'Safety of children our top priority'

"On behalf of the Falls City Public Schools, our hearts go out to the families, and all those impacted by the tragic events that occurred at Sandy Hook Elementary School. With the tragedy that occurred, the administration, staff and school board want to assure you that the safety of your children continues to be our top priority in the Falls City Public School System.

"Our administrators are well aware of the situation, and are following the security measures outlined in their comprehensive building plans. As always, exterior doors remain locked with the exception of the main entrance which is secured during the school day and visitors are buzzed in. All adults wear identification badges. Cell phones and two-way radio and networking capabilities are in place in each building throughout the district. The Falls City Police Department conducts an annual security assessment of the schools and provides recommendations.

"Hearing about a tragic event may affect a child in many ways. We suggest you listen to your children. If they seem to need to talk, answer their questions simply, honestly and possibly over and over again.

"It is very important to keep a sense of normalcy with our young people. We continue with our lessons today. Please do not hesitate to contact your school if you have any questions or concerns."

Thank you,

Tim Heckenlivley,
Falls City PS Superintendent

THE BARN

BY LORI GOTTULA

When I closed my eyes and listened, I heard the sounds of history.

I was standing in the Humm barn at 22nd and Fulton streets. You know the one. The red barn within the city limits over on Fulton.

I asked permission from the owner, then looked around the barn so I could get a feel for this story.

Standing in the southwest corner, right inside the door, I heard the sounds of 1888; the solid slam of progress as men in overalls slung their wooden hammers at square-headed nails, and wooden pegs.

As I gazed up at the hay loft, I heard the sounds of playful laughter from the 50s and 60s, as the thirteen children of Robert and Alma Humm scampered up the ladder, to take turns on the gunnysack swing, which swung out in a circle over the loft floor, then back to the top of the hay bales again.

When I stared across the barn, I heard the sounds of the whispering wind of early morning, and the unmistakable squirt-plink, squirt-plink as Robert Humm's calloused hands pulled on the dairy cow's teat, squirting enough milk into the pail to fill several glass bottles.

When I looked out the window, I heard the engine of his black four-door car, as the father of thirteen drove off to place the bottles of ice-cold milk on the porch steps of his ten regular customers.

I'll bet those sights and sounds are the reasons why the Falls City Chamber of Commerce board selected the Humm barn as the landmark that now graces the 2012 Christmas ornament. The family barn is becoming a thing of the past, but the Humm barn is still standing. And its past is every bit as colorful as its present.

The Humm barn has been an iconic landmark in Falls City since it was built in 1888 at the corner of 21st and Fulton streets. Robert Humm bought the barn in 1943, and reshingled the wooden roof with tin. In 1956, the Humms had the barn moved one block north, to 22nd and Fulton. According to Mary, the barn was pushed on metal rollers, by hand. At its new location, it continued to serve as a working barn, serving as shelter for the family's dairy cows, or for boarding horses. It also served as a playground for the Humm kids, and the other children in the neighborhood.

"I remember watching my dad milk cows in the barn," Mary (Humm) Wenz said recently, "but I also remember playing in there. We used to swing through the loft on a gunnysack filled with hay. And we played hide-and-seek in the hay loft, too."

Ron Dodds, a childhood neighbor who has worked for decades as the backshop foreman at the Falls City Journal, remembers playing in there, too.

"We used to shoot our bows and arrows at the gunnysack," he said. "We played in that barn for hours."

The sights and sounds of the barn were natural attractions for kids. But they attracted photographers and artists throughout the years, too. The late Tom Casey, who suffered from cystic fibrosis (the disease that claimed him), once drew the barn as the centerpiece of a pastoral scene that graced the cover of a Christmas card produced by the Nebraska chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The barn was also fea-

Houser, Gerweck meet again

Richardson County has reached a settlement regarding the April 10, 2012, collapse of a bridge northwest of Humboldt.

The agreement with Ag Partners and Nationwide Agribusiness calls for a settlement of $525,000. Deputy County Attorney Doug Merz presented the agreement to the Richardson County Commissioners during their Dec. 11 meeting. Dave Sickel and Jim Davidson voted to accept the settlement and enter into a "Release In Full of All Claims." Bill Ely voted "nay."

The bridge collapsed as a result of the crossing of an Ag Partners piece of equipment that exceeded the load limit.

Board members requested that EMA Director Jim Gerweck and Sheriff Randy Houser meet with them to discuss county radio communications. During the previous meeting held Dec. 4, Sheriff Houser cited a "lack of responsiveness in support of emergency services, numerous failures to meet deadlines, and (an) uncooperative attitude" in dealings with Gerweck. One major area of concern for the sheriff has been radio communications, especially in the Humboldt area.

In that earlier meeting, Gerweck maintained the problem isn't as bad as portrayed and said he had promised Sheriff Houser to "try" to make communications improvements, not that he

Christmas Spirit

The 81 employees at the WASP plant in Falls City have the Christmas spirit, and they're putting it to good use. Recently, they conducted a very successful toy drive to help area kids who might have been forgotten at Christmas. The employees, including Margaret Fisher, shown here, donated a bunch of toys and enough cash to purchase 21 gift cards at $15 each. Earlier, the WASP workforce read that the food pantry was getting pretty bare, so they decided to help, pulling together and collecting 464 pounds of food.

Off the Cuff

by Scott Schock

Families began burying their children Monday in the community of Newtown, Connecticut. Funerals (many of them private) for 20 6- and 7-year-old first graders will continue through the week. Funeral homes in the area have had to rush order enough small coffins to meet the need. Services and burials will also be held for the six school personnel who died at the Sandy Hook School in one of the worst and most unimaginable acts of gun violence ever witnessed in the United States — or anywhere else for that matter. We even have a term for them now. They're called "school shootings."

The gunman, 20-year-old Adam Lanza, described by townspeople as painfully shy and withdrawn, "disturbed" and "odd," obviously suffered with some sort of mental disorder. He began his deadly rampage sometime last Friday morning, when he used one of his mother's guns to shoot and kill her while she was in bed. He then drove her car to the school, forced his way inside and started shooting. The rampage didn't stop until he heard the police sirens and turned one of the guns he carried on himself.

Investigators are trying to find the "why" answers for this heartbreaking tragedy. They say they've found some evidence but are rightly withholding it until their work is done. But there will never be answers that can possibly make sense of this. What on earth causes a young man to slaughter 20 innocent first graders, shoot his mom multiple times in the head and blow away teachers and staff who tried to protect those kids?

The rage within Adam Lanza was incalculable. All 20 children and the adults were, according to the chief medical examiner, struck multiple times with bullets fired from a .223 Bushmaster — a semiautomatic rifle. Lanza could have used, but apparently didn't, one or both of the semiautomatic pistols he had taken from his mom's collection. The Bushmaster and the amount of ammo Lanza had with him presumably accomplished what he had in mind. Reports indicate that Lanza possessed enough firepower to virtually wipe out every child and staff member in the school.

Clergy from the various denominations are desperately trying to help victims' families. What an enormous responsibility that must be. On Sunday, President Obama went to Newtown, where he met with victims' families for at least two hours, then spoke at an evening vigil. His words were described in a New York Times report as "a blend of grief and resolve." The president quoted Scripture, read the names of the victims and said that laws cannot purge evil from the world or "prevent every senseless act of violence in our society." But the nation must do a better job of protecting its children and citizenry, he said. This was the fourth time this president had to personally address a mass murder. He's been in office four years. The slaughter is escalating. Obama vowed to do everything in his power to prevent "more tragedies like this."

The presumption is that he's talking about some sort of gun control, at least aimed at semiautomatic and assault weapons. And better screening of those who try to purchase guns. And a more responsive mental health system. And a better educated public that can alert authorities when someone they know or are related to shows signs of future violence. And improved school and public safety standards. All of that would help. But some mentally ill people will become violent. Guns are so prevalent and available in our society — If you want one, you can get it, and all the deadly ammunition you require.

