

HOT AIR BALLOON FESTIVAL A WILD SUCCESS

On this past humid but temperate Saturday night, before a rain shower soaked everyone and everything at the Falls City Airport, the cars started coming. The people had been promised something amazing, so for the next three hours, they kept coming. By the time the rain had cleared, and volunteers had admitted everyone, nearly 6000 people from 27 states had passed through the gates. They were there to see the first Hot Air Balloon Festival since 1995.

The brainchild of chamber director, Amber Holle, the festival was the talk of southeast Nebraska for months. But nobody expected the massive turnout that backed traffic up for two miles—from the airport clear back to Harlan Street—and filled every inch of grass and concrete behind the hangar at Brenner Field.

"The crowd was overwhelming," Holle said. "The responses on Facebook indicated that 1500 people were coming. Just to be on the safe side, we planned for twice that. But then 6000 people showed up."

The chamber had purchased 3000 wristbands, which were only given to adults 21-and-over. The volunteers ran out of those by 6:30 p.m. Add to that total the teenagers and children, and 6000 is probably a conservative estimate.

Aside from the downpour in the early evening, parking appeared to be the biggest issue.

But what seemed like a parking problem to some people meant a successful event to others. Anxious visitors waited in line for 30 minutes just to get onto airport property. Some parked a mile away, then walked. Others parked at the high school lot, then jumped on a trolley or climbed on a bus. And the bus wasn't even part of the initial plan.

"When I drove past the high school, I saw people lined up from the entry clear back to Jug Brown Stadium," volunteer Mitch Merz said. "So I went home and got my bus."

That kind of community spirit was evident throughout the evening. Falls Cityans who paid to get in, and had planned to attend the event with their friends or families, jumped in to help any way that they could.

Kelly Bletscher, whose company, Schilling Bridge Winery, served food and beverages at its vendor booth, said that she had a full staff, but had accepted help from 10 volunteers.

"People just kept saying, 'what can we do?'," Kelly said. "So we accepted their help just so we could keep up. We served food to at least 700 people. And drinks? I couldn't begin to count. It was unbelievable!"

The vendors weren't the only people affected either. Runza restaurant owner Gina Scheitel said that all of the restaurants in town were very busy.

"It was super crazy," she said. Back at the airport, Chris Shimmel of Rockport, who sold funnel cakes while people waited for the balloons to launch, had his biggest night ever, too.

"I've never seen anything like this," he said. "Ever. We started frying funnel cakes the minute the gates opened, and we never stopped, not even for a minute. It was definitely my biggest event."

Big was the name of the game that night. And most of the bigs were positive. But along with the big crowds came one big disappointment. When the 7 p.m. launch time came, the balloonists decided to postpone it to 7:30, or maybe not fly at all. The wind and rainy conditions earlier in the evening had created less-than-ideal launching and landing situations.

According to balloonist Mike Fenster of Omaha, the Federal Aviation Administration governs the conditions in which balloonists can launch and land. Firstly, the wind velocity must be less than eight-to-ten miles per hour. Even so, the wind wasn't the biggest factor in the decision to postpone.

"The biggest factors were the wind direction, and the rain that hit the area earlier in the evening," the nationally-ranked, competitive balloonist said. "The wind was blowing eastward, so we knew that our balloons would fly toward Rulo and the Missouri River. In addition, it rained earlier in the evening, which created rough, wet, and muddy landing areas. Some of the balloonists decided not to risk it."

"Taking off is optional," said balloonist Tim Cloyd of Runnels, IA. "But landing is mandatory."

Fenster agreed. "A large balloon stands six stories high and weighs three tons when filled," he said. "Safety has to come first."

By 7:30 p.m., the wind direction had changed slightly so two of the balloonists decided to launch. The first was Fenster whose Remax balloon was sponsored by SunMart. Manager Angie Phroper got to ride.

"It was indescribable," Angie said, after her first ballooning experience. "You can't even tell that you're moving because you're just floating. And everything feels like you're at peace with the world."

The second balloon that launched was called Emerald City Express, owned and operated by Michael Jones of Omaha. The Gottula family sponsored the balloon, with a banner that read, "For Dad."

ELEVENTH ANNUAL CHASIN' DREAM'S BENEFIT JUNE 22 FOR BELLA BEAMAN

By Jessica Santo and goshout. love; photo by Jessica Santo.

This year's eleventh annual 'Chasin' Dream's Benefit' ride is being held to benefit Bella Beaman.

Isabella (Bella) Beaman is the one year old daughter of Sarah and Thomas Beaman of Verdon. Bella was diagnosed with Spina Bifida at 21 weeks' gestation.

Sarah Beaman went in for her 20-week ultrasound, assuming a typical visit where they would find out the much-anticipated gender of their new baby. The ultrasound technician took longer than normal when performing the scan and kept asking Sarah if she had any issues with her pregnancy.

