

EAT. SLEEP. HUNT.

By Amber Holle
 On October 27th, Gray's Lodge hosted a Grand Opening Celebration with a ribbon cutting by the Falls City Area Chamber of Commerce. Hundreds of curious patrons filtered through during the afternoon to take a peek at the gorgeous renovation of the former Camp Rulo. Located at 110 Ash Street in Rulo, the lodge is located right on the Missouri River and offers enough room to sleep 30 people.
 The lodge also features a spacious, rustic entertainment space with lots of comfortable seating, a bar to share those wild hunting stories around and a large dining area for the hungry hunters. The lodge has been remodeled to include a large shower and restroom area, a full kitchen, workout room and a mud room for hunter's to strip off their boots and gear after a long day of hunting.
 Gray's Lodge is owned by Brad Gannaway of southwest Missouri. Brad has been a full time outfitter for over 20 years and also owns and operates Pro Outfitters. He's very familiar with the area and has been doing business around Mound City and Big Lake for 18 years and was excited to own a piece of historic property right on the mighty Missouri River. Brad prides himself on being more than an outfitter that just books hunts; He wants his clients to have lifelong memories. During the hunting season you may find Brad in a duck blind calling in mallards, in a deer stand with clients, or sitting next to a tree calling in a strutting tom.

 Gray's Lodge plans to keep plenty busy with hunters this fall and winter but in the off season boasts it's the perfect location for your family or class reunion, wedding or close getaway. For more information or to book the lodge, go to grays-lodge.business.site or call 417-674-1324.

FCMS EIGHTH GRADE CLASS PERFORMED A GREAT CHAUTAUQUA

Falls City Middle School's eighth grade class collected $1,175 during their 11th annual Chautauqua Night performances on Thursday, November 1, at the middle school.

This year's topic was Learning From Disney. Since the first Chautauqua in 2008, the project has helped raise almost $9,000 for charitable causes ranging from our local community to around the world.
 After over two weeks of researching, writing, and practicing by the eighth grade students, their effort was rewarded with a highly educational experience and the satisfaction of knowing they have helped raise money for a worthy cause. The eighth grade class is in the process of voting on an organization to donate the money to, and it will be named at a later time. The FCMS eighth grade students would like to thank the community and school for their contribution and support.

The 1918 Flu Pandemic in Nebraska

November 11 marks the centennial of the armistice ending World War I. The war killed some 15 to 19 million people, military and civilian, including 751 Nebraska soldiers.

But the influenza pandemic of 1918 was even deadlier, killing somewhere between 50 and 100 million people. Nebraska's disease reporting was incomplete, but the state's death toll was variously reported between 2,800 to 7,500 people.

A new and deadly strain of the flu hit the U.S. early in 1918 and greatly intensified by September. The flu reached Nebraska by October 2; Omaha reported its first case the next day; and Scottsbluff reported its first cases on the 15th.

Symptoms included high fever, cough, dizziness, and profuse perspiration. Frequently bronchial pneumonia developed, with death following in a high percentage of such cases. This strain of flu was unusual in that it was deadliest to healthy young adults. Omaha alone saw 974 deaths between October 5 and December 31.

On October 7 the state ordered the closing of all "schools, churches, places of entertainment or public congregation, pool halls and other places of amusement." Mail carriers continued on their rounds, but wore white face masks for protection.

Quarantine rules were issued for affected homes. All residents of a house who had been in contact with a diseased person had to remain in the house until the quarantine was lifted. Only a doctor or nurse was permitted to enter or leave the house while the quarantine was in effect, though medical professionals were in short supply. Necessary supplies could be brought to the house and left outside the door. Soiled clothes could be sent to the laundry if placed in a package covered with paper.

The statewide ban on public gatherings was lifted on November 1, but the flu continued. Even World War I victory celebrations were limited in many towns. Valentine, for example, didn't lift its local ban on public gatherings until November 29, and the University of Nebraska did not resume classes until after Thanksgiving.