On average, 34 people are murdered by firearms in this country every day. It's like an armed nation is at war with itself. If that average continues, 48,000 American will be murdered with guns in the president's second term, according to the Mayors Against Illegal Guns. The vast, vast majority of those killings go virtually unnoticed, except by the families and friends of the victims.

Is the answer regulation or should we all take up arms? I read a Times column by Charles M. Blow, who quoted Larry Pratt, executive director of Gun Owners of America. After Friday's horror, Pratt said in part: "Gun control supporters have the blood of little children on their hands. Federal and state laws combined to ensure that no teacher, no administrator, no adult had a gun at the Newtown school where the children were murdered. This tragedy underscores the urgency of getting rid of gun bans in school zones."

Now there's a responsible solution to this expanding national dilemma. Let's have our kindergarten and first grade teachers — heck, all teachers — strap on holsters and loaded handguns before they enter the classroom each day. Their continuing education requirements could include time on the firing range every month or so.

No one here is arguing about Second Amendment rights. But could the Founding Fathers have envisioned a Bushmaster semiautomatic with an expanded clip used by a mentally ill young man to slaughter first graders?

It will be revealing to hear what the National Rifle Association has to say about this, as well as the Senators and Congressmen who fear the NRA. They've been silent since Friday morning.

Vilsack: Challenging rural America's relevance

Capitol View
By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

I grew up in rural America. If you are reading this, chances are pretty good that you did too. So what does it mean when the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture says that rural America is "becoming less and less relevant?"

Ag Secretary Tom Vilsack, the former Democratic governor of Iowa, said it last week at a Farm Journal sponsored forum.

What is Rural America? It's home to about a sixth of the nation's population. Just who they are and what that means depends on who is doing the statistical measuring and for what reason. The Associated Press says that rural voters accounted for just 14 percent of the turnout in last month's election, with 61 percent of them supporting Republican Mitt Romney and 17 percent Barack Obama. According to the AP, two-thirds of those rural voters said that government is doing too many things better left to businesses and individuals.

Vilsack lays the blame for Congress' inability to pass a farm bill on the squabbling going on among groups in rural America. His department says that 50 percent of rural counties have lost population in the past four years and poverty rates are higher there than in metropolitan areas. As the population shifts to cities and suburbs, the gap grows between people who care about a booming ag economy and those who just want food to eat.

The Secretary says rural Americans need to be proactive instead of reactive. He suggests replacing complaints about EPA regulations on farm dust and labor rules on young people and dangerous jobs — neither of which materialized — with a positive focus on expanding global markets and better communication between the folks who grow it and those who consume it.

Chuck Hassebrook, director of the Center for Rural Affairs in Lyons, NE, (pop. 851), says some of the problem in rural America can be traced to the decline of the family farm. In a recent news release, Hassebrook said that increasing farm size and absentee ownership have caused "social conditions in the local community to deteriorate."

The large farms "have a few wealthy elites, a majority of poor laborers, and virtually no middle class. The absence of a middle class has a serious negative effect on social and commercial service, public education and local government," he said.

Hassebrook said that rural America can't turn back the clock and recapture the family farm communities of a generation ago, but communities can use that same pride of ownership and sense of responsibility to create new owner-operated rural business in areas from ecotourism to gourmet foods such as jams and jellies and salsa and dried meats. He calls these "new 21st century opportunities for rural Americans to own the fruits of their labor."

Vilsack said "It's time for us to have an adult conversation with folks in rural America." "It's time for a different thought process here, in my view."

Mr. Secretary, might I suggest that you sit down and talk with Mr. Hassebrook. No squabbles. No political fights (you're both Democrats after all). Just have that adult conversation. Soon.

Winter Road Safety

By Governor Dave Heineman

Dear Fellow Nebraskans:

In many of my previous year end highway safety messages to Nebraskans I have been able to applaud a decrease in the number of traffic deaths. I am not able to do that for 2012. So far 200 people have lost their lives this year on our state's roadways compared to the 181 deaths recorded in 2011.

The fact is that some of those fatal crashes could have been prevented. Many of those that were fatally injured in these crashes would likely have survived had they just buckled their seat belts.

Nebraska's Strategic Highway Safety Plan is to prevent fatal and injury crashes by working "Toward Zero Deaths." No number of traffic deaths should be acceptable. To reach this goal, local and state traffic safety officials, working with other public and private partners, annually examine crash data to determine crash factors. Working together, they employ the most effective strategies to target the causes of those crashes. The focus is directed toward the roadways, the vehicle, and the roadway users (drivers, pedestrians, and bicyclists) with efforts in education, enforcement, engineering, and emergency response.

To be successful we will continue to need the cooperation and assistance of all drivers, passengers, and other roadway users. In the previous decade, Nebraskans have demonstrated that we can reach this goal with continued declining traffic fatality numbers.

In 2012, nearly eight out of ten of fatally injured passenger vehicle occupants were not wearing their seat belts at the time of the crash. It is very likely that more than half of those fatally injured victims would have survived, including many that could have walked away from the crash had they just been buckled up.

Four out of every ten traffic fatalities in 2012 was a result of someone driving under the influence of alcohol. Other significant factors in fatal and injury crashes involve failure to yield the right of way to another vehicle, speeding, and disregarding traffic signals.

We need your help. I am asking everyone to please start 2013 by making the following resolutions: to wear a seat belt each and every time you drive or ride in a vehicle and to make sure that everyone in the vehicle is buckled up; to never drive or ride with someone who has been drinking; to obey all traffic laws; and to eliminate all driver distractions while behind the wheel. By doing all these things we can make our roads safer and healthier for everyone in 2013.

Highway safety is a partnership. It is vital that drivers and passengers commit to staying safe, sober, focused and buckle every time they are in a vehicle. I encourage every Nebraskan to do whatever it takes to help ensure the safety of their families and fellow travelers. We want you to arrive safely to your destinations this holiday season and all year long.

Wonderful people

To Our Hometown,

We would like to Thank all of the wonderful people of Falls City. As a family who has deep roots in Falls City, we have been asked many times why we still live in "Good Old Falls City." We've always said family and friends are our biggest reason.

As a family, we have just experienced one of the most horrific things a family has to bare, the loss of our son, J.D. Lunsford. You can only imagine the feelings were are experiencing. What we underestimated was the outpouring of Love and Support that everyone in our hometown gave us. The food and the memorials were overwhelming.

On December 2 there was a Benefit and an Auction given by our family and friends at Wild Bill's Bar & Grill in Rulo. All of the merchants of Falls City and individuals who gave to this very special event will forever hold a very special place in our hearts and feelings of deep gratitude. All of this loving support is greatly appreciated.

Along with all the love and support, we would also like to thank everyone for all the prayers and kind loving deeds, such as the candlelight vigil that was held at our home. As a family, we no longer question why we live in "Good Old Falls City."

Thank You to Our Hometown, John, Brenda and Jill Lunsford

Thanks to community

The Falls City Area Ministerial Association wishes to thank everyone in the community that helped make our annual Thanksgiving Basket ministry possible this past November.

While some food was donated, the majority of the food was purchased with cash donations. $2,850 was generously donated this year by 45 individuals, churches, and businesses, including Thrivent for Lutherans. In addition, Cedar Hollow Foods donated premium hams for the boxes of food, which comprised the "baskets."

Thirty-eight Thanksgiving Baskets were delivered this year, with the amount of food for each household tailored to the number in that household. The food was received and stockpiled at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, where volunteers boxed up the food for each family on Saturday, Nov. 17. On Sunday, Nov. 18, following the Community Thanksgiving Service, volunteers delivered the boxes.

