

Sheriff's Department and Falls City Police Department discuss combining 911 dispatch

The regular meeting of the Richardson County Board of Commissioners was called to order by Chairman Caverzagie at 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday, April 19, 2023. Roll call was answered by Karas, Sickel and Caverzagie.

Mark Joy, President of Humboldt Shares, Inc. presented to the Board the quarterly report of the organization. Dr. George Griffith, a member of the Board of Directors was also in attendance.

Joy reported that the organization got some new board members.

He said they donated to SENCA for a program that offers educational classes for people to improve their skills to increase their wages. Their next annual meeting will be in August.

Highway Superintendent, Steve Darveau updated the Board on the routine maintenance being done on county roads and bridges this past week. Mr. Darveau presented to the Board the 2023 price chart for the sale of culverts for driveways which was approved by the Board. He also informed the Board that the Department will be compiling a listing of vehicles and equipment that have been deemed to be surplus to offer for sale at a public auction with BigIron in the near future.

Sheriff Hardesty met with the Board on the routine business within the Law Enforcement Center this week. He reported that the Department has received two grants from the NE Department of Transportation and provided a report on the activity for March 31, 2023 for the department with regards to arrests and bookings into the Jail.

For the month of March there were 699 calls for service, 414 of those were traffic stops. Fifty one people were books in jail, two were out of county holds and six of those were arrested by another agency-so the Sheriff's office booked in 43 people.

The Sheriff was informed that the K-9 dog that was to be purchased did not pass the training and that they are now reviewing the purchase for a K-9 from a different source. The Department also learned of grant funding available to assist with the purchase of a K-9 and have submitted the application to be considered for the grant funds.

The Sheriff also reported on a meeting that he attended with Falls City representatives regarding the 911 dispatch and the possibility of moving to the Richardson County Law Enforcement Center.

The proposal would be to have eight dispatchers and one supervisor with a five person committee being made up of the Sheriff, Chief of Police, a City Council Member, County Board Member and someone from Humboldt Fire.

"That way they would have a voice," said Hardesty.

He's waiting on First Wireless to give him a price to add the second dispatch position in the console so there would be two dispatchers at a time. They will need to figure out what it will cost to move the equipment from the Police De-

Council passes new fees for Auditorium rental agreements

The Falls City Council met on Monday, April 17, 2023, at City Hall and needed just 22 minutes to get through the agenda. Mayor Harkendorff thanked the volunteer firefighters for the jobs done at Legion Park and the tree dump.

In the City Administrators Report, Anthony Nussbaum updated the Council on the new Elgin Pelican street sweeper on order. A completed build date was scheduled for April 19, 2023. Nussbaum told the Council that a new 2022 Ford Explorer had arrived in lieu of the 2023 SSV Ford Explorer police cruiser.

The 2022 model was immediately available and cost about six thousand less.

Roof replacements at Grandview Park, the Aquatic Center, City Hall, the Airport House and Airport Hangar are near completion. Nussbaum also stated that drainage work on the north side of Stanton Lake and on the east side of Bill Schock Blvd had been completed.

City Attorney Dunn's office is reviewing a Land Bank agreement between Falls City and Verdon. EDGE has spearheaded the project and it will be brought before the Council for approval soon. Nussbaum also mentioned that the library would be looking for a new Children's Librarian. Allie McCann is being promoted to Head Librarian due to the upcoming retirement of 36-year Librarian Hope Schawang.

The Council voted in favor of approving the standing committee appointments as recommended by Mayor Harkendorff. The Council also voted 8-0 to approve the reappointment of Brian Poppe to the Community Redevelopment Authority for the term expiring October 31, 2026.

The Council approved the Earth Day Walk-Run for Fun event on April 23, 2023, at Stanton Lake by Community Medical Center.

The Council addressed a burn permit request from Parks Caretaker Mike Huppert for the north water retention basin at Stanton Lake and passed the request 8-0. The area in question is full of cattails and overgrown. The City will coordinate with the fire department and set a date for the burn.

The Council also heard from Nussbaum regarding a settlement agreement for the property located at 820 McLean Street. The deal includes the property owners deeding the location to the City and the owners giving the City four thousand dollars to help demolish the house on site.

The next item on the agenda was the request for qualifications for a feasibility study for

"One of the most sensational, prolonged and bloodiest county seat fights in Nebraska history"

By Nikki McKim

The deaths of Meek and Davis couldn't stop the county seat battle

With no town receiving a majority of the votes, the board voted that an election be held days later, on April 16, 1860 to decide between Salem, Falls City, Rulo and Arago. Again no one place got the majority of all votes; another election was to be held on June 4, 1860, to decide between Falls City and Rulo, the two places that received the highest number of votes on April 16.

After seven petitions were presented, that date was changed to May 22.

The election was the determining one of the long series of elections with the matter coming down to a decision made by the County Clerk.

On August 13, 1860 after examining witnesses, testimony, argument, final disposition and the law regulating election, etc., it was determined that Falls City had a majority of all the legal votes polled at the election held on May 22, 1860 for the location of the County Seat under and by virtue of the provision of the act of the Territorial Legislature, entitled, an Act for the Location of the County Seat of Richardson County by a vote of the People.

