The Would Eye Sports Bar & Grill celebrates re-grand opening under new ownership

(Please turn to Page 3)

By Amber Holle

Excitement filled Stone Street on Saturday, September 13, as The Would Eye Sports Bar & Grill celebrated its official grand opening and ribbon cutting. Though the popular hangout has already been serving guests for several weeks under new ownership, the celebration marked the start of a new era for the longtime Falls City favorite at 1821 Stone Street.

The sports bar and grill was recently purchased by Brandon Brown, who grew up in York, Nebraska, before moving to Falls City in 2017 to serve as maintenance director at Falls City Foods. For Brown, the decision to step into restaurant ownership came from a simple passion. "I've always loved making people happy with good food, so I thought what a fun place for great food and libations," he shared.

Since taking ownership, Brown has been hard at work giving The Would Eye a refreshed look and expanded offerings. Updates include new paint, additional TVs for sports fans, and a kitchen upgrade to improve both quality and speed of service. He is also introducing a kid's menu, aiming

Ak-Sar-Ben Farm Family Awards presented at Richardson County Fair

Thursday, Sept. 11, with the presentation of Ak-Sar-Ben Farm Family Awards. The ceremony was held at 7:30 p.m., prior to the free acts on the midway.

Richardson County Farm Bureau President Andy Dunn opened the program by highlighting the role organizations like Farm Bureau play in supporting agriculture. He noted that while the number of farmers continues to decline and the average age of producers increases, advocacy groups are working to ensure agriculture remains strong for future generations.

He said membership also provides farmers with practical benefits that go beyond advocacy, including savings on equipment and services. Dunn explained that the Richardson County Farm Bureau holds four meetings a year and annual membership dues are $61. In addition to supporting advocacy efforts in Lincoln and Washington, D.C., members also receive several benefits and discounts.

Dunn said the Ak-Sar-Ben awards are a reminder of the importance of keeping farm traditions alive. The honors, presented in partnership with Nebraska Farm Bureau and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers, recognize Nebraska families who have maintained ownership of the same farmland for generations. The Pioneer Farm Family Award is given for 100 years of family owner- man Brownson Farm. Accepting the award were Dick and Jennifer

The Richardson County Fair honored long-standing farm families ship, and the Heritage Farm Family Award is given for 150 years. Since the 1960s, nearly 10,000 families across the state have been recognized.

> Following his remarks, Dunn and Richardson County Agricultural Society President Joe Standerford presented this year's awards.

> The 100-Year Pioneer Farm Family Award was presented to the Frederick J. Thiltges Revocable Trust. The Watton farm, located six miles north of Falls City, was originally purchased by Joseph Anthony Watton in 1877. He acquired the 160 acres from his parents' estate for $2,550. The last descendant to live on the farm was Lillie Watton, who remained there until the 1970s. The farm has always been operated by family members and is now cared for by Fred and Laurie Thiltges, with help from Ken, Jacob and Stephen Thiltges. The award was accepted by Fred and Laurie Thiltges. The family said they hope there will be many more future generations who will care for the land.

> Agriculture remains the backbone of southeast Nebraska's economy and community life. Generations of farm families have provided stability, food production and local leadership, making farming one of our region's most vital traditions and industries.

Beyond the Baseline: Understanding Tennis Elbow

By. Andrew Ellsworth, MD

A few years ago, I was helping with my son's baseball team. One day, for a routine practice, my role was to hit fly balls for the boys to catch. While I was confident at hitting fly balls, to make things easier for me, I was handed a racquet that, with a fairly easy swing, would launch the baseballs out to the boys. However, after 20 minutes, my elbow was getting sore. More groups of boys needed to rotate through and catch fly balls, so I kept at it. I swung the racquet and the baseballs flew to the outfield over and over. In the end, after less than an hour, my elbow was shot.

I was experiencing lateral epicondylitis, or tennis elbow. It hurt on the lateral, or outside, part of my elbow, and while it did not hurt that bad, it was almost debilitating for certain movements. I took some ibuprofen, avoided certain activities, and needed to give it time to Lateral epicondylitis, which now could also be called "pickleball elbow" with the big increase in pickleball players, is an over-use injury of the tendons at the elbow. Caused by any repetitive use of the forearm muscles, microscopic tears can form which cause pain at the insertion where the tendons attach to the bone at the elbow, known as the lateral epicondyle. The cause is not just limited to sporting activities. Manual laborers, painters, gardeners pulling weeds, musicians, and anyone doing an activity repetitively and more than their body is used to doing, can be susceptible to this injury. Golfers can experience a similar injury, but one that affects the inside part of the elbow, causing medial

