'New Law Enforcement Center'

Falls City Journal — March 22, 2016

Build it, and they will come. That's exactly what happened last Friday when the new Richardson County Law Enforcement Center opened its doors for public tours. People came. The center, which is located in the former armory building west of Falls City on highway 14, will house 11 units beginning Monday, August 15. But

'Guilty'

Falls City Journal — December 6, 2016

It took a jury little more than an hour Friday afternoon to find 35-year-old Desiderio Hernandez guilty of first-degree murder in the shooting death of his cousin, Joseph Debella, in early August 2015. After hearing testimony from Monday afternoon through Friday morning, the jury got the case at 1:45 p.m. and returned its verdict at 3. They also found

'Braniff 50th Anniversary'

Falls City Journal — August 2, 2016

By: Bill Schock
Fifty years ago this coming Saturday night, August 6th, a burning Braniff International jet airliner, Flight 250, with 42 people aboard plunged from the sky and crashed into Tony Schawang's soybean field, 12 miles northeast of Falls City. There were no survivors.

Falls City PD wins award for first annual National Night Out

In August 2016, the Falls City Police Dept. and City of FC hosted the very first National Night Out, an annual nationwide community policing event. It was the FCPD's belief that hosting the very first "Night Out" would be a great opportunity to help build a stronger relationship with the community and citizens they serve.

Nationally, the event involved 38.5 million people across 16,142 communities from more than 500 locations worldwide.

The FCPD is proud to announce its selection as a National Award Winner for outstanding participation in the 33rd

Annual National Night Out; Falls City received the award for Rookie of the Year from the National Association of Town Watch. It was estimated that more than 500 people attended the event in FC.

It would not have been possible without donors, including Sac & Fox Tribe, SunMart, Mrs. Beasley's and Sonic, to name a few. The names of all the donors were listed on a banner at the FC Aquatic Center, during the event and also published in the Journal. This event was also made possible because of many volunteers from other City departments and organizations from the surrounding area.

Squaw Creek shall be called by a new name

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Director Daniel Ashe early last month apparently made the decision to rename Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge to — for now — Eagle Flats National Wildlife Refuge.

The name change was revealed during an invitation-only meeting held in mid-December. Director Ashe made the decision to remove the word "Squaw" because of its derogatory and offensive nature to Native Americans.

"Eagle Flats," as of now, is only an interim name of the refuge. During the meeting, a number of people voiced their displeasure with the change. Some suggested the name "Loess Mounds National Wildlife Refuge" be submitted to the director for consideration as the permanent name. The official change will be made this month.

Squaw Creek was established in 1935 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The refuge includes more than 7,400 acres of wetlands, grasslands and forests.

The night after Christmas I started to take down all of my Christmas decorations. I hate doing it because that means that Christmas is really over and the 'happiest season of all' has ended. It's just so depressing, but I've been trying to find my optimism lately. I tried telling myself that moving forward is a great thing. As I took down the stuffed Santa's and multi-colored Christmas lights, I kept thinking that I needed to be present in this moment of my life and move forward because moving forward is what life's all about.

Now that we are in 2017, I'm trying to identify my strengths and my weaknesses. What I'm finding is that many of my strengths are due to my weaknesses and vice versa. Brian told me this weekend that someone mentioned to him that I really 'put it all out there.' I didn't know if it was a compliment or criticism. Putting it all out there was for a long time, my strength. I received really good feedback and I loved what I did with this column. Over time that strength turned into a weakness because people identified my wound and tossed salt into it. This new year, I'd like to turn it back into my strength. I won't hold back or become more censored. I will continue to put it all out there because I want to be honest. In life, people hurt and not everything is perfect. Life is messy and honest, much like this column. I'll just be more aware of what I'm putting out into the universe-and maybe prepare myself.

Each year I often make fun of those who make New Year's resolutions. I always think that those people can take their 'New Year, New Me' bull and shove it. Then at the beginning of December, I started to think about all the things I would like to improve or work on in the new year. As the month went on, I realized that I was making resolutions and they gave me hope and a sense of control. The people who I had made fun of for so long may have been on to something here.

I dove in head first. I went big with the usual, lose weight and get healthy, but as I went on with my normal day-to-day activities, I started to think of dozens of little things I'd like to work on or do.

