'Home From Vacation'

August 23, 1952

One of the values of a vacation is to build up strength to survive the labors and shocks related to terminating said vacation. It is a known scientific fact that it is twice as hard to pack up to come home as to go away and that during a vacation the speed of growing grass accelerates 4.7 times. Also, the corn in the garden hastens to mature, so that when the folks return it will be too old to chew.

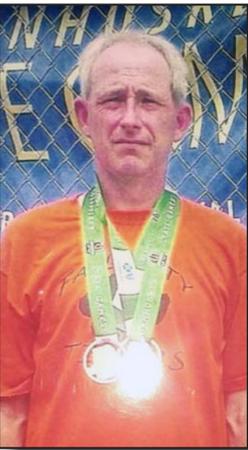

Artist Falter, already saddened by this scene, will be desolate to know that the key to the house is on papa's key ring in his shorts at the bottom of the trunk on top of the car. But, cheerio! Be it ever so depreciated, there's no place like home after it's inhabitants have been back long enough to get the joint under control again.

A lengthy investigation by the Nebraska State Fire Marshal Office into the three structure fires that occurred in the 1200 Block of Lane Street in late July have all been determined to be arson, but authorities won't say more.

Fire Marshal's Office says arsonist on loose

A lengthy investigation by the Nebraska State Fire Marshal Office into the three structure fires that occurred in the 1200 Block of Lane Street in Falls City between July 25 and 29 have all been determined to be arson, Fire Marshal's Deputy Raymond W. Nance said.

Details of the fires are not being released at this time due to the ongoing investigation.

A 911 call was made at 9:22 p.m. Saturday, July 25, to report a burning garage at 1203 Lane St. Twelve firemen responded and were on the scene into the early hours of the following Sunday. Then later that evening, again at approximately 9 or 9:30 p.m., another house on the block, this one on the opposite corner at 1223 Lane St., was ablaze, prompting 14 firefighters to respond. Yet again, the following Wednesday, crews rushed back to 1223 Lane, where the home is being remodeled, and spent two hours on the scene. No one was injured during the trio of blazes.

Both homes are owned by 36-year-old Joshua M. Darden. Authorities called the fires "suspicious," at the time but continue to refuse comment or clear potential suspects.

The home at 1223 Lane St. was assessed in 2014 at $16,535.

Darden is a Los Angeles native and accomplished typeface designer who once taught at New York City's Parsons School of Design. He established the Brooklyn-based Darden Studio in 2004, but appears to have moved out of NYC in or sometime around 2010.

Citizens with information regarding the fires are encouraged to contact the Falls City Police Department at 402-245-4422 or the Nebraska State Fire Marshal Arson Hotline at 888-WY-ARSON.

Death penalty, last used in '97, officially repealed

Can executioners find work?

Organizers of a referendum petition effort to repeal a stay on Nebraska's death penalty say they have turned almost 167,000 signatures to Secretary of State John Gale. The submission comes just days before a new law repealing the state's death penalty is set to go into effect.

In order to put the issue before voters in the next general election, circulators must have collected verified signatures from five percent of registered voters in 38 counties. To suspend the legislatively-approved repeal, signatures from ten percent of registered voters must be verified, also in 38 counties.

The exact threshold of signatures that organizers must meet will not be known until election officials from all 93 counties verify their voter registration numbers to the Secretary of State's office.

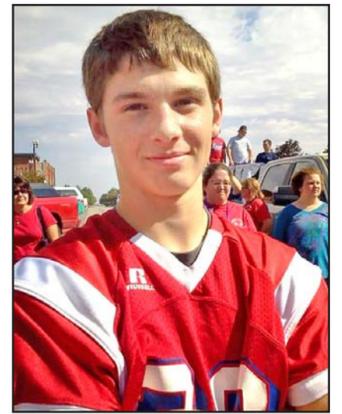

Gale explained that following that process, petitions will be sorted, date stamped and numbered. Then they will be mailed or delivered to the appropriate county election officials for verification.

"Counties have 40 days from the date they receive the petitions to complete their verification. It is possible to approve a 10 day extension, if necessary. However, based on previous experience, the counties do their best to finish verifying within the initial deadline."

Once the counties have completed their verification of signatures and the Secretary of State's office has reviewed and confirmed the results, petition organizers will be notified.

The law repealing the death penalty in Nebraska went into effect Sunday.

The last time a referendum petition appeared on the ballot was in 2006 involving the consolidation of Class I school districts.

'I Believe' Fight Against Suicide ride Saturday, Sept. 12

By Joey May, Hiawatha World

It's time to ride for KJ's "I Believe" Fight Against Suicide. And this year's event also features a nationally known suicide prevention speaker, Jeff Yalden.

The second annual event will kick off on Saturday, Sept. 12, with a benefit ride and auction, along with a band to benefit the Kyler Wayne Jones Memorial Fund. Kyler, the son of Betty Jones and Rick Jones of Hiawatha, passed away the spring of his sophomore year at Hiawatha High School in 2014.

The route has expanded for this year's ride. Registration (all types of vehicles are welcome) will be at 9 a.m. at Wild Bill's Bar & Grill in Rulo. There is a fee of $20 for pilot and $15 for co-pilot, $5 second hand. At 11 a.m., kickstands are up and the ride begins.

Riders will travel to Hickory Road in Auburn, then to the Would Eye at Falls City, where they will stop for lunch. From there, the ride

Upcoming Blood Drive to honor Hailey Dorste

Thirteen-year-old Hailey Dorste is a happy, healthy eighth grader who understands the importance of blood donation all too well. This is why her family, the Falls City community and the American Red Cross are teaming up to hold two upcoming blood drives in her name.

Hailey was born with a congenital heart defect. Just weeks after she was born, Hailey underwent open heart surgery and needed blood transfusions. She's been through two more surgeries since, most recently this past January at the age of 12.

The need for blood is constant. Blood donors with all types, particularly O negative, A negative and B negative, are needed to help ensure a steady blood supply for

I have never been one to have things come naturally. I've always assumed at the moment before my birth when they were assigning natural talents, I was out rolling in a field of puppies and missed my assignment. Talent runs wild in my family. My mom is an amazing cook and an artist who can play the flute. My dad was a great football player, writer and artist. My sister is incredibly smart, creative and has amazing rhythm. I on the other hand can't cook, can't play an instrument and trip over my own feet often. The only thing that ever came naturally to me was working with the computer program InDesign and remembering every line to most films made before 1945. People tell me that I have a gift for writing. It's something I have practiced and worked so hard at for so long. I write out of passion. There was no talent assigned before my birth, I have to work at it daily and thank my lucky stars for Jason Schock and his editing. I am learning every day and while I love it more than you'd ever know, the column you read each week is usually analyzed and changed a dozen times before it ever gets to Ron for proofreading. The same with photography, I have enjoyed it since I was eight years old when received my first camera. I work hard and I'm always trying to learn how I can be better every day.

The one thing I have never had is rhythm. It's inherited so I blame my father. We come by it naturally. It's a running joke in my family how horrible I am at dancing or even tapping my foot to a beat. Even at a Royals game I can't keep up with the most simple task of clapping along with the crowd. Therefore, I never dance, ever. No matter how much I want to or how hard I have tried to learn, I can't learn rhythm. That mere knowledge has kept me from trying something I have wanted to do for 20 years.

My 32nd birthday is slowly creeping up on me. This age doesn't scare me, but with every passing year I am reminded that I let more time go by without going out and doing a million things I want to do. I don't want to wake up at 70 and ask myself why I didn't just try to do something that sounded like fun at one time. I refuse to let that happen. Maybe you will recall how that same thought lead me to dye my hair blue last winter. I'll never regret doing it. So last weekend as I sat with Brian and Alex watching a movie, I announced that I was going to buy myself something I didn't need. They both half ignored me as I got online and searched. Then I found them, the most perfect set of size ten tap shoes you'd ever seen. When I announced that I was going to buy tap shoes-I got their attention.