One of the keys to recovery is paying attention to your body and avoiding activities that cause the pain. Pushing through may make it worse and make recovery last longer. Non-steroidal anti-inflammatories such as ibuprofen may help with the pain, as well as icing, stretches, and physical therapy. Some people may find benefit from using a brace wrapped around the forearm muscles, taking pressure off of the tendons. Rarely, steroid injections or an injection of plasma-rich protein may be used, although these are not without some risk. Other treatments can also include ultrasound and shock wave

Thankfully, most cases will subside on their own with time. However, it can take a lot of time, oftentimes several months and possibly up to two years. In very rare cases, surgery to remove damaged tissue may be an op-

In my case, the pesky elbow pain lingered for at least six months. This was all because of less than an hour of using a racquet that I refuse to ever use again. I am happy to hit fly balls and I still do, but give me the baseball bat, please.

Court filings allege abuse by former local officer

(Continued from Page 1) tion, the victim asked their information to be kept confidential and the court to prohibit Ramirez from harassment, threats, assault, contact, communication or firearm possession. The filing also requested, sole possession of household pets and Ramirez's removal

The affidavit section of the petition describes an alleged incident on Sept. 19, 2025. According to the filing, the victim reported physical aggression and threats.

On Sept. 22, 2025, the judge renewed the protection order based only on the petitioner's filing, before a hearing could be held. The order found that the victim was in immediate danger. Court records state the order prohibits Ramirez from contacting or disturbing the victim, removes him from her residence and requires him to stay away from their workplace. The order also grants, sole possession of household pets and prohibits Ramirez from possessing firearms. The order includes federal warnings that it is enforceable nationwide and violations could result in federal penalties.

Also on Sept. 22, a two-count criminal complaint was filed against Ramirez, court documents show. Count I charged strangulation, a Class IIIA felony, Count II charged third-degree domestic assault causing bodily injury, a Class I misdemeanor.

An affidavit of probable cause supporting the complaint was filed by a County Sheriff's Sergent, according to court records.

The affidavit states that on Sept. 21, 2025, the Sergeant was dispatched to the hospital where the victim was taken. There the victim reported that Ramirez had choked them at their residence on Sept. 19. The Sergent stated he observed bruising and red marks around the victims neck on both sides consistent with being choked. The affidavit describes bruising on the chest, arms, wrist, legs and shoulders, and swelling on the neck, and stated the injuries were photographed.

On Sept. 24, 2025, an amended complaint was filed in Court, according to court filings. The amended complaint added a third charge. Ramirez now faces three counts: Count I: Strangulation, Class IIIA felony, alleging he impeded the breathing or blood circulation of the victim. Count II: Third-degree domestic assault, Class I misdemeanor, alleging he caused bodily injury to the victim. Count III: First-degree sexual assault, Class II felony, alleging he subjected the victim to sexual penetration without consent.

An arrest warrant for Ramirez Jr. was signed last week and executed the same day.

According to the 10/11 news, Wahoo Police Chief Joe Baulder, stated that Ramirez Jr. has served with the police department for about five months and remains a probational hire. Police Chief Baulder told 10/11 last week that Ramirez Jr. had done an "excellent job and he follows instructions very well, seems eager to please," and Chief Baulder had "no complaints." He added that his "goal is to have officers made up of honor and integrity that public can count on to protect and keep them safe."

Chief Baulder stated the department will take appropriate action in accordance with their policies when they have a "complete understanding of all the facts."

As of last week, an internal investigation had been opened at the Wahoo Police Department into Ramirez Jr.'s alleged actions.

Police Chief Baulder also stated to 10/11 that if there was anything else out there that they were not aware of they would encourage the public to come forward and give them the information and they could work with outside agencies as well.

Juan Ramirez Jr. started working with the Falls City Police Department in September 2020 and was with the FCPD for four and a half years.

In court documents the victim stated on December 24, 2024, police were called to their house "for a domestic," but added the statement was recanted in January 2025.

All charges remain allegations and Ramirez had not been convicted, according to the court records. At the time this publication went to print Ramirez had been held in the Lancaster County Jail, awaiting extradition.

Bloodmobile makes goal

Once again the American Red Cross Blood Drive held at Prichard Auditorium on September 18th and 19th started out a little rocky. The air conditioning at the Auditorium quit. It was getting warm and humid and if it gets too warm the staff cannot collect the blood from donors. A quick call to Briar Burr had Briar, Blake Buckminister and Bob Howard trying to find out what was going on. With help from Bobby Lock we had several fans going to at least be able to continue the blood drive. Then the air came back on and continued to work the rest of the drive. A huge Thank You to these four guys!