There was almost nothing of a holiday season. No Christmas events or entertainments were held, and Nebraska merchants sustained severe losses from the slump in trade during the last six weeks of the year. By mid-January 1919, although national news stories indicated the epidemic still was claiming thousands of victims, in Nebraska the worst was over.

Choosing Medicare drug coverage can be tricky

"Thinking About Health," is part of the Nebraska Press Association's partnership with Rural Health News Service, which will provide Nebraskans with unbiased health-related information, designed to help better understand the health issues facing our communities, state and nation.

Karen R., a 70-year-old Medicare beneficiary living in a mid-size town in Indiana, contacted me recently about her Part D drug coverage. She and her husband both have traditional Medicare, a Medigap policy, and what's called a stand-alone plan for their drugs. For a long time, her stand-alone plan offered through Humana worked well for them. Her out-of-pocket costs for most drugs was only $8.

This summer Karen, who takes 11 drugs for a variety of illnesses, including atrial fibrillation and kidney disease, was diagnosed with a new ailment – psoriasis. Not only did the diagnosis catch her off guard but so did the high price tag for Otezla, one of the newer drugs for treating this ailment. It was the only psoriasis drug that worked well with other medications she was taking.

Karen and other seniors are discovering that some of these new drugs come with hefty price tags.

Otezla is one of those expensive specialty drugs, which treat complex, chronic conditions. A drug qualifies for an insurer's specialty tier if it costs more than $670 for one month's supply; the insurer usually requires consumers to pay about one-third of the cost out of pocket. These sums have pushed more and more seniors over Medicare's catastrophic drug coverage threshold, this year $5,000. Once over the threshold, their costs are high.

More than one million beneficiaries with drug benefits had spending above the threshold in 2015, more than twice the number in 2007.

With drug costs climbing for seniors, careful shopping is important this open enrollment season. That's easier said than done. "It's not easy to compare options, but differences do matter," says Tricia Neuman, senior vice president of the Kaiser Family Foundation.

Few seniors shop and compare Part D plans even though this year the average Medicare beneficiary has a choice of 27 stand-alone Part D plans that are purchased by people who choose to stay in traditional Medicare and a choice of 24 Medicare Advantage plans that have the drug benefit included.

"The truth is they are not switching plans," Neuman told me even though, she says, beneficiaries can save hundreds or even thousands of dollars over the year by choosing a different plan. Although the government's Medicare.gov <https://www.medicare.gov/> with its drug plan finder website provides a way to compare drug plans for your area, many people remain skeptical they can get a better deal and may lack computer skills to find the best choice.

Then, too, one-third of beneficiaries have a cognitive impairment that further complicates their task. Here are a few suggestions for finding cheaper drugs. Find out if your drug is in the insurance plan's non-preferred or preferred tier. A drug might be in the non-preferred tier from one plan but in the preferred tier at another where it might be cheaper. Some drugs in the non-preferred tiers may call for 50 percent coinsurance, meaning that you pay 50 percent of the price of the drug. Specialty drugs have their own tier, usually with 33 percent coinsurance for non-preferred drugs.

Generic drugs might not be cheaper. A generic in the non-preferred tier might be more expensive than a brand drug listed on a plan's preferred tier. Find out if the plan requires what is often referred to as "step therapy," which means you must try lower-priced drugs first to see if they work. Is preauthorization for services required? A study by the Kaiser Family Foundation just released found that 80 percent of beneficiaries were in plans that required preauthorization for any service including Part B drugs administered in a doctor's office. Many consumers find preauthorization a real hassle.

Have a conversation with your doctor about cheaper alternatives. Maybe there is one in a plan's preferred category. Physicians are often not knowledgeable about the ins and outs of drug plans and may not have a patient's financial wherewithal in mind when they write the prescription. These are not easy conversations to have, but it might be one way around the high prices for the drugs you take.

