RICHARDSON COUNTY RECEIVES $73,100 FROM NPPD

By: Charlie Radatz

During the Tues., April 16th, meeting of the Richardson County Commissioners, it was reported that $73,100.00 had been received from the Nebraska Public Power District for its annual contribution to assist with the expenses of the Richardson County Emergency Management Agency.

Commissioners received a letter from the NE Attorney General's Office regarding the Sheriff's request for the office to clarify the NE State Statute 33-117 regarding the collection of mileage fees for paper services done by the Sheriff. The Attorney General's Office stated it was not authorized to provide legal advice or opinions to persons or entities other than a state agency or official and to county attorneys.

Highway Superintendent, Steve Darveau, Jr. updated the Board on the routine maintenance of the county roads and bridges during the previous week. The current prices of road rock was reviewed and the representative from Martin-Marietta, Darveau reported that patching of potholes was being done on the county's hard surfaced roads.

At 9:45 a.m. Chairman Sichel presented the proof of publication for a public hearing to be held to receive input from the public regarding the closing of a portion of 648 Avenue south of 706 Road. Present were Ben and Paula Sue Steffen who stated they were not in opposition to the closing of the road. The hearing was closed at 9:53 a.m.

At 10:00 a.m. Chairman Sichel presented the proof of publication for a public hearing to be held to receive input from the public regarding the closing of a portion of 709 Road east of 661 Avenue. Present for that hearing was Mark Jones who said he wanted it to be made part of the record that the bridge should be fixed and the road should remain open. Merle Bachman was also present for the hearing and commented on possible bridge removal should the road be closed. Bachman said the bridge pilings would have to remain in tact as required by the Corp of Engineers. Chairman Sichel declared the public hearing closed at 10:12 a.m.

Commissioners voted to adopt a resolution designating an "employee only" smoking area located outside the northwest entry door to what is known as the "old gym/maintenance area" of the Richardson County Law Enforcement Center. Approval was by a 3-0 vote.

Commissioners also voted to approve the replacement of supplemental employee sponsored cancer, critical illness and accident insurance through Allstate Benefits and for cancellation of current supplement employee sponsored AFLAC and Trans-America policies effective July 1, 2019.

A fee report was approved for Sheriff Pounds for fees collected during the month of March, 2019 totaling $3,657.46.

The meeting was adjourned after Commissioners voted to allow the payment of all claims that were submitted during the previous week.

GERALD HOPP CONTINUES TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

By: Lori Gottula

This Saturday, April 27th is an important day in the life of Falls City's Gerald Hopp.

It's Moving Day. That's the name of a fundraising walk for the Heartland chapter of the national Parkinson's Foundation. The event is close to Gerald's heart because he was diagnosed with office for Cuming County.

In 1976, he was named the agent-chair for Richardson County. He planned to stay in town for five years, and then look at his options.

Enter Kathy.

Kathy Amend was living and working in St. Joseph, MO, at the time, but came to Falls City one spring weekend to visit her sister, Laurie Amend, who was the vocal music teacher at Southeast Consolidated. That Sunday, at the Presbyterian church where Laurie was organist, Kathy caught Gerald's eye.

"He didn't call after that, though," she teased, during the interview. "He was the pitcher for the fast-pitch softball team from Talmage, and wanted to spend his summer weekends on softball diamonds. As soon as the season was over, though, he called me."

"Lucky for me, she was still available," Gerald said. "And interested."

The couple married two years later. Their boys were born in 1983 and '86

Gerald and Kathy Hoppe

Anyone who would like to donate in Gerald's name can do so by contacting Gerald or Kathy at home, by logging onto movingdaywalk.org/hoppskipjump, or by sending a check to the Parkinson's Foundation, Heartland Chapter, 8900 State Line Road, Suite 320, Leawood, KS 66206.

"Every dime that's donated will go toward research, awareness, and education," Gerald said, during a recent interview at his home. "The funding is important for Nebraska because the percentage rate for Parkinson's per 100,000 people is higher in this region than it is in any other area in North America. For that reason, education is imperative."

Education is a large part of Gerald's reason for participating. It's in his background. It's in his blood. And his background defines more about who he is than his Parkinson's disease ever will.

Gerald's past started in Talmage, Nebraska, where he graduated from high school in 1967. After that, he attended UNL, where he earned his bachelor's degree in agricultural economics and animal science, and a master's degree in the first. Before coming to Falls City, he served for two years as the second agent in the county extension

USE OF AIRPORT FOR HOT AIR BALLOON EVENT APPROVED

By: Charlie Radatz

During its Mon., Apr. 15 meeting, Falls City's City Council approved use of Brenner Field for a Hot Air Balloon Festival June 14-16 sponsored by the Falls City Chamber of Commerce and approved a special designated liquor license application for Schillingbridge Winery and Microbrewery for the serving of alcoholic beverages June 15th from 3:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. during the event. Approval was by a 6-0 vote with Chamber Manager Amber Holle and a member of her board, Kaylie Racliff, abstaining. As the Journal reported in its Apr. 3rd edition the Balloon Festival was an annual event for ten years from 1985 to 1995.