We commend the churches, citizens, and businesses of the Falls City area for their generous provision of food, money, and time given to purchase, stock, pack, and deliver food to fellow citizens who needed a little extra help this time of year. We are also grateful to Sun Mart for making it possible for us to purchase food below retail cost for our food boxes. Thanks to all of you, and we thank God for all of you!

Thirteen members and 14 guests enjoyed a delicious Christmas dinner made by Ann Meizer and served by her wonderful helpers. Bingo was played, then the ladies read some Christmas readings and all sang Christmas songs, a cappella. Everyone received a painted wooden snowman as a gift. LWML's love offering will go towards the Hurricane Sandy Relief Effort.

Walk, Don't Run

By: Nikki McKim

With a week to go until Christmas, things start to get a bit hectic. One thing we always find time for is driving around to look at Christmas lights. Brian and I love it more than Alex because we are truly just little kids in adult bodies, but one thing remains the same every year... by Christmas Eve we are left with limited funds. By December 24th we have spent way too much money on gifts, wrapping paper, stocking stuffers, and cookies. After ten years of this we have become pretty good at keeping our eyes open for cheaper ways to celebrate Christmas with our little guy.

Here are a few of the good deals I have found recently to enhance your Christmas spirit without breaking the bank.

If you are really only wanting to spend about $5 to $10, Falls City has quite a few homes that are decorated to please. Grab the kids, pack some cookies, make some hot cocoa to go and just drive around town and enjoy the amazing lights. You would be surprised at how many homes in Falls City are showstoppers! My personal favorite is on 20th and Chase.

If you are looking for something more in the $20 range a trip to St. Joe's Krug Park is a must. Throw $15 worth of gas in the car, pack some cookies, turn on the Christmas music and head south. Krug Park is a gorgeous park that goes all out for Christmas. It may end up taking you a while to get through Santa's Village to Candy Cane Lane but the lights and possible Santa sighting makes your trip worthwhile. Prepare yourself for bumper-to-bumper traffic as well as the possibility it may take at least an hour or two to get to the end. Use the time to share Christmas stories or just sing along to your favorite Christmas music. Going through the park is technically free, but they ask for a small donation near the end to help pay for the lights. I think it is totally worth it. $5 per car can go a very long way to help out! Along with your donation you will receive a Cherry Mash for everyone in your group.

For a few things in the $30 to $40 dollar range, Omaha is the place to be! The Holiday Lights Festival: ConAgra Foods Ice Rink opened last Friday at 10th & Harney Sts. and I honestly can't think of a better way to spend a night before, or even after Christmas with the family. We have not done this yet, but it will be on the agenda if we find time! The rink times are: Sun-Thurs/1-10pm; Fri & Sat/1pm-Midnight; 1-5pm Christmas Eve & New Year's Eve (Closed Christmas & New Year's Day). The best part of this entire thing? Admission is only $5 and that includes skate rental! Even better? All the proceeds support the Omaha Food Bank. For more information you can visit their website at www.holidaylightsfestival.org/

If you are looking to spend a few dollars more, you can finish your day in Omaha by heading over to 1340 Mike Fahey St. to visit Film Streams at Ruth Sokolof Theater where from now through Wednesday, December 26th they will be showing "It's A Wonderful Life" nightly at 6:35 p.m. You can buy tickets there or online at www.filmstreams.org the cost of admission is only $5.00 per person!

Now, what if we finally get the snow I have so been desperately been praying for? A night at home can be memorable and fun. You can visit www.pinterest.com for recipes on how to make hundreds of Christmas candies & cookies. You can also find hundreds of fun activities to enjoy with the kids as well. Alex and I have really enjoyed making our own Christmas ornaments using things you probably already have in your cupboard, Christmas themed photo props using construction paper and glitter, and hand print wreaths using only paper and washable paint. One more way to entertain the kids this year is by making them a personalized Santa video for FREE! This is something we have Santa do for Alex and every year it is just as exciting as the last. Visit www.portablenorthpole.com to personalize your message from Santa. You can email the video to yourself and share it with your child, or email it to your grandchildren. I don't think you can ever be too old to get a video from Santa Clause!

As you prepare for Santa to visit your home, Alex had a message he wanted me to share with all of you. "This year when you are putting out treats for Santa, leave him some coffee. It will help him stay awake all night so he can visit everyone's house and not be tired!"

Finally, I couldn't write a column with out thinking about what happened last Friday in Connecticut. There are quite literally no words for this nightmare. I just ask that this year as you sit around your dinner tables, say a prayer for those families who lost their loved ones. Hug your children tight and tell them you love them every day. Life is unexpected and short, gifts are great but knowing you are loved unconditionally is worth every single possession in the world.

To receive student of the month, students must first be nominated by one of their teachers. The criteria for nomination this year once again focuses on the 212 degree message. The teachers are continuously looking for the students that give the extra degree.

On the day of voting for student of the month, the teachers meet before school and vote by private balloting. Those who don't win are given honorable mention and are eligible in future months.

EQIP sign-up until Friday

With harvest wrapping up across the state the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service reminds farmers and ranchers that now is the time to sign up for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program. Those interested in EQIP are encouraged to sign up before Dec. 21, 2012.

EQIP is a voluntary conservation program available to private landowners and operators. Through EQIP, farmers and ranchers may receive financial and technical help with conservation practices on agricultural land.

According to Craig Derickson, NRCS State Conservationist, there are several options available to producers under both programs.

EQIP has become the most widely applied conservation program in Nebraska with more than 7.7 million acres under contract. The goal of EQIP is to provide a financial incentive to encourage landowners to protect their natural resources, resulting in cleaner air, water and more wildlife habitat.

"EQIP provides a good option for working lands. These contracts protect natural resources on lands still in production and generating income. That's a win-win situation for all Nebraskans," Derickson said.

Individuals interested in entering into an EQIP agreement may file an application at any time, but the ranking of applications on hand to receive funding will begin Dec. 21, 2012. Producers are encouraged to sign up soon since all funding for EQIP in Nebraska could potentially be obligated by March 1, 2013.

The first step is to visit your local NRCS field office and complete an application.

For more than 75 years, the NRCS has helped agricultural producers with conservation plans. NRCS Conservationists will work with landowners on their farm or ranch to develop a conservation plan based on resource goals. Conservation planning assistance is free and does not require participation in financial programs.

For more information about EQIP and the other available conservation programs visit your local NRCS field office or www.ne.nrcs.usda.gov

Tips to deal with loneliness during holidays

Lincoln—The holidays aren't joyous for everyone. Unfortunately, for some, holidays can be a lonely time, especially for those who are unable to travel to be with their family, who don't have a family, or who may have recently lost a close family member or friend.

"There are ways to celebrate the holidays to help avoid feelings of loneliness," said Scot L. Adams, director of the Division of Behavioral Health at the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. "It's OK to be by yourself."

Tips for the holidays:

Help others. A strong remedy for loneliness is taking the focus off yourself to help others. Do you have an elderly neighbor who is alone and needs shopping done? Is there a soup kitchen in your community? What about the Red Cross, the homeless or battered women's shelters? Volunteering can help you have a sense of meaning and purpose. Recognizing that there are others in more challenging situations than your own can help put your life into perspective.

Stay in touch: If you can't be with family and friends because you're not able to travel, reach out to them on e-mail, Facebook or Twitter. Set up a Skype call on Christmas Day with family or friends. Maybe you have a friend who has no one to spend the holidays with. Talk about getting together and celebrating.

Reach out. If you feel isolated, seek out community, religious or other social events. They can offer support and companionship. Or visit a nursing home. You will find people there who may have no one to spend the holidays with. Spending time caring about another lonely person will go a long way toward eliminating your own loneliness.

Celebrate your solitude: This is your time to do what you want to do. Make a favorite treat. Read, play Christmas carols, and watch your favorite movies. Watch Charlie Brown's Christmas, It's a Wonderful Life, A Christmas Carol, Home Alone, Scrooged or any movie that you love.