The technician stated that she was seeing some deformities and a spot on the baby's spine. The doctor came in and stated that he was seeing obvious signs that the baby had Spina Bifida—a neural tube defect that occurs in the first 28 days of pregnancy where the spine doesn't fully close off, leaving the spinal cord exposed through a gap in the backbone, resulting in variations of issues due to nerve damage. Bella has one of the most severe forms of Spina Bifida. Along with the diagnosis of Spina Bifida, she also has been diagnosed with Chari II Malformation, hydrocephalus, and neurogenic bowel and bladder disease.

Shortly after the diagnosis, Sarah and Thomas were set up with a maternal-fetal medicine doctor who presented them with three options for moving forward. They could: One wait until she was born, and then they would perform surgery. Two, Perform fetal surgery, which was the riskiest option, but also had the most benefits for Bella. Three, Abortion. Sarah shares that 68 percent of these cases are aborted, and that "It's not even the discussion of pro-choice or pro-life. It's more that we need to fight for these kids because they're worth it."

Thomas and Sarah ended up choosing fetal surgery. They were given the chance to par-

Enjoy more time outdoors with easy tricks

In centuries past, humans spent much of their time in nature, hunting, foraging and living life without the comforts of extensive shelters. Fast-forward several centuries, and the tables have turned dramatically.

The Environmental Protection Agency says the average person spends 93 percent of his life indoors, with 87 percent of the time inside of a building, and the remaining 6 percent in an automobile. These shocking results indicate that the equivalent of just one half of one day per week is spent outdoors. And people may be paying a price for spending so much time indoors.

There's various reasons to believe that being outdoors can be good for a person's health. The National Institutes of Health and Harvard Medical School say that, in addition to providing physical benefits, simply spending time in nature in any form can improve mental outlook, boost creativity, elevate mood due to natural light, improve concentration, and reduce stress. A study from the St. Louis University School of Medicine also said that spending time outdoors can help a person sleep better. That's because natural sunlight can set the body's internal clock.

Despite all of the benefits of getting outside, many people find it challenging to do so thanks to their busy schedules. The following are a few ways to increase time in the outdoors that do not require major commitments.

- Bike or walk to work. For those who live close to their offices, walking or cycling to work is a simple way to spend more time outdoors. People who take public transportation can get off the train or bus a few stops early to get some exercise and breathe some fresh air.
- Lunch outside. Take your lunch hour outdoors rather than in an indoor cafeteria or restaurant. Office workers are urged to go to a park or green space to give their brains a rest from urban stimuli. Lunch is the ideal time to do just that.
- Invest in a screen room at home. A screened-in porch, lanai or other space can bridge the indoors to outside and serve as a restful place to enjoy some fresh air while being protected from insects and inclement weather.
- Set strict "no device" times. Schedule a time when devices are disconnected and the entire family enjoys some recreation outdoors. Let kids get back to the basics of bike riding, skating, playing pick-up sports games outside with friends, and all of the activities parents enjoyed as youths.
- Dine al fresco. Opt for outdoor seating at a favorite restaurant. This will provide an hour or more to take in the sights and breathe some fresh air while enjoying a meal.
- Meet friends at outdoor places. When engaging in recreational activities, plan them at outdoor venues, such as parks, beaches, town centers, boardwalks, and other areas where everyone can have fun and still be outside.

Fresh air, sunshine and time spent in nature are good for the mind and body. People concerned that they're spending too much time indoors should seek ways to spend more time outside whenever possible.

Drowsy driving is no joke; every driver should know the warning signs and avoid drowsy driving

By Laura McDougall
Executive Director, Four Corners Health Department

It has probably happened to you. You are driving on a long trip, traveling alone or at night, or perhaps just off from a long shift at work—and you start to yawn. Your eyes are heavy, the road seems to go on forever, and your vehicle veers. You have just entered a danger zone.

In Nebraska, drowsy driving contributes to as many as 300 fatigued-involved crashes and more than 130 serious injury/fatalities annually. Research shows that nearly a third of drivers admitted to driving within the prior thirty days when they were so tired that they had trouble keeping their eyes open. This lack of sleep slows reaction time, impairs judgment, and increases the risk of dozing off while driving.

That's why Four Corners Health Department is teaming up with the Nebraska Department of Transportation – Highway Safety Office to remind all drivers to be well rested before they get behind the wheel. The Don't Snooze and Cruise drowsy driving injury prevention campaign will educate young drivers and older drivers about the need for 8 hours of sleep. Getting good sleep on a regular basis is the best defense against drowsy driving.

Every driver should know the warning signs and avoid drowsy driving. Having trouble keeping your head up, nodding off, veering into another lane or onto the rumble strip, and frequent yawning -- are all signals that you are too drowsy to drive safely.