I asked Karen what she was planning to do for next year. She told me she would ask her doctor again to request that Humana grant an exception to the $3,000 price of Otezla on its specialty tier. That exception brought the price down to the $1,900 she has been paying. She also asked for what's called a "tier reduction," which would have brought the price down even more. The insurer refused.

She says she and her husband are also exploring the possibility of getting back on his former employer's retiree plan. If not, they'll be like millions of other seniors – exploring any and all options to lower their pharmaceutical bills.

Brownville Concert Series to Present The Talbott Brothers

The Brownville Concert Series is thrilled to have The Talbott Brothers present "Gray." This Portland based duo is known for charming and energetic performances that blend singer/songwriter styles with folk, rock, pop and blues. They will perform in cabaret on Friday and Saturday, November 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. and in concert Sunday, November 11 at 2:00 p.m. We give special thanks to Vicki Beilke, Mary Kruger, and Nicole and David Kaufman for helping to sponsor these concerts.

The Talbott Brothers are a duo composed of brothers Nick and Tyler Talbott. Born and raised in Imperial, a small town in Southwestern Nebraska, they began writing and performing together before relocating to Portland, OR. Forming an alternative blend of Americana Rock, The Talbott Brothers creatively combine blood harmonies with storytelling and infectious melodies.

In their latest full-length album, "Gray", The Talbott Brothers illustrate the tension between conflicting relationships and the various trials of the human condition. Ear To The Ground Music describes it as, "Equal parts optimistic and captivating, inspiring and hopeful."

Irish roll into semis with win over Randolph

Story by Brian McKim; Photos by Kim Schawang

Last Wednesday, on Halloween, the Falls City Sacred Heart Irish made the long trip to Randolph to take on the Cardinals. The Irish dominated the contest from the start, cruising to a 60-22 win and a semi-final matchup vs. the undefeated Flyers from Humphrey St. Francis. SH ended the Flyers last season with a 34-30 win in the playoffs.

The Irish began the game with the ball and drove 65-yards in seven plays for the games first score. QB Drew Bippes kept the drive alive with an option keeper to the left to pick up 35 yards on third and two, all the way down to the Cardinal seven-yard-line. Two plays later Del Casteel took it in from one yard out for the score. The PAT pass from Bippes to Jamie Stice made it 8-0 with 8:58 on the clock in the first. After a quick three and out the Irish had it again this time at their own 26. Bippes again engineered a five play, 54-yard drive that ended with a 17-yard TD pass to Stice to make it 14-0 with 6:00 on the clock.

On the next Randolph possession, Casteel hit the running back, causing a fumble that was recovered by Tyler Witt at the Irish 32. This time it took the Irish six plays to cover the 48 yards and ended with Jake Hoy carrying right, cutting back and getting into the end zone from two yards out. The PAT pass from Bippes to Austin Sells made it 22-0 with 3:25 to play in the opening quarter. The Irish weren't done yet as the defense forced another three and out gave SH the ball back at the Irish 37. After a nice 10-yard run up the middle by Casteel, Bippes kept it on a scramble and covered the 33-yards for the fourth Irish TD in the first quarter. The PAT pass to Hoy made it 30-0 with 1:35 on the clock.

The Irish defense, which played great all day, forced the third three and out of the first quarter and the Irish had the ball back at their 15 with :30 to play in the first. A 30-yard Casteel run brought the first quarter to a close. On the second play of the second quarter, Bippes had all day and found Witt for an 11-yard TD strike. The PAT pass also to Witt made it 38-0 with 11:25 left in the half.

The Cardinals finally got on the board on its next drive. On fourth and four at midfield, Branson Darveau got a pick and rambled all the way to the 14-yard line. However, a roughing the passer call gave Randolph the ball back with a first down. On the next play, a pass interference was called and gave the Cardinals the ball at the Irish 11. On the next play, they completed an 11-yard TD pass to make it 38-8. 30 of the 61 yards covered by Randolph were penalty yards by the Irish.

