direction to the Sweet Water river to a point fifteen miles from where the Sweet Water river empties into the North Platte river, thence in a southerly direction down the Sweet Water river, crossing the North Platte, to a point fifteen miles from the North Platte in a southerly direction and from thence fifty miles east to the place of beginning.”

Morton County, on paper at least, was thirty miles wide and fifty miles long. “Wilson county lay half north of the western extremity of Morton county and half still farther west. It was exactly the same dimensions, . . . It extended to within probably a hundred miles of the summit of the Rocky mountains.

J. Sterling Morton, for whom Morton County was named, about 1859.

“The laws creating these two counties made it the duty of the governor to appoint three commissioners for each county, residents thereof, to call elections on the first Tuesday in June 1860, for the election of the several county officers for each. It required that ten days notice should be given of the election, the notice to be in writing and posted up in three public places in each precinct. Each commission was authorized to canvass the vote, issue certificate of elections to the successful candidates and accept bonds therefrom. The seat of government of Morton county was indicated as Platte City, but the law creating Wilson county specified no county seat.”

The News noted that Morton and Wilson counties apparently never organized, due perhaps to their proposed location several hundred miles from any of the then existing organized counties in Nebraska Territory.

Forget-Me-Not

The Humboldt Forget-Me-Not China Club met at the home of Betty Grossenbacker of Bern, KS, with five members and a guest present. The guest was Sharon Hunzeker and she chose to join the club.

The meeting was called to order, the treasurer’s report was given and each member received china as roll was taken. The china was furnished by Mary K. Osterhaus. Betty gave the lesson on using fiberglass to enhance china pieces, a very interesting lesson.

The hostess served dessert. The next meeting will be at the home of club president Carol Wilhelm at 1 p.m. on Sept. 19.

Attend convention

Nearly 600 people from across North America converged on Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, for the 94th International Convention of the International Lutheran Laymen’s League.

The convention was held July 26-28 and included worship, fellowship, spiritual enrichment and much more under the theme, “Sonrise to Sunset “ (Psalm 113.3) “From the rising of the sun to its setting, the name of the Lord is to be praised.”

Some of the key convention highlights were reports on the work that God is doing through Lutheran Hour Ministries around the world, group Bible studies, along with “breakout sessions” that covered a variety of outreach topics to reach today’s culture and train attendees to be mission-minded witnesses for Jesus Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Roland of Falls City and their daughter, Nancy Holder, and granddaughters, Kristen and Kayla Holder, of Ft. Calhoun attended the convention.

Salem man pleads guilty in District Court

James W. Graves, a 28-year old Salem man, appeared in Richardson County District Court Tuesday for a plea agreement hearing on two amended charges of first-degree sexual assault, both of which are class II felony charges.

The court found Graves guilty of the two amended charges and the State dismissed, with prejudice, 10 counts, including two more counts of sexual assault in the first degree, two felony counts of sexual assault of a child, a felony charge of terroristic threats, a felony charge of tampering with a witness and misdemeanor charges of stalking, domestic assault, attempted strangulation and criminal trespass.

According to court documents, between the dates of Dec. 31, 2007 and Jan. 10, 2008 and once again on Aug. 6, 2008, Graves, being older than 19 years of age, subjected a then 14-year-old female to sexual penetration. The dismissed charges all occurred between Jan. 31 and July 10 of 2011.

Graves' request for transfer to the Nebraska Department of Corrections for a sex-offender specific evaluation was approved. Sentencing was scheduled for Oct. 2 and bond was continued.

A class II felony charge is punishable by a maximum sentence of 50 years in prison with a minimum sentence of one year in prison.

Preschool story hour at FCL&A on Thursdays

The Falls City Library and Arts Center will offer a preschool story hour on Thursdays, starting Sept. 6, from 5:30-6:30 p.m. at the library.

Story hour is open to all children ages 3 to 5 years old and not enrolled in kindergarten. Dianne Hinz, Children’s Librarian, will be the story hour teacher. A new theme will be focused upon each week. Children will learn to interact with each other and the library staff through books, stories, games, crafts and other activities.

Your child will learn a love of reading in a child-friendly atmosphere where all children have a space and are always welcome.

The program is free. Children should be registered patrons of the library. Falls City residents support the library through property taxes; non-residents are assessed an annual fee of $10 per child or student, $20 per adult or $25 for a family.

Parents are encouraged to enroll their children now and pick up a schedule of programs.

The American Library Association says, “There is no substitute for books in the life of a child.”

Celebrate Grandparents Day!