Sleep is the best remedy. Rolling down the windows, turning up the radio or drinking a caffeinated beverage are not enough to stave off drowsiness.

If you are drowsy while behind the wheel, find a safe place to pull off the roadway, get out and walk every 100 miles, or take a break to recharge. Physical activity such as a brisk walk or moving around offers a natural boost of energy.

On long trips, try not to drive alone. A driver accompanied by a passenger is nearly 50 percent less likely to be involved in a drowsy-driving related crash.

Drivers who sleep less than five hours per night are six times more likely to be involved in a drowsy-driving-related crash than drivers who get eight or more hours of sleep. Take the simple step to protect yourself and others by being well rested before you get behind the wheel. Always remember to buckle up every person, every time, in every position.

If you do find yourself drowsy, while driving -- remember: Don't Snooze and Cruise. It may just save your life or someone else's.

TYING UP SOME LOOSE ENDS

Governor Pete Ricketts and First Lady Susanne Shore want to recognize Nebraskans who played a role in the recovery from the bomb cyclone that struck the state in March and caused heavy rainstorms and floods, which required disaster declarations for 81 counties and 104 communities.

Nominations of "flood heroes" for their extraordinary acts of bravery will be accepted online at www.nebraskaimpact.com/flood-heroes. The nominations will be reviewed and honorees selected and recognized later this year.

"During the most widespread natural disaster in state history, Nebraskans rose to the challenge to protect their families and assist their neighbors," First Lady Shore said. "Many worked overtime, risked their personal safety, and generously contributed their time and money to give aid to their communities. We look forward to hearing stories of the heroes in our midst. We also want to give them official recognition for their service to our state."

Good for the Governor for wanting to recognize the "heroes." How about all of you living in those 104 communities stand up and take a bow right now for being "Nebraska Strong."

Speaking of strong, the Governor is highlighting two new metrics, which he says indicate the state's economic strength. Nebraska has the least state debt per capita and the second-highest workforce participation rate among U.S. states.

In a recent news release from his office, Ricketts said a June 3 Moody's report reveals that Nebraska has the lowest total net tax-supported debt (NTSD) -- only $23 -- of any state in the nation. Having a high level of NTSD places a state at risk of insolvency when debts come due.

Additionally, Nebraska ranked second among the 50 states in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' May 17th report of state labor force participation rates. The monthly report measures the percentage of a state's population that is working or actively seeking employment. Nebraska's high labor force participation rate and low unemployment rate are evidence of a strong labor market, Ricketts said.

Hats off to the Bish brothers for planting the first industrial hemp crop in Nebraska in more than 60 years in a field near Giltner. Brothers Andrew and Jacob Bish, along with Andrew's daughter, Eliana, hand-sowed two test plots of Nebraska heirloom hemp for research, not commerce.

While the Nebraska Hemp Farming Act was signed into law by the Governor last month, the regulatory framework being built by the Department of Agriculture and the Nebraska State Patrol has not been finalized. New regulations have been enacted by the state, preempting any potential federal regulations that go into effect next year, but the state permit application process is still undefined. That means farmers who plant hemp this year, as the planting season draws to an end, are potentially in violation of state and federal law.

Andrew Bish, the chief operating officer of Bish Enterprises and the founder of Hemp Harvest Works, argues heirloom hemp -- which is also known as feral hemp, wild hemp, or ditchweed -- is exempted from the licensing requirements under the law. The first plot was planted in rows to study how spacing constraints affect the growth of hemp plants that will be harvested for their seeds or stalks; the second was planted in a vegetable garden-style plot to study how to best harvest flowers key to the manufacture of CBD products.

"What we're doing here isn't going to create the commodity Nebraska needs," Andrew Bish said. "But hopefully it will inspire others to have confidence in moving forward."

Omaha Senator Justin Wayne, who sponsored the Hemp bill (LB557) urged caution so that the rules and regulations can be thoughtfully created and adopted. He said he understands the frustrations of the Bishes and others who want to start growing the crop. "We have to make sure we protect the farmer and the public, he said.

Bill Achord, president of the Nebraska Hemp Association, dismissed Wayne's concerns. Hemp is "regulated up the yin-yang now," Achord said, mostly based on long-held fears and misinformation. If they take longer to write the rules, so be it, he added.

"How are they going to regulate it more? It's a crop, all they've got to do is test it," Achord said.

The ag department and state patrol are still working on a way to best test the product as directed by Wayne's bill, said Taylor Gage, the governor's director of strategic communications.

Finally, kudos to the nine state Senators who voted "no" on the motion to adjourn the Legislature sine die on Day 84 of the scheduled 90-day session. While it seemed that the 37 who voted "yes" were ready to call it quits -- or maybe just realized the wheels were coming off the wagon -- the nine of you recognized your obligation to the people who elected you to not be quitters.