Don't drink. Alone and drunk is not a good combination. Chances are that you'll become emotional or depressed. Have some hot cider or egg nog instead.

"The holidays don't have to be lonely," Adams said. "Plan ahead to do things that will help make them a time of peace and good will."

Behavioral health resources can be found at the Network of Care on the DHHS website at www.dhhs.ne.gov/networkofcare. The Nebraska Family Helpline is another resource that is answered 24/7 at 1-888-866-8660.

Support for people with behavioral health conditions is available to help get through the holidays. Call the DHHS Office of Consumer Affairs weekdays 8 to 5 to get information on peer support at 1-800-836-7660.

50 Years Ago
(Dec. 17-22, 1962)

The U.S. Dept. of Ag reported Nebraska's corn crop averaged 61 bushels an acre. County Agent Tom Aitken said the county's average was 73 bushels.

Buildings named as FC fall-out shelters and their capacities in event of a nuclear attack were: Stephenson Hotel, 355 persons; Courthouse, 245; Water & Light Plant, 85; Prichard Auditorium 90; Post Office, 75. All had Geiger counters to measure the radiation released in an attack.

"Oklahoma," starring Gordon McRae and Shirley Jones, was playing at the Rivoli.

In its Christmas greeting ad, FC Meat Co. listed 67 employees; the Journal listed 18 in the office and composing-press room, 19 rural correspondents and 18 paper carriers.

Congressman Phil Weaver named Charles R. "Chick" James as his principal appointment to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

The Emmet Fisher home at 1702 Schoenheit won the Chamber's weekly Noel Lights contest.

The Post Office was doing a land office Christmas business. In the photos were Bob Casey, Fred Meinzer and Mrs. Meinzer, rural carriers, and Lloyd Bindle and Jim Rider, city carriers. Joe Hines was postmaster.

Over 200 students attended Sacred Heart's Christmas formal. In the Nativity presentation, Clarence and Francie Simon portrayed Joseph and Mary. Brian Swenson soloed in "O Holy Night."

Ben Maze scored 22 as FCHS downed Auburn 61-48.

Although LeRoy Koehler hit for 28, Bratton Union lost to Neb. City Lourdes 68-46.

An item from United Press:

London—The London Daily Telegraph headlined a story: "Five More Shoplifting Days 'til Christmas."

25 Years Ago

There was a standing room only crowd at the Legion Club as the $17,000 mortgage was paid off in less than two years. Mark Harkendorff was the Legion commander and Larry Whalen the VFW commander. The building had been a grocery store until Ken and Ron Counce bought it, refurbished it and sold it to the American Legion post.

New Humboldt Chamber of Commerce board members were Carolyn Blecha, Curt Maschman, Dave Hayes and Gary Lewis.

The Clefsmen, formed in 1965 as the FC Men's Glee Club, was still going strong 22 years later with Steve Holland as director. Gene Hulbert was the organizer. How about 47 years later?

The Journal's Wrestler of the Week was Dennis Mez, FCHS.

University of Nebraska graduates included: Pamela Renee Mullins, Christopher Max Rathman, Robyn Lee Reesman and Lance Henry Schwartz, all FC; Shari Jo Phillips, Humboldt, and Bruce Eugene Stanley, Stella.

A Christmas thought or poem was the way 10 members of the Stella Community Church Women's Circle answered roll call at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Mary Glathar read "More Important Things" and then offered prayer to open the meeting.

President Carolyn Brede-meier conducted the business meeting. Those present sang the carol, "Away in a Manger." Reports were given. The tentative date for Family Night is Sunday, Jan. 20. tion. The project should start in mid- to late May, 2013.

Steel bids awarded: Husker Steel, Columbus, items one and two for $43,638, and Oden Enterprises, items three through eight, for $9,625.10.

Tire bids awarded: Harmon's OK Tire, Falls City, four trailer tires, $732; Cross Dillon Tire, Lincoln, six grader tires, $5,970; Koch's Auto Service, Dawson, 10 all position tires, $2,790.

Huppert said 11 county machines will be placed on the programming offered by NE Machinery Co. for equipment maintenance. He said new fuel pumps were to be installed.

In other developments, the Commissioners:

—Received for consideration an agreement with EDGE for continued funding for fiscal year 2012-13. The agreement will be reviewed with legal counsel and considered at a later meeting.

—Received a letter from the FC Chamber of Commerce regarding intentions to recommend to the City Council two-hour parking zones in the downtown area.

—Met with Extension Educator Lindsay Chichester, who presented the name of Robert White as recommended by the Extension Board as a new member effective Jan. 1, 2013. Vicky Yoesel has served six years on the board and her latest term has expired.

—Received a check from NPPD for $60,174.05, the annual matching funding for the Richardson County Emergency Management Agency.

—Approved a subdivision for Joan M. Bruhn and Billy Ray Bruhn and adopted the corresponding resolution.

could guarantee the results. In a six-page letter to the Commissioners, Sheriff Houser called for Gerweck's dismissal as EMA Director. Members of the board urged the two officials to cooperate with one another.

During the Dec. 11 meeting, Sheriff Houser presented a quote from Midwest Radio Communications for relocating the radio repeater, a new antenna system, other necessary items and APCO coordination. The quoted cost: $7,400.

The Commissioners opted to change the antenna location at Humboldt to determine if that results in radio reception improvement. If further action is needed, the board will consider it.

Sheriff Houser also requested the use of EMA equipment when requested for incidents of an emergency nature and/or when inclement weather makes investigations difficult. Gerweck responded that if the equipment is needed, that he be contacted and Emergency Management would deliver the equipment to the scene of the incident/emergency. The Sheriff said he was not satisfied with Gerweck's response and that the Sheriff's Dept. was capable of getting the equipment and hauling it to an emergency scene when needed.

For now, the plan is for the Sheriff to contact the EMA Director when equipment is needed.

While meeting with Highway Supt. Scott Huppert, the board acted on tire and steel bids, as well as the Preston North and South hard surfacing project. A motion was made by Davidson to approve the NE Local Public Agency Contract and Bond with Dobson Brothers Construction Co., Lincoln, for the Preston project. The board acted unanimously in accord with the mo-

Humm Barn...1888 Christmas ornament design

THE BARN

tured on the cover of a 2002 calendar created by the Nebraska Humanities Council and the Nebraska Soybean Board. The calendar was titled, "Beautiful Barns of Nebraska," and featured the winners of a student art contest sponsored by the organizations. The cover was special to Mary because it was created by her son, Matt Wenz, who won the senior division of the contest. (Matt's drawing, which accompanies this story, was also featured in the February 25, 2002 edition of the Daily Nebraskan, the student newspaper at UNL.) Matt, who is now a financial consultant with the wealth management group at Wells Fargo in Minneapolis, Minnesota, was a high school senior at the time.

"As a young, hopeful artist back in the day (a teenager thinking anything was possible), I thought it was such a big deal when the picture ended up on the cover of that calendar," Matt said. "It is a barn in the middle of town, so that is pretty unusual. Over the years it has been deteriorating, too, and it's sad to see a part of Falls City die like that. So for me, it represents the blend of lost memories, childhood hopefulness, small-town simplicity, and history that will soon be gone due to the passing of time."

Matt's sentiments were echoed by local artist, Tootie Ebel, who was commissioned to create the drawing for the Chamber's Christmas ornament this year.

"For me, the barn has just always been there, so it became a part of the landscape, something that I ignored when I drove by. But when I went over to look at it so I could draw it for the ornament, I realized that it's part of our history. It's a pleasant scene that makes people feel like they're out in the country. It gives residents, and people just passing by, a warm feeling. I was proud to draw it for this year's Christmas ornament." (To purchase one of the ornaments, stop by the Chamber office, or contact Eric Barr at (402) 245-4228.)