The first celebration of Grandparents Day was declared in West Virginia in 1973. Marian McQuade was the woman behind this great idea! She had fifteen children, forty three grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren! Mrs. McQuade kept campaigning for a national holiday for grandparents. She saw her dream come true in 1978 when President Jimmy Carter signed a declaration that said the Sunday after Labor Day would be National Grandparents Day. Hooray! Now get busy and visit, call, e-mail or write to your grandparents. (Remember other seniors too!)

What's It All About?

A pastor told colleagues: "If you frequently say 'my ministry' don't. It's not about you. It's about them and it's about God."

He was right. Excellent ministry, including Mother Theresa, has understood that truth.

This week in church, discover what discipleship really is about.

We do not live to ourselves.

To All Our Friends and Neighbors:

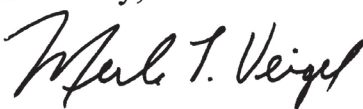

As we proudly enter our 131st year, we want to take a moment of your time to “Thank You” for your past patronage and to let you know about a change we are making at First National Bank and Trust Company.

Recently, we filed an application with the Nebraska Department of Banking and Finance to convert our current National Bank Charter to a State Bank Charter, with a new name of F&M Bank (short for Farmers & Merchants Bank), as we can no longer use the term “National” in our name. We anticipate this change will occur later this year.

To give you some background, as you know, First National Bank has common ownership with F&M Bank in West Point, Nebraska, which converted to a State Charter back in 2010. In recent years, there have been a number of National Chartered banks in Nebraska that have converted to a State Charter. Our main reason for making this change is an economic one. The regulation costs we incur as a National Charter are significantly more expensive than the cost of being regulated by the Nebraska Department of Banking. Also, by making this change, the money we spend for regulation stays in the State of Nebraska.

It is important to note that, while our name is changing, everything else will remain the same! The ownership of our bank is not changing and bank personnel will remain the same. We will continue to operate as a local independent bank, not a branch of another bank, with Falls City and the surrounding area as our banking focus.

We are excited about this change and look forward to continuing to serve our community for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Merle L. Veigel
President

The Ashland-Greenwood Bluejays spoiled Falls City’s 2012 home opener and Tiger head coaching debut of Darin Fritz (inset) Friday with a 26-6 win over FCHS at Jug Brown Stadium. Above, a gang of Tiger tacklers, led by senior Cord Huettner (bottom of the pile), corrals Bluejay junior quarterback Gunnar Garner for a short loss in the second quarter. Garner, though, put up good numbers, completing 7-of-13 passes for 95 yards and a score, and rushing 13 times for a team-high 121 yards. The Tigers will try to snap its current 11-game losing streak (dating back to October 2010) this Friday at Raymond Central, a 42-6 home winner over Douglas County West Friday. Also appearing in the above photo for FCHS: Dylan Ackerman (70) and Jordy Stoller (16). For Ashland: Cash Campbell (54).

Certainly when your team wins by nearly 60 points, one might consider you to be “nit-picky” if you come up with a long list of mistakes your team made rather than focus on all the good, but Falls City Sacred Heart head coach Doug Goltz knows his team must continue to get better if they plan to reach the goals they set for themselves this season.

Sacred Heart out-manned Pawnee City en route to a 65-6 road victory, but Goltz isn’t ready to rain down praises on his team.

“We need to improve from week one,” reads a comment from Goltz on this week’s scouting report for St. Joseph Christian. “Too much arm-tackling, too many guys over-pursuing, not enough physical play versus blocks, too many penalties and a lack of intensity in the second quarter,” the coach, who is in his 25th year at Sacred Heart, went on to write.

Perfection is in the minds of many for this year’s bunch and that same standard is apparent and expected from Goltz.

The Irish, who took their No. 1 ranking with them into the home of a Pawnee City team that had defeated them three straight times by a combined average score of 65-31, played with a chip on their shoulders from the opening whistle.

(TOP) Irish junior Sean Strasheim puts a lickin’ on Pawnee City quarterback Austin Smith just as Smith delivers the ball. Smith was hit hard and often. Sacred Heart sacked Smith four times forcing the Pawnee City coaching staff to pull him late in the third quarter. (RIGHT) Junior Lane Barnhill played in his first game since tearing his ACL last September.

Just three plays in to the game, Irish junior Brandon Schawang recovered a fumble on PC’s 20-yard line and it took only three plays for SH to get on the scoreboard when Lane Barnhill charged in from five yards out. The play was an official, “I’m baaaaaaaack!” from Barnhill, who hadn’t played a down since tearing his anterior cruciate ligament in the Irish’s third game last September. The senior tailback was impressive, carrying the ball 13 times for 94 yards and three touchdowns.