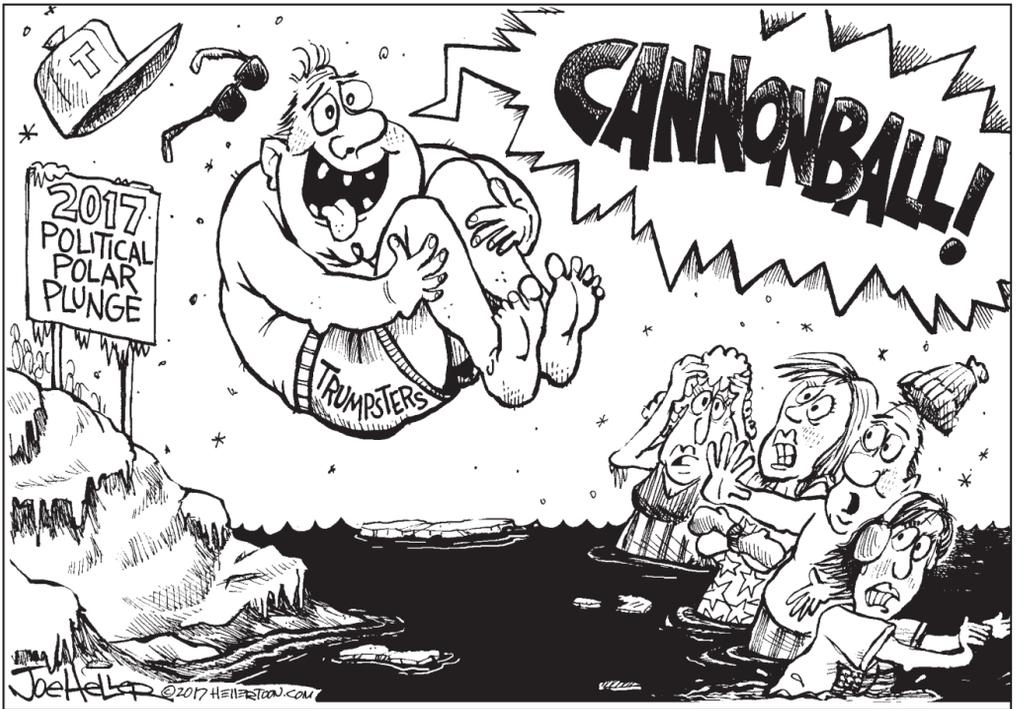

As a way of coping with my anxiety, I chew on my fingers-not my nails, my actual skin. It's actually a common condition, but seriously gross. As I sat one night on the couch gnawing on myself, I decided that I would add-'Be as fierce as Ka-Ka-Ka-Katie' to my list. Ms. Katie Morosky-Gardner, from 'The Way We Were' has a gorgeous look near the beginning of the movie. Ms. Streisand is rocking some bright red nails and matching red lipstick (and broach) that truly is a thing of beauty. I love the look, but its far too bold for me. So I decided to start with bright red fingernails. Each time I go to chew on my hand, I see the perfectly manicured nails and stop. Something small, something that's big for me.

I've also decided to watch more movies. I'm sure that seems funny to a lot of people because it does seem like I just live my life screening film, after film. I did live that way for a long time, but in 2016, I didn't have as much time. So in 2017, I'd like to see more films in the theater and at home. I'd like to discover more new films and give foreign films a chance. I would also like to get through at least 20 books this year. For Christmas, I received at least 15 books. I love to read, but I love to watch movies and I often chose a movie instead.

Keep my car clean. Here are a few more of my 'resolutions.' Print and take more photos. Clean every nook of my house (except that closet that resembles the closet Monica had in Friends. That one stays, as is.) Write and blog more. For years I wrote about each event in my life and it was such a blessing that I did. I have forgotten so many things and when I stopped writing it all down, I lost several memories. Visit a place I've never been. There are several more little resolutions that are not exactly earth shattering, but they are little things I want to do to improve myself, and the world around me.

I mainly want to work on how I see myself and others. I want to find more beauty in the world. I know that everything won't magically change with the flip of a calendar, but that new number at the end of the year does give me some hope. That seven gives me that butterfly feeling in my stomach. Its a new year, a chance to wipe the slate clean and come out of the darkness. Everything isn't new, but it feels different. It gives me so much hope and an excuse to be the person I want to be.

Here's to a new year full of light, happiness and hope for so many.

An open letter to new members of Legislature

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt

Nebraska Press Association

Dear Newbies:

Yes, I imagine that some of you likely hate that term. I don't blame you. Perhaps calling you freshmen would be better. But, the bottom line is this: You are new to this time-honored tradition that we call the Nebraska Unicameral.

Yes, I know that some of you come from a strong political background, a couple of you have worked for state senators and at least one of you has political experience on the national level. I also know that a couple of you have extensive experience in party politics. But you have never had to push either the green or the red button to impact the lives of Nebraskans.

We will not forget that some of you received endorsements and some even substantial cash donations from the current Governor. That was more than a coincidence and in some cases driven by a vengeful attitude against your predecessor who may not have voted the way the Governor would have liked.

Many of your colleagues have a whopping two years of experience at this business of governing. A handful have anywhere up to six or seven years. One has 41 years of experience. Yes, that would be the venerable Ernie Chambers. He's the senator that people seem to love to hate. There hasn't been a freshman class that hasn't had at least one member who vows to beat Ernie at his own game.