Brian asked through a wail of laughter if I said tap shoes. Yes, I said tap shoes. For years I have loved the sound of tap shoes and the people who were talented enough to make it sound so good. What on earth will someone without a lick of rhythm do with tap shoes? Well-I'm going to try as hard as I can to learn at least one routine. Along with my $18.99 shoes that were so darn cheap I could have bought them years ago, I purchased a DVD on how to dance like Fred and Ginger. I know its laughable to think that I could even for a second do anything that Ginger Rogers did, but darn it I'm going to try.

In my mind, I will pull these shoes out of the box, slip them on my feet and tap like nobody had ever tapped before. I'm a dreamer; obviously. But I don't know if the talent had possibly been assigned and was just waiting all these years for the perfect tap shoes. I know it sounds so goofy that in 2015, a nearly 32 year old woman has declared for one and all that she is going to give tap dancing a try, but its something I have always wanted to do. Even if I am awful, I can still sound amazing walking around my kitchen or maybe even around the Journal office.

I assure you that I do not suffer from Attention Deficit Disorder. It seems as though I'm always declaring some wild new interest. But with age comes the knowledge that time is moving rather quickly. In my twenties I kept telling myself that I'd try it next year. When you live so long telling yourself that you will do something next year, then you become a 31 year old woman with a nine year old son who has just dyed her hair blue. Had I done it in my twenties, my son wouldn't have remembered and thrown it up in my face when he wanted to dye his hair green. Rookie mom move on my part. Nobody told me that the first rule of parenting is to do all the wild, crazy things before the children are born. When you wait too long, you miss the fun or give your child a valid argument that ends with "but mom, you did it!" Tap shoes are no blue hair though. I doubt Alex or Brian will ever beg to tap dance with me, but they will remember that I wanted to die with no regrets and no missed dreams.

I foresee many nights of being kicked out of my house and tap dancing my way across the basketball court alone. (I apologize in advance to my neighbors.) Don't expect to see me on stage showing off my new skills. This is something I'm doing for myself because it sounds so fun! I may never really develop a talent for tap dancing, but I won't go down without a fight. I wonder what all of you have buried deep down that you'd would like to try. I believe we each have some wildly interesting thing we've always wanted to give a shot. I hope you find yours and do it, then I want you to find me and tell me all about it. Don't wait, do it now and if your thing happens to be tap dancing-give me a call and we can tap around together.

High School Reunion: maybe you CAN go home again

Capitol View
By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

I set out on the six-hour drive with great expectations. I was going to see friends, catch up on their lives and share tidbits of the past 50 years. It was to be a time of homecoming and celebration. I knew the old hometown would be somewhat familiar, but perhaps a little strange since I hadn't been there for years.

Then thoughts of Thomas Wolfe's epic "You Can't Go Home Again" hit me.

"But why had he always felt so strongly the magnetic pull of home, why had he thought so much about it and remembered it with such blazing accuracy, if it did not matter, and if this little town, and the immortal hills around it, was not the only home he had on earth? He did not know. All that he knew was that the years flow by like water, and that one day men come home again." - Thomas Wolfe, You Can't Go Home Again

The "immortal hills" were beautiful, the beneficiary of lush spring and summer rain. But the evidence of hail and harsh storms was apparent in some places where corn was stripped to scrawny stalks, if there was any at all. Some fields appeared to be abandoned as if the effort no longer mattered.

"All things belonging to the earth will never change-the leaf, the blade, the flower, the wind that cries and sleeps and wakes again, the trees whose stiff arms clash and tremble in the dark, and the dust of lovers long since buried in the earth-all things proceeding from the earth to seasons, all things that lapse and change and come again upon the earth-these things will always be the same, for they come up from the earth that never changes, they go back into the earth that lasts forever. Only the earth endures, but it endures forever." - Thomas Wolfe, You Can't Go Home Again

I was neither ready for - nor surprised about - the vacant storefronts. The vitality of an aggressive business mix of service and retail was gone from downtown. Moved to the malls and strip malls on the outskirts, perhaps. I pondered just how many antique stores and nail salons the market could bear. I avoided the big box retailers, but know they are the only profitable game in town. The downtown streets were rolled up at 5 p.m.

"Toil on, son, and do not lose heart or hope. Let nothing you dismay. You are not utterly forsaken. I, too, am here-here in the darkness waiting, here attentive, here approving of your labor and your dream."

- Thomas Wolfe, You Can't Go Home Again

At our age, most of the toiling was done. Classmates who gathered at several venues during the reunion spoke of the jobs they had, the volunteer work they are doing now. Some spoke of part time jobs and a desire to work as long as they were physically able. Many spoke of children and their careers and the number of grandchildren and great grandchildren on whom they dote. Many have stayed in this hometown or moved back in retirement. Most came from other places.

"Perhaps this is our strange and haunting paradox here in America -- that we are fixed and certain only when we are in movement. At any rate, that is how it seemed to young George Webber, who was never so assured of his purpose as when he was going somewhere on a train. And he never had the sense of home so much as when he felt that he was going there. It was only when he got there that his homelessness began."

- Thomas Wolfe, You Can't Go Home Again

Conversations quickly turned to thoughts about the houses in which we were reared. It seems that part of the unspoken curriculum of such reunions is a drive-by of the childhood home. In my case, gone were the lush green lawn and gigantic Linden trees of my youth. They were replaced by scraggly weeds and dirt and a pickup parked in the front yard for lack of a driveway. One friend said her house was gone, replaced by the Post Office. Another said hers never looked better. Yet another said the new owners of the farmstead were working to preserve the historic property.

"I have to see a thing a thousand times before I see it once." - Thomas Wolfe, You Can't Go Home Again

My eyes were opened. The history, the memories, the flood of emotions were soothed by the human interaction with other classmates who were obviously experiencing the same thing. We were homeless in that place we once called home. But we were reunited and somehow magically refreshed. And, we'll do it again in a few years.

Missouri bridges still in bad shape

Just two-and-a-half years after the completion of the most intense bridge program in the state's history, the number of critical-condition bridges in Missouri is growing again.

After the latest round of bridge inspections, the number of bridges in critical need of attention has risen to 641 - 50 more than a year ago. State Bridge Engineer Dennis Heckman says that trend is likely to continue.

"When we completed the Safe & Sound Bridge Improvement Program in 2012, we stemmed the tide for a while," he said. "But we knew that the curve would start going up again. Safe & Sound made a dent, however it did not repair or replace all of the state's bad bridges. Now with a shrinking construction budget, the number of bad bridges is on the rise again."

Missouri has 10,376 bridges on state highways, including 209 that are more than 1,000-feet long. While the Safe & Sound program replaced or repaired more than 800 bridges over four years, 50 to 100 fall into the "critical condition" category each year. Critical condition bridges are the state's worst and with continued deterioration are just one or two steps from being closed.

"To get ahead of the game, we should be replacing more than 100 bridges per year," Heckman said. "Instead, our funding levels are only allowing us to replace about 30. In 10 years, we'll have about 1,500 bridges on the critical condition list."

MoDOT also has about 1,400 bridges that have posted weight limits. Many of those are already on the list of critical condition bridges and many others will soon be added to the list.

Heckman stressed, however, that "critical condition" doesn't mean unsafe. "We aggressively inspect our bridges. When we discover a problem that is a safety issue, we close the bridge," Heckman said.

like Hailey as well as for those fighting cancer, transplant recipients, burn victims and many more.

Hailey's family is forever grateful to the volunteer donors who gave of their time and health to help their daughter when she needed blood. Now they hope to pass the gift of life onto other patients in need.

Donate blood in honor of Hailey Dorste; Wednesday, Sept 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Falls City Medical Center, 3307 Barada St. Thursday, Sept. 17 from noon to 6 p.m., Prichard Auditorium, 312 W. 17th St. Friday, Sept. 18 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Prichard Auditorium, 312 W. 17th St.