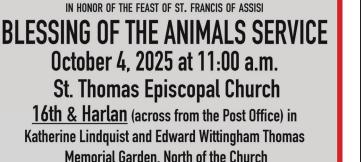

Another plus was we just made goal. Our goal was 83 units for both days and that is exactly what we collected. Thank you to our faithful donors who make these drives

The next two drives will be hosted by; Falls City Sacred Heart in November and Falls City High School in January.

Where Nebraska speeding ticket money goes with these fine increases

When drivers in Nebraska are ticketed for going seven miles per hour over the speed limit, the fine they pay does more than punish the violation. It helps fund schools, courts, retirement programs, and even mediation services across the state.

According to the Nebraska Judicial Branch, a ticket for driving seven mph over results in $50.25 in combined fines and costs. That amount is distributed to a variety of programs as directed by the Legislature.

The largest share, $25, is sent directly to the school district in the county where the violation occurred.

Another $15 supports the Nebraska Public Employees Retirement System, specifically for judges' retirement. The state's General Fund, which covers government op-report, a 2024 Chevrolet Silverado driven by Nathan Lee Johnson, 47, of Ruthton, Minnesota, was traveling north on Highway 75 when a tractor operating on the shoulder caused debris to strike his vehicle.

A 2020 John Deere 6140 farm tractor owned and operated by Samuel R. Crow, 34, of Plattsmouth, was mowing grass on the southbound shoulder while pulling a mower. The mower struck a large piece of metal, which was thrown into the roadway and hit the windshield of the Silverado.

The impact shattered the windshield on the passenger side and caused injury to Johnson's right shoulder. He transported himself to a hospital in Falls City for treatment.

Damage to the Silverado was estimated at $1,000. The tractor was not damaged.

Falls City Police Dept. warns of counterfeit bills

The Falls City Police Department is alerting local businesses after reports of counterfeit bills being passed in the community. Police are urging business owners and employees to carefully examine all currency during transactions to help prevent the circulation of fake money.

Anyone who receives or suspects counterfeit currency is asked to contact the FCPD immediately.

Sheriff's Dept. executes search warrant in Humboldt

The Richardson County Sheriff's Office executed a search warrant at 602 Central Avenue in Humboldt, on September 18 in connection with a felon in possession of a firearm investigation. During the search, deputies recovered two rifles and a shotgun.

As a result, Matthew Hillyard 43, of Humboldt, was arrested for unlawful possession of firearms by a prohibited person (felon). Further investigation confirmed that the firearms recovered had been reported stolen out of Pawnee County.

This case remains under active investigation, and additional arrests and charges are anticipated.

The judicial branch itself receives $9, with $8 designated for computer and information systems and $1 for judge and employee training.

The Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center receives $2, while $1 is allocated for state data analysis projects. Another 75 cents helps fund regional mediation centers.

State officials say the system ensures that fines support both local services and statewide programs. For example, schools directly benefit, while public advocacy, legal aid, and law enforcement training also receive support.

Nebraska is one of several states where court fines are divided among a variety of programs instead of going into a single account. The Legislature sets the allocation for each portion, and the Judicial Branch oversees how the money is distributed.

For drivers, the breakdown shows that a simple speeding ticket funds more than the penalty—it helps support classrooms, retirement funds, courts, and community services across Nebraska.

(Continued from Page 1) the ones that were good are okay; the ones that were bad, are worse," after receiving over an inch of rain early in the week.

Darveau stated that if the rain had stopped on Tuesday morning, everything would have been fine. The slow drizzle that fell on Tuesday afternoon caused problems with the roads.

The Highway Superintendent also advised the Board that the new loader was set to be delivered on Thursday. He also reported that he had contacted a firm in Kansas about inspecting the shop roof in Falls City. Darveau hopes the roof can be sprayed and sealed to stop the ongoing leaking issues.

A discussion was also held about starting the process of replacing the county building in Verdon. Darveau said the job would likely be put out for bid sometime between now and Christmas. He also discussed obtaining pricing for resurfacing the dustless highway once new oil prices were established.

"We're going to try to get something on it before it completely goes to crap on us," said Darveau.

With the weather looking more conducive over the next eight to ten days, Darveau said he hopes to get the road graders back out soon.

He mentioned that four of the semi-trucks had been down for repairs, along with a grader that had the rear end torn out of it. The work on the grader is under warranty. Darveau said the problem has persisted since the machine had approximately 400 hours of use.

A discussion was also had on buying a new grader outright versus utilizing a trade-in. Darveau told the Board that the used market is down, and now would be the time to keep the grader if another route is going to be utilized.

The County currently has eight graders in use and is hoping to add a ninth route to help alleviate some of the issues.

With a used grader in the future, the County won't know what it is getting into, as opposed to keeping a current unit and knowing exactly what kind of shape it is in.