The Council voted 8-0 to approve an application for a $15,000 Nemaha Natural Resources District grant to fund construction of portions of a project that would include a walking trail and a water feature at the city's Aquatic Park that would be a miniaturized replica of the Nemaha River Falls after which the city was named before it moved to its present location. The project, that would include city signage, was proposed by Second Ward City Councilman Lucas Froeschl who described it as effort to beautify the area lying between the Aquatic Park and the new Southeast Community College-Falls City Center and as a location for a sign welcoming Highway 73 travelers to the city.

The Council voted 8-0 to authorize the Board of Public Works to seek bids for upgrades to the Electrical Utility's Ring Bus and the electrical line running from the City to its Water Treatment Plant at Rulo. The Olsson consulting firm designing the project has estimated the base project would cost $1,650,000 and an optional improvement to the northeast section of the ring bus is estimated to cost an additional $350,000 for a total cost of $2,000,000 if bids come in at or below the estimates. The costs of the improvements would be borne by utility ratepayers.

Utility Superintendent Ray Luhring said his board would consider contracting for the entire project, splitting the project over two fiscal years, or contracting for part of the project and having utility crews construct the remainder.

The Council took no action on bids it received for repair of the Prichard Auditorium roof but instead opted to hire an engineering consultant to determine what types of repairs needed to be made.

The bids received by the bid deadline were $89,800.00 from J.W. Gaber, Auburn and

New taxes are coming (If Senators don't stop them!)

By Governor Pete Ricketts

April 15th is National Tax Day, and it's a reminder that we have a long way to go to make Nebraska more competitive on tax policy. Overall, the Tax Foundation ranks Nebraska 24th nationally for tax climate. As a state that relishes national championships, we should also work to be #1 in tax competitiveness, so we can grow Nebraska.

Every year I have been Governor, I have made property tax relief a top priority. I have proposed many ideas including spending limits on local government, refundable property tax credits for property owners, an income potential valuation system for ag land, and direct property tax relief among other ideas. This year, I have proposed a $51 million increase to the Property Tax Credit Relief Fund, which will bring the fund to $275 million of relief annually. This is almost double from where the fund was when I started as Governor. I have also recommended establishing a minimum floor of $275 million for the fund to help ensure relief is delivered every year. Finally, I am also advocating for a limit on annual local government property tax increases.

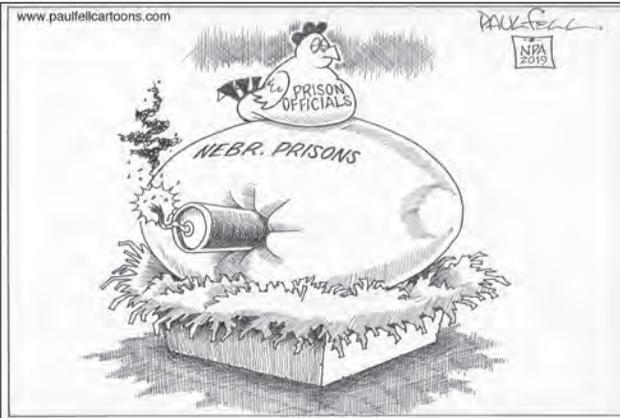

With less than two months left in the legislative session, the Revenue Committee has been working on a tax package. While many agree property tax relief is the top priority in this session, the Revenue Committee has sadly taken the approach of shifting taxes from one group to another, which is not real tax relief. The tax package, which is expected to be included in LB 289, is full of tax increases. The package has been a chameleon and constantly in flux, but here's a sampling of the taxes Senators are talking about imposing or increasing. The Committee is considering increasing the sales tax as much as 18 percent, tobacco tax, and real estate transfer tax. They want to impose new taxes on zoo memberships, pop, candy, bottled water, ice, moving services, storage, pet healthcare, nail care, tattoos, interior design, painting contractors, taxi and limousine services, Uber and other ride sharing services, lawn care, gardening, parking, swimming pool maintenance, dating services, plumbing, and heating and air conditioning contractors - among others.

Some Senators have tried to cast a small sales tax increase as manageable. One even told the newspaper they were more likely to support it because people will not notice or complain as much. As you think about the impact that a sales tax increase would have on you, here are a few examples of what will cost more: appliances, car repairs, meals at restaurants, pet supplies, cable, movie rentals, pest extermination, books, computer software, TVs, and gym memberships—to name just a few. Many of these proposed tax increases will disproportionately hurt working and low-income families.