To make an appointment to donate, call 1-800-RED CROSS, use the free Red Cross Blood Donor App or visit redcrossblood.org and enter sponsor code 009259. All presenting blood donors during this event will receive a T-shirt, while supplies last.

How to donate blood; Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

About the American Red Cross; The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org or visit us on Twitter at @RedCross.

Leading the pack, north of Falls City during last year's ride in memory of Kyler Jones, was Jim Brennan and Kyler's mother, Betty Jones. Inset - Jeff Yalden, a nationally known motivational speaker, will host two events in conjunction with the 2nd Annual KJ's "I Believe" Fight Against Suicide benefit ride and auction.

'I Believe' Fight Against Suicide Ride Sept. 12

will turn south along U.S. 73 Highway through Hiawatha on the way to Muellers at Atchison.

At roughly 1:45-2 p.m., riders will travel southbound along First Street in Hiawatha, with an escort by the Hiawatha Police Department. Organizers ask community members to come out and line First Street in a show of support for the event.

From Muellers in Atchison, the riders will travel back to Wild Bill's Bar and Grill at Rulo, for the auction, food and a band. Donated items for the auction are still being accepted — contact event organizers Jim Brennan (741-1614) or Kelly Pendleton (741-0620) to make a donation.

Money from the memorial fund established on Kyler's behalf by friends and family members goes directly towards suicide prevention programs, along with annual scholarships to the youth in the area. A main focus of the fund is to raise awareness of not only teen suicide, but suicide in general.

Last year's kick-off event was a spectacular success, organizers said, and they hope to bring even more riders, raise more funds and raise more awareness this year — adding in a teen suicide/depression mental health speaker Jeff Yalden for three local special events for youth and the public.

"Bringing Jeff was made possible through donations and last year's ride, along with other fundraisers and donations," said Betty Jones.

Jones said she read about Yalden in "The Hog" magazine, watched his amazing videos and contacted him about speaking to local youth and members of the community.

"He is honest, he gets it," she said. "He is very straight forward and talks about life's experiences."

Yalden has been considered one of America's No. 1 youth motivational speakers since 1992. Yalden overcame depression and suicidal tendencies himself to fight his way back to healing. He made life-transforming choices and decided to use his darkest hours to help today's youth transform their own lives.

He has spoken to millions of people in all 50 states and 48 countries. He is an author, with a best-selling book "Your Life Matters," hosts his own radio show "The Jeff Yalden Show" and is one of the world's most requested teen motivational speakers. Seventy million viewers know him as "Life Coach" on MTV's longest-running reality show, MADE. He offers once-a-month training through his website (JeffYalden.com/training) for suicide prevention for teachers, administrators, coaches, parents and community health professionals.

Yalden will be hosting three local events for youth and community members. On Monday, Sept. 14, Yalden will be at Memorial Auditorium in downtown Hiawatha, speaking to the students from Hiawatha, Horton and Kickapoo Nation high schools, starting at 9 a.m.

On Tuesday, Sept. 15, Yalden will be speaking at Falls City High School to their students, along with those from Sacred Heart High School, starting at 9:30 a.m.

The evening of Tuesday, Sept. 15, at 6 p.m., Yalden will speak to parents and community members at Hiawatha High School.

"This is a huge step towards our goal and we are excited to have him," organizers of the "I Believe" Fight Against Suicide said. They encourage community members and youth to visit his website at jeffalden.com.

"I Believe" T-shirts are being pre-sold on the event's Facebook page and proceeds go back into the fund. Financial donations are also being accepted and can be mailed to P.O. Box 24, Robinson, KS 66532 or call Kelly Pendleton (741-0620) or Jim Brennan (741-1614) to pledge your support. Donations can be sent directly to Citizen's State Bank to the Kyler Wayne Jones Memorial Fund. Contact them to make a donation toward the auction for the Sept. 12 Benefit Ride.

STUDENTS

Local native, now a seasoned musician, heads for east coast

Salem native and FC Sacred Heart High School graduate Colton Martin last spring graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Music, Theology and Philosophy at Benedictine College and now he's taking his considerable talents to the east coast.

While in Atchison, KS, Martin's activities included involvement in campus ministry events, Gregorian Fellows honor programs, and many extracurricular musical activities. In addition, he completed two choral composition projects for Benedictine College's Discovery Day; aided in founding a Gregorian chant and polyphony choir on campus; studied abroad in Florence, Italy; participated in summer continuing education courses in sacred music; completed a music internship with a local church; taught private piano and organ lessons to seven students; and held three part-time jobs in Atchison and the surrounding area, one of which was Assistant Director of Music at St. Benedict Parish. He graduated with honors on May 16.

Martin is now attending Westminster Choir College of Rider University in Princeton, NJ, to continue his studies towards a Master of Sacred Music in Choral Studies.

There he is studying under esteemed faculty, such as Steve Pilkington, Tom Shelton, Joe Miller, Amanda Quist, and James Jordan, having regular opportunities for performance with the 175-voice symphonic choir in the Kimmel Center, Philadelphia with The Philadelphia Orchestra and in Carnegie Hall, New York City with the New York Philharmonic. He also plans to continue his post-graduate studies in liturgy, historical performance, and sacred music, ultimately earning a doctoral degree in music. Other long-term goals include holding a Director of Music position in a large church, as well as developing a private studio for piano students.

A 2010 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, Martin is the son of John and Mary Sue Martin of Salem.

MILKE - Stella Milke would like to announce the arrival of her baby brother, Jack Thomas, who was born on Saturday, Aug. 8, 2015. The son of Blake and Ceci Milke, of Waterloo, NE, weighed eight pounds, two ounces and was 19^{1/2} inches long.

Paternal grandparents are Tom and Audrey Milke, of Stella and Kim Roe, of Humboldt. Maternal grandparents are Minnie Gaucin and Mike Hernandez, both of California. Great-grandparents are Velda (the late Don) Milke, of Stella, Maria Rivas, and Vincent and Maria Hernandez, all of California.

Runza restaurants raise over $45,000 during "Great Books for Great Kids" fundraiser

On Tuesday, Aug. 25, all 81 Runza Restaurants in Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa and Kansas donated 15 percent of sales to purchase books for libraries, schools and school foundations in communities with a Runza location. The fundraiser, entitled "Great Books for Great Kids," promotes the importance of reading and literacy. This year's effort raised $45,276.56. In the 13-year history of the fundraiser, over $407,000 has been donated. Runza Restaurants was recognized by the National Restaurant Association in 2005 for the "Great Books for Great Kids" initiative and was awarded the Restaurant Good Neighbor Award in the large business category.

Runza Restaurants has been a longtime supporter of reading. "Reading is vital to lifelong success and provides an excellent opportunity for families to spend time together," stated Becky Perrett, Director of Marketing for Runza National. "Donating funds for books and promoting literacy is an important endeavor for children and the community and we are very thankful our customers believe in this effort."

Runza Restaurants – famous for the Runza Sandwich with its delicious blend of ground beef, cabbage, onions and secret spices baked inside homemade bread; made-to-order hamburgers; and homemade onion rings – operates and franchises 81 restaurants in Nebraska (76), Colorado (Loveland), Iowa (Clarinda and Council Bluffs) and Kansas (Lawrence and Mission/KC). Now open in Minden today!

Online Voter Registration Day a major advancement

Nebraska's new online voter registration application system is intended to roll out to mark National Voter Registration Day on Sept. 22 says Secretary of State John Gale. The system is in the final stages of testing. Gale said the unveiling will mark one of the biggest technological advancements to the state's voter registration system in several years.

"Creating an online process is one of the greatest leaps toward not only modernizing our state's voter registration system, but also making the process more convenient and accessible to all of our citizens by computer or by mobile device."

To date, more than 20 states have implemented online voter registration. Arizona was the first in 2002. The most recent state to go online was Hawaii this month.

Gale added that these states experienced an initial surge in online voter registrations compared to paper registrations, and having online registration available provided a boost in voter registrations overall.