On the next drive, Bippes was picked off deep in Irish territory but on first down after the turnover, Casteel and Bippes tipped the pass, and Darveau came up with the pick. SH calmly drove 64-yards in eight plays for the score. Bippes found Hoy twice on the drive, once for 22-yards and again for the seven-yard touchdown. A Casteel run made it 46-8 with 3:38 to go before halftime. That's where the score would stay heading into the locker rooms.

To begin the second half Randolph fumbled on the first play, recovered by Sloan Lenard at the Randolph 30. Three plays later Casteel went in from five-yards out to give the Irish a 52-8 lead. The PAT pass from Jakob Jordan to Nicholas Keithley made it 54-8 with 9:41 to go. The Irish scored one last time on a 31-yard Jack Fiegenger run to make it 60-14 with 7:47 to go in the game.

The Irish dominated all aspects of the game. SH had 367 rushing yards on 40 attempts while holding Randolph to 135 yards on 37 touches. The Irish also threw for 139 yards while limiting the Cardinals to 55 yards through the air. Overall the Irish had 506 yards of total offense to just 190 by Randolph.

Casteel had a huge day for the Irish. Playing with a cast on his broken hand, Casteel led SH with 123 yards on 14 attempts and two TD's. Bippes was right behind with 114 yards on six carries and a score. Bippes completed 13 of 17 pass attempts for 139 yards and three scores. Hoy was Bippes's favorite target, hauling in five catches for 67 yards and a score. Stice added four catches for 45 yards and a TD.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Irish were again led by Darveau and Casteel. Darveau finished with nine tackles, a sack, and an interception. Casteel also had nine stops and three tackles for loss.

The 9-1 Irish will host the 10-0 Flyers at Jug Brown Stadium on Tuesday, November 6th at 4:30 p.m. The winner will get the winner of the Johnson-Brock/Bloomfield game.

"This round is where the teams still playing all have a great team. Humphrey St. Francis has a typical great team again this year. Big, powerful and very well coached. We will have to play error-free football and will have to play hard to match their physicality. We don't have the kind of size they do so our speed will need to make up for that," said Coach Doug Goltz.

Hannah Kirkendall sets the ball for a Tiger kill

Tiger volleyball season ends in Norris

The Falls City Tiger volleyball season came to a close on Monday night at Norris Middle School in Sub-District play. In the opening game of the evening, the Tigers took on Wilber-Clatonia. Falls City dropped the first set but came back to win the next three in a row to advance to a showdown against Syracuse.

In the first match of the night, the Tigers fell in a close first set 26-24 but fought back to win the next three 25-23, 25-20 and 26-24. Falls City was led at the net by Ellicyn Gilkerson with ten kills while Jordyn Curtis and Allyssa Mez each added nine. Chase Nolte's sparked the defense with six blocks while Hannah Kirkendall added five. Kirkendall also led the Tigers with 22 digs, and she had six assists. Jessa Beckner was the lead playmaker for FC with 23 assists.

In the second match of the night, the Lady Tigers faced a 25-3 Syracuse Rocket team. The Rockets took care of business quickly against Falls City winning 25-5, 25-20 and 25-6. Michelle Beer led FC with four kills, while Gilkerson added two. Curtis and Gilkerson each added a block at the net. Kirkendall led FC with eight digs while Beer and Lexi Buckminster each had seven. Beckner again was the top ball handler with five assists, and Beer led the team with 17 serves received without an error.

The loss ended Falls City season and dropped the Tigers to a disappointing 7-23 for the year. The Rockets meanwhile earned the #6 seed in the State Tournament in Lincoln with a 26-3 record.