Sacred Heart’s defense then stuffed PC on a 4th and 2 on the Indian’s own 35-yard line and Irish senior quarterback Lane Scheitel found senior end Clay Finck for a 35-yard touchdown pass on the very next play from scrimmage.

Scheitel and Finck would hook up two more times in the first half for touchdowns – once from 12-yards out and again on a 50-yard bomb with just a minute left before halftime. Scheitel finished the game 5-5 for 127 yards and the three touchdowns to Finck.

The Irish special teams then made their mark on the game by blocking PC’s first two punts and partially blocking the third, which set up three more Irish touchdowns – a 2-yard run from Scheitel, a 12-yard pass and catch from Scheitel to Finck and finally a 5-yard run by Barnhill.

Just three minutes into the second quarter and the scoreboard read 36-0 in favor of Gang Green. Pawnee City finally got on the board when senior running back Devon Marteny took a pass 50 yards for a score with 7:54 to go in the second, but it was definitely too little too late for the home team. The Irish would tack on two more touchdowns and a 25-yard field goal by junior Yianni Haralabidis at the horn to take a more-than-safe 51-6 lead into halftime.

Sacred Heart’s defense ransacked the Indians from start to finish. Along with the three blocked punts, the Irish forced and recovered three fumbles, recorded four sacks and held Pawnee City to 49 carries for just 105 yards (2.14 yds/carry). Sophomore Zavan Kirkendall led Sacred Heart with four unassisted tackles and finished with 10 total tackles. Seniors Brody Chandler and Will Burenheide and juniors Jarod Fiegenger, Sean Strasheim and Schawang all played big roles in the victory.

The Irish travel to St. Joseph, Mo., this Friday for a 7 p.m. game with St. Joe Christian (1-1). St. Joe Christian defeated South Nodaway (Mo.) last Friday 50-12 and has established themselves as a dominant force in the state, piling up a 60-13 record since 2006.

Dr. Steve Severin, on behalf of Animal Health Care in Falls City, presents a $631 donation to the Falls City FFA and President Elizabeth Eickhoff. The donation was made possible by the Pfizer Animal Health Program for eligible purchases of Pfizer cattle and equine products. The chapter and its student members can use the funding for help with classroom materials, education opportunities, travel to the national convention and more. “We would like thank Animal Health Care for their support and involvement in this program as well as all the people who purchased the eligible products. The money will be well spent by the chapter going to scholarships for members who may not be able to afford trips like the FFA National Convention,” Falls City High FFA Advisor Brian Miller said.

FFA, Alumni Softball

By Emily Wilhite

On Aug. 5, the FFA held its annual softball game, where members of the chapter were to play against the members of the Alumni. Other than the warm temperature, all in all the day was good full of fun, competition and excitement.

This year’s game turned out to be a good one, with the FFA having a surprisingly large team that didn’t just include the officers! The members tried their hardest but they couldn’t seem to fend off the might of the Alumni.

Even though this was the FFA’s third-straight loss, everybody still had a great time socializing with one another and eating pizza that the Alumni provided for us. Maybe we will have better luck against them next year.

The FFA chapter would like to thank the Alumni for coming out and playing against us and providing everyone with pizza, to Mr. Miller and officers for taking the time to organize the event, and to the members who tried their hardest to lead us to victory (even if we lost).

FC Invite this Saturday in Auburn

A busy 10-day stretch for the Falls City High softball team ended with a 1-2 record at the Auburn Tournament this past Saturday. The Lady Tigers defeated their first opponent, Omaha Mercy, 10-0, and then dropped their final two games to Wymore Southern (1-0) and Bishop Neumann (4-2).

Inconsistency at the plate doomed Falls City, who is now 6-4 on the season. The Lady Tigers were just 19 of 77 (.247 avg.) at the plate in the tournament and struck out 14 times. Amie Wiltse, Brittany Ritter, Claire Poppe and Kirstyn Buchholtz each had multi-hit games, but Wiltse’s came in the shutout loss to Southern and the other three each had two hits in the win over Mercy.

“We will need to focus on hitting this week,” said head coach Joe Dunn. “ Both Fairbury and Conestoga will have above average pitching.”

Through 10 games, Falls City is hitting a very respectable .354 as a team, but there have been lopsided wins against inferior opponents and the girls have struggled, at times, to score runs or come up with timely, run-producing hits.