The matter surprisingly wasn't appealed by the courts.

Falls City had the seat, but nothing was settled in the minds of the County's people.

The fight took a back seat as the Civil War broke out and changed priorities. Poverty came to the people of Richardson County, but so did railroads bringing more people into the communities.

As the years passed the town grew bigger-so did their renewed drive to secure the County Seat.

In 1871, tensions started to rise yet again in response to a petition presented to the County Commissioners by the people of Salem. When they had two-thirds of the vote the petition was presented at the end of August, 1871.

The Commissioners ordered an election be held on October 10, 1871.

The Nemaha Valley Journal started poking at Salem as rumors began to swirl of a petition to move the County Seat back to Salem started to circulate.

Nemaha Valley Journal, September 21, 1871- "For ten years past, there has been constant jealousy on the part of Salem toward Falls City because of the County Seat being located at the latter place. Salem has made it a point on all occasions to turn up her nose at anything in which Falls City is interested, even going so far as to insult the citizens of the latter place. Falls City has borne it all day so far, good-naturedly and only laughed at their silly attitude, which did them more injury than all the opposition Falls City could possibly make. But Salem has carried the game too far and Falls City has determined to treat her as an enemy until she sees her folly and her people conclude to change their program and work for the common interest of the county, as well as for the Village of Salem which contains about two hundred inhabitants.

The people of the county will hear us out in saying that the Journal has never treated Salem with the greatest deference up to the present time, notwithstanding her intense hostile attitude toward it-always speaking of the town and people in flattering terms when occasion offered. We are sorry we cannot continue to pass over her inequities and speak only of her good works, but upon the heads of her people rests the blame for her groundless and unrelenting hostility toward our town and the Journal. It is painful indeed to speak lighting of any portion of our beautiful county on account of a few hot-headed croakers, but we feel it our duty to stand up for our rights and, if it becomes unnecessary in so doing, to expose the nefarious designs of an enemy, even at the expense of a few who may be innocent.

Was there ever a Salem man insulted in Falls City? We think

On Saturday afternoon, Husker fans, football was back, albeit for just a brief moment, but it was great to see the scarlet and cream on the field at Memorial Stadium. To be perfectly honest, the game was just something that got in the way of something that should have happened years ago, the honoring of former player, assistant and Head Coach Frank Solich. Old number 45 was honored by the new regime when Coach Matt Rhule called a fullback trap on the opening play of the spring game and immediately presented the ball from the play to Coach Solich. Coach Frank guided the Big Red from 1998 to 2003 when he was fired after a 58-19 record by new Athletic Director Steve Pederson. The 58 wins in six seasons exceeded Bob Devaney and Tom Osborne’s total in their first six years at the helm.

An announced crowd of 66,045 saw the Rhule era begin on Tom Osborne Field on Saturday. My guess is the actual crowd on hand Saturday was closer to 45,000, but Nebraska has always overstated crowd sizes. The scanned ticket number against Wisconsin last season was 46,613, and this crowd looked much smaller. That’s a battle for another day. On this day, Athletic Director Trev Alberts announced that the new locker rooms would be named for Coach Solich by the Touch-down Club. Solich gave brief comments on the field, thanking his family, Coach Osborne and the fans and wishing Coached Rhule a great year. He finished by saying, “Let’s go, Big Red, alrighty baby.”

What did we learn from the game itself? While a good athlete, Jeff Sims hasn’t taken anything away from incumbent Casey Thompson. His numbers were good Saturday, 9/13 for 139 yards, but let’s not anoint him as the starter quite yet. Casey Thompson is a competitor and won’t go down without a fight. We did learn Chubba Purdy, Richard Torres and Heinrich Haarberg are not yet able to lead the team and at least two of those four will soon leave the team. My guess is Torres and Haarberg will enter the transfer portal before long.

Local Johnson-Brock grad Ty Hahn had a couple of grabs at receiver on Saturday; however, the first was spoiled by a fumble and turnover. I still expect Hahn to see some real minutes come fall.

The much-talked-about running back room did little to impress. Rahmir Johnson had the best output on Saturday afternoon with six totes for 35 yards, but Anthony Grant and Gabe Ervin Jr. did nothing to hurt their status as go-to backs.

One piece of play that needs work is keeping the ball off the turf. The Husker’s offense put the ball on the ground four times by the 9:00 mark of the second quarter. There were numerous timing issues between QBs and running backs and multiple problems between the QB and center exchange. Nothing that can’t be figured out by the time fall rolls around.