Fall control of winter annuals

With harvest getting in full swing, there is an opportunity to check your fields this fall and provide weed control in your fields if needed. By identifying the weed, extent of any infestations and locations of weed problems, you will have a better strategy for managing these weeds in the future, maybe even this fall. Marestalk or maybe more specifically, glyphosate resistant marestalk has become a major problem in Nebraska. Control has been challenging the last couple of years. Once it bolts from the rosette state it is hard to control. It can emerge in the fall, so keep an eye out for it. Several growers have actually found that cereal rye has been very effective in control of marestalk. This may be another option and at the same time provide erosion control and potentially improve soil health. Fall control of winter annuals should improve field conditions next spring for planting and weed control in next year's crop. Do you have several winter annuals emerging in your fields now or in the spring blanketing your fields? Several winter annuals have been increasing in the region due to increasing adoption of reduced tillage or no-till systems. Winter annuals, such as henbit pennycress, chickweed, marestalk and tansy mustard are problems in some fields, but generally can be controlled with most herbicides. This past spring and summer, it appeared in general weed control was much better than in the spring of 2017, especially marestalk control. Sometimes wet or windy weather can prevent you from timely controlling weeds. With the heavy rains in September, you should get a good idea during harvest of winter annuals emerging this fall that may require control. Another weed that is showing up more in the southeast corner of Nebraska is field pansy. It is a tough weed to kill and has caused some problems in Kansas and Missouri. If you have a problem with these weeds, fall is an excellent time for control.

If you let these weeds overwinter, they will begin growing next spring and start robbing soil moisture from subsequent crops and create dry soil conditions and a poor seedbed especially for early planted corn. They also can have the opposite effect if springtime environmental conditions are cold and wet. A vegetative mat of winter annuals can slow drying and warming of soil before planting thus delaying planting. In the spring time, unfavorable weather conditions may also make it difficult to apply burndown herbicides in a timely manner and delay planting further. Under these types of conditions, a fall herbicide application can provide a wider window for planting next spring.

So when is the best time to spray in the fall? The ideal treatment period is from late October through mid-November. The later you wait the more weed seeds that will germinate and that you can control in the fall. Don't be concerned that it is too cool to control weeds in late October or November. These are cool season plants and are not killed by frost. They will be actively growing during mild weather and are susceptible to herbicides even after a hard freeze. Herbicides are more effective and economical to use on winter annuals in the fall than in the spring.

What are the most economical herbicides for fall treatment? Glyphosate, 2, 4-D and dicamba (Banvel) are very effective treatments on most winter annuals. Using chemicals other than glyphosate or a combination of glyphosate with another chemical is a good practice to reduce the potential for development of glyphosate resistant weeds. If you believe you have glyphosate resistant marestalk, you will want to use 2, 4-D or dicamba for control in the fall.

The 2018 Guide for Weed Management (Extension Publication EC130) also has ratings for weed response to fall burndown herbicides for both corn and soybeans. For questions, contact me at the Nemaha County Extension Office at (402) 274-4755.

was very active at the net as they totaled 16 blocks, with Vonderschmidt and Keithley each finishing with five and Catlin adding four. Senior Randee Witt led the playmaking with 21 assists while another freshman, Rachel Magdanz added 12. Defensively Ahren Ebel led the team with 25 digs, Vonderschmidt added 23 and Lauren Malone had 19. With the win, the Irish improved to 22-11 while Kenesaw finishes the season with a 19-13 mark.

The week got underway for the Irish as they traveled to Johnson to take on Lewiston in sub-districts. The Lady Irish made quick work of the team from Lewiston as they swept the Tigers in three sets, 25-6, 25-3 and 25-13. As a team, the Irish totaled 10 ace serves, with Lauren Malone having three to lead the team. Ebel had a team-high eight kills while Keithley added six. Magdanz led the team with 12 assists, while Randee Witt added eight. Witt also led the Irish with 15 digs, while Malone added 10. With the win, the Irish advanced to the subdistrict final while the loss ended the Tigers season at 1-24.

On Tuesday the Irish were back in Johnson for the sub-district final against the Mead Raiders. The Irish survived a close first set win 26-24, before ending the Raiders season with a 25-16 and 25-21 win in three straight sets. The loss gave Mead a final 15-12 record while the Irish improved to 21-11.