Mr. Darveau presented to the Board on a study he conducted regarding the possible vacation or abandonment of a road known as 713 Road running west of 643 Avenue for approximately 2400 feet to where a culvert has been washed out. Mr. Darveau reported that there would be no reason that this road commonly known as that portion of 713 Road running west 2400 feet to the East bank of Wolf Creek should remain open to public traffic. The Board will consider a resolution at next week's meeting to set a public hearing date to receive input from the public regarding the potential vacation of the described road.

Motion was made by Frank to approve the replacement of a pledge security receipt from American National Bank, receipt #280022455 to replace receipt #322006799. The motion was seconded by Caverzagie and approved on a 2-0 vote with Commissioner Sickel absent.

Crystal Duneckacke, Community Program Manager for the Southeast Nebraska Development District, presented the Annual Report of that organization to the Board.

Blue Valley Mental Health Executive Director John Day presented to the Board the annual review of that organization's services to Richardson County and requested continued County funding for the next fiscal year to enable Blue Valley to provide continued services to residents in the County. The funding request was for the same amount as for the year previous, $8,000.00/year.

Motion was made by Caverzagie to recess the regular meeting agenda and go into an Executive Session at 10:45 a.m. to review a general assistance claim. The motion was seconded by Frank and approved by a 2-0 vote. Eleventh Annual Chasin' Dream's Benefit June 22 for Bella Beaman in a clinical trial at Texas Children's Hospital that would hopefully give Bella the best quality of life possible. They uprooted their lives and temporarily made Texas their home for nine weeks as they went through this journey. The surgery came with loads of risks for Sarah; she shares, "The risk for fetal surgery is the mom takes all the risk, and the baby gets all the benefit." Sarah knew she had to pick fetal surgery to give Bella the best chance and "never questioned it, not once."

At 25 weeks gestation, the baby and Sarah underwent a fetoscopic in-utero repair of Bella's myelomeningocele. They were only case number 48 in the entire world for this specific clinical trial and had 20 doctors in the operation room during the surgery. The surgery was not a fix or a cure since there is no cure for Spina Bifida, but the goal of surgery is to allow the nerves not to be further damaged and to retain what functions the baby had at that point. Sarah was cut open, similar to a c-section, and then they pulled the uterus out and performed a laparoscopic-type surgery on the uterus. The doctors worked as a team to close the spot on Bella's back that was open.

Thomas shares, "It was the longest four hours of my life. Words really can't describe how you're feeling. Really, they're taking someone, and you don't know if you're ever going to see them again. Whether you're going to see mom or Bella, you really can't describe that feeling of if they're going to come back."

The surgery was considered successful, and Sarah and Thomas remained in Texas until she was 32 weeks pregnant; she then received clearance to go back to her hometown in Nebraska where they could surround themselves with the familiarity of their own community. Thomas shares, "Our support group is just amazing, and it's not only just family, but we have some of the closest-knit friends that anybody could ever have, which makes it a family. From day one we've never really dealt with negativity, we've never really dealt with anything but positiveness."

Bella was born at 34 weeks and only spent 13 days in the NICU. At five months of age, she underwent brain surgery for her hydrocephalus. She has a ventriculoperitoneal shunt, which is a device that drains the extra fluid from her brain, and will have this shunt for the rest of her life. She is currently doing really well and is such a joyful and happy child. When asking Sarah what her biggest hope for Bella is, she strongly states, "That she keeps the fight in her."

Bella has a long journey ahead of her and will require several different kinds of doctor appointments, therapies, and medical equipment throughout her life, but she already showed the world at just 25 weeks gestation what a fighter she is.

There is no doubt that Sarah's hope for Bella will always be true, she is a fighter through and through.

The Annual Chasin' Dreams Benefit will be held on Saturday, June 22, registration begins at 11:00 a.m. at Wild Bill's in Rulo, Hwy 159 and Main St. Kickstands go up at noon with the last card drawn at 4:00 p.m. The planned route is, Wild Bill's in Rulo, to Centerfield in Shubert, then to Rusty's Place in Humboldt, then to Big Red N in Salem, then to The Would Eye in Falls City and back to Wild Bill's Bar and Grill where there will be a Free Will Donation meal and auction.

For more information on the Chasin' Dream's event, contact Kelly Klepper at 816-390-2066 or Wild Bill's Bar and Grill at 402-245-4097.

Bella is June's feature child for Go Shout Love and if for anyone who can't attend the Chasin' Dream's Benefit, you can go to www.goshoutlove.com to purchase a T-shirt inspired by Bella. Every purchase will help cover the costs of medical equipment and therapies not covered by insurance.