That has, simply, never happened. The man knows the legislative rules like the back of his hand and he plays them like a piano. Willie Nelson was right when he said that "old age and treachery will win out over youth and exuberance every time." You will come to appreciate and respect Senator Chambers as you get familiar with the big picture.

Be wary of attempts to band together with colleagues in an attempt to "beat" Senator Chambers. Others have tried and the results have usually backfired. Maybe not immediately, but eventually. You may never see him writing down notes, but he does remember things said and done and those often come back to haunt the doer. Think filibuster.

Remember the old adage that there is no such thing as a free lunch. You'll understand, probably before the first week is over and definitely by the end of the month.

Remember that there are three branches of government: the executive, legislative and judicial. You are operating in that middle group, but you will at some point this session feel like you are definitely in-between, as in sand-wich.

If it seems like the lines have been blurred, it's not your vision. It's reality. Go back and read the third paragraph. Is it illegal? Not necessarily. Is it unethical? Probably debatable. Is it true to the notion of nonpartisan? Definitely NOT.

Congratulations on your election to the nation's only one-house Legislature, no matter how or why you are here. I sincerely hope you find that being a state senator is everything you hoped it would be. I hope you aren't disappointed by the pace of the job.

Most of all, I hope that the things you do are truly for your constituents ... the folks who elected you, not the people who helped you get elected. Remember that you are a representative of roughly 37,000 people who live in your district. You are here for them.

Above all else: be nonpartisan; be independent; do everything you do with integrity.

J.L. Schmidt has been covering Nebraska government and politics since 1979. He has been a registered independent for 18 years.

Sixth annual Innovative Youth Corn Challenge

Do you enjoy being outside? Learning new things about crops? Considering a career involving crops, insects, diseases, soils, water or more? Do you want to help figure out how to feed our world's growing population in a sustainable way?

Nebraska Extension and the Nebraska Corn Board are offering the sixth Innovative Youth Corn Challenge contest. This contest, open to 4-H members (age 10 & older as of Jan. 1st) or FFA members (in-school members), guides participants through all aspects of corn production, as well as agricultural careers related to corn production.

As a team (two or more participants), youth will be challenged to implement a production practice different than normal to determine if they increased their yield. Economics and sustainability of the practice will also be considered. Yields, cropping history, and production information will be collected in the Corn Yield Challenge management summary.

Cash prizes and plaques will be given to the first, second, and third place teams. First place will receive $1,000, second place, $500, and third place, $250. Sustainability, crop scouting and "extra mile" awards will also be given, each worth $150.

To participate in 2017, youth must complete and return an entry form by March 15 to the Fillmore County Extension Office in Geneva, NE. Forms can be downloaded at cropwatch.unl.edu/youth/activities.

SCHOLARSHIP

The family of the late John H. Morehead, Richardson County Bank & Trust Co. President for nearly 40 years, are awarding a $5,000 scholarship in his name.

The award will go to any currently enrolled college student who previously graduated from any of the three Richardson County High Schools (Falls City High, FC Sacred Heart and Humboldt-TR-S). Current high school students are not eligible, however applications are available at the respective guidance counselors' offices or may be obtained by emailing Karen (Morehead) Stevenson at ktm.stevenson@yahoo.com

The award may be applied to any four-year college or university in the country.

Mr. Morehead passed away on April 12, 2015 at the age of 87. He first became associated with RCB&T in Falls City in 1958. Within just four years at RCB&T, in 1962, he was elected President of the bank and throughout almost all of four decades, up until his retirement in 2011, he served in various other capacities, including CEO and Chairman of the Board.

Gov. Ricketts, COE complete workforce training initiative

Governor Pete Ricketts and the Department of Administrative Services' Center of Operational Excellence announced Tuesday that all agency code team members are now white belt certified.

"Understanding process improvement is fundamental to making state government more effective, more efficient, and more customer-focused," said Governor Ricketts. "Congratulations to Matthew Singh and the Center for Operational Excellence for their work in guiding our entire team through this training. This training will help our team at the State of Nebraska focus on streamlining and structuring state services to help grow Nebraska."

In September, Gov. Pete Ricketts directed code agencies to have all team members complete the white belt training by the beginning of 2017. Code agencies employ a little over 12,000 team members. White belt training is an essential first step in introducing basic fundamentals of process improvement to create a culture of operational excellence in state government.

"With all team members white belt certified, we now have the foundation for a culture in place that is not only continually looking to improve the products and services they deliver but also collaborating together to create a more efficient and effective state government," said DAS Director Byron Diamond. "It will change the way state government operates. Our team members are now empowered to innovate the way we do business which will benefit taxpayers."