After a stellar senior campaign and earning a second consecutive medal at the State Meet, Braden Kobza was named to the Class C All-State Cross-Country team. Braden was one of just seven honored in Class C this fall. In being named to the all-state team, Kobza becomes the first ever from Falls City to earn such recognition.

This caps off a season in which Kobza never finished worse than sixth and included two first-place finishes, including a gold medal at the district meet. At the State Meet in Kearney Kobza ran a 17:19.8 to earn a fourth-place medal, the highest ever by a Tiger male athlete at the state meet.

Joining Kobza in the Class C All-State honors were, Super-State selection Aidan Wheelock of Minden, Mason Sindelar of Pierce, Tyler Peterson of Holdrege, Collin Brauer of Sidney, Caleb Canfield of Lincoln Christian and Camden Sesna of Kearney-Catholic. Wheelock, of Minden, ran a 16:31.8 to win the Class C championship this season.

DID YOU KNOW?

Before the year 1000, the word "she" did not exist in the English language. The singular female reference was the word "heo", which also was the plural of all genders. The word "she" appeared only in the 12th century, about 400 years after English began to take form. "She" probably derived from the Old English feminine "seo", the Viking word for feminine reference.

Keeping your health on track during the indulgent holiday season

(StatePoint) The holiday season can be an indulgent one, full of cookies, candies, heavy meals and eggnog. While no one wants to rein in the fun during the merriest time of year, there are simple ways to keep your health on track during this indulgent holiday season.

- Stick to Routines. To the best of your ability during this hectic time of year, attempt to stick to routines that promote wellness. Set a bedtime and honor it. Hit the gym. Meditate. Do whatever it is that keeps you grounded and feeling your best.

- Drink Up. Many people associate dehydration with the warmer months. But in winter weather it can be especially easy to forget to stay well-hydrated, especially when you're indulging in alcoholic beverages at all those holiday parties.

Remember, water doesn't need to be the only source of hydration you think about this season. Soups and purees made from hearty winter vegetables, as well as citrus fruits do the trick, too, and their nutritional properties can help keep you healthy in winter.

- Keep Things Organically Sweet. Staying on track doesn't mean you can't enjoy the sweetness of the season. Instantly boost the flavor of your favorite meals with organic honey. One great option is Organic Honey In The Raw. USDA Organic Certified and Non-GMO Project Verified, it's made from pure nectar collected from exotic wildflowers found in the remote Caatinga region of northeast Brazil. The hand-harvested, sustainable honey is raw (never heated above 117 degrees) and unfiltered, so it retains the benefits of bee pollen.

And just one tablespoon of organic raw honey provides the right amount of sweetness and flavor for any dish or drink, including year-round staples like oatmeal, yogurt, tea, and more. You can also consider giving a honey makeover to all your favorite holiday recipes, including glazes and sauces for meat and poultry, cocktail recipes, and of course baked treats.

- Make Substitutions. Other healthful substitutions you can make this holiday season include topping pies with Greek yogurt instead of cream, using apple sauce in place of oil and nut flour instead of white flour in baking, and serving vegetable mash as an alternative to mashed potatoes.

- Be Mindful. The holiday party circuit can be dangerous when it comes to making nutritious choices. When you enter a party with a buffet set-up, it can be tempting to reach for the richest foods first. Before indulging in the canapes and Swedish meatballs, try filling up a plate with crudite first. While you're doing so, get a good look at all the options available. This way, you'll be more likely to savor choice items you'll truly enjoy.

A joyful holiday season doesn't mean you must pack on pounds or feel under the weather. By keeping your health on track throughout this indulgent time of year, you can start 2019 with your best food forward.

We like learning about the lives... ...and history of Native Americans. Kids: color stuff in!

Newspaper Fun!

Animills LLC © 2018 V15-44

America's First People!

