A Different Christmas Poem

The embers glowed softly, and in their dim light,
I gazed round the room and I cherished the sight.
My wife was asleep, her head on my chest,
My daughter beside me, angelic in rest.
Outside the snow fell, a blanket of white,
Transforming the yard to a winter delight.

The sparkling lights in the tree I believe,
Completed the magic that was Christmas Eve.
My eyelids were heavy, my breathing was deep,
Secure and surrounded by love I would sleep.
In perfect contentment, or so it would seem,
So, I slumbered, perhaps I started to dream.

The sound wasn't loud, and it wasn't too near,
But I opened my eyes when it tickled my ear.
Perhaps just a cough, I didn't quite know,
Then the sure sound of footsteps outside in the snow.
My soul gave a tremble, I struggled to hear,
And I crept to the door just to see who was near.

Standing out in the cold and the dark of the night,
A lone figure stood, his face weary and tight.
A soldier, I puzzled, some twenty years old,
Perhaps a Marine, huddled here in the cold.
Alone in the dark, he looked up and smiled,
Standing watch over me, and wife and my child.

"What are you doing?" I asked without fear,
Come in this moment, it's freezing out here!
Put down your pack, brush the snow from your sleeve,
You should be at home on a cold Christmas Eve!
For barely a moment I saw his eyes shift,
Away from the cold and snow blown in drifts.

To the window that danced with a warm fire's light
Then he sighed, and he said, "It's really all right,
I'm out here by choice, I'm here every night.
It's my duty to stand at the front of the line,
That separates you from the darkest of time.

No one had to ask or beg or implore me,
I'm proud to stand here like my fathers before me.
My Gramps died at 'Pearl on a day in December,
Then he sighed, "That's a Christmas 'Gram always remembers.
My dad stood his watch in the jungles of 'Nam,
And now it is my turn and so, here I am.

I've not seen my own son in more than a while,
But my wife sends me pictures, he's sure got her smile.
Then he bent, and he carefully pulled from his bag,
The red, white and blue…an American Flag.
I can live through the cold and the being alone.
Away from my family, my house and my home.

I can stand at my post through the rain and the sleet,
I can sleep in a foxhole with little to eat.
I can carry the weight of killing another,
Or lay down my life with my sister and brother.
Who stand at the front against any and all,
To ensure for all time that this flag will not fall."

"So, go back inside," he said, "harbor no fright,
Your family is waiting, and I'll be all right,"
"But isn't there something I can do, at the least,
Give you money, "I asked, "or prepare you a feast?"
It seems all too little for all that you've done,
For being away from your wife and your son."

Then his eye welled a tear that held no regret,
"Just tell us you love us, and never forget.
To fight for our rights back at home while we're gone,
To stand your own watch, no matter how long.
For when we come home, either standing or dead,
To know you remember we fought, and we bled,
Is payment enough, and with that we will trust,
That we mattered to you as you mattered to us."

The above poem was sent out by LCDR Jess Giles, SC, USN, 30th Naval Construction Regiment, Al Taqqadam, Iraq, and brought to the Journal's attention by a subscriber, who was very impressed with it, as were we. (Originally printed ten years ago in the Falls City Journal)

RIOT REPORT: WHO KNEW WHAT AND WHEN COULD HAVE MADE A DIFFERENCE

Capitol View Commentary
by J.L. Schmidt Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

It's that age-old question of government and politics: Who knew what and when? In the case of an independent report on the May 2015 riot at the Nebraska State Prison in Tecumseh that left two dead, that question lingers like the smell of burnt microwave popcorn.

Especially since that report just surfaced. Particularly because one has to wonder if the report's findings could have helped prevent a March 2017 riot at the same institution that left two more inmates dead.

Really Governor, you're excusing the fact that the report didn't surface until November 2018 because administrators get a lot of reports and you can't publish every one? We're not talking about suggestions for a new vendor for pens and pencils, we're talking about matters of life and death and a culture that thrives on control and looking for ways to hedge on the rules.