The Humm siblings sold the barn in May of this year, so their relationships with it will soon fade into memories, just as the barn itself has faded into the landscape. However, the Humm family, and the rest of us as well, can all look at the 2012 Christmas ornament, and hear the sounds of history — the pounding of hammers, the laughter of children, the squirt-plink of milk as it meets the metal bucket, and the engine of the delivery car as it pulls out of the driveway. Look at the picture, and listen closely. Can you hear it?

Lady Irish winners of 4-straight

Thanks largely to exceptional perimeter shooting - particularly behind the three-point arc, the FC Sacred Heart Lady Irish are riding a four-game winning streak leading into tonight's home game with Mound City.

FCSH opened the season with a pair of losses, but a big win over Freeman spurred three comfortable victories last week: 56-43 Dec. 10 at Oregon, MO, over South Holt; 67-14 Tuesday at home over Lewiston; and 56-17 Friday at Humboldt-TR-S. FCSH was a blistering 16-of-41 (39 percent) from three-point land in the victories.

Sophomore guard Abby Magdanz followed up a game-clinching, 18-point performance against Freeman with another career night at Oregon, hitting four threes and 10 total field goals in a 26-point outburst against South Holt. FCSH, now 4-2, was actually outscored in the second half at Missouri, but Magdanz put on a show in the opening 16 minutes, outscoring the entire South Holt team on her own. She hit all four of those threes and scored 21 of her team's 33 points before half, helping FCSH build a 15-point lead.

Magdanz has already hit 12 threes this season and leads her team with 15.3 ppg. She's also tops in assists (25) and steals (17).

Her shots didn't fall in the second half, nor did they have to. For the game, FCSH committed a (then) season-low nine turnovers and pulled down 19 offensive rebounds. The team owned a 40-32 rebounding edge, thanks in large part to freshman Maggie Goltz, who grabbed 10 boards (seven on the offensive end) and blocked three shots for the Irish. Sophomore Elizabeth Magdanz, too, hit a couple big threes in the game and finished with seven boards (four offensive) and dished out four assists. Junior Ashli Jordan and Abby Magdanz each finished with six rebounds and five assists.

The games against 0-6 Lewiston and 1-5 HTRS that followed last week were not competitive. Against a Lady Tigers team that has yet to score 30 points in a single game, FCSH turned it over just five times and was about as efficient as possible (23 assists, 29 made baskets). Elizabeth Magdanz was 3-for-3 from behind the arc and scored 13 to go with five assists; Jordan missed one shot and led all scorers with 16 points; Abby Magdanz had eight assists and 11 points; and sophomore Kelsi Fouraker contributed a career-best 11 points and six rebounds.

The game in Humboldt was equally one-sided, even though FCSH drew a lot of fouls yet rarely converted (4-of-15 at the line). Elizabeth Magdanz had 16 points to pace the Irish, followed by Jordan (15 points, seven rebounds, four assists) and Abby Magdanz, who hit a trio of threes and scored 13. Goltz didn't get in double figures, but was dangerously close to bagging the highly coveted triple-double: Eight points, eight boards, seven blocks.

HTRS senior Liz Railsback led her team with seven points and nine rebounds. Junior Mollee Sharpe grabbed a team-high 11 boards.

The Lady Irish may be in for a fight tonight against Mound City, a 20-game winner last year which this season is off to an 8-0 start (including a 20-point win over South Holt). And FCSH will undoubtedly have its hands full Friday at Elmwood-Murdock. The 4-2 Class C2 Knights have won three in a row and to date have faced just one school (Class C1 Louisville) currently carrying a losing record. Like the Irish, E-M's girls' basketball program has built a solid tradition - since 2000, they've made four state tournaments, most recently in 2010.

A year ago at Prichard Auditorium, the Magdanz twins combined for 26 points in a nine-point Irish win over a then-once-beaten E-M.

Scoring at South Holt
FCSH — Jordan, 8; A. Magdanz, 26; Schock, 4; E. Magdanz, 7; Fouraker, 4; Goltz, 7.

Scoring vs. HTRS

HTRS — Nanninga, 2; Railsback, 7; Sharpe, 3; Watkins, 2; Fink, 2; Purshe, 1.

A little disclaimer before you peruse this column: I do not think Bo Pelini should be fired.

My four very big reasons why: 1. He recruits quality young men with good character who stay out of trouble and excel in the classroom; 2. One dives into very murky waters if we fire another coach after a 10-win season. Selling the Nebraska head coaching job to a big name coach after doing that again would be extremely difficult; 3. For the most part (I say that because I feel like he has mishandled the way "Blackshirts" are handed out), Pelini has embraced the culture and tradition of Nebraska football, contrasting his predecessor, Bill Callahan, who seemed to dismiss it all together; and finally, 4. The learning curve for a Division-I football coach is high and Pelini is still cutting his teeth. As the old adage goes, "Patience is a virtue."

That being said, I delved into Bo Pelini's coaching record here at Nebraska and found the numbers a little unsettling.

I looked at Pelini's record against ranked teams (either at the time we played them or if they finished ranked) and if my calculations are correct, I have Bo at 10-14. Again, that's against teams ranked either when we played them or, giving him some credit, if they ended the year ranked.

10-14 ain't cutting it.

Also, Bo has lost five times to unranked opponents - Dec. 1, Big 10 Championship vs. Wisconsin (gave up 70); Nov. 5, 2011 vs. Northwestern (gave up almost 30 at home; the Wildcats finished 6-7 with wins over Boston College, Eastern Illinois, Indiana, our beloved Big Red, Rice and Minnesota); Oct. 16, 2010 vs. Texas (the Longhorns finished 5-7, their worst season since going 4-7 in 1997, which was the year before Mack Brown was hired); Dec. 30, 2010, Holiday Bowl vs. Washington (scored seven points against them after scoring 56 on them two months earlier); Oct. 10, 2009 vs. Iowa St. (enough said there).

I also took out Bo's victories against non-BCS schools - 15 (all came in the non-conference schedule). Those are "gimme" victories and in my opinion skew the, "Bo's won 48 games in five years argument." So that means Pelini is 34-19 against "real" football teams. That breaks down to basically 7-4 seasons in his first five years.

Sure, folks may argue that Bo isn't responsible for scheduling and they still have to beat those teams because the improbable upset can happen - Louisiana-Monroe winning at Arkansas this season and the granddaddy of them all, Appalachian State winning at Michigan in 2007 are the two glaring examples.

Valid points, but I'll go out on a limb and say the safer bet is that how ever long Pelini is here, he will not lose a game in the non-conference to a non-BCS school. The last time we did was in Callahan's first season in 2004 against Southern Miss. Prior to that? A 1963 loss in Lincoln to Air Force.

Those cupcakes are added to the schedule every year, but the wins are merely lipstick on the pig.

Fill up Memorial Stadium, get to 4-0 or 3-1 and then start the gauntlet of conference play.

My point being that if Pelini did finish 7-4 each year he may have been let go already, but by adding those 15 wins and increasing his yearly average win total from seven to nine, defending him becomes easier. The eagerness to point to those 48 wins and lump us in with Alabama, Boise State, Oregon and LSU occurs. For those of you wondering why those schools are listed, they are the other teams to win at least 48 games in the last five seasons. Those teams haven't given up 70 in the last, well... ever.

Just look at the last five losses to ranked teams. In those games, the "Blackshirts" gave up 63, 36, 48, 45 and 30. And those all came in years four and five of Pelini. Moreover, I think the anti-Bo sentiment would be dramatically less if we had simply lost some of those games close.

Why is that in these losses, save for maybe UCLA, we seem to fold and the rout ensues?

Fundamentals, the things good football teams across the board do week in and week out, aren't there with any consistency.

We are careless with the football. Dumb penalties continually occur. Muffed punts anyone?