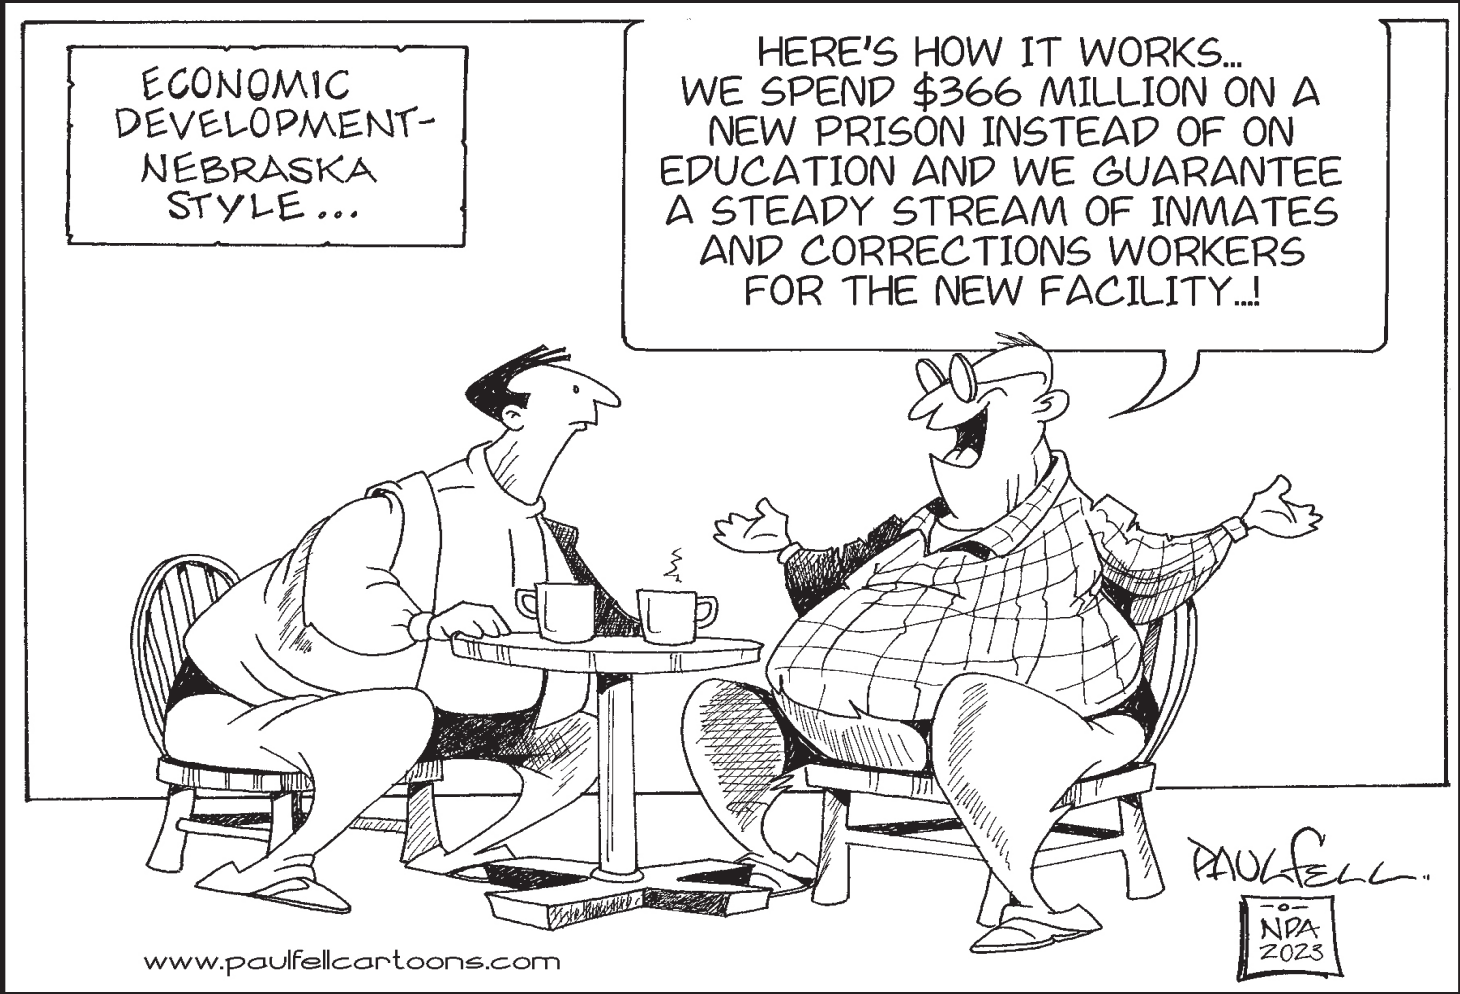

Another issue to continue to work on in the summer months will be the kicking game. If we were locked into a tie game against Iowa with only seconds remaining, I don’t feel comfortable with any of our kickers booting the ball through the uprights from any distance for the win.

It took 20 years to get Coach Solich back to Memorial Stadium to give him the proper sendoff he deserved. Solich was hesitant to return to Lincoln; wouldn’t you be after how a previous regime treated him? Now maybe the “curse” can be put to rest and the Big Red can regain its place among the college football elite.

Coach Rhule has said all the right things, but can that translate into wins? I’ve been sucked in repeatedly over the years by the new coaching staffs (not Scott Frost), but this time I will need to see a little proof before I get hooked. I will admit I was not a fan of the hire last fall, but since that time, Rhule has grown on me. He has impressed me with going after recruits and embracing the traditions that surround the Husker football program. I genuinely believe we will see a much more polished product when camp ends in the fall and the season begins. Six, maybe seven wins are not out of the question. Someone will need to take the reigns and show leadership and bring the club together as one. Once that happens, we will see things turn in the right direction.