Here's a head's up: That's dangerous business and the old saw about the inmates running the prison, that's not a good thing. The Critical Incident Re-view Team report, made public soon after the riot, concluded the riot had happened as a matter of chance. In other words, it just happened.

The controversial undisclosed report attributed the riot to conditions at the prison that primed the inmate rebellion and said it was a coordinated effort by certain inmates and gangs. That paints a more serious problem; one that I believe would require immediate action and a different strategy. As these conditions persist, the pot continues to boil.

Governor Pete Ricketts has defended Corrections Director Scott Frakes saying all state directors get multiple reports and write many memorandums. This second Tecumseh report was just one of the sources of advice on how to take the Corrections agency forward, he said, adding that it probably contained information that the department wasn't going to use.

Excuse me? Then why did we pay $20,000 in taxpayer funds for a couple experts on the subject of prison riots to do a study? That's a pretty pricey project to place on a shelf. Sadly, ignoring it will likely cause a much higher price in the long run. The lawsuits from the families of the deceased and the victims of the incident – a diabetic inmate who was left for 18 hours without food or medication – have barely started.

Ricketts says the reports are released when people ask for them. Stop. How do we ask for something we didn't know existed? I don't know whether I ought to laugh or scream at that one.

The previously undisclosed report was written by consultants Dan Pacholke, of the Washington State Department of Corrections, and Bert Useem, of Purdue University. They concluded conditions at the Tecumseh pris-on left it primed for a rebellion.

"The prison was under stress; inmates were unsettled; the 'barometric pressure' was high and rising," wrote Pacholke, formerly responsible for operations at the Washington State Department of Corrections, and Useem, a professor who has published two books on prison riots.

Their report explained that when the initial resistance took place in the prison yard on May 10, 2015, stress on the facility permitted small acts of resistance to spread quickly from the yard into two housing units and the gymnasium. The report pointed to staffing issues, apparent coordination among inmate gangs and a "somewhat disjointed" response.

Other findings: --The day of the riot, the Tecuseh prison was understaffed by four, so four program areas were closed. The shift had a high concentration of relatively new, inexperienced staff, 45 percent who were hired on or after 2013.

--Too many inmates on the yard and too few staff diminished the capacity to contain the initial assault. Once the disturbance started to grow and the need for additional staff was apparent; the facility had already maximized its response and exhausted staff resources.

--The state consider changing the population of the Tecumseh prison to lower custody inmates "who would be better suited for supervision by more junior staff," and create separate housing units for different custody levels to give inmates incentives to work toward lower security levels and more opportunities for programming and activities.

--The greater a prison's orientation toward rehabilitation through case management and programming, the safer it becomes. "Giving inmates the opportunity to engage in activities they find meaningful (e.g. treatment, education, vocational training) reduces idleness and incentivizes desistance from violent and disruptive behavior."

Go back and read those six paragraphs and let the recommendations sink in. Then look at the Governor's characterization again: This second Tecumseh report was just one of the sources of advice on how to take the Corrections agency forward, he said, adding that it probably contained information that the department wasn't going to use. That's just disgusting.

It's time for the Judiciary Committee of the Nebraska Legislature to get to the bottom of who IS running the prison. Let's just hope it's not the inmates.

Southeast District Health Department reminds community to receive the flu vaccine

With influenza season currently underway, the Southeast District Health Department would like to remind you to take steps to protect your health and the health of those around you.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons aged 6 months and older receive the flu vaccine. Vaccination is considered the best protection against the flu, and frequently decreases the severity and duration of symptoms for those exposed to the influenza virus. Symptoms generally include fever, body aches, cough, and sore throat, and can progress to hospitalization and death in more severe cases. The CDC reported that as many as 80,000 influenza-related deaths were recorded across the United States during the 2017-2018 flu season.

The health department provides the following recommendations for individuals to help decrease the spread of influenza in our communities:

Avoid close contact with people who are displaying symptoms.

Stay home when you are ill to avoid exposing others.

Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing.

Wash your hands often, and use hand sanitizer as appropriate.

Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth to limit exposure to contagious pathogens.