The Sheriff met with the Board, informing them that the jail was currently housing 20 inmates. Sheriff Hardesty also reported that the patrol truck that was ordered in August should arrive by the first or second week of November.

Government and Community Relations Strategist and Public Affairs representative for OPPD, Chris Meeks, met with the Board, updating them on projects that OPPD is currently working on.

The Board again met with County Attorney Samantha Scheitel regarding how the Richardson County Sheriff's Department should handle emergency calls that occur on the Sac and Fox Nation of Kansas and Nebraska and the Iowa Tribe of Kansas and Nebraska. The Commissioners have requested a meeting with the tribes' legal counsel to develop a Memorandum of Understanding outlining the guidelines for the Sheriff's Department when responding to calls on tribal land within Richardson County. The issues in question regard the Sheriff Department's jurisdiction when responding to

The current issue involves a buffalo that belongs to the tribe, which continually escapes from its enclosure and is on a citizen's land. The landowner claims the buffalo had been on his property 105 times.

County Attorney Scheitel said that for now, the Sheriff's Department should respond to calls, but should also coordinate with tribal law enforcement before responding.

"I'm not stepping on their toes unless they are okay with it," said Scheitel.

Commissioner Campbell said he understands the dilemma, but "my goal is to protect Richardson County. That's why I keep bringing this up."

Karas made a motion to approve the annual funding of $10,000 for the Richardson County Historical Society, $5,000 for the Quad-County Historical Society and $5,000 for the Pennsylvania Colony Historical Society of Nebraska.

Claims were approved, and the meeting was adjourned at 10:50 a.m.

NDOT highlights importance of child passenger safety

On Sept. 27, the Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) Highway Safety Office celebrated National Seat

Check Saturday. The event coincided with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's (NHTSA) Child Passenger Safety Week aimed at bringing heightened awareness to keeping children safe in vehicles through properly secured child safety seats. Recent data suggests car seat use for newborns to 12 months of age has declined, according to NHT-SA. Correctly installed child passenger seats reduce the risk of fatality for infants by 71% and for toddlers by 54%. NDOT's Highway Safety Office has partners in several locations statewide that offer no-cost car seat checks and demonstrations. Learn more at safekidsnebraska.org/safety-tips.

"Keeping kids safe is a priority for the Pillen administration," Lt. Gov. Joe Kelly said.

Highway Safety Office Administrator Ryley Egger added: "At NDOT, safety is always our top priority. That begins with the most vulnerable passengers – our children. NDOT has granted more than $55,000 to recipients across the state for child passenger safety training over the past year."

Statewide, Nebraska has multiple seat check stations in 56 different counties with more than 300 certified technicians to teach parents and caregivers how to correctly install and use child safety

Tiger mistakes too costly in homecoming loss to Pioneers

The Falls City Tigers had 63-yard drive by Nebraska opportunities on Friday night, however a handful of mistakes led to Falls City's fourth straight loss and the first win of the season for Nebraska City.

Both teams enjoyed good field position in the early goings, but each had difficultly capitalizing.

On the third offensive play for Nebraska City, Falls City's Orion Cattrell secured an interception, giving the Orange and Black the ball at midfield. However, four plays later the Tigers turned the ball over on downs, failing to take advantage of the field position.

Late in the first period, Nebraska City put together a successful drive. However, Falls City had an opportunity to get the defense off the field. On fourth and 11 the Pioneer pass fell incomplete, only to be overturned by a pass interference call on FC. On the first play of the second quarter, Tyrese Gardner carried the ball up the middle for a two-yard score to make it 7-0 with 11:54 to go in the half. The TD ended an 11-play, City.

After trading punts, FC drove deep inside Nebraska City territory. A reverse to Cattrell picked up big yards, but a fumble by Tiger running back Jayton Wilkerson gave the Pioneers the ball at their 19. The Bengal defense was up to the challenge and forced a quick three-and-out.

Again, FC had something cooking on offense. QB Blakely Sells found Wilkerson down the sideline for a 43-yard gain. A big mistake cost FC another chance to tie the game. Facing a third and two at the three, the snap sailed over the head of Sells and FC was faced with a 4th and 17. The Tigers seemingly overcame the mistake as Sells found Jacoby Bangert in the back of the endzone for the score, but the officials ruled him out of bounds, turning the ball over to the visitors.

The first half would end with Falls City trailing Nebraska City 7-0.

The Tigers got the first break in the second half. Gavin Bauer pounced on a Pioneer fumble, giving FC the ball at their 29. Two straight sacks derailed the Tiger drive and FC was forced to punt. The teams combined for four consecutive punts at one point in the half.