Sure we came back from double-digit deficits four times this season, but in the biggest game of the year those wins seemed like distant history as we again shot ourselves in the foot, got behind the 8-ball early and turned Brett Bielema's swan song into another House of Pain concert. And House of Pain sucks. Pardon my French there, but they do and so did that game.

Pelini has made three conference championship games in five seasons and should be commended for that because if you want the pretty girl to dance with you, you at least have to be at the dance, right?

And, the law of averages says if you continue to reach that game, you'll eventually win it. But does that game look any easier in the future with what Urban Meyer is doing in Columbus?

Curiosity really was my only motivation for this "in depth research." I wanted to take a closer look at those 48 wins and to do this one has to take the good with the bad, regardless of the findings.

Again, I don't believe a move needs to be made, but is Husker football really where we thought it would be after five years of Pelini? These numbers scare me into thinking no.

Although you can be sure I'll be watching the Big Red through scarlet-colored lenses New Year's Day and beyond. GBR!

Hogue one win shy of McIntyre

By Jim Langan

For just the second time ever under Falls City High Head Coach Don Hogue, the Tigers are off to a 7-0 start and a win tonight would mark the best start ever by a Hogue team.

More importantly though, a win tonight would give Hogue 160 career victories and tie him with Jack McIntyre for second all-time in career coaching victories for the FCHS boys basketball program. Jug Brown is the career leader with 193 victories.

Falls City defeated Auburn 62-45 last night in the first round of the Southeast Nebraska Holiday Tournament, which is being held for the fourth year in a row in Peru.

It was the second win in 10 days against the Bulldogs and extends the Tigers winning streak against their rival to 17 games.

Falls City will play Johnson-Brock at 8 tonight in the championship game. J-B improved to 4-3 Monday night with a victory over Nebraska City Lourdes. All games are being played in the Al Wheeler Activities Center on the campus of Peru State College.

FC's two most impressive wins of the young season both came on the road last week.

Last Tuesday the Tigers traveled to St. Joseph, MO, and escaped with a hard-fought 40-37 victory over Bishop LeBlond, then followed that up with 56-43 victory at Plattsmouth.

The Tigers fell behind early against the Blue Devils, then roared back from a 21-15 halftime deficit by scoring on 23 of 32 second-half possessions.

"It was a big win for us," Hogue said of Saturday's win. "We played really well, especially in the second half, against a good team."

Plattsmouth's Travis Sabatka's hot shooting helped the Blue Devils build the early lead. The sophomore guard's third 3-pointer of the game came less than two minutes into the second quarter, extended the Blue Devil lead to 16-10 and led to a FC timeout.

Hogue and the Tigers weren't surprised by Sabatka's hot start, though.

"We had them scouted well and knew Sabatka was a good shooter," Hogue said. "We made a couple changes defensively and did a great job the rest of the game."

That they did. The combination of Jack Hartman and Tyler DiGiacomo combined to hold Sabatka scoreless for the final 22 minutes of the game.

Mitchell Harling played big from his point guard position for the Tigers. Harling finished with a game-high 18 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Cord Huettner (13) and Wade Witt (10) also scored in double figures for FC. Junior Reese Hogue pulled down a game-high 10 rebounds and four different Tigers – Huettner, Hartman, Wade Witt and Jordy Stoller – all recorded a pair of steals.

FC's 41 second-half points was the most in a half this season and the Tigers finished 18-of-30 from the free-throw line, by far their best performance.

Most impressive though, might have been the performance on the glass for the Tigers, who controlled the glass and out rebounded the Blue Devils 30-22. FC gave up just four offensive rebounds to a Plattsmouth team with three starters standing 6-3, 6-4 and 6-6.

Saturday's win might have been a little more satisfying for Hogue due to the fact that Plattsmouth has been a thorn in his side over the years. Saturday was just his third victory in 14 games against Plattsmouth. The two other two – a 44-36 win at Plattsmouth in 2006 and the 48-44 victory at Prichard Auditorium in 1999 marked Hogue's first career victory at Falls City.

In the win at LeBlond, FC led 19-4 midway through the second quarter, but the Eagles outscored the Tigers in each of the final three quarters to climb back in it and with 3:22 left in the fourth LeBlond's Jacob Madden delivered a game-tying 3-pointer. Madden finished with a game-high 15 points.

Wade Witt provided the eventual game-winning basket with less than 90 seconds left. The 6-foot-2 southpaw used his signature left-handed drive to the hoop and finished the layup to give the Tigers a 39-37 lead. Witt added a free throw with five seconds left and Madden's buzzer-beating 3-point attempt to tie the game was off the mark.

Huettner led the Tigers with 15 points and eight rebounds. Witt finished with nine points, three boards and a pair of assists. Stoller swiped four steals, but finished with just four points on 1-of-7 shooting.

Stoller wasn't alone in the shooting struggles. The Tigers finished 16-of-43 from the floor and Hartman (3-of-4 FG) was the only Tiger who shot over 50 percent.

Hogue admitted the win wasn't pretty, but added, "It isn't a beauty pageant either."

Plattsmouth too much for Lady Tigers

Despite a career game from Falls City High senior Claire Poppe, a trio of Blue Devils proved to be too much for the Lady Tigers.

Plattsmouth had three players in double figures, including Shayla Scanlan, who scored 13 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, as they handed Falls City a 57-41 loss Saturday afternoon in Plattsmouth. Sydney Tincher added 13 points and April Graham scored 12 for the Blue Devils, who shot 53 percent from the floor and forced 19 Falls City turnovers.

Poppe helped keep the Lady Tigers in it by scoring the final 10 points of the third quarter, which cut the Blue Devil lead from 20 to 11 heading into the final period. Poppe was 6-of-13 from the floor, including 3-of-5 from the three-point line, and finished with a game and career-high 20 points. She also handed out five assists.

Senior Tressa Chandler added eight points and led Falls City with six rebounds, while sophomore Baylee Vrtiska knocked down three shots to finish with six points.

Falls City again struggled to get shots to fall and shot just 32 percent from the floor Saturday. Through the first six games, Falls City is shooting just over 33 percent.

"We're just not shooting the ball very well right now," Falls City Head Coach Max Milam said. "And when the shots aren't falling, everything is tougher."

The Lady Tigers traveled to Wymore Southern last Tuesday and fell to a tough Raiders team, 45-33. Falls City trailed by only three points, 22-19, at halftime, but failed to keep pace in the second half.

"They are a good team with a lot of experience," Milam said. "They have three or girls who have played for three years now."

Two of those players Milam is referring to are senior Kelsey Buss, who led all scorers with 15 points, and the other is Shelby Creek, who was also in double-figures with 12 points.

Turnovers again doomed Falls City as Southern forced 19 and committed only six. That's been the trend in the three losses for Falls City, who are averaging 20 turnovers per game in the three losses compared to just 11 in the victories.

Falls City has a great opportunity to capture some momentum before the holiday break, as they competed last night and will again tonight at Peru State College in the Southeast Nebraska Holiday Basketball Tournament.

The Lady Tigers defeated Auburn 30-22 last night in the first round of the Southeast Nebraska Holiday Tournament being held at Peru State College. Falls City will face Nebraska City Lourdes at 6 tonight in the championship game. Lourdes (5-2) escaped with a 35-34 win over Johnson-Brock in their first round game.

Tiger boys' JV fall to Blue Devils

Falls City High's junior varsity team suffered their first loss of the season Saturday night at Plattsmouth as the Tigers (5-1) fell to the Blue Devils 76-57. Brenden Heckenlively led the Tigers with 19 points on 7-of-11 shooting, including a perfect 3-for-3 from beyond the arc. Two other Tigers were in double figures with Weston Witt's 11 points and Zach Jordening's 10. FCHS defeated Bishop LeBlond 54-41 last Tuesday in St. Joe, Mo. Brandon Gibson led the Tigers in the victory over LeBlond with a game-high 12 points and had team-highs in rebounds (8) and steals (5). Two weeks ago the Tigers picked up a pair of victories, as they defeated Auburn 49-26 on Dec. 7 and cruised past visiting Hiawatha in a 46-22 win on Dec. 4. Tyler DiGiacomo led FCHS against the Bulldogs with 14 points. In the victory over Hiawatha, Jordening led FCHS with 10 points.