The planning and creation of Nebraska's online voter registration application system began with the passage of LB 662 in 2014, sponsored by Senator Bob Krist of Omaha. It involved the cooperation and assistance of multiple vendors and state agencies including: the Secretary of State's office, Dept. of Motor Vehicles, Office of the Chief Information Officer, Election Systems and Software and Nebraska Interactive.

Essentially the new system will allow use of the applicant's driver's license signature from the DMV. Instead of a wet signature on a paper form that is mailed in and filed, users will allow the DMV to utilize the signature on file from their driver's license, in order to process their voter registration electronically.

"We'll be very excited to have the system up and running in just a few weeks," said Gale. "Having had the opportunity to observe other states that have already implemented online voter registration, we've been able to create a system that is streamlined, secure and will ultimately enable for more accurate record-keeping in our voter registration database."

In addition to promoting the new online system, Gale is also reminding all qualified Nebraskans to observe National Voter Registration Month by registering or updating their registration in September. "It is essential," Gale said, "to have a strong majority of eligible citizens registered and voting at all times to preserve the sense of a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

Gale explained further that "Voter registration seems to surge during presidential elections and then falls off for the gubernatorial cycles. Eligible citizens registered to vote vary between 80 and 85 percent with each cycle. Presidential election year voting varies from 65 to 72 percent and gubernatorial election year voting varies from 45 to 55 percent. We can, and must, do better to preserve the voice of a strong majority of citizens in our elections, whether local special elections or presidential elections. We hope to improve registration and turnout with online voter registration."

-Brittany A. Liming, 23, of Falls City, count one, no proof of insurance; count two, no valid registration; count three, no license on person. Pled guilty to all three counts. Fined $150, plus court costs of $49.

-Kenneth L. Bridgewater, 46, of Brownville, count one, firing a firearm on the highway; count two, disturbing the peace. Pretrial hearing scheduled for Sept. 14.

-Patricia S. Triska, 45, of Falls City, two counts of criminal mischief (less than $200) and one count of disturbing the peace. Pled not guilty. Pretrial hearing scheduled for Sept. 14.

Triska is accused of "recklessly causing damage" to flower pots belonging to both Chaney Furniture and True Value Hardware in the 1500 block of Stone Street on July 30. Previously, on July 9, authorities accuse Triska of disturbing the peace of Tara Luginbill.

-Derek J. McCann, 18, of Falls City, count one, operating a motor vehicle to avoid arrest, a Class IV Felony; count two, unauthorized use of a propelled vehicle without the owner's consent; count three, minor in possession of or consuming alcohol, first offense; count four, minor unlawfully operating a motor vehicle with an illegal alcohol concentration.

Case bound over to District Court for arraignment Sept. 1.

-Matthew W. Hanesworth, 33, of Falls City, two counts of assault in the third degree; count three, leaving the scene of an accident (failure to furnish information); count four, willful reckless driving - first offense. Counts one and two dismissed with prejudice; driver's license impounded for 60 days and fined $350 (plus court costs of $49) on counts three and four; defendant placed on probation for one year and ordered to attend and complete anger management class within 90 days.

Hanesworth was arrested in the alley behind Cummings Auction - the 1100 block between Harlan and Stone Streets - on the evening of June 2. He was originally charged with terroristic threats and assault after Robert S. Sanders accused Hanesworth of "attempting to run him over with his vehicle." Sanders and other witnesses said Hanesworth was driving "in an erratic manner" and "traveling at a high rate of speed" when he turned in Sanders' direction and allegedly accelerating the vehicle in either an effort to "run over" Sanders or "scare him," depending which firsthand witness' account you read. The vehicle struck a building, no pedestrians, and no injuries were reported.

ACCIDENTS

-Wednesday, Aug. 26, alley behind 2120 Morton St. Driver: Renee M. Ely, 22, of Falls City. Estimated damage when Ely backed 1997 Mercury Sable licensed to Quincey Smith, of Brownville, into City of Falls City gas meter: $500 to car, $3,096 to Utility Dept. property. The accident was reported on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 27, and Ely stated that the day prior she had thought her vehicle struck a trash barrel but didn't check for damages. The gas meter was later found to be leaking. The accident was investigated by FC Police Officer Patrick Stamper, who cited Ely on suspicion of leaving the scene of an accident.

-Sunday morning, Aug. 30, 20th and Morton Streets. Driver: Jordon A. Lunsford, 24, of Falls City. Owner of parked 2009 Dodge 3500 pickup: Brandon Jay Coulter Roberts, of Basehor, KS. According to the motor vehicle accident report written by FC Police Officer Jonathan Kirkendall, Lunsford was eastbound, passing through the intersection of 20th and Morton Streets in his 2004 Pontiac Grand Prix, when he stated hearing "something fall off the center console." Lunsford said he looked down briefly and that's when his vehicle impacted the driver's side of the parked Roberts pickup. The side air bags deployed on the Pontiac, and the vehicle had to be towed and was believed to be totaled. No injuries were reported, no citations were issued and an estimated $600 damage was sustained to the Dodge truck.

'You've got to roll with the punches to get to what's real'

Go ahead, Jump!

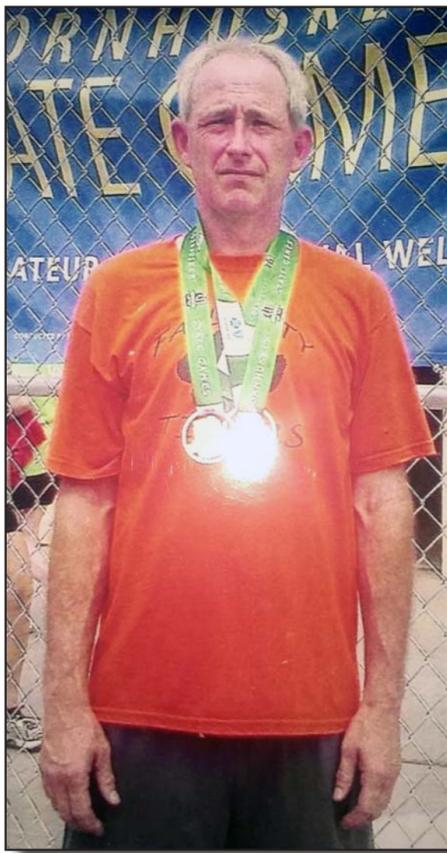

By Jason Schock

While Diamond David Lee Roth may not climb up onto, let alone take flight from, a drum riser these days, there's a record-breaking Falls City High School track and field athlete of similar vintage who is still standing there with his back against the record machine.

And Raph Thompson can still "Get up!"

It was sadly poetic that DLR and the Brothers Van Halen this summer performed the 1984 B-side "Drop Dead Legs" for audiences throughout the United States more than three decades after the pinnacle of the band's popularity. It was likely a vinyl version of a much more vigorous VH that filled the air when Thompson was jumping into the record books 30 years ago, so it's truly inspirational that when the FCHS Class of 1985 met for its 30-year reunion in June, Thompson not only remained agile enough to perform the classics, he even had forthcoming chart move on the horizon.

More than three decades after triple-jumping 46-7 1/2 to put his name — presumably, at this point, for the rest of time — in FCHS' record book, birthday, Thompson stepped back into the track spikes, counted his steps, practiced his takeoffs and landings and stretched those hip flexors the rest of us misplaced about same the time our 32-inch waists went missing. It's not just flexing hips, either. According to experts, the triple jump utilizes "buttocks" and "torsos" and legs actually "swing" and knees "collapse."

THIRTY YEARS after high school, Raph Thompson hasn't lost the spring in his step.

Actually, triple jump by most accounts, puts more stress on an athlete's body than any other field event. It's comprised of the same four phases that get a short guy on a bar stool: Approach, hop, step and jump, but different.

According to Biology of Sport, a journal published by the National Library of Medicine, the triple jump is a precise and demanding athletic move that exposes an ill-conditioned or otherwise untrained athlete to significant risk of injury to muscles, tendons and joints "due to the high impact forces from the ground and powerful muscle/tendon efforts. The triple jump is therefore one of the most technically and physically demanding athletic events."