To provide training for state team members, the COE developed an in-house training program instead of contracting with outside resources. This has allowed the State to train and white belt certify over 12,000 team members in six months instead of the three years which was originally promised by outside contractors.

"The COE's in-house training program is another example of building a more efficient and effective state government," COE Director Singh said. "Since, June our team members invested over 14,000 training hours for certification in white, yellow, and green belts to help develop a culture of process improvement. Our program has reduced both the cost and the overall time to train state team members."

The COE utilizes the Lean Six Sigma methodologies to build a culture that values process improvement and continually look for ways to build a stronger, more efficient state government. In addition to certification in white belt training, the COE also provides certification in both yellow and green belt training.

-Yellow belt certification provides a more in depth look at the roles and responsibilities of stakeholders and delivers tools to use for daily management. Currently, over 170 team members are certified yellow belts.

-Green belt certification is key for the advancement of Lean Six Sigma process improvement events. It provides the training for process improvement coordinators to further learn the Lean Six Sigma methodologies and how to lead process improvement events. The first certification course was completed on Oct. 14. Currently, seven team members are on track to receive their green belt certification in February. In addition, 11 more team members will begin their green belt training in February.

The State has already realized several successes since June including significant reductions in the time it takes to deliver certain services, increases in customer satisfaction, and improvements in agency work culture.

Successes include:

-Decreased call wait times at ACCESSNebraska, the state's call centers for public benefits.

-Faster processing time and a customer-friendly processes for almost 176,000 health care professionals.

-Faster delivery for air construction environmental quality permits.

-Increased auctions for the state's Surplus Property Division, decreasing wait time for agencies to access unused items.

Currently, the State is conducting over a dozen process improvement activities in different agencies. These activities will assist the agencies in operating more efficiently, reducing processing steps which will save time, and improving the customer service experience for taxpayers.

Several other states are also using similar process improvement techniques to enhance their services including Ohio, Washington, Pennsylvania and Minnesota.

Celebrating 150 years of the Good Life

By Nebraska Gov. Pete Ricketts

Do you know the connection between the last official document signed by President Abraham Lincoln and Nebraska? It's a little known fact that the last official document President Lincoln signed right before his death reappointed Nebraska's territorial Governor. That document is on display at the Nebraska State Historical Society. This and other fun facts about Nebraska's history will be highlighted through one of four new initiatives unveiled ahead of Nebraska's sesquicentennial birthday.

Get ready to celebrate because Nebraska's big birthday is right around the corner! On March 1, 2017, we'll be celebrating 150 years of statehood for the Good Life. Over the past two years, my wife Susanne has been working with Nebraskans across the state to put together 13 programs and events to help us celebrate all year long. In their planning, Susanne and her team had three major goals: bridge communities, connect Nebraskans, and enhance state pride. This week, Susanne and I hosted a launch event for the sesquicentennial at the State Capitol where we unveiled four web-based programs to get the celebration underway.

The first program is the Nebraska Impact Initiative, which challenges Nebraskans to volunteer 150 hours or more either as an individual or as part of a group in 2017. Utilizing an online platform at www.nebraskaimpact.com, the initiative allows participants to register, discover volunteer opportunities, connect with other Nebraskans, and track progress. Through the website and social media, the Nebraska150 Celebration will recognize Nebraskans who participate and highlight communities, schools, and non-profit organizations that are impacted.

This initiative is a partnership between the Nebraska150 Celebration and ServeNebraska, the state's commission focused on encouraging service and volunteerism. This year, Nebraska ranked sixth in the nation for volunteerism, and the commission has set a goal of making Nebraska number one.

Second is the Nebraska150 Challenge, an online fitness program that strives to make fitness fun by motivating and assisting Nebraskans to reach the goal of moving 150 miles or more in 2017. Through an interactive website, www.ne150challenge.com, individuals and groups will register and document miles for walking, running, biking, swimming, kayaking, skateboarding, jump roping, or almost any type of exercise. An online physical activity converter helps participants easily turn their preferred exercise into miles. Participants will track their progress and earn virtual badges at certain milestones.

Our family is participating in the fitness challenge together. I regularly ride my bike and Susanne is a runner. Along with the kids—and even Olive, our family hedgehog—we are logging our miles. We hope you will do the same!

The third program we launched is a series of engaging video shorts on our state's history called "Now You Know Nebraska." Throughout the course of the school year in 2017, Nebraska150 Celebration will release 174 videos, which educators, families, and all Nebraskans can utilize to learn more about our state's rich history. Each video will be one to two minutes, and will showcase some of the state's most compelling, entertaining, and appealing stories and facts. The videos will be released at www.ne150.org/nowyouknow and via YouTube.