Ron and Cassie Prichard, former owners of Wild Bill's Bar and Grill, started the Chasin' Dreams annual benefit to help enrich the life of a child in our community who needs additional support due to health concerns and car. Every year a different child is selected to be the recipient of this benefit run. (Nikki McKim contributed to this article)

Falls City Public Schools Superintendent's District Update – June 11, 2019

By Superintendent, Tim Heckenlively

The Falls City Public Schools held its regular monthly board meeting on June 10, 2019. Here are the highlights of the meeting.

Required annual policy hearings: The Board of Education conducted public hearings and a review on several policies requiring an opportunity for annual public input and review. Those specific board policies included 1) 7111 Attendance and Excessive Absenteeism; 2) 7142 Bullying; 3) 7500 Student Fees; 4) 8310 Parental Involvement; 5) 8312 District Title I Parental Involvement and Engagement

Transportation Director's Report presented by Rob Baker provided a review of the District 56 transportation fleet. The eight rural bus routes traveled 92,770 miles during the last school year, compared to 92,886 in 2017-2018. On average, the district's bus routes transported 305 students on a daily basis to and from school. Over the past school year, District 56 students were transported to 349 school activities, covering 44,111 miles. Rob Baker emphasized the impact of the harsh winter weather on district transportation. The cancellation of many school activities and multiple days where the district operated only "emergency bus routes" on hard surfaces reduced the overall miles traveled by the district's bus fleet. District 56 is fortunate to have dedicated and experienced bus drivers, contributing to our stellar transportation safety record.

Falls City High Master Plan Update provided by Darin Hanigan of BVH Architecture wrapped up the master planning phase for the high school building addition and renovation. The board of education discussed the final master planning drawings and estimates for the proposed project. The review of drawings considered three phases and three separate estimates to go along with those phases. The next steps in the schedule will include entering into a contract for the preparation of schematic design, design development and construction documents. A public engagement session will take place during this phase Hanigan stated. The district is looking forward to moving into the next phase of the design project.

The Unicameral has adjourned for this session. Ending on Day 84 of what was supposed to be a 90-day Session, the 106th Legislature's 1st Session came to an early close. A few notes of interest that resulted from the session include a new state budget averaging 3% growth, a 1% increase in special education funding, and an additional $51 million to the Property Tax Relief Fund to a total of $275 million. Bills requiring board policy changes included LB 103, changing the procedure for setting a political subdivision's property tax request. The bill will require a vote of the board if property tax valuations result in an increase (regardless of if there is a levy change) and requires a new notice of Property Tax Increase Hearing separate from the existing school board Budget Hearing.

LB 399 changes the name and provisions related to the committee on Americanism This bill changes the name to Committee on American Civics and requires no fewer than two public meetings per year. One of which public testimony is accepted. The bill also mandates some curriculum changes and testing or homework requirements, while removing a class 3 misdemeanor for non-compliance.

New roof installation at South School - The scheduled roofing project for the summer will be at South School with the replacement of the gym roof. The existing roof will be removed and replaced by an adhesive insulation and 60 mil EPDM, carrying a 20-year warranty. The district's roofing consultant, Heartland Roofing, will be in charge of the roofing plan.

The District 56 Board of Education acted on several items before concluding the regular meeting.

1) Approved the final reading on Board Policy Reviews and Revisions: 1) 7111 Attendance and Excessive Absenteeism; 2) 7142 Bullying; 3) 6112 Evaluation of Certificated Employees.

2) Reaffirmed Annual Policy Reviews: 1) 7500 Student Fees; 2) 8310 Parental Involvement; 3) 8312 District Title I Parental Involvement and Engagement

The next regular monthly Board of Education meeting is scheduled for July 8, 2019, at 7:00 P.M. in the Central Office in Falls City Middle School. Regular and special meeting agendas are kept in the Office of the Superintendent.

Peru State students to compete at National Leadership Conference

Seventeen Phi Beta Lambda students from Peru State College have earned the chance to compete at the national level during the organization's National Leadership Conference in San Antonio, Texas. Peru State's PBL Chapter brought home more than 75 awards from the state-level competition, however the qualified competitors could only choose two events each to compete in at the national level.

Dr. Sheri Grottrian, professor of business and Peru State's PBL advisor, says, "It's been another fantastic year of getting new students involved and mentored by students who have participated for multiple years. Our PBL group continues to become very tight-knit, collaborative and supportive."

She concludes, "I'm excited to see how our students perform in San Antonio this summer. There is definitely potential for some national awards."

The National Leadership Conference also encourages attending students to network, develop leadership skills, and visit exhibitors and vendors. Students share their successes and learn new ideas about shaping their future careers through workshops.