Worst of all, the Revenue Committee is preparing to abolish the Property Tax Credit Relief Fund to spend it somewhere else. Right now, this fund provides $224 million in direct property tax relief to all property owners—from farmers and ranchers to homeowners—each year. Some Senators want to take this money away from taxpayers and give it to schools—even though we are already projected to spend over $1 billion on schools this year. Taking away this property tax relief could result in the largest property tax increase for taxpayers in the history of our state.

As the session continues, we expect the proposed bill, and the items the senators want to tax, to continue to evolve. No final outline of the tax package has been released. This means Nebraskans are left to make their best guess about how the tax plan will impact them. If you work for, or buy goods or services from, one of the industries the Committee has talked about taxing, your family budget is at risk. The tax increases the Committee has been weighing keep changing day-by-day.

As the Revenue Committee continues to weigh tax increases, I will continue to push for tax relief for all Nebraskans. We cannot do tax relief for one group at the expense of another group—it creates winners and losers and pits Nebraskans against one another. I hope you will take time to let your State Senator know that you oppose raising taxes on working families. You can find their contact information at www.NebraskaLegislature.gov. If you have thoughts on tax issues or any other topics, you are welcome to email pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or call 402-471-2244.

PRISONS STILL OVERCROWDED, IS THERE ANY RELIEF?

Capitol View Commentary by J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
The state's prisons remain overcrowded. They are short-staffed and the current employees are overworked. Assaults on staff continue. The watched pot continues to boil. Nebraska's prison system currently has 2,127 more inmates than design capacity, putting it at 163% capacity. If that number doesn't go down, Nebraska must declare a prison-overcrowding emergency on July 1, 2020.

It's not a good situation for staff or those who are incarcerated. It's frustrating to say the least and what led the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Chairman Sen. Steve Lathrop of Omaha to offer a bill (LB686) that would change the timeline for what happens after the Correctional System Overcrowding Emergency is declared. It's not a matter of if, but when.

The current trigger, a population more than 140% of design capacity on July 1, 2020, requires the governor to declare an overcrowding emergency. Lathrop said that means the parole board would have to look through the list of inmates and begin paroling inmates until they get to 125%.

That's not going to happen in an afternoon, Lathrop said. Relying on the Parole Board to be mindful of its obligation under statute and to be mindful of public safety, hopefully it will be done in a thoughtful way. Lathrop's bill, a priority of the Judiciary Committee, proposes changing the hard deadline to a stair-step reduction in six-month increments. From July 1, 2020 through December 31, 2020, the Department of Corrections would need to get to 140%. Then, starting January 1, 2021 through June 31, 2021, it would drop another 5 percent and so on through January 1, 2022.

Corrections Director Scott Frakes, testified in opposition to the bill. He said arbitrary benchmarks that are not possible to attain within the described time frames would do nothing to improve the prison system. It will not cause the prison population to drop to an acceptable level. Measures to address crowding take time, strategic planning and perseverance.

Frakes, appointed by the governor in 2015, has had time. Numerous reports have pointed to overcrowding as the cause for unrest in the system, including two deadly "incidents" (we used to call them riots) at the maximum security prison in Tecumseh that left four dead. Pleas for reform through sentencing and programming have been around decades.

Time, planning and perseverance. Seems like it took no time for the department to carry out the execution of a death row inmate after voters approved a repeal of the Legislature's ban on the death penalty. I guess some things CAN move ahead quickly in the prison system. Frakes blames a ballooning inmate population that has left the system at a recent count of 5,502 incarcerated people. The system is designed to hold a total 3,375 inmates in its facilities in McCook, York, Lincoln, Omaha and Tecumseh. Only Alabama, with its 182 percent overcrowding, outranks Nebraska. Nationwide, prison population is at 103 percent of capacity, ranking it 113th in the world. Frakes told the Judiciary Committee that the department needs $50 million - the request is in his budget before the Appropriations Committee - to add 384 beds at Community Corrections in Lincoln. But those will be several years away if the request is approved.

He said some of the money would be used to switch the security levels of the Tecumseh State Correctional Institution and Lincoln Correctional Center. The plan is to turn Tecumseh from a maximum into a medium security prison to help with some of the staffing issues (too few and too inexperienced).

Prison reform activist John Krejci, a retired Nebraska Wesleyan University sociology professor, has been discussing issues with the department and lawmakers for at least 20 years. He says it's important to look at sentencing and at after care.

Krejci says many inmates are serving short sentences for low-level drug offenses, driving under the influence and other nonviolent crimes such as forgery and bad checks. Treatment in the community is a better alternative to incarceration. Aftercare-supervision, aid in housing and job search, and alcohol and drug treatment are better ways to spend corrections dollars to prevent the situation.