With only 3:33 remaining in the contest, Sells threw a costly pick. Added to that Falls City was called for a personal foul, giving Nebraska City the ball at the FC six-yard line. On first and goal the Pioneers PAT the ball on the turf and Caleb Offner recovered it, giving life back to the Tigers.

However, the Tigers offense failed to gain traction, eventually turning the ball over on downs at their six-yard line with just under two minutes to play.

Was there any magic left in the Falls City defense? Gardner sealed the win 46 seconds later, breaking multiple tackles as he ran for the eight-yard score.

FC didn't hang their heads. Instead, the offense rallied. Wilkerson took a screen pass 50 yards to the Pioneer 31. With only six seconds to play, Sells connected with Bauer for a 31yard TD strike to cut the lead to 14-7. Needing just a little more magic, FC's onside kick failed, and the Tigers dropped a hard-fought home contest, 14-7.

FC out passed Nebraska City 212-210, but the Pioneers held a 50 to 24 rushing advantage. Each team threw one interception and each team fumbled twice. FC lost one fumble, NC lost both.

First inning dooms Tigers in loss to Lafayette

The Falls City softball team surrendered ten runs in the top of the first inning and was unable to rebound against the fighting Irish, falling 4-15, in action at Hartman Field on Thursday, September 25.

The visitors took advantage of two Tiger errors and three walks as they raced to a 10-0 lead before the Tigers even entered the batter's box.

In the bottom of the first, Addi Miller drove the eighth pitch of her at bat past the third baseman for a single. Unfortunately, FC could not take advantage as the following batters popped out, ground out and flew out to end the inning.

Back-to-back errors in the top of the second led to another big inning for Lafayette. The visitors tacked on four insurance runs to make it 14-0 after 1 ½ innings of action.

FC again put the leadoff runner on base as a pitch plunked Taytum Maddox. With two and Maddox on third base, Kenley Alexander was hit, putting runners at the corners with two down. An RBI single by Katylin Rhodd made it 14-1, and a two-run double by Miller cut the lead to 14-3.

Down by 11 in the third, Bristol Titus reached on a one-out single to right field. Later in the inning, with two down, Alexis Schawang singled home Maddox to make it a tenrun game, 14-4. The visitors added one last run in the fourth to earn the 15-4

FC was outhit 9-5, but six errors were too costly to overcome as they led to ten unearned runs. Miller went 2-3 for FC with a double and two RBI. Titus, Schawang and Rhodd all added singles. Strecker went three innings for FC, allowing nine hits and 14 runs, just four of them earned.

The Tigers hosted the 2025 ECNC Triangular on Saturday morning at Hartman Field. Falls City faced a pair of formidable foes on Saturday, falling to Freeman in the opener,

In the day's first contest, Freeman plated two in the first and nine in the second to lead 11-0 after two innings. In the third, Alexander reached on a oneout single to begin a rally. Next, Miller and Maddox were hit by pitches, loading the bases for Brylee Liberty. On the second pitch of the at-bat, Liberty stroked a double to the right field fence, driving in all three base runners to make it 11-3.

The Falcons added three insurance runs in the bottom of the third as they pulled away for the 14-3

Liberty was 1-2 with a double and three RBI, while Kuker and Alexander added base hits.

FC fell to Auburn in game two, 9-0. Jazzy Strecker retired the Bulldogs in order in the bottom of the first. Meanwhile, in the top of the second, Rhodd led off the inning with a single to left, but the Tigers were unable to advance her, and the game remained tied at zero entering the bottom of the second.

The Bulldogs got a single by Stanley and doubles by Hamann and Paschal to make it 2-0 after two. Auburn increased its lead to 4-0 in the third with an RBI double by Darnell and an RBI by Wehenkel. Leading 5-0 entering the fifth, Auburn ended the game with four runs to make the final 9-0.

The only baserunner of the contest for FC came from the second-inning single by Kaytlin Rhodd.

The 1-18 Tigers wrapped up the regular season at 5-19 Syracuse on Monday, September 29.

High School on Friday night.

The contest was tight through the first period, but a huge second 12 minutes catapulted the Irish to the win.

A one-yard TD run by Elijah Canonico on the first drive of the game gave SH an early 6-0 lead. The Irish looked to build upon that lead on the next possession, but a fumble into the endzone turned the ball over to the Titans.

The Irish scored quickly in the second quarter, extending their lead to 20-0 halfway through the period.

Noah Howard caught a 17-yard touchdown pass from Brenden Lemerond with 7:05 to play in the half to extend the Irish lead. The PAT pass from Lem to Kyler Sipple pushed the score to 14-0.

On the ensuing Titan drive, Alex Dewberry caught a shovel pass behind the line of scrimmage, but was stripped by Canonico, who secured the ball and scored from three yards out to extend the Irish lead to 20-0 with 6:09 left in the half.