Pentecost and Jeremy Robinson had 12 points and 10 points, respectively, while sophomore Lane Lovenburg pulled down 10 boards. Sophomore Tucker Merz had a double-double in the victory over the Bulldogs with 10 points and 10 rebounds. Pentecost scored 11 points along with his five steals and freshman Brady Rose added 10 points. In the loss to the Eagles, Robinson had team-highs of nine points and five rebounds. In the loss to Pawnee City, Pentecost led FCHS with seven points, while Merz chipped in six.

For the Past 22 Christmases You Have Allowed Us to Be A Part of Your Holiday Planning May the Joy of the Christmas Season Linger with You Long Past the Season Thank You

The wonders of Christmas sparkles our days, Makes us like children in so many ways. Candles and cedar and firesides warm glow, Ice paintings on windows diamonds sprinkled on snow. Rosey cheeked children with glee in their eyes, Bright colored packages inside a surprise. Cookies for St. Nick baked with delight, Left on the hearth that magical night. Lights ever changing the tinsels thin form, Red woolen mittens are keeping us warm. In a world ever changing some things never do, The wonder of Christmas so old yet so new.

Big week for Dunn and Irish, winners of 3-straight

By Jim Langan

Falls City Sacred Heart bounced back quickly and looked good doing so after suffering their first loss of the season – a two-point heartbreaker at home to Freeman – a little more than a week ago. The Irish, who host Mound City tonight, improved to 6-1 on the year after reeling off three wins in five days following that 49-47 home loss to the Falcons.

The performance of the week in this area came last Tuesday at Prichard Auditorium in the Irish's only home game of the current three-game streak.

Trailing Lewiston 29-23 to start the third quarter, the Irish found themselves in a tough spot and needed something to quiet the boisterous contingency of Tiger fans that made the hour trek to Falls City.

That something was provided by Chaz Dunn, who came out of the locker room after the break and, well, let's just say he was feeling it.

Dunn scored 18 of the Irish's 20 points in the third quarter, which included a pair of threes and a 4-for-4 effort at the free-throw line en route to a performance few will forget. Dunn finished the game with 20 points, so it's fair to say that for those eight minutes he caught lightning in a bottle.

By the end of third, the six-point deficit had turned into a six-point lead and propelled Sacred Heart to an easy 63-43 victory over a one-loss Lewiston team.

To borrow a line donated to me last week by one of the Irish's most ardent supporters, Mr. John Huber, the Lewiston players and fans weren't dumbstruck; they were "Dunnstruck."

Sacred Heart finished the game with 39 free-throw attempts and knocked down 9-of-13 in the fourth quarter to keep Lewiston at bay.

The Irish also did a great job in the second half pestering Lewiston's Cutter Singleton, who scored 13 first-half points, including 11 in the second quarter, but failed to score a field goal and scored just three free throws the second half.

Senior Clay Finck finished with 11 points and three steals for the Irish, while junior Matt Goltz added nine points and nine rebounds.

The three-game win streak started last Monday when the Irish traveled to Oregon, MO, to face the South Holt Knights.

Sacred Heart quickly had the hosts playing the role of whipping boys as the Irish took out their frustration from the loss to Freeman on the over-matched Knights.

The Irish built a 47-8 halftime lead, en route to a 90-21 victory. The 69-point margin of victory is the most for an Irish team since (and I had to read this score twice) an 89-7 victory over Southeast Consolidated on Jan. 25, 2008 and just the fourth time since 2006 a Sacred Heart team has reached 90 points.

All 12 Irish players scored in the contest and as a team Sacred Heart shot 57 percent from the floor (37-of-66). Also, each Irish player pulled down at least one rebound (Irish owned a 39-19 edge on the glass) and 11 players recorded a steal.

Dunn's big week began in Oregon where he hit 8-of-10 from the floor for 19 points, while also nabbing seven steals and dishing out six dimes. Finck, had a great start to the week as well with 12 points to go along with five assists and six steals. Goltz added nine points and nine boards and Jarod Fiegenger had a season-high 11 points.

Friday the Irish traveled to Humboldt and after a relatively slow start in which they led 18-13 after the first quarter, Sacred Heart outscored the Titans 31-15 in the second and third quarters and pulled away to a 65-44 victory.

Sacred Heart's guards caused problems for the inexperienced Titan backcourt all night and ultimately forced HTRS in to 23 turnovers. Sacred Heart's backcourt of Finck, Dunn, Lane Barnhill and Colin Niemeyer combined to score 41 points and they each swiped three steals.

Dunn led all scorers with 16 points on 7-of-13 shooting and also pulled down five rebounds; Goltz added 12 points, three blocks and led the Irish with six assists. As a team, Sacred Heart passed the ball effectively finishing the game with 21 assists compared to just 12 turnovers.

Give the Titans credit though. Joel Svoboda is the lone senior in the backcourt for HTRS and he's playing alongside a sophomore – Schuyler Kuhlmann – and three freshmen – Kaleb Knudson, Nolan Schafer and Eli Herr. Svoboda, Kuhlmann and Herr scored 11 of the 13 first quarter points to keep the Titans in it early, but were held scoreless the rest of the game. Schafer finished the game with 10 points, so all told the young guys for HTRS hung in there, but are experiencing the common growing pains associated with the jump to varsity competition.

Seniors Kevin Beethe and Dominic Vasco, the two most consistent players for HTRS through the beginning part of the season, scored 10 and eight, respectively.

Thompson captures title at Auburn

Falls City High's wrestling team had its best showing of the season at Saturday's Auburn Invitational. Eight Tigers competed and combined for 88 points, which earned them a third-place finish in the team portion of the invitational. Fairbury just edged the Tigers for second place with 90 points and Bellevue West's 191 points easily captured the team title.

Chase Thompson had the best individual performance for the Tigers. The 185-pound junior went 3-0 on the day and finished in first place.

195-pound senior Dylan Ackerman (0-1) and 120-pound freshman Morgen Valentine (1-1) both finished second.

Jesse Butrick, a 126-pound senior, competed in the most matches Saturday for the Tigers. He finished 4-1 on the day and earned third place.

160-pound senior Wade Maddox went 3-1 and finished third, and sophomore heavyweight Jeremy Zimmerman won twice, lost once and finished third.

Sophomore Justin Ernst (132) and freshman Black Black (132) did not place. Black did win one match.

The Tiger wrestlers are off until 2013 when they return to action at the Ashland-Greenwood tournament on Sat., Jan. 4

Full coverage of the individual matches from the Auburn Invitational will appear in Friday's Journal.

Titans' Railsback 4th at Dorchester

160-pound sophomore Ben Railsback finished 2-2 at the tournament and earned HTRS/PC's best individual performance with a 4th-place finish. Railsback pinned Hector Rodriguez (1:04) of Red Cloud/Blue Hill, lost to East Butler's Austin Tejral, 20-4, then defeated Dorchester's Chris Nelson, 14-4, before losing in the third-place match, 17-4, to Brandon Ward of South Central.

Cubs enjoy Eagle Days

Falls City's reorganized and revitalized Cub Scout Pack 391 enjoyed an exciting adventure at Eagle Days at the Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge on Saturday, Dec. 1.

At the indoor eagle show, the Cub Scouts got to see a majestic Golden Eagle and a feisty American kestrel up close. The "Star of the Show," however, was a female Bald Eagle named Phoenix, pictured scolding the guest speaker for telling everyone her age and weight!