I agree. I like Senator Lathrop's practical approach to handling the mandated emergency release in the short term. Krejci's suggestions are by far the best long-term solutions at this point.

Let's hope the Department listens. J.L. Schmidt has been covering Nebraska government and politics since 1979. He has been a registered Independent for 19 years.

succeeded in high school and then in life, it made me feel really good."

But 4-H was just one of the programs that Gerald oversaw. He also did a weekly radio show on KTNC on a variety of informational topics. In addition, he and his staff developed meetings, workshops, and committees that educated the public about timely events. For example, when the nationwide farm crisis began in the mid-80s, Gerald and his staff reacted quickly.

"The levels of depression were deep and scarring," Gerald said. "Tough cowboys, farmers, and ranchers were taking their own lives because they couldn't pay their bills and were losing their farms. Some of those farms had been in their families for generations."

Gerald and staff member Deb (Kabes) Stevens created a task force called STARS, or Support Team Acting on Rural Stress. STARS developed a workshop that the extension office took on the road. Each workshop taught people how to deal with intense stress, and gave the frustrated farm families an outlet through which they could manage their frustrations. Most importantly, though, the workshops provided people with resources to help them through the tough times.

"I remember one man who called the office during those times," Gerald said. "There were cattle bellowing in the background, and the man said, 'My cows are hungry and I can't feed them. What do I do now?'"

"I could hear the anguish in the man's voice. Together, we explored ideas and the alternatives he had. I stayed on the phone with him until his voice told me that he would be O.K."

Another example would be the floods of 1992 and '93. When the majority of the homes in Richardson County were flooded by ground water, Gerald interviewed experts in that field, and produced a radio program that dealt with flood-related issues.

"I really felt like I made a difference in that job every day," Gerald said. "And I loved the variety of problems that I and my staff members got to solve."

When those issues became more specialized and technical, the scope of the extension office changed, and Gerald decided to retire. That was October 1, 2004.

Two days later, October 3rd, he started working for Charlie Radatz, as a reporter and on-air personality at KTNC radio station. By October 5th, he was on the air.

"I loved that job as much as I had loved my position at the extension office," he said.

"If radio had come along first, I probably would've done that instead."

He enjoyed interviewing people and putting stories together. He felt like he was making a difference, too. One story that he did—a story about organ transplants—even earned him a bronze award from the Nebraska Broadcasters Association.

Unfortunately, Gerald's radio career only lasted five years. One year after Charlie retired and sold the station, Gerald opted to hang up his microphone. He went to work then for the Falls City Public Schools, as a para-professional in the high school's special education classroom.

"Talk about making a difference," he said. "The teachers and para-professionals in that class do so every day. It was my privilege to work alongside them."

Gerald was no stranger to hard work, either. He worked hard at his jobs, and gave the same effort when he volunteered. He did a lot of that, too.

In his younger years, he served as a member of the Jaycees, and volunteered as a Jaycee basketball coach and referee. He also coached baseball for the summer recreation program.

In more recent years, he served on the Falls City Tree Board, and was a member of the The Clefts-men singing group.

From 1993 to 2018, Gerald also maintained Falls City's Krumme Arboretum. He mowed the grass, trimmed the trees and bushes, and ran a weed-eater. In 2017, he was honored for those contributions when the Jaycees recognized him as Falls City's Outstanding Community Leader.

Sadly, last July, he had to put his weed-eater in the garage for the last time. He realized then that he just couldn't keep up anymore.

"That was hard," Gerald said. "The Parkinson's had really started to take its toll on me."

I became easily fatigued. My feet and legs froze in place, too. The worst part, though, was that I noticed a difference in my cognitive skills. I knew what I wanted to say, but the words wouldn't come to me. I really began to struggle then, too, because I wanted to be the person I had always been, and to do the things I had always done. But I couldn't."

That's when most victims of Parkinson's begin to isolate themselves. Gerald just wanted to go home and hide from everyone. But Young Je Kim, his pastor at First United Methodist Church, delivered a sermon one Sunday that included a message that spoke directly to Gerald.

"He told our congregation that we couldn't live in the past," Gerald said, tearing up.

"There was no use doing so because it wouldn't change our futures. And he was right." So Gerald decided to look forward, and to approach his disease like a conqueror.

Knowing that movement was the key to his success, he joined the Falls City Fitness Center and began attending yoga and Silver Sneakers classes. He also started traveling to other locations to attend classes specifically designed for Parkinson's victims.

And, rather than hiding, he decided to speak out.

"I thought, by sharing my story, I could possibly help someone else who is suffering, not just with Parkinson's, but with any disease," he said.

His message? To keep moving, or be as active as possible.

For Gerald, every movement is a struggle. He has to visualize it, process it, then do it.