I can’t wait for fall to see the improvements that have been made and to see our Huskers compete against some of the best competition in the country. Go Big Red.

LEGISLATURE MOVES TOWARD BUILDING A PRISON, CAUTION REMAINS

Capitol View
Nebraska Press
Association
By: J.J. Schmidt

The Legislature’s Appropriations Committee has signed off on providing the funds to build a $366 million prison in the Lincoln-Omaha area just as the Department of Corrections brings on a new director who appears to favor programming and investing in the humanity of the incarcerated.

That brings some hope to a small but fierce band of senators who don’t think building is the best way out of the problem for the nation’s most overcrowded prison system. The money is a big part of the budget which lawmakers must pass before they adjourn this session for good.

If approved, the budget will transfer $95.8 million to complete the funding of a new, 1,500-bed prison in eastern Nebraska. That would bring the total cost of the facility to nearly $366 million, which would likely set a record for construction of a single state project.

In true Nebraska fashion, by comparison: the new Cornhusker football complex in Lincoln is costing $165 million; the Buffett Cancer Center at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha cost $323 million; the recently completed Lincoln South Beltway cost $352 million. Initial cost estimates of $270 million for the new prison have risen steadily because of inflation, and the $365.7 million total includes $14.9 million already spent on design and engineering work.

As did former Judiciary Committee Chairman Steve Lathrop, current chair Sen. Justin Wayne of Omaha said he hopes “we find money in the budget for re-entry programs and economic development that prevents people from going to prison.”

Judiciary Committee member Omaha Sen. Terrell McKinney has repeated a familiar Lathrop caution that without reforms in criminal sentencing and development of alternatives to incarceration, the state will be saddled with building two prisons at a total cost of more than $1 billion.

McKinney and others have said they are encouraged by Governor Jim Pillen’s selection of Rob Jeffreys as the new head of the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services. Jeffreys oversaw a department in Illinois that housed approximately 29,000 inmates in 27 facilities with a $1.6 billion budget. Nebraska, the nation’s most overcrowded system, has about 5,500 inmates at nine prisons.

Jeffreys said he was impressed that Pillen and others seemed to be “individuals who were genuinely invested in the humanity of human beings.”

Let’s hope that means such things as alternative treatment and programming aimed at fighting recidivism. Wayne and McKinney have certainly entertained those ideas.

Elmwood Sen. Robert Clements, who chairs the budget-writing Appropriations Committee, has said it is time to build a replacement for the State Penitentiary in Lincoln, the state’s oldest and largest prison. “It’s falling apart. The cost of rehabilitating it is getting close to the cost of building a new prison.”

Clements has also said there are criminal justice reforms he would support that could hold down the expected growth in inmate numbers and avoid construction of a second, pricey facility.

A master plan for state prison facilities, released earlier this year, projected that Nebraska would need 1,300 additional prison beds by the year 2030, which would be a couple of years after the planned new prison is opened.

State Sen. Anna Wishart of Lincoln, the committee’s vice chairwoman, said the state still needs to undertake criminal justice reforms. But, last year’s efforts to make changes in sentencing and other policies failed. In the meantime, conditions at the penitentiary have deteriorated.

“We’re getting to a point where it’s inhumane for people to be living there,” she said.

Wayne continues to express hope his colleagues will find money for programs that prevent Nebraskans from landing in prison and help those leaving prison be successful on their reentry into the community.

Given the on-going culture war in the Legislature, it’s doubtful that a discussion of such reforms will happen this year.

In my opinion, prison reform is a much more important issue than the things which have a handful of senators using a rolling filibuster to slow or stop the legislative process.

a Recreational/Wellness Center. The proposal is to hire an engineering firm or architect firm to do a study to assess if the old City Hall would be a feasible site for the Center. The request was passed 8-0.

The Nebraska Department of Environment and Energy sent out a survey to evaluate the list of Energy Efficiency and Conservation measures and to rank the projects according to what would benefit the community the most. The Council voted to approve the Board of Public Works recommendations for the survey.

The final item was the discussion and action on revising "recreation fees" for Prichard Auditorium rentals as the Board of Park Commissioners recommended. The Board of Parks recommended raising the full-day rental of the Auditorium from $250 per day to $300 per day. It also recommended increasing the half-day rate from $150 to $200 and setting the half or full-day rental rate for State Registered Non-Profits at $150 per day. The rate for FCPS and FCSH school practices remained at $15/hour and the rate for team sports (not school-related) and birthday parties using the concession area and floor increased to $25 per hour with a two-hour minimum. The deposit for the use of the facility will remain at $250. The motion passed 8-0.

"I think this makes it a lot easier on us to not have to pick and choose the approvals or denials," said Council person Joe Buckminster. "It's just cut and dry and more fair to everybody."

With no further items on the agenda, the meeting was closed at 6:22 p.m.

She attended Ithaca College where she majored in Musical Theater. She is a firm believer in honoring, celebrating and teaching the Great American Songbook, both material written yesterday and today. FC ESports League of Legends qualifies for Final Four State Tournament

The Falls City Tiger ESports Program’s League of Legends (LoL) varsity team qualified for the Nebraska Schools ESports Association’s Final Four State Tournament hosted at Concordia University in Seward, Nebraska on Friday, April 28.