No Tiger athlete has jumped like Thompson, an employee at Falls City Mercantile for many years, and few guys in the U.S. approaching 50 can (or would dare try).

On Aug. 2 at the State Games of America, Thompson at Lincoln High School jumped 33-feet, 8 1/2 inches to grab the Silver in the 45-49 Age Division. Only Eric Hunter Johnson, of Raleigh, N.C., one of the highest ranked jumpers in the country, beat Thompson and it was by fewer than two inches. Two other guys ages 45-49 competed, but neither eclipsed 30 feet, however an Arkansas jumper, Mike Henson, went 34-4 in the 50-54 age group.

More than 1,000 athletes in 800 events competed in the 2015 State Games.

Today, it seems, its popular for pundits to compare athletes from different generations. Suppose because it's popular to argue. There's also a commonly held belief that today's athletes are superior to those who came before them.

In that light, it delights us here at The Journal to report that had Raph Thompson jumped 46-7 1/2 at Omaha Burke High School last May, as he did as a teenage Tiger in 1985, he would've been the 2015 Class B State Champion. In Class A, he would've placed third.

Furthermore, the 47-year-old Raph Thompson who jumped 33-8 1/2 a month ago would've been a state qualifier in Class D at the State Track Meet.

SNL's Sally O'Malley was 50, liked to kick and stretch and it was funny.

Raph Thompson is simply just kicking butt. No joke.

INDIAN CAVE ROADS WILL OPEN FOR LABOR DAY

The repaving of roads within Indian Cave State Park continues, as the road to Hackberry Hollow Campground has been finished.

Currently, work is being done to the road to the Ash Grove Campground, the Cave road, and the boat ramp road. There is no access to the boat ramp at this time; however there is river access at nearby Brownville.

Over Labor Day weekend, the Cave road will be temporarily open to allow access to the Cave. After Labor Day weekend, the road will be closed to continue with asphalt placement.

Work will be continued through the rest of this year and into 2016. The completion date of the Cave road is unknown at this time, but it is a priority to have this completed.

The one-way loop will be open during Indian Cave's Haunted Hollow Hayrack rides in October.

For more information, contact the park at 402-883-2575 or email at ngpc.indian.cave@nebraska.gov

Big Red Recruiting Report

By Sean Stevens

(Falls City native and former staff writer for HuskerIllustrated.com and Rivals.com)

New Commitments

Athlete JD Spielman (5-8/173) of Eden Prairie, MN, is the latest 2016 Husker commitment. The son of Minnesota Vikings GM Rick Spielman and nephew of former NFL linebacker and current college football broadcaster Chris Spielman, JD will likely play receiver at Nebraska.

Initially a lacrosse commit to Ohio State, Spielman decided that he couldn't give up football. He told the Omaha World-Herald, "...but my first love was really always college football."

Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota also offered, and the Gophers were his second choice. Rivals ranks Spielman as the No. 4 player in Minnesota. His high school coach Mike Grant, the son of legendary Vikings Coach Bud Grant, believes Rivals under-ranked Spielman.

"I would just say this: if he was 6-1 and 205-pounds he would be the top recruit in the country," Coach Grant told HuskerOnline.com. "He's that good."

"People look at him and say 'He's not big enough', but he was the best player in the state last year. I don't know how those people think, I guess. I think a guy is either a player or not a player, and he's a great player. He's got tremendous speed, tremendous quickness, and really outstanding vision. He also has great hands."

Official Visitors

Visiting for the opener against BYU will be committed linebacker Greg Simmons (6-2/225) of Miami, FL, his teammate, OT Stewart Reese (6-6/330), WR Darian Owens (5-11/188) of Fresno, CA, and OL Tremayne Anchrum (6-3/270) of Powder Springs, GA.

Reese was surprise late addition to the group. Rivals' No. 37 overall player in Florida, he has narrowed his Top 6 to NU, Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Florida State and Georgia. To put his talent in perspective, he has already eliminated LSU, Miami, Michigan State and Notre Dame. Reese is a powerful blocker with quick feet. He's equally adept at pass protection as he is blowing defenders off the ball in the run game. Teams struggle to pull players of his caliber out of the SEC, but with Simmons already pledged, NU's chances increase.

Owens has been committed to UCLA since mid-April, but is still considering other schools and plans to also visit Oregon State, Washington, UCLA and Oklahoma. NU's connection to Owens is that he's a friend and former teammate of NU receivers coach Keith Williams' son, current Fresno State WR Keyan Williams. That relationship with Coach Williams has Owens intrigued by Nebraska.

Anchrum also lists Clemson, Georgia and Virginia Tech among his top schools, and he recently said that the Huskers and Bulldogs were "butting heads" at the top. Again, pulling him out of the south will be a tall order.

In Week 2 against South Alabama, NU will host committed linebacker Quayshon Alexander (6-2/235) of Wayne, NJ, along with Mesquite, TX, tight end Donte Coleman (6-4/220), LB Nehemiah Augustus (6-0/205) of Patterson, LA, and safety Eric Burrell (6-0/182), Owings Mill, MD.

Burrell has nearly 20 offers, but named a Top 4 of NU, Wisconsin, Duke and Syracuse. His only scheduled visit thus far is to Lincoln, and he has unofficially visited Boston College, Syracuse, Rutgers, Duke and Virginia. Coleman is committed to Texas Tech and will also visit there, as well as Fresno State, Cal and possibly West Virginia. Arizona State, TCU and Texas are among other schools to offer Coleman. Augustus lists Arizona State along with many smaller schools among his offers. He plans to visit ASU, but NU has a big early lead thanks to LB coach Trent Bray.

Need Positions

Defensive line and offensive tackle remain the two biggest "need" positions in this recruiting class, and NU has lost some targets recently.

Defensive end Amani Bledsoe (6-5/265) of Lawrence, KS, released his Top 10, and the Huskers didn't make the cut. Combined with Wichita's Xavier Kelly (6-4/257) committing to Clemson, NU missed out on the top two prospects in the Sunflower State.

Omaha South's Noah Fant (6-5/210) pledged this past Friday to Iowa. In announcing his commitment on the Sharp & Benning Radio Show on 1620-AM in Omaha, Fant cited Iowa's history of putting tight ends into the NFL, as well as his comfort level with the Hawkeye coaching staff among his reasons for the decision. Nebraska was recruiting Fant at defensive end, but had warmed to the idea of tight end recently also.

Mykelle McDaniel (6-4/255) of Loganville, GA, and Justin Madubiike (6-3/245) of McKinney, TX, are still available at defensive end, and I would expect to see some junior college targets soon.

At defensive tackle the list is also short, with Marcel Southall (6-3/270) of Duncanville, TX, and Stephon Taylor (6-5/300), of New Orleans, the top remaining targets.

Southall told Husker Online that he plans to visit Lincoln this fall, but hasn't set a date yet. Coach Bray is recruiting him, and he's aware of Ndamukong Suh's career at NU. Alabama, Florida, Oklahoma and Texas are also in the mix here.

Taylor boasts nearly 40 offers, including Alabama, Florida State, Miami and LSU. He hasn't set any official visits yet, but Nebraska has been in contact with him and he said early this summer that he wants to visit Lincoln.

High-level OT targets remaining include the aforementioned Tremayne Anchrum, Matt Farniok (6-5/319) of Sioux Falls, SD, and Alaric Jackson (6-7/285) of Detroit. Farniok is considered a Husker lean, although he's visited California and Stanford unofficially this summer and is planning official trips to NU, Michigan State, Florida State and possibly Michigan. Jackson hasn't scheduled a trip to NU yet, but mentioned recently that Purdue and Rutgers might get visits. Wisconsin, Michigan State and Iowa have also offered. Jackson had planned to unofficially visit Lincoln before school began, but that trip didn't materialize.

Like at defensive end, I expect to see some junior college prospects emerge as the season progresses.