“We need to put the ball in play more and cut down on our strikeouts if we want to beat good teams,” Dunn said.

Adult Ed, GED classes resume

After a summer break, the Falls City Adult Education/General Education Development classes were set to resume today on the garden level at 116 W. 19th St. in Falls City.

Southeast Community College in Beatrice sponsors the Adult Education program. It is a federal and state program that provides basic education skills to individuals 16 years of age and older and not enrolled in school. A $20 registration fee is due the first day of class.

Individuals who have started the GED testing process, but have not yet completed the five tests in the series, are encouraged to complete testing in the next 16 months. The current GED test series will be offered throughout 2013. A new GED test series will be released January 2014, and any tests taken prior to the start of the new test series will be void.

The current test series will be administered as both paper and pencil testing and computer based testing through 2013. Students can choose the form of testing they prefer. The 2014 test series will be offered only through computer-based testing and the cost will be $120 for the complete series of tests.

The major components of Adult Education include GED preparation, basic skills for improvement in a specific area, English as a Second Language to learn to speak, read and write English and citizenship classes for those wishing to become U.S. citizens.

For more information about enrolling in class, being a volunteer tutor or to arrange a program about Adult Education for your club or organization, contact the Adult Education office at SCC-Beatrice at 800-233-5027, ext. 1236.

Bruhn a captain for the Bison

Garrett Bruhn, a senior tight end for North Dakota State University, was recently named a team captain by his teammates for the 2012 football season.

“It’s a great honor to be named that by your teammates,” Bruhn said. “Like coach (Craig) Bohl said, a lot of guys will get post-season accolades, but to get voted by your teammates to be a captain, it’s an incredible honor.”

Garrett, a 2009 graduate of Beatrice High School, is the son of Bill and Joan (Heineman) Bruhn, of Beatrice and the grandson of Kenny and Elaine Wittrock and Elaine Heineman. Bohl, the former Nebraska defensive coordinator, has been the head coach of NDSU since 2003.

Bruhn, listed at 6-foot-1 and 241 pounds, is a big, blocking tight end for the Bison, and was named to the College Football Performance FCS Tight Ends Watch List. Bruhn, described as a “hard-nosed, physical player”, has played in 39 of 40 games during his career, including eight starts. He averaged 13.2 yards per reception a season ago.

Monte Ritchie hired by Peru St.

Peru State College has announced the recent hiring of Monte Ritchie, a Nebraska City native, as a graduate assistant with the men’s basketball program. In addition, Ritchie will have duties with Residence Life on campus.

Ritchie graduated from Nebraska City High in 2007 and this past spring completed his bachelor’s degree in special education from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. During his time at UNL, Ritchie served as a student manager for the Huskers’ basketball team under head coach Doc Sadler. Also, for the past three summers, Ritchie has coached for the Nebraska Select AAU Program which develops talent from across the entire state.

Monte was born in Falls City when his father, Mark, was head basketball coach at FC High.

NDSU, located in Fargo, is the defending national champion in the Football Championship Series (FCS) and hosted Robert Morris this past weekend, crushing the Colonials 52-0. The Bison will travel to Fort Collins, Colo., this weekend for a game with Colorado State.

Methamphetamine arrest made Thursday

Drue Miller, 25, of Falls City, was arrested for driving under suspension, possession of methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia and distribution of illegal drugs late last Thursday night.

According to a probable cause affidavit, Richardson County Sheriff’s Deputy Lew Barker saw a pickup owned by Miller enter Kwik Shop parking lot at 14th and Harlan and identified the driver as Miller. Knowing Miller’s license was suspended, Barker parked directly behind the truck and activated his emergency lights. Miller was then taken into custody for Driving Under Suspension.

Just before Barker parked behind Miller’s truck, another man, later identified as Joshua Carpenter, exited Miller’s truck and entered the convenient store. After Miller was taken into custody, Miller explained to Barker that he had just picked Carpenter up at his Carpenter’s girlfriend’s house. Miller explained that bags in the bed of the truck belonged to Carpenter.

During an inventory of the the Miller truck, the affidavit alleges Deputy Josh Nincehler discovered pipes for smoking illegal narcotics, one of which contained a measurable amount of methamphetamine, and a large amount of bags used in the distribution of illegal drugs. Nincehler also told Barker that a pipe used for smoking illegal drugs was found wrapped in a black bandana in the bags located in the bed of the truck.

Miller was placed in the Richardson County Jail. Carpenter has yet to be charged, but the investigation continues.