The team defeated Syracuse, Nebraska on Wednesday, March 29 to punch their ticket. League of Legends has over 100 million monthly players worldwide, making it one of the most popular ESports games. To provide some comparisons, the last FIFA World Cup drew 1.5 billion viewers worldwide, the 2023 Super Bowl drew 113 million, the 2022 League of Legends World Championship drew 74 million, and the 2022 World Series drew 12 million. LoL is a multiplayer online battle arena video game that is free-to-play. In the game, two teams of five players battle in player-versus-player combat, each team occupying and defending their half of the map.

Each of the ten players controls a character, known as a “champion”, with unique abilities and differing styles of play. During a match, champions become more powerful by collecting experience points, earning gold, and purchasing items to defeat the opposing team. In League’s main mode, Summoner’s Rift, a team wins by pushing through to the enemy base and destroying their “Nexus”, a large structure located within.

Every year the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) presents an essay-writing contest based on historical events. Falls City social studies teachers Karen Boatright, Sharon Jeffries, and Lee Kurgeweit encourage their students to participate in this writing competition sponsored locally by the Reavis-Ashley Chapter of the D.A.R.. This year, students in fifth-eighth grade were asked to “imagine you are a delegate during the 1775-1776 Second Continental Congress. Which colony are you from and what will be important for you to accomplish for your colony.”

The 9-12th grade topic was “Select a figure from the era of the American Revolution (1773-1783). Discuss how he or she influenced the course of the American Revolution, who he or she was and his/her contribution to the founding of a new nation. Your figure may be any person, whether a well-known figure or an everyday man, woman, or child who supported the American Revolution in ways large or small.”

The senior first place winner was Stiephan Fields, the second place winner was Elyse Poppe, and the third place winner was Alexis Miller.

The eighth grade first place winner was Bowdy Jones, the second place winner was Harley Sutton, and the third place winner was Dayton Snethen.

The sixth grade first place winner was Audrey Scrivens, second place winner was Caroline Powell, and the third place winners were Leah Goff and Josslyn Bangert.

The winners of the local essay contest were honored at a reception at St. Paul’s Lutheran Church, 20th Towle St. on April 14th.

The students read their essays to their families and the Reavis-Ashley members. Refreshments were served by the Reavis-Ashley Chapter.

Tigers open week with win over East Atchison

The Falls City Tiger baseball team picked up its third win in the last five contests to improve to 5-7 for the year with a 7-6 win over East Atchison in Fairfax on Tuesday night. FC never trailed in the contest leading 3-2 after one inning, seeing the game tied at three after three innings and at five after four. FC scored twice in the top of the sixth to pull away for the 7-6 win.

Jaxyn Strauss led off the contest with a single up the middle. After a stolen base, Strauss came home on a single by Blakeley Sells to give FC a 1-0 lead. A one-bagger by Alijah Hernandez and a ground out by Gavin Bauer pushed it to 2-0. Kadyn Strecker made it 3-0 with an RBI double to right field.

With the game tied at three in the top of the fourth, a single by Strecker, an error and an RBI single by Tallan Zimmerman put FC back in front 4-3. Another error and a single by Sells brought home Zimmerman to make it 5-3.

With two outs in the sixth and the score tied at five, Zimmerman started a rally with a single on a line drive to right. A single by Strauss made it 6-5 and an RBI double by Sells put FC in front 7-5.

Holding onto a 7-6 lead, FC pitcher Hernandez set the side down in order to preserve the win.

Bauer picked up the win for Falls City, pitching 5 1/3 innings, allowing six hits, six runs (five earned), six walks and recording six strikeouts. Three Tiger batters collected three hits, with Sells leading the way with two singles, a double and three RBI. Strecker added a single, a double and an RBI.

The Falls City JV won its fourth consecutive contest with a 4-2 win over East Atchison. Gannon Ogden went 2-2 at the plate with a double and two RBI, while Mason Collier got the win, pitching three innings of three-hit ball.

On Thursday night, FC hosted the 9-4 Hiawatha Red Hawks at SNC Field. The Tigers briefly led 3-2 after two innings, their only lead of the game. Hiawatha outscored Falls City 9-4 in the final five innings to pull out the win, 11-7.

Trailing 0-2 after the top of the first, FC answered with two runs to tie the game. The Tigers used three Red Hawk errors to score a pair of runs in the bottom half of the inning. In the second, Silas Amanullah scored on an error to put FC in front 3-2. The Red Hawks scored four runs in the top of the third to take the lead for good at 6-3. FC got within one run in the fourth at 8-7, but the visitors outscored the Tigers 3-0 in the final three innings to pull away for the win.

The Tigers were out-hit 14-8, but the visitors committed five errors to keep FC in the game. Strecker and Craig each had a pair of hits to lead the Tigers, while Hernandez finished with two RBI. Zimmerman took the loss, allowing eight earned runs and ten hits over 3 1/3 innings.

The JV team had its four-game winning streak snapped on Thursday, falling to the Red Hawks 3-13. FC led momentarily 1-0 after one, but Hiawatha responded with eight runs in the second to pull away. FC was out-hit 13-2 in the four-inning contest. Collier and Ogden each had base hits for the Tigers. Ogden was saddled with the loss, giving up nine hits, eight runs (six earned) and two walks over 2 1/3.