Finally, we launched "I Am Nebraska," an oral history project that invites citizens of all ages to share their Nebraska experience via social media. Participants can record a short video and upload it to their own Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram accounts under the hashtag "I Am Nebraska" (#IAMNebraska). The Nebraska150 Celebration will pull together submissions and feature some on its website, www.iamnebraska.com. Participants can find instructions on how to produce their videos at those sites as well as watch sample videos.

At the end of the year, highlights from the submissions will be shared with the Nebraska State Historical Society for preservation. I've recorded my own video, which you can watch by visiting www.facebook.com/GovernorPeteRicketts or www.twitter.com/GovRicketts.

Susanne and I invite you to join our family in participating in these challenges and activities. This is just the beginning of the celebration—there is a lot more in the works! This anniversary is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for the entire state to come together to celebrate how much the Good Life has grown over the last century and a half. Throughout 2017, follow updates on the sesquicentennial celebration by visiting www.ne150.org.

As always, you are welcome to contact my office by emailing pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or by calling 402-471-2244. In the New Year, my administration will continue our efforts to help Nebraska grow and thrive as the best place in the world to live, work, and raise a family. We value your feedback!

The FCSH girls' basketball team captured the championship of the Freeman Holiday Tournament and remained perfect on the 2016-17 season, beating Thayer Central (52-22) and, in a thriller, Fremont Bergan (45-44) for the title at Adams. The D2 second-ranked Lady Irish defeated HTRS last night in makeup road game to improve to 9-0 on the season. Team members, front row, from left: Mackensie Nelson, Abby Fiegner, McKenzie Witt, Maddie Huppert, Radee Witt, Ahren Ebel, Claire Niemeyer and manager Avery Santo; back row, Assistant Coaches Adam Santo and Holly Westengaard, Alexis Barnes, Jade Hill, Haylee Heits, Sara Wertenberger, Elizabeth Keithley, Lexi Pokorny, Head Coach Luke Santo, and managers Jessica Wertenberger and Macy Keller.

TIGERS TAKE TITLE AT LEBLOND HOLIDAY TOURNAMENT

Back to the ole stompin' grounds

The Falls City Tigers returned to the St. Joseph (MO) Bishop Leblond Holiday Tournament after a two-year hiatus and got back to the business of manhandling Missourians, taking first place with unrelenting defense and more of the same extraordinarily efficient offensive production.

Falls City won back to back Leblond Holiday Tourney titles in 2012 and '13, didn't play in '14 and '15, and last week ran roughshod over Plattsburg (58-49), the hosts (48-30) and, in the championship Dec. 30, Mid-Buchanan (51-25). The title game victory extended the Tigers' winning streak to six. In little more than two week's time, FC transformed an 0-2 season prematurely on the brink into another campaign charging down the tracks on solid ground and steered towards March.

The brakes got pumped last night in a 50-45 home loss to still-unbeaten Maryville, KS, but an expected win over Johnson-Brock in The Jungle Thursday would leave FC at 7-3 and securely pointed in the right direction entering Saturday's big road trip to Nebraska City to exact some revenge on defending Class D1 State Champion Lourdes. The Knights came to Falls City and handed the Tigers a humbling loss last January during a three-week swoon that left a one-time 7-3 FC team scrambling to just keep its head above .500. As they did last year, the Tigers have pulled themselves out of an early hole in a big way, but that's where FC would like the seasons' parallels to deviate. A win over Lourdes, 6-2 after falling by five to 8-1 Syracuse at the Auburn Holiday Tournament, would go a long ways in flipping that script.

Currently, it appears Lourdes will tangle with a different monster than a year ago; since those early losses to Syracuse and Auburn — teams a collective 15-3 right now, by the way — Falls City has emerged as quite a handful. At St. Joe, the Tigers arrived with a defensive brand that set a price on possessions obviously too steep for the natives' blood. By ceaselessly contesting every move to the rim, entry pass and shot, FC's defense forced frustration and fatigue that had a cumulative effect on its foes with each tormented possession. In the opener, the only competitive game of the trio, Plattsburg was ridiculously hot in the first half, 5-for-7 from three-point land and missing just five shots before taking a 31-30 lead into halftime. Plattsburg emerged from the locker room and made 4-of-12 in the third; then got out-scored 15-10 in the fourth by Tiger junior Brandt Chapple alone.

Unproductive possessions heighten the sense of urgency, as there is little wiggle room when a team is taking 40 or fewer attempts at the bucket the entire night. The national average field goal shooting percentage for high school boys is just under 46 percent — do the math — 19 points, plus two or three for three-point goals, maybe another six or so for free throws, isn't going to win many basketball games. Actually, it's now probably less than 46 percent after what FC did to the bricklayers at Leblond, particularly in the semifinal and final rounds. The hosts made nine baskets at a 25 percent clip; FC won by 18. Mid-Buch found nothing but net a grand total of 10 times (twice the entire second half) at 24 percent; FC by 26.