Peru State's local national competitors included; Lindsay Harlow, daughter of Dave and Kathy Harlow, (Dawson, NE) - Forensic Accounting Team and Information Management and Tyler Harms, son of Susie Kreifels and Thad Harms, (Falls City, NE) - Parliamentary Procedure Team and Financial Analysis and Decision Making Team.

Blue Storm Seniors riding the momentum train

By Brian McKim

After dropping the first seven games of the season, the Blue Storm seniors won three consecutive contests last week to improve their season record to 3-7.

FC traveled to Sabetha on Tuesday, and the woes continued, falling 9-1. The Blue Storm led 1-0 after two innings, but the home team picked up four runs in the third and five more in the fourth to pick up the victory.

FC got its lone run in the second as Kyle Black led off with a single to center field. Black was then caught stealing, but then Stephen Acton replaced him on the base paths after a wild pitch on strike three. Acton advanced to second on another wild pitch and scored on a double to center by Jack Fiegenger. Fiegenger went to third on a passed ball but was stranded as the next two batters struck out. Sabetha went on to score nine unanswered to get the win.

Each team finished with five hits; however, FC committed two errors to go with the five hits. Fiegenger was 2-2 with an RBI double, and Acton was 1-2 with a double. Carson Bredemeier was saddled with the loss, tossing three innings, allowing three hits and four runs (2ER). Jalen Worthley went the distance for Sabetha allowing five hits and one run.

On Wednesday, Falls City turned around and hosted Lincoln Orthopedic Center at SNC Field. FC jumped all over the visitors, getting two runs in the first, two in the second and two more in the third before exploding for eight in the fourth. The Blue Storm went on for the 14-1 win, the first win of the season, out hitting the visitors 10-4 while playing error-free ball.

With two outs in the first, Ransom Campbell reached on an error, followed by a walk, a passed ball and a two-run single by Acton. FC rolled again with two outs in the second when Braden Oliver reached on a single to left field. Kade Bredemeier then doubled to right field scoring Will Vitosh, the courtesy runner. Bredemeier then stole home to make it 4-0. In the third Fiegenger led off with a walk and quickly stole second. A single by Acton scored Fiegenger from second, giving FC a 5-1 lead. After advancing to third on a bunt single by James Eickhoff, Acton scored on an error by the catcher to make it 6-1. FC tacked on eight runs in the fourth inning using two hit by pitches, two walks, four singles, and two errors to make the final 14-1.

Acton led the offense going 2-3 with three RBI. Carson Bredemeier was 2-3, and Oliver was 2-2 with an RBI. Kade Bredemeier picked up the win, throwing five innings, allowing four hits, one run and striking out seven.

The next day FC trailed Doniphan County 6-5 entering the final inning, but the Blue Storm got two runs to pull out the 7-6 victory. Walks by Vitosh and Kade Bredemeier began the inning, and Carson Bredemeier singled to RF to tie the game. With no outs, Campbell hit a hard grounder to the third baseman who couldn't make the play allowing the winning run to score.

Not only did Campbell drive in the game-winning run, but he also started the game on the hill,

Blue Storm Juniors woes continue

By Brian McKim

The Blue Storm juniors fell to 0-10 on the season after dropping three games this past week. On Wednesday, a big 10-run inning propelled Nemaha Sports Construction past FC 18-2.

The visitors got six walks, three singles and used three errors in the big third inning. Falls City got its two runs in the bottom of the second inning. Steven Riggs led off with a four-pitch walk, followed by a one-out bunt single by Alijah Hernandez. With two-outs Charlie McNeely reached on an error by the center fielder, allowing both runners to score to make it 3-2.

FC had just two hits in the contest, a single by Jon Craig and the bunt single by Hernandez. McNeely took the loss, lasting three innings, allowing six hits, 13 runs (1 ER), four K's and eight base on balls.

On Thursday night Falls City hosted Doniphan County, falling to the visitors 9-0. Doniphan County finished the contest with nine hits and zero errors while FC had a lone hit and had four miscues in the field.

Kyler Frederick had the lone base hit for FC, a single to right field in the second inning. FC had just two other baserunners with Craig getting hit by a pitch in the first and Riggs getting plunked in the fifth. FC batters struck out six-time and drew no walks.

Dalton Helmick took the loss for the Blue Storm lasting four innings while allowing seven hits, six runs, and two strikeouts.

On Friday night FC ventured to Hiawatha and saw a 1-1 tie after three innings slip away. Hiawatha plated six runs in the fourth and three more in the fifth to win 10-2. The six-run inning came on five walks, two errors, a fielders choice, but no hits.

FC grabbed the lead in the top of the third. Bryson Buttrick singled with one out to get things going. Buttrick quickly stole second and third and came home on a ground out by Frederick. Trailing 7-1 in the fifth, Strauss got a two-out single. Craig then reached on an error by the shortstop, allowing Strauss to score to make it 7-2.