Falls City hosted the 5-11 Raymond Central Mustangs on a chilly Saturday afternoon. The Tiger offense went cold, knocking out just three hits, while the FC defense committed four errors in the 7-2 loss.

With Kyler Frederick on the hill, FC fell behind 1-0 after the first half inning of play. In the third, the Mustangs got a one-out walk and single, followed by a base hit and an error to make it 2-0. Another single to center field pushed the Raymond Central lead to 4-0 and the second error of the inning made it 5-0.

Tallan Zimmerman got a one-out single past the shortstop in the bottom of the third to get the Tiger offense moving. After a ground out, Strauss got an RBI single to center to make it 5-1. A stolen base put Strauss in scoring position and Cattrell's RBI single got FC within three at 5-2. The Mustangs tacked on single runs in the sixth and seventh inning to push their lead to 7-2 heading into the bottom of the seventh. Unfortunately, FC went down in order in the final three innings as they dropped to 5-9 for the season with the 7-2 loss.

FC was out-hit 8-3, with Strauss, Cattrell and Zimmerman picking up singles. Strauss and Cattrell each had RBIs in the contest. Frederick took the loss, pitching 6 2/3 innings, allowing eight hits, seven runs, four earned, while striking out three.

The JV also fell to the Mustangs on Saturday, 4-3, in three innings of action. Hunter Adams went 1-1 with a double and a stolen base, Alex McKim finished 1-1 with a single and a steal and Cattrell went 1-2 with a swipe.

The teams hosted Bishop LeBlond on Monday and Nebraska City on Thursday, April 27. On Saturday, FC will travel to Malcolm to take on the 17-2 Clippers, the top-rated team in Class C.

Rising inflation is impacting mental health, how the country is coping (StatePoint) It's no secret that the country is feeling the pinch from inflation and the rising costs of goods and services, with 48 percent of Americans struggling to make ends meet financially, according to the latest data from Dynata's Global Consumer Trends survey. That's up from 34 percent in August of last year.

These circumstances are having a significant impact on wellness, with 53 percent of respondents attributing financial difficulties as being an extremely or very important contributing factor to their worsening mental health since before the pandemic. Women are feeling the impacts most. Nearly six in 10 women – 57 percent – say financial difficulties are the largest contributor to a decline in their mental health vs. 44 percent of men who say the same.

Many Americans however are finding new ways to ease the burden on their mental health. Here are a few of the habits and attitudes that have helped those who report having better mental health now than they did pre-pandemic:

Exercise. Getting more exercise has helped 78% of respondents achieve better mental health during this time of financial uncertainty.

Spending more time with hobbies and interests. Whether it's knitting, playing a sport or bird-watching, taking on a new hobby can be an effective way to better your mental health.

Spending time with loved ones. The pandemic was a long period of separation for many, but with life back to normal, spending time with loved ones has been a proven way to boost mental health, with 74 percent of respondents seeing an improvement.

Rest. Now is a great time to sit back and take some time to relax, as 73% reported an improvement in their mental health from just taking time to rest.

Cooking and healthy eating. The pandemic gave many a chance to spend more time in the kitchen cooking their favorite meals. For full survey results, visit <https://www.dynata.com>.

While many Americans are feeling the pinch right now, the good news is that proven coping strategies can help lighten the mental load.

partment to the Sheriff’s Department.

“We talked about leaving their radio equipment there because we can put their frequency into our console and be able to dispatch them and then we will utilize that if something ever happened in our place,” said Hardesty. The Dispatcher can just go there an still be able to dispatch.

“The proposal from the City was it would be 50/50 except [the Sheriff’s Department] would be responsible for [their] radios and [the Falls City Police Department] would be responsible for their radios,” said Hardesty.

The Sheriff said he questioned if the dispatchers would be city or county employees and said it would be something for the city council and commissioners to discuss.

“My goal has not changed from the first time I sat here interviewing for this job. I want to make Richardson County the best law enforcement in Southeast Nebraska and one of the top ten in the state,” said Hardesty. “That means the jail, that means the dispatch. So I have to work harder.”

Have you tested your home for radon? If not, its time you did

By Courtney Gerdes

You may already know that smoking is the number one cause of lung cancer in the United States. But do you know what’s number two?

The answer is radon, an invisible, radioactive gas—and if you didn’t know, you’re not alone.

“Radon is a serious public health problem and a lot of people don’t know about it,” says Robert Whitcomb, PhD, at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta, Georgia. He says it’s estimated to cause over 20,000 lung cancer deaths each year in the U.S, and that 1 out of 15 homes have dangerously high radon levels.

But many of the people living in those homes don’t have any idea, Whitcomb says. That’s not surprising, because unlike tobacco smoke, radon isn’t something you can see. You can’t smell or taste it either.

“Testing your home for radon gas is the only way to know if it’s a risk,” says Whitcomb. “The good news is that it’s very easy to do.”

Did You Know?