Later, the Cubs, with their parents in tow, took a bus tour of the refuge. Besides seeing several eagles in the wild, they also saw thousands of ducks and about 20 trumpeter swans, plus a deer running through the marsh.

If you would like to learn more about Cub Scouting in Falls City, please call the new Cub Master, Bill Harkendorff, at (402) 245-3568 or email at coolcornet@hotmail.com

Your right to know is in danger

By Harry Bradley, Publisher, and Mary-Justine Lanyon, Editor, Mountain News, Lake Arrowhead, CA

Imagine a world without newspapers, where there's no coverage of local government, no human interest stories to enliven and give texture to communities, no stories about local sports teams and none of the daily entertainment features subscribers have come to love.

Sound unlikely? Not really, thanks to an unprecedented, discriminatory action by the federal Postal Regulatory Commission to give a grossly unfair rate advantage to a giant direct-mail firm.

Valassis Communications Inc. received this incredible largesse from the federal government. Under a sweetheart deal given in the hopes of generating more revenue for a cash-strapped U.S. Postal Service, Valassis will get postal rate reductions of from 22 to 36 percent for mailers advertising national retailers of durable and semi-durable goods.

What this means is that these retailers, whose eye is understandably on the bottom line in this shaky economy, may pull advertising inserts from newspapers in favor of Valassis' direct mail and take ad revenues along with them.

The Postal Service has long faced hemorrhaging of its revenues. The situation has worsened in recent years as people email instead of writing letters and increasingly pay their bills online.

Now, as its financial tipping point looms, the government's mail monopoly is sharing its pain with the newspaper industry and its customers, rather than doing what it should have done years ago - cut expenses and reform its pension system.

Advertising is the life blood of newspapers. Single-copy sales account for only a small portion of a newspaper's income. Regardless of how readers feel about ads, without them newspapers could not be financially viable.

But should this revenue be lured away, publishers nationwide would have no choice but to cut their staffs, throwing thousands out of work and worsening already grim unemployment statistics. Inevitably, this would diminish the breadth of news coverage and weaken the beneficial influence a free press has historically had in keeping the American people informed and safeguarding their freedoms.

Thomas Jefferson expressed aptly and succinctly the need to protect newspapers when he said, "The only security of all is in a free press."

Because of what it portends for newspapers and those who depend on them, what the Postal Service is doing is wrong. Because it is a government-run monopoly, the USPS belongs to the American people and should serve them impartially. It should treat all its customers fairly, and not give one customer a huge advantage over another.

The Postal Service's job is to deliver mail, not make game-changing decisions about which businesses thrive and which don't. And when the businesses harmed by the Postal Regulatory Commission's alarming decision are those defending the American public's crucial right to know, the damage is doubled.

Several congressional leaders, recognizing the harm this decision could mean for newspapers in their districts, want to overturn the Valassis deal. For the sake of a free and viable press, we hope they succeed. But to muster the necessary backing in Congress, they'll need public support. We urge our readers to write their representatives in Washington to protest the Postal Service's unjustified and unprecedented intervention in the marketplace and to urge its repeal.

Please write to:

Businesses, including newspapers, should succeed or fail on their own merits, not because the deck is stacked against them. To help preserve their right to know, we urge our readers to help make the playing field level again.

There were many good sessions and speakers this year to choose from at the conference and it was well attended by the FCPS Board. This conference continues to be a primary board development opportunity. Mrs. Bartek thanked her fellow Board members, the staff and administration, and the community for all the support she has received, it is greatly appreciated.

The NASB Legislative Issues Conference will be held on Jan. 13-14, 2013 at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln. The Jan. 13 Preconference Dinner will welcome Francisco Negron from the National School Boards Association, who will discuss developments from Congress on the "fiscal cliff" and other education issues. 2.4d Student Achievement:

In order to provide a summary of the State of the Schools Report as it relates to the FCPS, NeSA district-wide assessment information indicates:

- FCHS ranks in the top five C-1 high schools in Reading

- We now have three years of reading data and FCHS is one of only eight C-1 schools to demonstrate improvement and growth in scores every year.

- FCPS elementary and high school students exceeded the state average in performance IMPROVEMENT for both reading and math when comparing 2012 to 2011.

- Seventy-eight percent of FCPS students are meeting or exceeding the state reading standards, compared to 67% in 2010.

- The state writing scores for grades 4, 8 and 11, which were initially released last May, indicate an average of 74.74% of FCPS students met or exceeded the state writing assessment, as compared to a state average of 72%.

- Nearly 77% of FCPS students met or exceeded the state science standards, compared to a state average of 67%.

Science standards as well as the state's science test have been revised, increasing the rigor of the standards and the tests with the goal of ensuring Nebraska students are career and college ready by the time they graduate from high school.

Reading, writing, mathematics and science are essential skills in the workplace and at college. The board of education, administration, faculty, and staff work extremely hard to ensure our students graduate with strong skills that will help them become innovative, resourceful, resilient, and responsible citizens.

Some 600 fill auditorium for South Christmas program

Falls City South Elementary School students, once again under the direction of Robin Ankrom, kicked out the Christmas jams with the delivery of "Jingle Bell Jukebox" last Thursday in front of an approximate crowd of 600 at Prichard Auditorium.

The 12-song set, sponsored by Partners In Education, started with "Jingle Bell Jukebox." Other timeworn traditional favorites included "It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year," "Jingle Bells Rock" and "White Christmas."

The lead, "Ruby," was played by Helen Walker. Other cast members included Tarcis Coronado, Dillon Ebel, Summer Richey, Lily Sailors, Hunter Boorn, Josey Hollens, Peter Gifford, Brenton McQueen, Ethan Nycum, Zoe Ebel, Drake Butler, Tyler Uhri, Cameron Schramm, Jolee Schulenberg, Chase Nolte, Sarah Acton, Wade Wason and Taylor Peden.

The cast and crew, with a special assist from Jocelyn O'Grady, also performed "Let It Snow, Let It Snow, Let It Snow..."

Chester Ankrom, who played "Max," Eryn Snethen and Emma Killingsworth presented "You're a Mean One, Mr. Grinch." Jessa Beckner was the green furry one you wouldn't touch with a 39-and-one-half foot pole.

Courtney Rumbaugh led the way on "Santa's on his Way Medley," Alyssa Mez starred in "All I Want Is...Nuttin!," while Skylar Baker stole the show in "White Christmas."

Dancers included Piper Scarberry, Nia Crawford, Eliza Kuker, Pacer Chapple, Perry Adams, Jace Heckenlively, Hailey Dorste, Emily Gilkerson, Grace Holys, Brylee Gilkerson, Skylar Feltner, Gwen Olberding, Piper Sutton, Dalton Helmick, Dylan Vice, Carson Bredemeier, Emma Clark, Paige Stamper, Lexie Buckminster, Abby Harms, Hanna Denhart, Kaden Romo, Braydon Frederick, Justin Reiss, Cole Kirkendall, Jared Hawley, Brianna Pfohl and Jocie Shopteese.

The Christmas production was Mrs. Ankrom's 33rd since starting at North and South Schools in 1980. She came to Falls City after graduating from William Jewel College in Liberty, Mo., (and Papillion-LaVista High School).

Each year, Ankrom directs one program apiece for North and South Schools. In the spring, the North School kids will take the Prichard Auditorium stage.

Accept resignation of longtime teacher

The Falls City Board of Education accepted the resignation of longtime elementary teacher Diana Kottich when it met Dec. 10 at the Central Office in FCMS.

Mrs. Kottich, a Kindergarten teacher, has been with FCPS since 1979.

North School Principal Ernie Valentine said Kottich will still help in the classroom three days a week the 2nd semester.

The board approved a contract with Kim Nolte to replace Kottich. Nolte has been teaching in the district as a long-term substitute for the past two semesters.