Like their opponents, FC took precious few shots (32 vs. Leblond; 45 in the championship), but unlike their foes, the Tigers made most of them count. FC made more than half its two-point attempts against Mid-Buch, and 60 percent against Leblond.

Tourney MVP Kyle Leafy nearly out-scored Mid-Buch all by himself, pouring in 21, and finished with 50 for the three games; Chapple also made the All-Tourney Team after finishing with 49 points. Leafy made 53 percent of his shots in the three games, and Chapple an even 50 percent.

The FCSH boys' basketball team captured the championship of the Freeman Holiday Tournament for the first time ever and improved to 6-1 on the 2016-17 basketball season with wins over Class C2 schools Thayer Central (61-35) and Fremont Bergan (42-31) Dec. 29-30 at Adams. Team members, front row, from left: Tyler Witt, Emerson Keithley, Bryant Jorr, Noah Keller, Nathan Bird, Austin Ahern and Brenden Lemerond, Director of Player Personnel/Hydration Operations; back row, Head Coach Doug Goltz, Ryker Hoy, Drew Bippes, Sean Arnold, Theo Rohrer, Tristan Keithley, William Morehead and Assistant Coach Brian Lemerond.

Irish teams gleefully ring in New Year

By Brian McKim

The Sacred Heart boys basketball team competed in the Freeman Holiday tournament over the long Christmas break and had winning on its mind after suffering a two-point loss a week earlier to unbeaten Class C2 No. 1 Elmwood-Murdock.

First up for the Irish was Thayer County on Thursday night. The Irish got out to a quick start and they never looked back. Sacred Heart jumped out to a 11-0 lead after a quarter and were up 30-10 by halftime. The Irish kept the cruise control on as they out-scored the Titans 31-25 on their way to a 61-35 win in the opening round. The Irish were led by Noah Keller's 13 points and Drew Bippes' 12. FCSH owned the boards, out-rebounding Thayer 40-21 and had five blocked shots. With the win the Irish earned a spot in the title game against Fremont Bergan.

On Friday, the Irish boys came out the box a little slow and trailed the Knights 10-7 after a quarter. The defense for FCSH clamped down, holding Bergan to just two points in the second, offering SH an opportunity to flip the script; the Irish entered half up 17-12. The Knights cut it to a one-possession game in the third and FCSH only hit two shots in the fourth, but solid free throw shooting enabled the Irish to nail down the win with a 16-8 run down the stretch.

The Green were bitterly cold all night, hitting just nine shots (out of 34) from the field, but they converted 21-of-30 free throws. Bippes, Keller and Tristan Keithley all had 11 points to lead the Irish. Sacred Heart held a slim 29-24 advantage on the boards against the Knights, with Keller leading with eight.

This was the first time the Irish boys had won the Holiday tournament at Freeman. FCSH, 6-1 entering last night's makeup game at HTRS, hosts 3-4 Diller-Odell Friday and 2-8 St. Joseph (MO) Bishop Leblond Saturday, both at Prichard Auditorium.

The Class D2 No. 2 Lady Irish provided the most spine-tingling moment of the season to date in the championship, as senior Jade Hill capped a strong 18-point performance with a game-winner in the final seconds of SH's 45-44 victory over a hot-shooting Bergan team riding a six-game winning streak.

The Lady Irish, which improved to a perfect 9-0 on the season last night in Humboldt, entered the title game 8-0, but with very little sweat to prove it. No opponent had yet played Sacred Heart to within single digits. Pretty good opponents, too. Lourdes, Friend, Tri-County and Elmwood-Murdock are all winning teams at the moment. So, too, is Bergan - and they proved worthy, nearly putting FCSH on the canvas with a late three-point bombing raid. Junior Katie Sleister (15 points) was 0-for-1 from the floor in the first half, missed her first jumper of the third quarter and then made it rain., drilling five consecutive threes. Sophomore Allison Dieckmann and junior Mackenzie Peitzmeier also chipped in threes during the second half barrage. The Lady Knights drained nine treys overall in the game - at a 50 percent clip - all but two dropping after halftime.

It would've been enough to knock out FCSH if not for Hill. The 5-10 senior guard averaging 12 points per game, made her final two shot attempts of the first half to help her team take a three-point lead into intermission, 23-20; then she came out of the locker room firing, making all but two of her second half shots from the floor, finishing with a game-high 18 points. That allowed her team to weather Bergan's long-range assault and pull out the victory on Hill's last bullet, coming with about 14 seconds remaining. Sara Wertenberger pulled down seven boards and Haylee Heits and Hill each added five as FCSH thoroughly dominated Bergan in the middle. The paint is clearly the Irish girls' domain; through nine wins, FCSH hasn't shot particularly well (except at the line), and has turned it over about as often as its opponents, but it hasn't mattered because Sacred Heart is so ridiculously good at limiting possessions. They actually pull down more errant shots (32.1 rpg) than their opponents score points (31 ppg).