The Irish drove inside the red zone two more times in the half: however, the Titan defense stood firm and kept them out of the endzone.

With 41 seconds re-Lemerond hooked up with Cole Taft for a 17-yard score, and it looked as though the Irish would lead 26-0 at the break.

Cole Taft (9) looks to get past the Titan's Jack Hilgenfeld (2) in action at Humboldt

However, the Irish defense had other ideas in mind. Facing a 4th and 7 from their 18, an incomplete Titan pass gave the Irish great field position to end the half. Irish kicker JJ Lancaster calmly put a 34-yard field goal through the uprights as time expired to make it 29-0 at intermission.

HTRS took the opening possession of the third and drove down to the Irish 10-yard line before being turned away on downs.

After a three-and-out by the SH offense, HTRS was ready to make some noise. The Titans delivered their best drive of the contest, covering 58 yards in seven plays and ended with a Dewberry three-yard TD run, cutting the lead to 29-6 with 3:29 to play in the third.

The Irish needed two and a half minutes to respond, effectively sealing the win. Canonico scored his second of three touchdowns when he broke free for a nine-yard score with 53 seconds to play in the third. The PAT pass failed, but the Irish led 35-6.

The Titans didn't waste any time responding. Dewberry scored for the second time just 52 seconds into the fourth period when he crossed the goal line from three vards out. The two-point run by Dewberry made it 35-14 with 11:08 on the clock.

The final score of the contest came from Irish running back Canonico. A three-yard run capped off a five-play, 34-yard drive to make the final 41-14.

The Irish held a 354 to 238 advantage in total yards and a 23 to 14 edge in first downs.

Patricia A. McCloud

Patricia A. McCloud, a longtime resident of Seattle/Lake Forest Park, passed away at the age of 94 on August 27, 2025, after a lengthy battle with Alzheimer's disease. Born Patricia Hampel on June 21, 1931, in Denver, CO, it was not long before she would move to the family farm in Nebraska with her mother, Lucille Hampel, and sister Jean. The farm, which had been in the family since the 1880s, would be home from her earliest school years through college graduation. After marrying William D. McCloud, she moved to Omaha, NE, to begin married life together. A job transfer in 1958 led to a significant upheaval, relocating across the country to Seattle, WA, something uncommon for the time. Nonetheless, Patricia fell in love with Seattle, making it her permanent home.

Family was Patricia's number one priority, especially raising her three children. She had a special knack for making a "house a home," regardless of everything else happening in her life. A woman with unending energy. Patricia also chose to stay active outside the home as long as she could maintain a favorable work-life balance. Her part-time work for the "Welcome Wagon" led to a position as Secretary of the Kenmore Chamber of Commerce. Her membership in P.E.O. International was an activity she treasured.

Patricia, a devout Christian, served as a church Elder, church Secretary, among other church responsibilities at Lake Forest Park Presbyterian Church. Singing was a true love of Patricia, beginning as a young girl and eventually leading to a music scholarship from Doane College, and a 40+ year "career" as a member of her church choir. Patricia is preceded in death by her husband William D. McCloud, mother Lucille Hampel, father Paul Hampel, sister Jean Eiguren, and her uncle Herbert Chism.

Patricia is survived by her three children: Scott (Elizabeth) McCloud, Dan McCloud, and Sally (Randy) Routh, seven grandchildren: Chris (Audrey) McCloud, Danielle (Tim) Gardner, Joshua and Tyler McCloud, Samantha (Chad) Ro, Ryan and Stephanie Routh, and three great-grandchildren: Mikayla McCloud, Emma, and Ryan Gardner. Three nieces and one nephew also survive Patricia: Debi Marts, Yo Curtis, Barbara (Stuart) Coffey, and James Oliver.

Family and friends were invited to attend a Memorial Service for Patricia on Tuesday, September 30th at 2:00 PM. The service will be held at Lake Forest Park Presbyterian Church, located at 17440 Brookside Boulevard NE, Lake Forest Park, WA 98155.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation in Patricia's honor to Lake Forest Park Presbyterian Church, P.E.O. International's Cottey College, or the Alzheimer's Association.

Pastor Ronald "Ron" Russell

Pastor Ronald "Ron" Melvin Russell, 82, of Humboldt, Nebraska was born July 4, 1943, in Marysville, California, to David N. and Dorothy (Goering) Russell. Ron grew up in Yuba City, graduating from Yuba City High in 1961. After graduation, Ron was mentored by Brother David "Archie" Webb and served as associate pastor at Emmanuel Faith Tabernacle Church in Linda, California. Ron also served as a youth evangelist in California and Oregon, before heading to southeast Nebraska—the area where his parents had grown up. Ron continued to pursue his God-given calling of ministry, serving as a youth pastor in Nebraska City.