Practice good disinfection habits in your environment. Clean and disinfect frequently touched surfaces at home, work, or school, especially when someone is ill.

For more information on influenza and vaccination, contact the Southeast District Health Department at 1-877-777-0424 or visit www.sedhd.org.

The Christmas story

From the Book of Luke, Chapter 2

AND it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2 (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

3 And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)

5 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with Child.

6 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9 And, lo, the angel of the LORD came upon them, and the glory of the LORD shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the LORD.

12 And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

15 And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into Heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the LORD hath made known unto us.

16 And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger.

17 And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this Child.

18 And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Irish cap off a perfect week

The Falls City Sacred Heart Irish boys basketball team improved to 6-0 for the season with three wins this past week. First off, on Tuesday, December 11 the Irish hosted the Lewiston Tigers. The Irish dominated the game from the tip, leading 18-8 after one quarter and 38-11 at the half. The Irish continued the pressure in the second half outscoring the Tigers 34-16 over the final two periods as they cruised to a 72-27 win.

SH shot 53 percent from the field (31-58) while holding Lewiston to just 30 percent (10-33). The Irish outrebounded the foe 28-21 and forced 22 turnovers to only three by the Irish offense. SH playmakers also dished out 21 assists in the contest.

Tyler Witt had a big offensive night, netting 22 points (10-14) from the field, pulled down four boards and had three blocked shots. Jake Hoy added 13 points and four steals while Jakob Jordan and Drew Bippes each had nine points. Bippes added a game-high eight assists for the Irish. The win improved the Irish to 4-0, and the loss dropped the Tigers to 1-3.

On Friday night the Irish traveled to Humboldt to take on the Titans. HTRS kept it close the first quarter, trailing 20-13 but the Irish pulled away in the second period to take a 43-20 halftime lead. SH continued to lead 54-34 after three and pulled away in the final eight minutes for the 73-44 win. The win gave the Irish a 5-0 start to the season while the loss dropped the Titans to 3-2.

The Irish shot an unbelievable 75 percent from two-point range making 27-36 shots and 60 percent total from the floor while HTRS hit 40 percent for the game 18-45. SH held a decisive advantage under the glass pulling down 29 rebounds to 18 for the Titans.

Witt again had a big game hitting for 22 points, ten rebounds, three blocks, and eight assists. Hoy also had a big night for the Irish netting 20 points and adding two blocks. Jarrot Simon added 13 points and three rebounds. Connor Bredemeier led the Titans with 15 points while Hunter Hain added 14.

On Saturday afternoon the Irish host Bishop LeBlond at the RAC. LeBlond hung tight for the first period, with the Irish leading 17-13, but a 20-6 second quarter blew the game open at 37-19 heading into halftime. The Irish came out of the locker room on fire, outscoring the visitors 21-6 in the third as they cruised to a 77-40 win. The loss dropped the Eagles to 2-5 while the Irish improved to a perfect 6-0.

SH missed just four shots from two-point range in the contest, hitting 29-33 shots for 88 percent. The Irish also outrebounded the Eagles 26-9 in the game. Witt finished the game with 24 points (66 for the week) and had five rebounds. Hoy added 12 points, and four rebounds and Simon had 10 points and six rebounds. Drew Bippes added 10 points, four rebounds, and a team-high seven assists.

The Irish will host Tri-County on Tuesday, December 18 with girls JV action set for 4:30. Then on Friday, December 21 the Irish will hit the road for a game vs. Elmwood-Murdock.

The Irish girl's basketball team got off to a good start on Tuesday night when they hosted the Lewiston Tigers, leading 16-5 after the first quarter and 27-8 at the half. The Irish outscored Lewiston 32-7 in the second half to earn the 59-15 win.

The Lady Irish shot just 32 percent from the field (21-65) but converted 14 of 18 free throw attempts. The Tigers made only six of 34 shots (17.6 percent) and missed all four free throw attempts. SH held a 27-5 advantage on offensive rebounds and a 48-18 total rebound edge.