But he continues to move because he knows, if he doesn't, it will become harder to move with each passing day. And basically, that is true for everyone. The more a person moves, the more he or she CAN move.

"Movement means life," Gerald said. "Movement of any type holds the key to a quality of life."

This Saturday, April 27th is Moving Day. It's an important day in the life of Falls City's Gerald Hopp. In honor of his service to this community, donate if you wish, but whether you do so or not, please use that day as your own personal Moving Day. Get up and get moving.

And Gerald, if you think you're no longer making a difference, well, that just isn't true. Look! You just did.

Peru State College to provide tuition assistance to students and families impacted by the floods

Peru State College is participating in the Nebraska State College System's 2019 Disaster Relief Tuition Waiver Program. To help alleviate some of the financial hardships on returning and incoming students and families that were affected by the natural disasters, the College will provide financial waivers for new and returning students impacted by recent flooding. Waivers are based on need and availability.

Dr. Dan Hanson, president of Peru State, said, "It is important to the mission of the College that we partner with the region. Offering tuition assistance to students impacted by the flooding is one more way to engage with the communities that have supported Peru State College."

Dr. Jesse Dorman, vice president of enrollment management and student affairs, adds, "The College will offer this scholarship to new, returning and current college students. We feel this is the best way for Peru State to support its mission in the region."

Peru State College students and families interested in receiving a 2019 Disaster Relief Tuition Waiver can get more information here: Returning students: Contact the Financial Aid Office for additional financial waivers at 402-872-2228 or finaid@peru.edu.

New incoming students and/or families: Contact the Office of Admissions at 402-872-2221 or admissions@peru.edu

As always, there is no application fee to apply to Peru State. If you have unique circumstances, please reach out to Peru State College to see what options are available.

As partners to the rural communities they serve, Peru State and the other state colleges have already initiated temporary housing, meal options, and other needs to support current students, staff members, and community members who are in need.

The challenges caused by the flooding will affect many of our communities and students for quite some time, but Peru State College and the Nebraska State Colleges will continue to support its students and neighbors.

"The State Colleges will continue to be a community partner with and provide volunteer opportunities for students to help rebuild the affected communities and keep Nebraska strong," said Gary Bieganski, Chair of the NSCS Board of Trustees.

Tigers skid continues

The Falls City baseball team lost their fourth and fifth games in a row this past week, dropping their season record to 3-7. The Tigers traveled to Hiawatha on Thursday for a matchup, hoping to stop a three-game skid.

The game looked good early as FC scored in the top of the first to take a 1-0 lead. Kade Bredemeier opened the game with a hard single up the middle. Two batters later Zack Beaver reached on an error by the shortstop to put runners at first and second with one out. After a double steal, Kyle Black hit a fielder's choice to the third baseman, scoring Bredemeier to give the Tigers the 1-0 lead. The Tigers enjoyed the 1-0 lead until the bottom of the fourth. Hiawatha got a leadoff single, followed by an error that allowed the home team to tie the game at one run apiece. In the top of the fifth, Bredemeier again led off with a single, this time past the shortstop. After a stolen base and flyout, he was on third. A sac fly by Beaver brought him home to give the Tigers a 2-1 lead.

Hiawatha took the lead for good in the sixth. The inning began with an error followed by a walk. A double steal and a groundout tied the game at two with just one out. Another base hit, this time past the shortstop, gave Hiawatha a 3-2 lead. The Tigers had one last chance in the seventh but went down quietly with a groundout, a strikeout, and a line out to the left field.

Carson Bredemeier took the loss for the Tigers, surrendering four hits and three runs (one earned). Andrew Lierz went the distance for Hiawatha striking seven innings, allowing five hits, two runs, and seven strikeouts.

Kade Bredemeier was 2-4 at the plate with two runs scored. Kyle Black was 1-3 with an RBI. Carson Bredemeier was 1-3, and Calvin Crouse finished 1-2 with a walk.

On Friday the Tigers hosted Plattsmouth at SNC field. Despite outlasting the visitors 16-6, the Tigers fell behind early and despite a late rally fell 11-7.

Plattsmouth staked a 6-0 lead after three and a half innings before FC finally got the offense going. The fourth inning began with a single by Stephan Acton past the Plattsmouth shortstop. After a strikeout, second baseman Dalton Fouraker reached on a bunt to put runners on first and second. With two outs, Kade Bredemeier picked up an RBI single to center to get the Tigers on the board at 6-1.

In the fifth FC got things started with a Beaver single. Two ground outs moved Beaver to third, and Calvin Crouse stepped to the plate and delivered an RBI single to make it 6-2. Plattsmouth, however, responded with a huge sixth inning, scoring five runs on one base hit, six walks, and an HPB to put the game out of reach.