After some time, he moved to Lincoln. During the week he worked at a music store, and on weekends he would preach wherever he was needed. In 1968, Ron met a young lady who was working at the Back to the Bible Broadcast headquarters in Lincoln. He asked her out, and the rest is history. Ron and Elnora Ann Warkentin were married in July of 1968 at the Lincoln Berean Church, Lincoln, Nebraska. They were blessed with two sons, Eldon and Bruce. In August of 1973, Ron and Elnora and Eldon moved to Humboldt, Nebraska. Ron ministered in southeast Nebraska for over four decades, retiring in 2018 due to health challenges. He served as pastor at the Humboldt Berean Church, Verdon Congregational Church, and Four-Mile Congregational Church. Ron also worked part-time for the Humboldt Standard newspaper and Wherry Mortuary.

Ron was active in his community. In 1976, Ron, along with Herbert Young, helped start the Humboldt Community Choir, a choir that is still active to this day. He also served as a board member of various organizations, including the Humboldt Community Foundation (as one of the founding members); Humboldt Housing Authority; Southeast Nebraska Crisis Pregnancy Center; SENCA Board; and the Humboldt Ministerial Group. Ron's wife Elnora passed away March 17, 2004. In the summer of 2007, Ron met a schoolteacher from Minnesota. Caroline's love for the Lord, as well as for music, quickly won him over. (However, Ron would often tease Caroline by saying she simply married him to escape the Minnesnow-ta weather.) He and Caroline Boender were married October 17, 2008, in Caroline's home church in Hospers, Iowa. Ron passed away on Tuesday, September 23, 2025, at the Colonial Acres Nursing award at the Richardson County Fair. The Truman Brownson Farm has been in their family for 150 years. Andy Dunn, president of Richardson County Farm Bureau and Joe Standerford, president of the Richardson County Ag Society, presented the award. Family members joining them in accepting the award were Don Ballue, Charlotte James Wallace, Elizabeth Wallace, and Sharron Hamilton.

The following was submitted by Jennifer James On September 11th, Dick and Jennifer James, Verdon, received the Ak-Sar-Ben Heritage Farm

Daniel Brownson was born November 26, 1813 in St. Lawrence County, New York. His parents were John Lewis Brownson and Polly (Wood) Brownson. Some records list his birthplace as northern Vermont. In 1839. Daniel married Asenath Tyler, daughter of Joseph Tyler and Mehitable (Ladd) Tyler. They lived on a small farm at North Lawrence, St. Lawrence County, New York, about fifteen miles from Canada.

In 1846, Daniel, Asenath, and their children. Truman (6), Freeman (3) and Almeda (6 months) moved to northeast Iowa. Family tradition said that when they finally reached the Mississippi with the promised land on the far bank, they had no money with which to pay for the crossing. They had to part with some of their more desirable possessions to overcome this last barrier. After Daniel's family settled in Iowa, his parents and voungest brother moved to Iowa in 1848.

Family stories say Daniel worked as a woodsman in Wisconsin's white pine forests to earn money for land. In 1848 he purchased 40 acres at $1.25 per acre. He had already picked out an unclaimed site in Clayton County near Farmersburg, which was about fifty-five miles north of Dubuque. Daniel learned that a land speculator wanted the same property and was on his way to the U.S. Land Office in Dubuque by riverboat. Daniel walked to Dubuque and was sitting on the steps of the Land Office when it opened, beating the speculator. In 1849, Daniel purchased an adjoining 40 acres and put it in Asenath's name. Daniel and Asenath began constructing a new home in 1861 after several years of living in a log cabin. The new brick home was mainly built by two northerners who escaped from the South and fled up the Mississippi. Daniel learned that they were bricklayers and carpenters and hired them. The house had a quarried limestone cellar.

Daniel noted that he needed a better farm draft animal. Indian ponies, horses and oxen had their place, but he wanted a better breed of horse. In 1867, Daniel went to France to buy Norman or Percheron stock. He had been raised near the Quebec border and had a knowledge of the French language. His nickname was "Frenchy" but it is unknown if he gained the nickname before or after his trip to France. He purchased Norman or Percheron stock during his trip and became wellknown for his breeding of fine Norman horses.

WING WEDNESDAY

Daniel's oldest son Truman Murray Brownson was born September 4, 1840. Truman enlisted in the Twenty-seventh Infantry and was mustered into service at Dubuque on August 8, 1862. The regiment had its first active duty in Minnesota and eventually had engagements in Arkansas on the Red River. They traveled to Mobile Bay where they helped capture the city. The regiment disbanded after traveling over 12,000 miles. He mustered out on August 10, 1865 at St. Louis, Missouri. Truman's Civil War service led to health problems, and he finally received a pension from the Army in 1915 at $30 per month. In 1865, Truman paid $1000 to purchase 120 acres in Clayton County from his parents.