Erison Vonderschmidt led the Irish with 14 points and six rebounds. Rachel Magdanz added 13 points, eight boards, and two steals. McKenzie Witt added nine points, three boards, three steals, and five assists. Dana Christen led the Tigers with eight points.

On Friday night the Irish hit the road for a match-up against the Titans from HTRS. The game was tight for most of the first half with the Irish leading 9-5 after one quarter and 21-14 at the half. With about two minutes to go in the first half, the Irish caught fire and didn't look back as they cruised in the second half on the way to a 61-26 win.

The Irish made just 26 of 75 shot attempts for 35 percent but held the Titans to 11 of 36 for 31 percent. SH also made nine of 13 foul shots, while the Titans converted just three of 17. The Irish also forced 27 turnovers in the game and committed only seven.

Magdanz again led the Irish with 12 points, six rebounds, and three assists. Randee Witt added 11 points, and two steals and Danielle Bippes had eight points and 11 rebounds. Carissa Allen led the Titans with six points.

The Irish also won a three quarter JV game 35-16. Lauren Malone led the scoring for SH with nine points, while Claire Niemeyer had seven and Taylor Frederick and Emma Littrel each added six.

On Saturday the Lady Irish improved to 6-1 with a 65-15 drubbing of the Bishop LeBlond Eagles. The Irish led 30-6 at the half and 53-10 after three periods. The Irish shot better, hitting on 48 percent of their shot attempts while limiting the Eagles to just five of 40 from the floor. The Irish defense forced 20 turnovers, and the offense had 23 team assists to just one by the Eagles.

Magdanz again led the Irish with 14 points and three rebounds. McKenzie Witt added eleven points, three steals and five assists and Elizabeth Keithley added nine points and six rebounds. Juliann Smith led Bishop LeBlond with nine points. The win improved the Irish to 6-1 for the year, while the loss dropped the Eagles to 1-4.

The Irish will be in action on Tuesday, December 18, when they host Tri-County and then will hit the road on Friday for a matchup against Elmwood-Murdock.

Tiger wrestlers have busy week

Photos by Brian McKim, Story submitted

The Falls City Tiger Wrestling team had a busy week. On Tuesday, Dec. 11, the Tigers hosted Conestoga for their first and only home wrestling dual. The Tigers would only wrestle five matches on the night and got a big win from Chris Verdinez at 170 lbs. Some tough matches at 182 lbs. and 195 lbs. would help Conestoga claim victory in the dual (42 - 36).

The Tigers would travel to Nebraska City on Thursday, Dec. 13, to take on the Nebraska City Pioneers. The Tigers did some things well on the mat and definitely got some great experience against an always tough Nebraska City squad. The Tigers would win three out of four exhibition matches before the varsity dual, with Thomas Fields, Jon Garcia, and Steven Riggs all pinning their opponents. The Pioneer varsity squad was too overwhelming for the Tigers in the long run with the Tigers only winning two matches they wrestled with pins from Lane Burns at 138 lbs. and Jaden Nolte at HWT. The Pioneers would claim victory (65 - 18).

The Tigers traveled to Auburn this past Saturday for their second Wrestling Tournament of the year.

The Tigers would have some great matches and some real positives heading into their last week of wrestling before the end of the semester. The Tigers had three wrestlers place at the Auburn Tournament (Jaden Nolte 2nd at HWT, Kyle Black 3rd at 160 lbs., and Dakota Fisher 4th at 182 lbs.)

"We definitely got some great experience this week and some quality mat time on Saturday. A lot of our guys are starting to turn the corner in terms of competing better on the mat. We just need to eliminate some silly mistakes that get us caught in bad situations. We have gotten better every week, hopefully we can get everyone healthy over the break and keep our program moving in the right direction."

Michelle Beer pushes the ball up court against the Lady Blue Devils. The Tigers dropped a pair of games last week, first they fell 34-19 at Southern on Thursday and dropped a close game, 50-46 at Plattsmouth on Saturday. Stats were not submitted in time for publication. (Photo by Deena Beer)

Sez-I

It must take a person to shoot a house cat, then stomp the cat and break its back legs. Then you walk away, let it crawl back and die. It made it back home. We took it to the vet where we found out what was wrong with it. No we can not pet it or hold it. It can not have it lay on our lap or sleep with us. I would like to see the big coward face us if not afraid too. Maybe he would like to shoot at something bigger that can shoot back. Our cost. If you do it again don't get caught.