2017 QB offered

Calabasas, CA, continues to be a hot spot for NU. Marquel Dismuke (6-2/170) committed to the 2016 class earlier this summer, and QB Tristan Gebbia (6-3/180) recently added a Husker offer, joining classmates Keyshawn Johnson, Jr. (6-1/195) and Darnay Holmes (5-11/185), along with 2018 target Brian Hightower (6-3/185).

247Sports composite rankings list Gebbia as the No. 7 pro-style QB nationally for '17, No. 123 overall player and a high four-star prospect. Alabama, Arizona State and Miami have also offered him. He has visited Lincoln once and also worked with the Husker staff at their southern California satellite camp this summer. He will return to campus Oct. 10 for the Wisconsin game, along with Johnson and possibly Holmes and Hightower.

Lady Tigers at .500 after dropping home opener

The Falls City High softball team fell 4-3 to Class C No. 5 Southern last Friday in the 2015 home opener on Hartman Field.

A four-run second inning proved to be the undoing for FC, which battled back with a pair of runs in the sixth to close the gap to just one run. Southern is attempting to make a third consecutive trip to the state tournament, however the Raiders went 1-2 at the Syracuse Invite over the weekend to fall to 3-4 on the young season.

"We beat them in districts last year, and they are in our district again this year," third-year FC High Coach Jason Bredemeier said. "One bad inning hurt us. I was proud of how our girls fought back to give ourselves a chance in the game."

Bailey Armbruster and Rylee Scholl each went 2-for-3 against Southern, with Armbruster doubling and driving in two of FC's three RBI. The Tigers travel to Adams Thursday to face 5-5 Freeman and 2-1 Auburn.

Wymore native, Auburn teacher Boxley Scholar

Peru State College has announced that Michael Henrichs of Auburn has been named a 2015 Boxley Scholar.

The distinction includes a scholarship covering full tuition, fees and books for Peru State's entire Master of Science in Education degree, a 19-month online cohort program. The online cohort involves a group of students who enroll and progress through the graduate program together, creating a community in which they collaborate on projects and extend their support to one another.

Henrichs, a Wymore native, has been a fourth grade teacher at Auburn Public Schools for the past five years where he has also coached middle school football, high school football, high school basketball and legion baseball. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in elementary education from Peru State and an Associate of Science degree from Cloud County Community College.

Dean of Graduate Programs Dr. Greg Seay said, "Obtaining a Master's degree is the new standard for those teaching in public schools across Nebraska and our surrounding states. Peru recognizes the importance of this advanced level and continues to support teachers by offering a program that specializes in mastery teaching. The impact of the Boxley Scholarship is life changing and our recipients are always thrilled to have the financial support in their pursuit of advancing their careers. They are setting a great example for students by practicing what they preach and continuing their education."

President Dan Hanson said, "The financial benefit of this scholarship...can make all the difference for educators who want to increase their knowledge and skills by pursuing an advanced degree."

Boxley, of Beverly Hills, CA, is chairman of the Board of the American Asian Association.

Proposal would eliminate tuition for some med students

A report published in the July online version of the journal Academic Medicine details a bold proposal that would revolutionize how medical education is funded and even eliminate medical school tuition for some students.

The proposal—authored by leaders at the University of Nebraska Medical Center—would broaden funding for graduate medical education to come from not only federal and state government but also from private insurance companies and other health care payers.

It also suggests that tuition should be paid for medical school students who practice in a rural or urban underserved area after they graduate.

The proposal, which will appear in the September print edition of Academic Medicine, is the first in recent medical literature to break down how to accomplish these goals.

For years, major national and regional organizations have been trying to increase the number of positions for medical residents and shore up funding for all positions, but little progress has been made.

Experts say now is the time to act because of the need to increase physician workforce and the continuing threats to GME funding for training residents. Less money for training residents will mean less physicians and even more maldistribution of physicians in rural communities and urban underserved areas.

"We have actually created a point in time when it's important to rethink quite radically how we do this process," said Kelly Caverzagie, M.D., associate dean for educational strategy in the UNMC College of Medicine.

Residency begins after medical students graduate from medical school. For three to seven years, depending on medical specialty, resident physicians train under the supervision of a faculty member. The resident is the primary caregiver of patients and becomes a specialist through the residency training process.

The UNMC proposal calls for a comprehensive all-payer system.

"The current system is not the best system with which to fund GME," Dr. Caverzagie said. "Rather than the federal and state governments paying all the costs to train a resident, we believe that everyone who benefits from the health care delivery system should contribute to the cost of training residents since everyone benefits from a well-trained physician."

In addition to Medicare and Medicaid, the UNMC model calls for private insurance companies and all other health care payers to share costs.

The plan also suggests one answer to a long-debated issue about medical school debt, which influences what specialty a physician chooses and where they practice—rural or urban. Debt also impacts the ability of underserved students to attend medical school.

Under the proposal, Dr. Caverzagie said tuition would be waived for certain students who enter into medical school.

"When they graduate from medical school, they would have no monetary debt, but would be required to provide service in a place of need, whether that would be in a rural or urban underserved area," he said.

Dr. Gold said the hope is to begin a meaningful dialogue for changes. He said the fine details would require years of studying and planning.

"We hope that by publishing this

Maude Campbell

Maude Campbell, 93, of Falls City, passed away on Wednesday, Aug. 26, 2015 at Falls City. She was born Sept. 4, 1921 to Wesley and Mary (Malone) Roland.

Maude was born and raised in Salem. She moved to Falls City in 1958 where she worked at Baker's Bakery until 1977. She then became employed at Jack & Jill Grocery from 1978 until 1981 when she became a cook at the Senior Center. She retired in 1988. She married Leve Willey at St. Joseph, MO, on Dec. 12, 1936, they later divorced. She then married Homer Campbell on Jan. 16, 1983 at White Cloud, KS. They divorced later the same year.

Maude was an active member of the Good News Assembly of God Church at Falls City.

She is survived by her two sons, Frank (Myrna) Willey and Garlan (Dora) Willey, all of Falls City. She is also survived by 19 grandchildren, many great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents; a son, Roger Willey; a granddaughter in infancy; brothers, one in infancy and Wesley Roland; sisters, Ollie Kocher and Bessie Gentry; and a daughter, Darlene Burns.

Services were held Saturday, Aug. 29, 2015 at Dorr and Clark Funeral Home with Rev. Tim Boatright officiating. Internment in Maple Cemetery in Salem.

Doris M. Rowland

Doris M. Rowland, 75, of Salem, passed away Saturday, Aug. 29, 2015 at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

She is survived by her husband, Jimmie D. Rowland, of Salem; children, Richard (Claire) Rowland, of Falls City, Dennis Rowland, of Tecumseh, and Merle (Joy) Rowland, of Falls City; one brother, Orie

(Lou) Miller, of Port Orchard, WA; one sister, Billie Jean (Pete) Rowland, of Clyde, KS; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren; other relatives and friends.

Following a direct cremation there will be no services held. Hall Funeral Home, of Falls City, is in charge of arrangements.

Mildred Rieschick

Mildred Rieschick, 90, of Falls City, passed away Sunday, Aug. 30, 2015 at Falls City. She was born on June 30, 1925 at Peru to the late Elmer and Blanche (Markem) Gilliland.

Mildred was raised at Peru and Falls City, graduating from Falls City High School in 1943. Following graduation she taught school for two years before marrying Melvin Rieschick on July 5, 1945 at Hiawatha, KS. When married the couple established their home on a farm northeast of Falls City and she was a farm wife and homemaker until earning a teaching certificate. She began teaching in rural schools. In 1971 she earned her teaching degree from Peru State Teachers College and then taught at Sacred Heart and then Falls City Middle School, where she retired in 1987. Following retirement she and Melvin did antiquing and traveling to shows buying and selling antiques with family accompanying them on many trips.

Mildred was a member of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church (20th and Towle Streets), Falls City

Does Drove and Business and Professional Women, all of Falls City, as well as a member of Daughters of the American Revolution and General Society of Mayflower Descendants.