Each team finished with just three hits, but Hiawatha took advantage of four FC errors and drew eight walks.

Buttrick and Stauss each singled and Riggs doubled for Falls City. Riggs took the loss for FC, throwing 3 1/3, allowing just one hit, four runs, three K's, but six walks.

The Juniors will host Tecumseh on Wednesday, June 19 at 5:30 and then travel to Weeping Water on Thursday at 5:30 as well.

Julian Gorden

Julian B. Gorden of Lisle, Illinois passed away peacefully at home on June 5, 2019, after a courageous battle with prostate cancer.

He was born in rural Nemaha County, Nebraska on November 13, 1935, to parents Genevieve (Allemond) and Byron Gorden, and grew up on a cattle farm in a house without running water or electricity. He attended country school and then Stella High School where he was a multi-sport athlete and met his future wife of over 60 years, Mary Louise Trussell. They married in 1955 in Stella.

For over 40 years he worked in trucking and transportation management and sales, with jobs taking him and his family from Omaha to Sioux City, Iowa, Milwaukee and eventually the Chicago area in 1972. Many of those years were spent with PIE (Pacific Intermountain Express) and ABF Freight Systems.

He was a loving father to his three children, David (Polly) Gorden of Indianapolis, Lori (Mike) Miller of Batavia, Illinois and Jeff (Connie) Gorden of Ingleside, Illinois. He was an active participant in their lives growing up - serving as a Scout leader, coaching baseball teams, teaching Sunday School, being a member of school Booster Clubs and sitting in the stands for countless athletic contests, musical performances, and other activities. In his eyes though, their most important accomplishments were providing him with six grandchildren which he adored, Carrie and Claire Gorden, Emily and Megan Miller, and Jack and Joey Gorden. He passionately followed every event in which they participated, and they were his pride and joy. They reciprocated his adoration.

Julian served the community as a member of the Lisle Park District Board and Board of SEAS-PAR (South East Association for Special Parks and Recreation). Among the variety of groups with which he volunteered, he was particularly dedicated to the Northern Illinois Food Bank, the People's Resource Center and NEDSRA (Northeast DuPage Special Recreation Association) where he was a scorekeeper for the Youth-at-Risk basketball league and an athlete buddy for Special Olympic track meets.

A longtime member of Downers Grove First United Methodist Church, he was a regular usher and volunteer. He participated in several church Mission Trips including to Alaska with son David to help build a log church.

For more than 40 years he and Mary Lou square danced with Naper Squares. They also traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe with an Alaska cruise, two European river cruises, and Florida beach vacations with their entire family for their 50th and 55th Anniversaries among their favorites.

Perpetually curious and always learning, he took several Elder Hostel (Road Scholar) trips and enjoyed reading and adult education courses, particularly on historical topics. He was also an avid sports fan and would rise and fall with the success or failures of the Cubs, Bears and many other teams he followed. A game of some kind was always on the TV.

He will be sorely missed by his loving family and many friends.

His life was celebrated on Saturday, June 15, at 11:00 am at a service at Downers Grove First United Methodist Church. Visitation preceded at 9:00 am. Memorial gifts in Julian's honor can be made to the church or a favorite charity.

zations and on March 3, 1948, the band was federally recognized as the 43rd Army Band. The mission of the band is to provide musical entertainment for the morale of soldiers and to support local communities. Josephine 'Jo' Jameson

Josephine E. "Jo" Jameson, of Hiawatha, passed away surrounded by her family Friday morning, June 7, 2019, at the Hiawatha Community Hospital. She was 96 years old. She previously had been a resident of Maple Heights Nursing Home in Hiawatha for a few years.

Jo was born on the family homestead northwest of Rulo, NE on August 25, 1922, one of five children of Barney and Mary Santo Wissman. She grew up on the family farm where she assisted her family with the farm duties: gardening, working with chickens, even helping milk the cows. Jo attended and graduated 8th grade from Ft. Hazel country school near Rulo, before graduating from Falls City High School with the class of 1940. After high school, she worked at Flannagan's Grill and as a book-keeper for a Falls City bank.

She was engaged to Lloyd E. "Frosty" Jameson and waited till after his discharge from the Army Air Corps where he served in World War II.

They married August 23, 1945, at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Rulo. Before making the decision to settle in Hiawatha, they traveled to Washington and Colorado for potential places to locate work to be near family. They made the decision to make Hiawatha their home and lived here nearly all of their married life. Frosty worked as a mechanic for Hiawatha Motor Co. until 1955 when they purchased land and moved their current house from Mercier, built a garage, and opened an auto, truck, and tractor repair business known as Jameson Motor Service in Hiawatha. Jo worked as a book-keeper for the business until they retired in 2000. They also enjoyed their property and home at Perry Lake. Frosty died January 5, 2014.