FC wasn't about to give in though, as Dalton Helmick led off the inning with a walk, followed by Kade Bredemeier reaching on an error. A ground out moved the runners up, and Helmick scored on a ground out by Beaver. With two outs Kyle Black came through, ripping a single to left field to score Bredemeier to make it 11-4 at the end of six innings. Down by seven runs with three outs to go FC mounted yet another rally. Acton doubled to left field to begin the rally. A single by Crouse put runners on the corners with no outs. Fouraker then drove in a run to make it 11-5. After a strikeout, Kade Bredemeier worked a walk to load the bases for younger brother Carson who came through with an RBI single to make it 11-6. With two outs, Black came through again with a base hit to make it 11-7 with two outs. FC had the bases loaded, but a strikeout ended the game after the furious late-inning rally.

Kade Bredemeier was 3-4 at the plate with a walk and RBI. Acton finished 2-4 with a double and Black had a big day going 3-5 with two RBI.

Plattsmouth drew 12 walks and struck out eight times while FC batters worked just two bases on balls and whiffed 13 times.

James Eickhoff took the loss for FC, throwing two and a half innings, allowing just two hits, four runs and had three strikeouts.

FC will try to get back on track when they play at home on Monday vs. Bishop LeBlond. Next, FC will travel to Nebraska City on Thursday before returning home on Saturday for a match-up against Branched Oak at 1:00 p.m.

SEZ-I

'Thank you, Falls City'

My wife and I traveled to Falls City on Tuesday, April 9th to see my mother who was in the hospital. She is 84 years old and just had a full knee replacement on her right knee. I just had a full knee replacement on my left knee less than two weeks prior, so I knew what she was going through.

We had a pleasant stay and went to go home after 7 pm. We were heading North on highway 73 when we reached the curve to go west when the fuel pump went out on our truck. I tried to call a tow truck but could not get anyone to answer. We decided to call the Sheriff's office for assistance. This is when our experience with everyone in and around Falls City turned into a delightful memory. Pamela, the dispatcher, answered the phone. We told her of the trouble that we experienced, and she offered to call a tow truck for us. She also said she would dispatch a deputy to where we were located. While we were waiting on the side of the road, a young man stopped to see if he could help us in any way. He made sure that we had a cell phone and that a tow truck was on its way. My wife and I looked at each other and said that we have not seen respect like this since the 60's and 70's. Not much later, another couple stopped to see if we needed assistance.

They stood and talked with us until Deputy Mike Reynolds arrived. We told Mike of our experience so far and told him that we lived just NW of Lincoln, and no one would have shown such a kind gesture. I was in the back seat since I needed to keep my left leg elevated as much as possible which Mike noticed. He called Pamela his dispatcher, and she confirmed that the Grand Weaver Hotel had a room for us since they were only a couple blocks from Armbruster Motor Company where we were having our truck towed. The short distance was important to us since I was using a walker to get around. Soon Morrill Towing showed on the scene to give us a tow back into town. Once again this young man was very polite and helpful. He not only towed us into town delivering our truck to Armbrusters but he also took us to the Grand Weaver hotel. Once we got there, he also helped us carry what we had into the hotel before heading home. We checked into the hotel and received a room that was recently remodeled which was very comfortable. In the morning we called on our truck, and the shop foreman said they were busy for the day but would try to work us in. We then walked over to the One Stop Café for breakfast. We noticed a Pepsi clock on the outside but when we walked in it was all Coke memorabilia.

We ordered breakfast and were surprised by the large helping that we had. My sister spent the night with my mom in the hospital, so we called her to ask for a ride from the One Stop to the hotel and then to Armbrusters. When she arrived, we were talking with the waitress and introduced my sister. When we went to leave the waitress gave us cinnamon rolls to take. These cinnamon rolls were handmade and some of the most delicious that we have ever had.

Once again, our memories of Falls City continue to grow for the best. While waiting for our truck to be repaired Roger Aberle sat and talked with us while he was getting his oil changed. He is a retired farmer who now sells real estate for Barnes Realtor in Hiawatha, Kansas. Another pleasant conversation while we were waiting. A little while later another lady sat down while waiting for her service work to be completed. She also had her knee replaced in Falls City by the same surgeon that my mom had. Around 2:00 our truck was done so we could head home. Thank you to everyone at Armbrusters for working us into your schedule. A mechanic opened the door for me and also helped carry some of our belongings out to the truck for us.

My wife and I still talk of our memories of Falls City and how nice and respectful everyone was. In this day and age where we live, this is a rare occurrence, but in Falls City this is an everyday way of life. Thank you to everyone we met for a great memory! Please don't change.

Funds available to plant severely weather damaged acres to cover crops

To help manage cropland damaged by Nebraska's severe spring weather, the USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is providing funds to plant cover crops on cropland acres. Producers are encouraged to apply at their local USDA Service Center by May 17, 2019, for the first window or by June 21, 2019, for the second window.