She is survived by her husband, Melvin, of Falls City; son, David (Sue) Rieschick, of Lake Jackson, TX; daughter, Diana (Carl) Vogt, of Camdenton, MO; sister, Barbara (Ralph) Asdell, of Wildwood, MO; daughter-in-law, Patricia Rieschick, of Falls City; four grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren.

Mildred was preceded in death by her son, Dennis; sister, Mary Lou Peltier; and a granddaughter, Christina, in infancy.

Her funeral will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 4, 2015 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church (20th and Towle Streets), with Rev. Andrew Chavanak officiating. Interment will be in Steele Cemetery. The family will receive friends from 7-8 p.m. Thursday at Dorr and Clark Funeral Home.

manuscript we engage policy makers, legislators, as well as leadership in medicine, in a conversation that leads to further ideas and hopefully some pilot programs to develop partnerships on how we might reframe medical school funding and residency funding," Dr. Gold said.

The proposed model also would make the costs of training more transparent as well as the training benefits to the health care system, Dr. Caverzagie said.

Though residents salaries are known, it's difficult to measure things such as the time it takes physicians to train and supervise residents. The time invested reduces the potential for the physician's ability to see more patients.

"Right now we get a new workforce every year, but how that funding occurs for the training is really difficult to follow," Dr. Caverzagie said. "This would be a more transparent way and it's important we have transparency because then we can define expectations of training and begin to measure expected outcomes."

Ritchie inherits solid foundation in three All-Conference performers

There will be a new coach for the Peru State women's golf team, but there should not be cause for concern as six golfers return for the Bobcats for the 2015-16 season. Those six golfers will be joined by three recruits who will be led by first-year college coach and former FCHS boys' basketball coach Mark Ritchie. Ritchie is replacing Brett Hahn who had coached the team for the past four seasons.

Returners

The team will be led by three returning juniors, all of whom earned Heart of America Athletic Conference (Heart) All-Conference recognition. Marisa Pribnow (Lincoln), Emily Hausmann (Columbus), and Jessica Weickert (Beatrice) all earned the honor at the end of the season. In addition, Pribnow and Weickert were named the Heart Women's Golfer of the Week at different points during the 2014-15 season.

Also returning will be sophomores Hannah Baldacci (Norfolk), Cathleen Marsh (Bellevue), and Charleen Marsh (Bellevue).

Newcomers

Three newcomers will be joining the Bobcat team this fall. Emily Whipple (Lincoln) – a Lincoln Southeast High School graduate, Emily Shevlin (Columbus) – a Columbus High School graduate, and Lindsay Harlow (Dawson) – a graduate from Humboldt-Table Rock-Steinauer. As seniors, Shevlin and Harlow both participated in the Nebraska State Activities Association Girls Golf Championships. Shevlin also participated in the state meet during her sophomore and junior years.

Schedule

Peru State will play in five different tournaments/invites this fall. The 'Cats will first tee it up at the Midland University Invitational at the Fremont Country Club in Fremont on August 31.

In addition, Peru State will participate in the College of St. Mary Invitational, Graceland University Invitational, Nebraska Wesleyan "Pink" Classic, and William Penn University Classic.

Coach Ritchie

Ritchie is excited for the season to get started. He said, "I am honored and thrilled to have the opportunity to build upon the success that Coach Hahn has brought to the women's golf program.

"I look forward to seeing the girls on the course as I am anticipating a good season. With the leadership of the juniors who have had two previous years of experience, they should be good role models for the entire team."

Ritchie has not coached golf at the collegiate level, but has coached golf at the high school level for 20 years at Falls City, Elkhorn and Nebraska City.

Pair of felony sexual assault charges turn into one misdemeanor

A jury trial ended abruptly in Richardson County District Court last Tuesday, Aug. 25, when a man facing two felony counts of sexual assault of a child in the third degree was offered a deal by special prosecutor Julie Smith that he could hardly refuse.

Bobby Birdsell Jr., 45, of Falls City, pled no contest to one misdemeanor count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Where Birdsell was facing two potential three-year prison terms, he now is likely to avoid jail altogether. He will be sentenced Nov. 3.

Authorities accused Birdsell of subjecting two females — 14 years of age or younger — on or about Oct. 10 or 11 of last year, to sexual contact.

FC man, 19, appears on tampering charge

A 19-year-old Falls City man appeared in Richardson County Court last Monday, Aug. 24, on a felony charge of tampering with evidence in connection with the alleged Aug. 4 fatal shooting of 31-year-old Joseph Debella Jr. at the hand of his cousin, Desiderio C. "Desi" Hernandez, 34.

Brett M. Winters is scheduled to appear back in Court Sept. 21 for a preliminary hearing.

Authorities interviewed and arrested both Winters and 29-year-old John Hall the day after they allege Hernandez fired a bullet into Debella Jr.'s head in the basement of a home at 1418 Morton St. According to court documents, Winters admitted that he saw Debella lying on the floor in the basement of the home yet did not render aid. He then told police he changed clothes, collected drug paraphernalia and removed it from the home. According to police, Hall heard the gunshot and also removed drug paraphernalia from the scene and threw it outside near the driveway. Hall, of Shubert, has been charged with tampering and possession of a controlled substance, both of which are Class IV Felonies. He is scheduled to appear in County Court Sept. 14. Both Hall and Winters, according to signed arrest affidavits filed in court, were both on probation at the time and were attempting to avoid further legal troubles, hence didn't contact authorities.

In addition to first degree murder, Hernandez has also been charged with possession of a firearm to commit a felony and possession of a firearm by a prohibited person. He remains in Richardson County Jail on a $1.5 million bond and is scheduled to return to court for a preliminary hearing Sept. 16.

Some 35.5 million to hit highway

AAA Travel projects 35.5 million Americans will journey 50 miles or more from home during the Labor Day holiday weekend, the highest volume for the holiday since 2008.

This will mark the fourth consecutive year of overall travel growth for the Labor Day holiday period. The holiday period is defined as Thursday, Sept. 3 through Monday, Sept. 7. Nearly 86 percent of all travelers, or 30.4 million people, will drive to their destination. More than 2.6 million are expected to fly, and 2.4 million will travel by other modes including bus, train and cruise ship. AAA says positive economic factors have helped to spur travel growth. Low fuel prices combined with a strong labor market has helped increase personal wealth providing many families with a higher level of disposable income. Motorists may find the lowest Labor Day gas prices in a decade. Nationally, fuel prices are down 91 cents a gallon compared to a year ago, averaging $2.53 a gallon on Aug. 27, 2015.

For those planning to stay in Nebraska during the holiday period, the website visitnebraska.com provides a wealth of information on special events and activities including the Nebraska State Fair.

For info about state park and rec areas, explore the website outdoornebraska.org

Families should remember that outdoor swimming pools at Nebraska State Parks will close after the Labor Day holiday. The latest fuel price info can be found at fuelgaugeport.com

Motorists Urged to Use Caution

As of Friday, Aug. 28, 150 men, women and children have lost their lives on Nebraska roadways. Fatalities are up 12 percent compared to the average for the previous four years. So far this year, 20 motorcycle riders have died in crashes, which is equal to the total number of lives lost during 2014. AAA reminds all motorists to buckle-up, refrain from driving if consuming alcohol, and avoid distractions that take your mind off of the roadway ahead.

High speed roadways, with two-way traffic and no medians protecting the vehicles traveling in opposite directions are especially dangerous. Any distraction may easily cause the driver to drift across the centerline. Passengers in the vehicle need to do their part to avoid creating distractions for the driver.

Buchholz No. 1, near Falls City, the state's first producing oil well.

The United States is running out of oil, 1922

"Petroleum production in the United States has reached its peak." That was the conclusion of Dr. Ralph McKee, a chemical engineering professor at Columbia University in 1922. His comments appeared in a front page article in the February 15, 1922, edition of Lincoln's Nebraska State Journal with the headline, "Must Look to Shale for Supply of Oil." McKee stated that there was "no likelihood of the discovery of new petroleum fields in this country," but he predicted that the nation's future energy needs could be supplied by oil from shale.