The Hiawatha community was very important to Jo. She treated people the same, no one was better than anyone else. She genuinely was interested in others, always had time to visit, and always had a smile. Her faith and church, St. Ann Catholic Church in Hiawatha, was a big part of her life. She served on the Altar society of the Church and was past president. She had twenty plus years as the First Communion class teacher, served at Eucharistic Minister, and also was Eucharistic Minister for the homebound and nursing home residents. Jo was active in her community: was a lifetime member of auxiliaries to VFW Post #5210, and Homer-White Post #66, American Legion, both of Hiawatha. She was busy with various church and card clubs; the PTA when the boys were younger; and was cub scout den mother troop #7.

In her spare time, she was cooking and baking. Survivors include her three sons: James Joseph Jameson of Nebraska City, NE, John Lloyd Jameson of Hartsel, CO, Mark Charles Jameson of Hiawatha, KS; six grandchildren: Kimberly Lucero of Clovis, NM, Melanie (Brett) Schnitzer of Nebraska City, Christopher (Cristal) Jameson of Highland, KS, Michelle (Jarrod) Owen of Sidney, IA, Desiree (Jeff) Wede of Carrington, ND, Sarah (Jordan) Lunsford of Falls City, NE; and 14 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, siblings: Elmer John Wissman, Mary Carr, Vernal Wissman, and Margaret Herberster. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 12 noon Thursday, June 13, at St. Ann Catholic Church in Hiawatha. Father Dan Gardner will be the celebrant. Interment will follow at the Hiawatha Cemetery.

Friends may call at Chapel Oaks Funeral Home in Hiawatha after 10 a.m. Wednesday where the parish rosary will be recited at 6 p.m., followed by visitation.

Memorial contributions are suggested to the Josephine Jameson Memorial Fund, sent in care of the funeral home, 124 S 7th St., 66434.

On a personal note, that sign was for my dad, who rode with me in a balloon in 1995, Falls City's last hot air balloon show. When we were in the air, he said to me, "This is the closest I'll get to heaven until the day I die." He passed away three years later, at age 63. A hot air balloon is engraved on his headstone.

At the show Saturday night, I rode in the Emerald City balloon with my Mom, Judy Kimball of Auburn. She is 79 years old. We nearly lost her four years ago to a brain aneurysm rupture. The fact that she was able to climb into a hot air balloon was a miracle.

"The ride was a tribute to my husband," Mom said, afterward. "Lori and I felt peace and joy as we floated through the air. We definitely felt his presence."

"Boy, did we ever. It was like drifting on angels' wings."

After those two launches, the rest of the balloonists decided not to take off. The OxyMoron band played while the remaining ones participated in a "balloon glow." They tethered their balloons, then lit them up. In the dark, the glowing balloons were as gorgeous as a Nebraska sunset. The glow was a huge hit. The evening ended around 10 p.m.

There was no rest for the balloonists and crews, however. They were back at the airport by 5:30 a.m., for a 7:00 launch. That morning, all of them flew. The rest of the balloons were sponsored by Ace Hardware, Rieschick Drilling Company, Froeschl Floors, Frontier Bank, and Bierman Farms.

There were roughly 200 people in attendance.

Many of them stuck around for the fly-in breakfast, sponsored by the Falls City Area Jaycees. According to member Jenna Frederick, the club served up more than 200 meals comprised of pancakes, sausage, and milk or orange juice.

Mayor Shawna Bindle attended with her family. She marveled at the enormity of the weekend event.

"Build it, and they will come," she said. "We built it, and they came."

Throughout the morning, eight pilots flew in for breakfast, most of them from around the area—Auburn, Lincoln, Falls City. One had even come in the previous day from Oklahoma.

According to Brad Ahern, who serves as a shop mechanic at the airport, the highlight of the breakfast was the spontaneous generosity of five of the pilots. Ben Steffens, Dave Mullins, Chad Mullins, Jerry Gifford, and Doug Eitelman all gave their time to provide 22 free airplane rides. Anyone who signed up got to go.

"I feel like, after this weekend, all generations (young and old) can now see the impact that their hometown airport can make on the community and surrounding areas," Ahern said. "A lot of business, pleasure, and dreams about that big blue sky can be easy to obtain with the gem of an airport that we have."

It's no doubt that everyone who attended Falls City's Hot Air Balloon Show will agree.

Falls City has a gem of an airport. And we also have a gem of a community.

Mitch Bletscher of Schilling Bridge summed it up best.

"No matter what we needed Saturday night, people stepped up to help," he said. "When we all come together, we can do some amazing things."

Amazing was the main word used this weekend. And that is a testament to Amber Holle, and everyone from this town who stepped in, and stepped up. Truly amazing.