So how do you beat a team making half it's shots? Simple: Don't let them shoot.

Possessions weren't nearly so valuable in the tourney opener against Thayer, as the Titans made two shots and scored seven points in the entire first half, while SH scored eight points at the line — in the first period alone — and led by 30, 37-7, by half.

Nine green-clad girls marked up the scorebook, led by Heits and Hill, with 11 and 10 apoints, respectively. Ahren Ebel added eight, making all four shots she took, and dished out four assists. In the end, SH went 16-of-25 from the stripe, with Heits and McKenzie Witt each making 5-of-6. Elizabeth Keithley pulled down nine boards.

NAIA Scholar Team

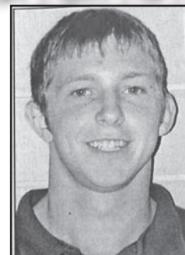

Five of the eight Peru State athletic teams eligible for NAIA Scholar Team status at the end of the academic year are on track to earn the honor following the first semester.

The NAIA requires a team to have a composite 3.0 GPA, which reflects all members of a team who were certified during that academic semester for eligibility purposes.

The women's golf team, which includes Lindsay Harlow of Dawson, had the highest team GPA of 3.81.

The final calculations will be made at the end of the 2016-17 academic year following all grades being posted in the middle of May.

Four women stand in a kitchen setting, date and place unknown.

Fuel and Water -- The housewife's needs

By the late 1800s, new household conveniences were available to lighten some of a homemaker's manual tasks. Examples are the sewing machine, first patented in the 1850s, and the carpet sweeper, which came into vogue during the 1880s. However, chores that involved the use of water and fuel-usually wood-were particularly demanding.

Living standards and the general level of health for late nineteenth and early twentieth century Nebraska farm wives depended heavily upon the availability of wood and water for household needs. "A water supply and fuel are two things which enter prominently into the domestic economy of every home," said the Western Rancher and Brand Recorder (Ainsworth) on February 1, 1905, "for water and fire every housewife must have, whether she presides over a shanty or a mansion. In lieu of providing these two essentials in domestic economy some very heavy and unless [useless] burdens are often placed upon wives and mothers, who have enough to do even when these essentials are made as convenient as possible.

"We know of well-to-do farmers who have gone to a great deal of expense and trouble to pipe the water from their well to their barns, so that a water supply may be handy for their use by just turning a faucet, who indifferently permit their wives to get the supply of water for the home as best they may from a well located ten rods from the house, men who will have their barns guttered and leave their wives to depend upon an old board and a rain water barrel for a supply of soft water.

"There are a few things which every farmer's wife has a right to demand. They are a hardwood floor for the kitchen or at least a linoleum [linoleum] cover for it, a good cistern, accessible by a pump in the kitchen sink; a supply of hard, or well water, under pressure where there is a windmill on the premises, and a convenient and ample supply of fuel, conveniently located. This making a woman lug water and split wood or hunt for fuel is a relic of barbarism. A young lady with a farmer on the string as a prospective husband will do well to have these things settled right before the parson gets in his work."

By the 1920s many Nebraskans enjoyed new household conveniences, including hot and cold running water, gas stoves, automatic washing machines, refrigerators, and vacuum cleaners. In 1927 Mrs. Will Minear, president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, noted that "electricity, gas and the telephone have made great Progress in our state because of the interest of the menfolk." In an article reprinted from the Omaha Bee by the Rushville Recorder on February 11, 1927, she still urged that "energy-saving and health conserving home conveniences" that directly benefited women, be given an equally high priority.

'Sun Sets on St. Mark's'

Falls City Journal — March 22, 2016

By Jason Schock and Nikki McKim

A rural Verdon church will hold its final service on Easter Sunday after serving the community for 133 years. St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church will close its doors due to lack of attendance and a drop in donations.

The large farm families that founded the congregation have all but disappeared over the years and fifth and sixth generation members have found worship elsewhere, but to those whose lives the church impacted, the memories will last a lifetime.

"I always looked forward to Christmas Eve Services with my family and getting dressed up in our Christmas outfits," LuAnn Meinheit Moon said. "It was always such a

'Community Leaders'

Falls City Journal — Feb. 23, 2016

For decades, the Falls City Area Jaycees have recognized inspiring and hard working community members during the annual Distinguished Service Awards Ceremony, recognizing individual and organizational leaders who make Falls City a better place to live.

The Jaycees donate most of their fundraising proceeds back to the community and this year gave back $4,400, which was raised through various events, such as the Demolition Derby and the Tractor Pull.

"We are surrounded by people that make a difference in the lives of others every day and our community is so much better for it," President David Goff said.