Native Americans were the first people to live in North America. They are believed to be descendants of people from Asia who crossed into North America on a land bridge (the Bering Strait) that connected the two continents during the Ice Age, but is now gone. The Native Americans settled into different regions and each tribe adapted to its own environment. Tribes formed larger groups, learned how to talk with one another, began hunting, farming and trading. Then, about 500 years ago, European explorers arrived and began to form settlements. Many of the Native Americans got along with the newly arrived settlers and they lived in peace. But, there were also conflicts between some of the North American tribes and settlers (more so in areas of the U.S.). During the 1800s, many Native Americans were assigned to areas called reservations or reserves. Today, less than half of the Native American population still lives in these areas.

Read the clues to learn about some Native American history and to fill in the puzzle.

- made from deer hides and other animal skins
- made from animal skins; used in ceremonies, at wartime
- made with birch or other tree bark; used to travel long distances on water and when hunting
- sap of this tree was drained; hot rocks used to boil it down to a sugar
- soft leather and fur shoes, some with bead patterns; tribes had their own styles and designs
- leather, ceramic beads, feathers, tortoise shells and copper used for making this
- powerful leaders and healers wore these; more bird feathers added for great feasts
- used for smoking tobacco in ceremonies; often given as a gesture of peace
- some of the most important foods grown, the "three sisters": beans, corn and _____
- common shelter of the plains; hunting tribes used them;
- warm in winter's cold, cool in summer heat
- people who healed and helped their communities were called _____ people
- shelter that could hold many families

13. signals used between tribes to warn of danger or to let others know all was well

14. major source of food from the water, caught by spear, bow and arrow or net

15. game played to settle disputes between tribes, used sticks with nets and balls

Smoke Signals Code

Some Native American tribes used smoke signals to "talk" to each other over long distances. They built a campfire and used a blanket to cover it and then took the blanket away to make a puff of smoke. The meanings of the signals were agreed upon between the tribes so they were only known to the users. The size and number of puffs were the key to the code. Use our simple Smoke Signals Code below to fill in the blanks to see what Forest is saying. (Hint: Pay attention to the size and number of the smoke puffs.)

	= Saturday		= Hello
	= Sunday		= See
	= You		= All Is Well
	= Danger

Native Americans also used different beats on drums to send messages over long distances.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to take a few minutes to say thank you to a local hero in our community. On the morning of Oct. 8th, a Saturday, I received a call that my home was burning down in Verdon. While in Omaha, and helpless, my wife was trapped upstairs. A passer byer took time out of his day to stop and take a look, while knocking repeatedly on the door, he woke her finally and helped her escape through the upstairs window. Without regard to himself, he saved my wife's life. I owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Jim Murphy, for listening to his heart and selflessly facing danger. Heroes still exist, he's proof that there is good people in our world. So with all the thanks I could possibly give, I thank you Jim. My wife, Victoria thanks you, and God Bless you! You're a hero that deserves recognition. Dennis & Victoria McAndrew 44P

The family of Oleta Harbour wishes to thank everyone for the many expressions of sympathy after the passing of our Mom and Grammy. We have been blessed with such an outpouring of sympathy and love in so many ways; cards, calls, food, lovely plants and especially hugs. Friends have been reminded us how special she was to so many people in so many ways and not just her family. A special thank you to the staff at Good Samaritan's in Auburn, we couldn't have asked for better care from anyone, she loved each and every one of you.

God Bless you.

As I sit at my desk immediately following the game I have to be careful not to let my emotions take over. Words and phrases are flowing through my head, silver lining, moral victory, look at the bright side. All words used by coaches, sports analysts and fans to describe tough losses. Well, I'm really not one to mince words, so here it goes. I don't believe in any of these phrases, at least not at the College or Professional level. Players go into combat with one another with one goal in mind, to win. They work hard, they prepare hard, and anything less than a win is a bitter disappointment. I'm betting in all reality, not too many coaches really subscribe to this way of thinking. They may say one thing in public or to the media, but deep down it hurts to lose by five just as much as it hurts to lose by 25. Coach Frost may be happy with the effort, but a loss is still a loss.