On August 28, 1874, Truman married Amelia Marie Jones, a local girl. The following month they moved to Richardson County, Nebraska. In the spring, they moved to the 160-acre family farm north of Verdon. Originally the land was received by patent from President James Buchanan on June 1, 1860. Dick and Jennifer James have the original patent. It transferred title to "John G. Falsken, Assignee of Sandford T. Burk, Captain, Farley's Company, First Regiment of Indiana Volunteers. Authority Act of Congress, February 11, 1847. SW Quarter, Section 23, in Township 3 North of Range 15 East in the District of Sanas, subject to sale at Brownville, Nebraska."

In 1871, Falsken sold the land for $3200 to William Forney. The following year William Forney transferred the south half title to Daniel Kroh, and the north half title to Jesse Schick. On March 23, 1875, Daniel Kroh and Jesse Schick transferred both halves of the farm to Truman. On December 12, 1875, Truman and Amelia welcomed their first son Arthur.

Truman and Amelia's farm operation included horses from his father. The 1883 National Register of Norman Horses listed a dapple gray stallion named DECIDE, imported in 1880 by Daniel Brownson and Son, National, Iowa, and owned by Truman Brownson, Verdon, Nebraska. Following Arthur, sons Glen, Carey, Edward, and Hollis Lee were born. Truman and Amelia also lost a daughter in infancy. They built the original two-story white farmhouse and a large red barn, which was built with wooden pegs instead of nails. Amelia passed away May 16, 1913, and Truman continued to reside with his son Carey on the family farm. Truman passed away on January 8, 1923. On March 5, 1924, Carey purchased his brothers' shares of the farm for $170 per acre. Carey L. Brownson was born November 27, 1882 on the family farm. On March 26, 1911, he married Daisy Dell Arnold in Verdon. Daisy was the daughter of two unrelated Arnolds, father Marion Arnold and mother Ella May Arnold. Carey and Daisy had a daughter Ruth Esther born May 20, 1912 and a son Robert Edward, born March 6, 1914. Carey had a closing-out sale in December, 1945, and he passed away on February 26, 1947. Daisy rented the farm to the Spitzer family.

Robert (Bob) Brownson married Doris Laurine Buell on July 17, 1939. Bob had a distinguished career as an accountant for the US Bureau of Prisons. They welcomed children Rollin Carey, Terry Robert, and Rebecca Kay. On December 3, 1949, Ruth married Ardelle Francis James. He was a widower with two very young children, Laurence Charles and Elizabeth Lorene (Betty). They first farmed near Franklin, Nebraska, before moving to the Verdon farm in March, 1952. Ruth and Ardelle rented the family farm from Daisy. Realizing that the dairy was the most profitable part of the farm, they began milking on a greater scale. On August 15, 1953, Ruth and Ardelle welcomed their son Richard (Dick) Carey. In 1957, they built a milking parlor on the side of the large red barn.

When Daisy passed away in 1965, Bob Brownson inherited the children Zach and Janie north half of the farm and cash rented it to Ruth and Ardelle. Ruth inherited the south half which was where she and Ardelle lived. Ruth died March 25, 1968. At that time Ardelle and Dick inherited Ruth's land. They continued to farm with Larry James and to increase the milking herd. Ardelle later gave his half of the land to Larry. Ardelle married Jeneveia Hall Ballue in 1969. Dick married Jennifer Sue Giles in 1980, and Larry married Juanita Ann Vollmers in 1981. The three families lived on the farm and operated the dairy. Ardelle died in 1991. Dick and Jennifer purchased Larry's share of the farm in 1993. In addition to milking cows, they raised corn, soybeans, wheat, sunflowers, triticale and alfalfa. In 2004, the cows moved to Prairieland Dairy, Firth, Nebraska and Dick began managing part of the larger dairy. In 2016, Bob and Doris Brownson's sons sold their late parents' north half of the farm to Dick and Jennifer. In 2021, Goff Farms began farming the ground.

A display included the original farm patent, a 1924 county atlas, a brief history of the farm, an advertisement of machinery sold by a Brownson cousin, a Nebraska Farmer article about the farm, and small farm tools used by past generations. from their children. Everyone enjoyed a pulled pork and chicken dinner and a beautiful evening in the James backyard. Dick James enjoyed a large number of silly 72 gifts to celebrate his birthday. The gifts were very creative and he received 72 pennies, nickels, dimes, M&M's, cow mints, cow straws, peppermints, chocolate kisses, marbles, fencing staples and much more!