Don't get snowed under this Christmas: tips to spend wisely

(StatePoint) Even after setting a holiday budget, the most wonderful time of year is often the most expensive. Experts say that this Christmas, there are new ways to make your dollar go further.

"The days of clipping coupons may be out of style, but finding ways to save money never is," says Michael McAuliffe, president of Family Credit Management. "From in-store apps to price trackers, new tech tools can help."

The experts at Family Credit Management are encouraging consumers to research their money-saving options, as technology is always evolving. To get you started, they have narrowed down a few tech-savvy ways to streamline and save this season.

• Browser Extensions: Forty-six percent of all holiday shopping occurs online, according to WeAreTop10, so, do your share of it wisely. Whether you use Google Chrome, Internet Explorer, Safari or Firefox as your internet browser, there are sites you can visit to add an extension to your searching power. It's like adding an additional search box which will know to look for the best deals out there whenever you are shopping online and compare prices side-by-side, cutting out some of the legwork for you. Some well-known examples are PriceBlink, The Camelizer and InvisibleHand.

• Coupon Apps: Mobile apps such as Coupon Sherpa, SnipSnap and Yowza, enable you to scan items while you're in-store and find the best value coupons on the spot.

• Price Drop Alert Trackers: Eighty-four percent of Americans plan to check Amazon before looking or buying elsewhere, according to the Accenture Holiday Shopping Survey. Don't make the mistake of assuming Amazon is the be-all-and-end-all for saving. Prices drop all the time, especially around Christmas. But, how can you keep track of who is dropping them and when? With a tracker app, you can tell the app what to look for and it will notify you when your wanted items drop in price. IFTTT (If This Then That), camelcamelcamel and Price Tracker for Amazon will keep an eye on prices for you to make sure you're the first to see the best deals.

• Credit Card Points/Discounts: Credit cards can encourage overspending, but when used carefully and within budget, offer certain advantages. For example, store-specific credit cards often offer special discounts, kickbacks and coupons for cardholders. Just think how you could double up on the savings by using some of the above tools, as well as by purchasing with a card with added bonuses. Remember though, that any savings you earn will quickly be eaten up if you pay interest charges. To avoid this trap, never use a credit card unless you can pay the entire balance in full each month. Also, think very carefully about opening a new account, as this can negatively affect your credit.

More holiday shopping, spending and saving tips can be found at familycredit.org.

When it comes to spending, don't let the spirit of the season carry you away. You can stay within budget by practicing spending discipline and leveraging the latest tech tools.

Tell the DOL to put American workers first and save the print requirement for temporary job listings

By David Chavern, President and CEO, News Media Alliance, Dec. 5, 2018

Print newspapers are still the primary way that tens of millions of Americans receive information about their communities and the world. They are also the way that many people find out about job opportunities. While we assume that everyone has an internet connection, the fact is that many areas of the country have limited or no internet service. According to the Federal Communications Commission, nearly 40 percent of Americans living in rural areas lack access to fixed broadband internet. Without their local newspapers providing the information and job listings they need, they would be at an extreme disadvantage.

But if the Department of Labor (DOL) has its way, these communities may soon be out of luck. On November 8, the DOL proposed to change the way temporary job openings are shared with potential workers. Currently, employers are required by law to notify U.S. workers of these openings through publishing the listings in local newspapers. However, the DOL says it now believes publishing the listings on "widely viewed" websites, instead of in print newspapers, would be sufficient, and is therefore proposing removing the print requirement and moving to digital-only listings.