- High radon levels can be a risk anywhere in any state. Both old homes and new homes can have radon problems.
- The risks from radon depend on two things:
 - How much: High radon levels are more dangerous.
 - How long: The more contact you have with radon gas, the greater your risk.
- Testing your home is the only way to find out if you have a radon problem.
- The U.S. Surgeon recommends that all homes be tested for radon gas.

for a care box last month. This box will be sent to John James who is deployed. His name was submitted by a friend.

The annual Easter Egg hunt went very well with about 35 children and many adults enjoying the beautiful day. The Gold Egg winners were 0-2 years old Bode; 3 – 4 years old Brantley; K – 2nd grade Joshua and 3rd – 5th grade Spencer. They all got their picture with the ‘Easter Bunny.’

Litter pickup was scheduled for Thursday April 13 at 8 AM.

Elizabeth Ketner will explore the possibility of starting the potluck with the beginning of nicer weather.

The next meeting will be May 9, 2023 at 7:00 pm.

Chaplain Linda Patchen gave the closing prayer.

President Dona Hall declared the meeting adjourned.

els everyday, Whitcomb says.

The problem is when radon from underground seeps into a home through cracks and gaps in the foundation and gets trapped inside. Breathing indoor air with high radon levels can — over time — damage the lungs and lead to cancer.

Meghan Porter, of Elma, Washington, decided to test her home almost by chance. She learned about radon at her new job — with the Washington Tracking Network (WTN) — and decided to pick up a testing kit.

“Until then, I’d never even heard of radon,” she says.

She was surprised by the results. Radon levels were dangerously high in her basement — specifically in her 9 year-old daughter’s bedroom.

“If I didn’t have that job, it never would have crossed my mind to test,” she says. “I had no idea that radon was something that could be in my home.”

Why You Need to Test Your Home

Radon can really be a problem anywhere, Whitcomb says. It can be a risk in small homes and big homes, old homes and new homes.

“You can even have two almost identical houses right next to one another,” says Whitcomb. “One will have low radon levels while the other is very high. That’s why everyone needs to test.”

Fixing Radon Problems

“If you find out that you have high radon levels, it can be scary,” says Whitcomb. “But addressing the issue is often simpler than homeowners expect.”

The key is to work with an expert who can help guide you, Whitcomb says. You can call your state’s radon office to get the name of someone who can offer advice.

Some radon issues need the help of a mitigation contractor — a specialist in fixing radon problems. They may use approaches like sub-slab depressurization: installing a pipe that sucks radon from the ground under the house and sends it into the outside air, where it’s harmless.

“High radon levels are a clear threat to your health,” Whitcomb says, “but the solutions are clear too. If you test your home and find out you have a problem, you can fix it.”

Porter says she feels lucky to have found out about the radon in her home, and she now urges neighbors, family, and friends to test their homes too.

“I tell people that nobody knows what’s under their house, so they don’t know if they have radon unless they test,” she says. “It’s cheap too — so why not do it?”

You can buy a testing kit online or at your local hardware store for just $10 to $20. You can get a free test kit from the Southeast District Health Department by emailing courtney@sed-hd.org or calling 877-777-0424 and dialing extension 103.

“One of the most sensational, prolonged and bloodiest county seat fights in Nebraska history”

not. The people in the west end of the county claim that the county seat should not be located at Salem because it is not the center of the county and that when removal is had, it should be to the old townsite of Geneva. This is the opinion of every sensible man in the county and if Salem is so fortunate as to get the county seat, another election will be had as soon as possible to put it in the center of the county, where it should have been located in the first place.”

At the beginning of October, it only got worse when the Nemaha Valley Journal accused Salem of saying the people of Falls City were corrupt.

“This is the only argument we have heard advanced in favor of that town. Admitting that Falls City is corrupt, have we any proof that Salem is pure?”

In that same issue of the paper, an article titled “County Buildings Free,” the paper claims that “Our Salem friends tell us that if we move the county seat to that flourishing village, they will erect county buildings free of cost to the county and to back up their assertion they have deposited a bond for ten thousand dollars with the county clerk.” Much like the county had heard before, they would do it if the voters “do locate by their votes at this fall election, the county seat of this Richardson County at the town of Salem.”

The County Clerk, Frank Rother, certified that said bond was placed in his hands to be filed on September 15, 1871. It went on to say that “the bond is void and fraud because it declares that it shall be void if the county seat shall be located in Salem; it would be void by virtue of the revised statute which follows: ‘If any person, shall by bribery, menace treating or other corrupt means or device whatsoever, either directly or indirectly, attempt to influence any elector of this territory in giving his vote in any election, every person so offending, and being thereof convicted shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, and shall thereafter be disqualified from voting at any election in this territory for five years.’ Now it must be clear to every person that a bond or attempt to bring the voters is void: it attempts to induce voters to commit a crime, and hence it is was a bit of a nail biter. Falls City won with 1,166 votes to Salem’s 1,031 votes. Another source said the votes came in at Falls City, 1,171 and Salem, 1,030.

County Seat Question settled!

It was reported that there was an “immense throng” of people in Falls City for a couple of days during the election, both regarding the county seat election and the election of county officers.

The Nemaha Valley Journal reported, “Excitement ran very high, but no quarreling and very little drunkenness was visible.” The paper stated there was rejoicing among the people and town and about 25 new buildings were proposed to be built immediately with the renewed energy.