Nebraska NRCS State Conservationist Craig Derickson said, "This funding will address resource concerns like erosion and water quality, resulting directly from the March 2019 severe weather damage on cropland acres. Cover crops are an excellent way to provide protection to cropland after conservation work has been completed. Cover crops can stabilize the soil and improve soil health."

This funding is available statewide in order to assist the widespread recovery work on cropland acres directly impacted by the severe weather in March. The highest priority cropland includes land which is unable to be planted with a cash crop and/or harvested in 2019. Cover crops prevent erosion, improve soil's physical and biological properties, supply nutrients, suppress weeds, improve the availability of soil water, and break pest cycles along with various other benefits. Cover crops can also potentially be grazed. Work currently being done to maintain conservation structures as well as sediment removal, debris removal or grading and reshaping can be stabilized and protected from further erosion and damage by planting a cover crop. Derickson said, "For Nebraska's cropland that suffered significant damage, planting a cover crop can be a great way to help protect fields and help restore productivity."

Business education

Practical business education has changed greatly during the last century. Once mandatory, penmanship and typing courses have been replaced by instruction in keyboarding. Shorthand is seldom used except for personal note-taking. Computer programs now transcribe human speech without the need for a stenographer.

The Young Men's Journal (Omaha), on March 31, 1893, reported on the courses and training offered by the Omaha College of Shorthand and Typewriting, "one of the flourishing institutions of the city. It is located in the most central portion of the city in Boyd's New Theatre building, one of Omaha's largest structures. The college occupies the large hall and front rooms of one entire floor, and the accommodations and facilities are up to the ideal.

"While it is strictly an exclusive school of shorthand and typewriting, students who are deficient in penmanship, orthography and such other English branches as are requisite to the qualifications of a good stenographer, receive instruction in the same. The corps of instructors are experienced and practical stenographers who give their entire time and energy to the school.

$119,895.00 from Skyline Construction, Steinauer. Victor Haworth of Haworth Seamless Gutters appeared at the meeting and indicated he could do the project for $49,139.38.

Two contracts were approved for owner-occupied housing rehabilitation projects funded by Community Development Block Grant funds managed by the Southeast Nebraska Development District, one with E.Z. Construction, Lincoln for $13,733, and the other with NJC Contracting, Lincoln, for $24,999.

The Council approved by 8-0 votes Mayor Shawna Bindle's appointment of Ryan Bauman as the City's Building Inspector, demolition by Frederick Brothers for $8,200 of a residence at 2215 Lane Street, the quarterly update by EDGE Executive Director Beckie Cromer, and a request from the Falls City Volunteer Ambulance Squad for use of the Stanton Lake Volleyball Court and Clifton Street for a fundraising event May 19th.

The Council discussed briefly whether or not to create an ordinance regulating curbside parking on streets considered too narrow for parking on both sides of the street. Members of the council found that most city streets were 24 1/2 feet wide providing sufficient room for emergency vehicles to travel unimpeded when vehicles were parked on both sides. While the city has a few 22 feet wide streets, it was decided those could be handled on a case by case basis.

Brief discussion was given to possible city payment for a portion of the cost of having a cellphone app to relay notifications to the public, but no action was taken with the council to consider the matter when reviewing the annual City Budget.

On Thursday June 6 they will leave Gretna and travel to Syracuse; Friday, June 7. They will leave for Brownville. On Saturday June 8, the tractors will head to Falls City, arriving at Indian Cave State Park. The local FFA will be serving the evening meal. Throughout the drive donations will be accepted for the American Legion program Operation Comfort Warriors. One-hundred percent of the donations go to the veterans. Towards the end of the Tractor Show at the park TRAN will present a check to the American Legion of donations raised on the three day drive. ## National Poetry Month celebrate at the FC Library on April 26 with Sidewalk poetry

By Tyler Catlin

The greatest poets always believed that people could find unity in the art of poetry. Even though these poets had their beliefs that poetry was a powerful unifying force, most people probably don't even think twice about poetry. It was only in 1995 that a group of literary experts created a conference to discuss the true importance of poetry, a form that has been around since almost the dawn of time.

This conference was mainly created for the sole purpose of one question: should poetry have its own month, similar to Black History Month and Women's History Month? These literary experts had been inspired by the success of the two aforementioned nationally recognized months, and, in 1996, the first National Poetry Month was held. Ever since that year, poets and those who enjoy poetry celebrate Poetry's recognized month every April.

This month has been such a huge success that in 2001, people voted to have the faces of their favorite poets on postage stamps. In 2005, the Empire State Building cast a bright blue glow over the surrounding area as it was filled with blue lights in honor of National Poetry Month's tenth anniversary. Several poetry contests have been opened, both to older and to the youth, during this month. One of the contests, Dear Poet project, was launched to encourage students to read and write poetry. The Dear Poet project posts a new poem on their website, Poets.org, every day during April.