The purpose of the existing policy is to ensure that job opportunities are made known to U.S. workers before they can be offered to foreign workers. By publishing announcements in the print newspaper, employers are able to reach an extremely wide audience, both geographically and in income level. Sunday newspapers – the main sources of print job listings – reach roughly 34 million adults in the U.S., according to the Pew Center for Excellence in Journalism. In many cases, newspaper publishers also publish the job listings on their websites and social media channels, as well as employment websites such as Monster.com and CareerBuilder, with whom newspapers have partnerships. The newspaper, in effect, serves as a local agency to ensure the broadest distribution of recruitment ads. If the Department of Labor ends the print requirement, it will be much more difficult for people who need jobs to find them.

Without the print requirement, job seekers will not only have a harder time finding job listings in their local newspapers, but online as well. By maintaining the print requirement and adding a digital requirement, the DOL will ensure the widest possible distribution of an ad so U.S. citizens can learn of employment opportunities.

The proposed alternative of simply posting an ad on a website would make it too easy for employers to just "check the box" and by-pass available US workers. If the Department of Labor truly wants to support its mission to serve American job seekers, it should require both print and digital distribution of recruitment ads.

Project Response honors Sheriff Brent Lottman and Dr. Seay

Project Response held its December Board of Directors Meeting on Monday, December 3rd at El Portal. After the monthly meeting, the Board was joined by Project Response staff as well as former board members Sheriff Brent Lottman and Dr. Darolyn Seay for the annual supper. During this time, the Board and staff recognized Sherriff Lottman and Dr. Seay for their years of service and dedication to the agency.

Sherriff Lottman served on the Project Response Board of Directors for 11 years and Dr. Seay served nine years. Throughout the years, their volunteering of time and dedication to the agency's mission did not go unnoticed. They excelled in their roles as governors for the agency. They were a huge support to the agency's executive directors, staff, volunteers, and survivors. They often advocated on behalf of the agency's mission when out in the community. Sheriff Lottman and Dr. Seay's service and dedication were more than appreciated not only by fellow board members and staff, but also by the survivors that were served by the agency.

Letter to the Editor

The opiate crisis is continuing to get worse in the United States and is now being considered a "syndemic," after graduating from being an epidemic. A syndemic is when 2 or 3 other epidemics start playing off of each other. Right now, besides the opiate epidemic, we also have the benzodiazepine epidemic and the methamphetamine epidemic as well. What's happening is that all three epidemics are fueling each other. The opioid crisis has been around for quite some time, as well has the benzodiazepine problem, and the methamphetamine problem has recently reappeared in the last few years. The opioid epidemic came first and can be said to have spun the other problems alongside it. What we have happening now is that these three problems have created major increases in new HIV infections, Hepatitis C infections, sexually transmitted diseases, and infectious endocarditis. I knew that if we didn't really step up and get a handle on this problem, it was going to get worse, and it has. The opioid epidemic that has claimed thousands upon thousands of lives has now grown into a different, scarier monster.

Dear Santa, I want a doll that drinks and wet or baby fender love. And a burnet wig. How is Mrs. Santa and the elves? Hope fine. I have brothers and 4 sisters counting me. Ill go down the line from oldest Linda, Marcell, Diana, Cindy, fred, Ed. That all I got to say. Cindy Ann Cavanaugh

Dear Santa, Billy and me have been pretty good. Heres what we would like for Christmas. Billy would like a train and some racing cars. And I want rings and things and another nice thing. Bobby would like a stuffed toy. Daddy needs some shirts. Mommy wants some new sheets. And we would like a new record player if you have one. Our friend Brenda Rahe.

"POST OFFICE SORTING ROOM" December 8, 1945

When Artist John Falter set out to paint a picture of the Christmas-mail rush, he made his sketches in the busiest post office in the world, the one properly known as the New York, New York, Post Office, at 33rd Street and 8th Avenue. In spite of all the urging to mail early--did you?--the rush never gets fully under way until about this date. Then it's a torrent. In the first nineteen days of last December, this post office handled more that 12,000,000 parcels. The biggest day for mailing is December nineteenth, ordinarily, but the mailman's worst day, for deliveries, is December twenty-third. That is the day he staggers around under a sack of gifts that would discourage Santa Claus himself. Postmaster Albert Goldman and his brother postmasters would appreciate it if you would mail early this year--but they don't expect it.