“Our county will now enter a new era of peace and prosperity and we hail the event with gladness. No more divisions, no more county seat squabbles,” stated the Nemaha Valley Journal. “We will turn a new, clean leaf and take a fair, fresh start and all will be well.”

The Situation

Oct. 19, 1871, Nemaha Valley Journal

“Salem and Falls City have fought their battle nobly, bravely and persistently and the verdict has been rendered in favor of the latter. The defeated army accepts the situation and is now willing to let bygones be bygones and all join hands and work together for the county’s best interests. Holt, Lincoln and Brook, Salem’s most ardent workers for ten years past-men who had thousands of dollars depending upon the isssue and who gave unsparingly of their money, time and energies, not hesitating to sacrifice personal friendship where it conflicted with their purpose, we are told, have buried the hatchet forever.

Falls City holds no grudge against Salem for bringing all her force and influence to bear upon the vote for county seat neither should the latter feel aggrieved at Falls City for equal vigilance and energy in maintaining what she legally possessed to sum up the whole thing, it was only a matter of dollars and cents between the two towns. We regret, however, that much was said and done by both parties, which is calculated to irritate and do great injustice and harm to all concerned.

But it is essential for us to dwell together in harmony; this alone will not develop, build up and beautify our county and enrich our people. We must have more substantial improvements, for without them, no people ever has or ever will prosper. We want factories, railroads, county buildings, improved highways, and hedges; obtaining all these require money and manual labor.”

Less than eight years later, The Richardson County Record was already talking about “the County Seat Question” and recommending Dawson if it came up again, saying Dawson would be Falls City’s only rival.

A year later, the Humboldt Standard threatened to ask for the removal of the County Seat if “Falls City newspapers continue to abuse prominent citizens of this place who visit that town on business,” to which the Falls City Journal replied, “No, we can’t give up the county seat, but there is a superfluous supply of red-headed girls here that you can have.”

Sheldon Statewide Exhibition: On The Road Again at Stalder Art Gallery

The Stalder Gallery presents “On the Road Again”, an exhibition of artworks related to the open road from the collection of Sheldon Museum of Art at the University of Nebraska–Lincoln. It has traveled to eight Nebraska communities during the 2022–2023 academic year and will be on display in the Stalder Gallery located inside the Falls City Library and Arts Center April 27th through May 25th.

Landscapes play a major role in this exhibition, displaying the beauty of the natural world and how artists and travelers understand their place in it. Roadside attractions and accommodations are common subjects that can reveal the charm, necessities, and even eccentricities of travel. On the Road Again seeks to visualize the significance of the American road. These collected works of art demonstrate that while everyone’s experience is unique, there are sights and sentiments that contribute to a collective imagination of the open road.

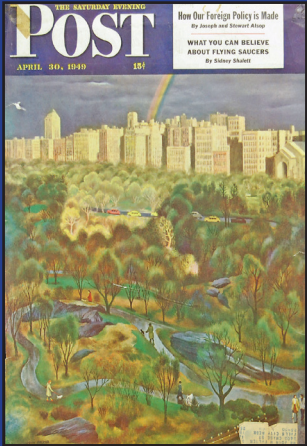

This year, Sheldon has produced a series of videos that take a deeper dive into eight of the artworks in this exhibition. These are intended to be a resource for local educators but can be appreciated by all. Access these videos at go.unl.edu/statewide-videos or via QR code at the exhibition.

The exhibition is part of Sheldon Statewide, an annual program through which works from the museum’s collection travel to venues throughout Nebraska. Since its inception in 1987, the program has taken exhibitions to 25 communities, reaching more than 365,000 people. “On the Road Again” will be presented in Chadron, North Platte, McCook, Grand Island, York, Beatrice, Fremont, and Falls City.

The Sheldon Statewide series receives funding support from Farmers Mutual Insurance Company of Nebraska, Rhonda Seacrest, the Nebraska Arts Council and Nebraska Cultural Endowment, and the Sheldon Art Association.

April 27th the Richardson County Arts and Humanities Council will host a gallery talk by Assistant Curator of Engagement at UNL, Saraphina Masters. The gallery talk and reception will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Stalder Gallery in honor of the opening of the exhibition. This event is free to the public and an excellent opportunity to get an inside look at the art chosen for the exhibition. “On the Road Again” will hang in the Stalder Gallery through May 25th during regular hours at the Falls City Library and Arts Center. Questions concerning the exhibition can be directed to curator, Christina Wertenberger at 402-245-6034.

Central Park Rainbow APRIL 30, 1949

When John Falter’s cover painting was accepted, there was lightning trickling down the sky beside the rainbow. Presently the Art Department began to worry—do lightning and rainbows ever show up at the same time? The ever helpful Weather Bureau was asked to look at the Post’s storm—which has just doused midtown New York and is rumbling away beyond Central Park’s man-made ramparts. “Fair and cooler,” was the comment. “But we never saw a streak of lightning in such bright daylight. Of course, where weather is concerned, anything can happen.” So the picture was delightninged, leaving only that sign of clearing weather, a patch of blue sky large enough to make a sailor a pair of breeches. johnphilipfaltermuseum.com