Needless to say, much more attention has been brought to the poetic fine arts since the establishment of this national month. As the age of this month continues to grow, more and more encouragement and attention is brought to poetry. Many benefactors and people of high status support this month, and the Falls City Library is happy to say that they encourage it, too.

On April 26, the Falls City Library will let people stop in for chalk, and write their poems on the sidewalk in front of the building. This is a way to let people of all ages who enjoy writing get a chance to have people read their writing anonymously. If you want to sign your name with your poem, you can too. People walking by the library will be able to view the poems that our community has written.

If you aren't able to take part in this on the 26th, then you can come in on your own free time. If you do come in, stop by the front desk and ask for chalk. After you get the chalk you'll be free to write your poem on the sidewalk wherever there's space.

Sidewalk poetry, the library's sign of support of this month, is only one example of how poetry can be spread to people and only one example of the many, many poetic functions that take place during April. National Poetry Month has made many poets' writing careers possible and has allowed readers to find a favorite poet. All of this is thanks to the conference of literary experts and those who helped to spread the idea, such as our Falls City Library and Arts Center.

Brownville Concerts breaks ground on Concert Hall renovation

Submitted by John Lauber

The Brownville Concert Series proudly announces the formal groundbreaking on the long-planned renovation of the Brownville Concert Hall. Joining in the festivities are Brownville Concerts Board Members Jeffrey Meade (President), John Lauber, Jan Chism Wright, Janet Palmtag (Vice President), Eric Stallbaumer of AHR Construction, Bob Sailors of the Brownville Village Board, Stephen Charleston of the Department of Economic Development and Tom Bliss of Southeast Nebraska Development District.

In 2016, The Brownville Concert Series successfully organized into a separate 501(C)3 corporation in order to accept the gift of the Brownville Concert Hall which was generously donated by James H. Keene, III and Ruth Haley Keene to ensure the long-term continuation of the Brownville Concert Series. As a result of the change in ownership it became necessary for the building, which was originally built in 1990, to be brought up to current codes regarding Fire Standards and Americans for Disabilities Act requirements. The newly formed Concert Series hired BVH Architects in Omaha, the original architects involved with restoration of the building in 1990, to design and oversee the renovation.

In 2017, based on their input, we were able to apply for and receive a grant from the Nebraska Department of Economic Development Tourism Development Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) that just fit our needs. The CDBG is in the amount of $350,000. In the Fall of 2018, we signed a contract with AHR Construction to begin work in Spring 2019. Projected costs at this point total $775,000 (including $35,000 for the purchase of the seven-foot 1985B Steinway Piano).

The Brownville Concert Series has been conducting a targeted Capital Campaign that included applying for grants from major Foundations, area businesses and key individuals. We are very proud to announce that we have obtained cash and commitments totaling over $531,075 (70 percent of total needs) to date (including the CDBG). Special thanks is given to The Richard P. Kimmel and Laurie Kimmel Charitable Foundation, The Peter Kiewit Foundation, The Julie Hamann Foundation, The Fred and Eve Simon Foundation, Nemaha County Lodging Tax Committee, Brownville Community Foundation, First National Bank of Johnson, Auburn State Bank, Frontier Bank of Falls City, and 150 individual donors.

In order to raise the remaining 30 percent ($250,000), we have instituted a special level of giving call The Grand Club (Grandeur) for those donating $1,000 or more. The Grand Club members currently include Joe and Marlene Ricketts, Jeffrey Meade and Shannon Stemm, Jan Chism Wright, Michael and Sharon Casey, Bruce Lauritzen, Myra Wilhite, John and Karla Marburger, Blake and Julia Hurst, John and Sandra Heyer, Bob Engels, Kenny Walton and Karen Kunk, John and Mary Lauber, Dale and Diana Dickkut, David and Laurie Nachtigal, Kay Rosenbohm, David and Nicole Kaufman, Lowell Fey, Dr. Charles and Carole James, and Randel and Jane Smith.

CENTRAL PARK RAINBOW
APRIL 30, 1949

When John Falter's cover painting was accepted, there was lightning trickling down the sky beside the rainbow. Presently the Art Department began to worry-do lightning and rainbows ever show up at the same time? The ever helpful Weather Bureau was asked to look at the Post's storm-which has just doused midtown New York and is rumbling away beyond Central Park's man-made rampsarts. "Fair and cooler," was the comment. "But we never saw a streak of lightning in such bright daylight. Of course, where weather is concerned, anything can happen." So the picture was delighting, leaving only that sign of clearing weather, a patch of blue sky large enough to make a sailor a pair of breeches.