Now, that being said, Nebraska played Ohio St. much closer than most of the nation expected; however, we still lost. The Cornhuskers had their chances. Inside the red zone in the first half, a bad decision by QB Adrian Martinez led to a backward pass and a turnover. In the third quarter, Martinez failed on back to back possessions to hit an open receiver to extend the drive. Even after a terrible third quarter, Martinez came out on fire in the fourth quarter leading Nebraska back to within five points before ultimately falling to the top 10 ranked teams. Even when things looked down, our freshman QB never wavered. On the road, against a one-loss Buckeye team that has dominated the Huskers he was cool and calm, and he didn't give up until the final gun sounded.

We can take many positives away from the game. Not only were we able to compete against an excellent team on the road, in my opinion, but we also outplayed them. The Husker offense put up 184 yards on the ground and another 266 through the air, not too bad. The Huskers did many of the things that they needed to do to win. Only five penalties and one turnover will keep you in a lot of games. Where we struggled was special teams. The blocked punt was a killer, and the missed kickoff by Caleb Lightbourn was a disaster. Either Nebraska is much better than their 2-7 suggests (they are), or Ohio St is not a national championship caliber team (they're not).

A game like this can cause a team to go one of two ways. Either they bury their heads after the loss, or it proves to them they can play with anyone. My guess is Coach Frost will have the boys ready come next week and watch out Illinois, Michigan St and Iowa. The Huskers aren't back, yet. However, they are getting closer each and every week, and before you know it, we'll be on the plus side of these type of games. How's 3-0 over the final three games sound? Go Big Red.

Great Western Bank wins Falls City Scarecrow Contest

The Falls City Area Chamber of Commerce once again sponsored their scarecrow contest with area businesses. Last year they had over 30 businesses participated and this year they proved successful once again. The program was the brainchild of Chamber Executive Director, Amber Holle. This year's winner was Great Western Bank in Falls City with their Minions, pictured above. Other businesses had Artist Bob Ross (Falls City Area Artist Association Art Gallery); Cousin Itt (Brown's Shoe Fit); Herbie Husker (Falls City Chamber); A 'Bad Guy' and Police Officer (Falls City Utilities office); construction workers (American National Bank); Dorothy and The Wizard of Oz (F&M Bank); Mary Poppins (Family Medicine/Community Medical Center) and so many more. The displays were incredibly detailed and some were heart stopping, like Spiderman climbing the light pole in front of hometown Floral and Gifts on Stone Street. "It was really designed just for fun," Amber said, last year in an interview with Lori Gottula. "But we encourage people to go into the business."

Upcoming steamboat trace trail closures

Once again rifle deer season is coming up, which leads to the closure of the Steamboat Trace trail from Nov. 10-18 and again from Jan. 1-15 during the two rifle hunting seasons. Nemaha Natural Resources District officials close the entire 22 miles of the Steamboat Trace trail to all users, including hunters, during these rifle hunting seasons to protect the safety of those who would otherwise be on or near the trail. It should be emphasized that hunting and the possession of weapons is never allowed on the converted railroad right-of-way that stretches from just south of Nebraska City to just south of Brownville. Anyone found on the trail during the closures may be ticketed for trespassing. Signs will be posted at all the trailheads and at major access points alerting visitors to the closures. For more information about the Steamboat Trace, contact the Nemaha NRD at 402.335.3325, check our website at www.nemahandrd.org, or find us on Facebook.

It seems to John Falter that one of the best moments in football is that certain going-up moment when the squads trot out on the field. For one thing, the team in which your hopes are invested always looks pretty good at that stage; even an outfit that is going to take a terrific lacing when the whistle blows can look like champions executing this maneuver. The politic artist said the squad might be that of any school whose colors are orange and black. That takes in a fine range of educational institutions and makes it almost impossible that Falter should have picked a loser. He chose the Princeton stadium for background, and Falter Hypothetical Institute, taking the field, seems to be based on Princeton, with the Tigers' stripes.