Goff then thanked a list of folks who

'CMC Breaks New Ground'

Falls City Journal — June 1, 2016

When Community Medical Center in Falls City celebrated its sixth birthday late last year, they realized that they had outgrown their 68,000 square feet of living space. CMC's Board of Directors gave their stamp of approval on a multi-million dollar upgrade that would give the facility the space to ensure there was room for the doctors and practitioners.

CMC announced earlier this year a $9 million project to add a new primary care clinic, expand and renovate surgery, add in-house MRI, and expand and renovate the clinic area for visiting out-of-town specialists. The project was to be funded from hospital reserves, set aside for that purpose, and broke ground in May.

'SH Win's 8th State Title'

Falls City Journal — November 22, 2016

By Brian McKim

On a crisp Monday morning in Lincoln in front of 1,800 estimated fans at Memorial Stadium, the FC Sacred Heart Irish earned a third come-from-behind playoff win of this fall and in doing so, captured the program's eighth state football championship, beating Twin Loup 44-28.

Sacred Heart, the eighth seed in the East bracket entering this year's playoffs, went through top-seeded Osceola with an implausible 34-28 road win in the second round, then traveled way north and hammered fifth-seeded Bloomfield 46-12 before finally returning home to face No. 1-ranked and second-seeded BDS in a dramatic rematch of a 36-2 Irish loss last season on Oct. 7.

'Former Dawson clerk pleads guilty'

Falls City Journal — March 22, 2016

A former Village of Dawson Clerk who altered 21 checks totaling $26,611.74 and used Village funds to pay personal bills was originally charged with six felony forgery counts in Richardson County District Court, but now faces just one after reaching an agreement with the County Attorney's Office.

Jennifer L. Stutheit, 32, of Humboldt, last Tuesday pled guilty to second degree forgery, a Class III Felony, and in exchange prosecutors dropped four similar counts, as well as a fifth, second degree forgery, a Class IV Felony. She will appear back in Court May 3 for sentencing.

On the surface, it would appear Stutheit received the deal of a lifetime as a Nebraska Auditor of Public Accounts report of

'Shubert Citizens Question Water Issues'

Falls City Journal — June 28, 2016

By Nikki McKim

Last Thursday, June 23, the Village of Shubert held a city council meeting regarding pivot irrigation lowering the town's water supply. The people of Shubert have been concerned about their water supply for quite some time, even bringing up their concerns to the Nemaha Natural Resources District last year.

According to the NRD meeting minutes, the issue goes back to the spring of 2015 when two permits were approved for a Richardson County farmer who irrigates near Shubert.

On September 10, 2015, during the regular NRD monthly meeting, Chuck Wingert, NRD Water Resources Manager, reviewed

'Steele Cemetery Project'

Falls City Journal — July 19, 2016

By Lori Gottula

There are times when a writer just can't do what a subject has asked, and this is one of those times. You see, John Martin didn't want to be included in this story, but without his vision and passion for a project at Falls City's Steele Cemetery, there literally would be no story. So John, I'm sorry, but I can't do what you have asked. Please just sit back and enjoy the ride.

For twelve years now, John has been thinking about and researching Steele Cemetery because his grandmother's grandfather, Joseph Steele, was the founder. John remembers that his mother used to take him there, and the two would sit beneath one of the huge pine trees while she wrote stories

'Journal loses a family member'

Falls City Journal — May 3, 2016

Long-time Falls City Journal Sports and City Editor Delmar "Del" Paul Sutherland, 86, of St. Joseph, MO, formerly of Falls City, passed away Saturday, April 30, 2016 at Mosaic Life Care in St. Joseph. He was born Jan. 22, 1930, in Elm Creek, NE, the eighth child of Emma and James Sutherland.

Del worked at The Journal for 31 years, retiring in 1995. The newspaper was published daily, including Saturdays, for most of that period. He succeeded Claire Hurlbert in 1964 and eventually became the unofficial sports historian for the county. He covered nearly 3,000 basketball games alone during his career. Del was a past president of the Nebraska Sports Writers Association.

'SNOWY MORNING AT CHURCH'

January 5, 1951

POST

EASY TO MURDER
 A New Mystery by Henry Rathbone
 I ENJOINED THE SILENT BIG CATS
 Which appeared on the U.S. & Foreign Best-Selling Lists

In these troubled days there is always available the refuge and inspiration and courage-giving influence of the church. These worshippers have prayed for an enlightened world and for strength to bring about that enlightenment, and meanwhile a cleansing blanket of snow has fallen silently outside like an answering benediction. John Falter, while thinking of all religions, used as a model St. Paul's Episcopal Church in pleasant Doylestown, Pennsylvania.

He has chopped down a tree or two, temporarily, and moved in houses from other Doylestown streets. He wants it understood that the little lady chatting persistently with the rector in the doorway, thereby bottlenecking most of the congregation inside, is nobody in particular.