The article went on to list the states that had potentially rich reserves of oil-bearing shale: Colorado, Utah and Wyoming led the list, with other large deposits said to be in Nevada, California, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio. He made no mention of North Dakota.

Two months later on April 16 the Journal carried another article featuring Professor McKee's comments about the U.S. petroleum outlook. The country was already importing oil, some 130 million barrels from Mexico in 1920 alone. Consumption was increasing by about 50 million barrels per year. McKee warned, "The number of trucks, farm tractors, and automobiles used must be decreased or we must find another source of motor fuel."

In 1920 Nebraska had some 205,000 registered automobiles and trucks, while petroleum-powered tractors were replacing draft animals as motive power on farms. The use of cars and trucks, as well as the mechanization of agriculture, would only accelerate in the future. By 1941 there were some thirty million cars and trucks in the United States.

After more than a half century of dry holes, in 1940 Nebraska's first commercial oil well was completed in the far southeastern corner of the state. The Pawnee Royalty Co. made the discovery just west of Falls City.

"The first publicized report of oil in Nebraska had been an 1883 newspaper account of a 'vein of petroleum' discovered in the same county," explains a Nebraska historical marker.

"Over the next 57 years the search for oil consumed thousands of dollars, and hundreds of wells were drilled throughout Nebraska," adds the marker placed by the Nebraska Petroleum Council.

"Traces of oil were reported at various locations across the state, but the state didn't have a producing well until 1940."

Eager to become an oil-producing state, the Nebraska legislature had offered a $15,000 bonus for the first oil well in Nebraska to produce 50 barrels daily for 60 consecutive days.

In 1939 and 1940 the Pawnee Royalty Company had two encouraging but unsuccessful drillings near Falls City. A third well, Buchholz No. 1, was begun near the marker on April 22, 1940. On May 29 the well began producing and averaged 169-1/2 barrels daily for the first 60 days.

The discovery easily qualified for the Nebraska Legislature's $15,000 bonus. Richardson County enjoyed an oil boom for three years.

Interestingly, Buchholz No. 1 was located just five miles east of the "vein of petroleum" reported in 1883.

Experiments at Columbia University had shown how the shale could be converted into motor fuel. By heating the shale, the solid bituminous material called "kerogen" released a petroleum-like liquid, which became ever lighter in consistency "due to a cracking process . . . by which the large molecules are split into smaller ones, the higher the temperature the smaller the molecules. Accordingly, by choice of the right temperature, we will get largely motor fuel composed of small molecules rather than lubricating and fuel oils composed of large molecules." McKee predicted that some 30 percent of the shale oil could be converted to gasoline. The gasoline thus produced would deposit more carbon in the engine cylinders "and has a little stronger odor, however, who uses even present day gasoline as a 'perfume?'"

The carbon deposit problem might be solved by mixing alcohol with the gasoline, a harbinger of the modern practice of blending ethanol with gasoline.

Discovery of more U.S. reserves of traditional petroleum, including modest oil-producing fields in southeastern and western Nebraska in the 1940s and 1950s, deferred the need to use shale to meet an "oil crisis." However, increasing oil imports combined with world unrest led to a perceived energy crisis by the 1970s. By the early 21st Century, new extraction methods and the cost of imported oil made production from shale resources economically feasible, though recent oil price declines have dampened the shale and tar sands boom in places such as North Dakota. Nevertheless North America's vast shale reserves and new technologies, including ethanol production, have deferred the day when the U.S. will run out of petroleum or comparable fuels. Professor McKee was wrong about the prospect of running out of oil during the 1920s, but right about shale's role as a future petroleum source.

Diversified Ag Tour

The 2015 SE Nebraska Diversified Ag Tour will be Friday, Sept. 11.

This is the 10th year Nebraska Extension has organized the tour to highlight diversified and sustainable agricultural operations in the area. This year's tour will include four stops: 1. Olive Creek Farm near Adams, a small farm owned and operated by the Charlie and Jill Heng family with a mission to provide clean food at affordable prices; 2. Prairieland Dairy near Firth, a family-owned dairy that works to be sustainable, open, transparent, and that serves people, cows and the planet. While at Prairieland Dairy, lunch will be served from Papa D's Pizzeria; 3. Hollister Farms near Princeton, a certified All Natural Produce Farm; and 4. Sunny Slope Farm near Filley.

The tour will pick up participants in Hickman at 6:45 a.m. in the parking lot north of the Subway; in Auburn at 8 a.m. on the north side of the courthouse; and in Tecumseh at 8:30 a.m. by the courthouse. Cost to attend is $20 per person and includes lunch and transportation.

To register, contact either the Nemaha (402-274-4755) or Johnson County Extension Offices (402-335-3669) by Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Village of Shubert

Emergency Meeting
Aug. 18, 2015 - Shubert Library

The Village Board of Shubert, NE held an emergency board meeting on Aug. 18, 2015 in the Shubert Library. Chairman Shafer opened the emergency meeting at 7:01 p.m. with the following board members present: Peggy Oliver, Linda Patchen, Gina Steele and Nathan Handley. Clerk was present to record the meeting. Shafer announced the Posting of the Open Meetings Law. Chairman Shafer turned the meeting over to T. Milke, who stated that over the weekend of Aug. 18, irrigation wells in the area had been tested. Sometime over the weekend, residents began noticing air in the water. Well No. 3 was checked and the water level had dropped significantly. The property owner of the irrigation wells has filed all of the proper permits and had the approval from the NRD. Sergeant Drilling came to inspect the well. Their initial examination showed "water loss in water table" and that the well was in proper working order. An official report will be mailed. Milke has switched wells for the town to use until Well #3 recovers. At this time it has not recovered at all. NRD is aware of what has happened and will be doing testing. Milke will keep us updated on any information that he finds out. With no further business: Motion and Second (Shafer/Oliver) to adjourn meeting at 7:55 p.m. Roll call votes all Ayes. Motion carried.

Jennifer Buchner
 Village Clerk

NNRD

The Nemaha Natural Resources District Board of Directors will hold their regular meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 10, 2015, at the NRD headquarters in Tecumseh, NE. Individual committee meetings begin at 7 p.m. An agenda is being kept current at the office - 62161 Hwy 136, Tecumseh, NE 68450.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NEBRASKA FEMA-DR-4225-NE

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) hereby gives notice to the public of its intent to reimburse state and local Nebraska governments and agencies, and eligible private non-profit organizations for eligible costs incurred to repair and/or replace facilities damaged by: Severe Storms, Tornadoes, Straight-line Winds, and Flooding occurring from May 6-June 17, 2015.

This notice applies to the Public Assistance (PA) and Hazard Mitigation Grant (HMGP) programs implemented under the authority of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC §§ 5121-5207, as amended.

Under a major disaster declaration for Nebraska (FEMA-4225-DR-NE) signed by the President on June 25, 2015, the following counties in the state of Nebraska have been designated adversely affected by the disaster and are eligible for PA only: Adams, Arthur, Box Butte, Cass, Clay, Dawes, Dundy, Fillmore, Gage, Hamilton, Hayes, Jefferson, Johnson, Lincoln, Lancaster, Morrill, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Richardson, Saline, Saunders, Seward, Sioux, Thayer, Wayne and York. All counties in the state of Nebraska are eligible for HMGP. There are no counties declared for Individual Assistance.

This public notice concerns public assistance activities that may affect historic properties, activities that are located in, or affect, wetland areas or the 100-year floodplain (areas determined to have a one percent probability of flooding in any given year) and critical actions within the 500-year floodplain. Such activities may adversely affect the historic property, floodplain or wetland, or may result in continuing vulnerability to flood damage.

Such activities may include restoring facilities located in a floodplain with eligible damage to pre-disaster condition. Examples of such activities include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Non-emergency debris removal and disposal;
2. Non-emergency protective measures;
3. Repair/replacement of roads, including streets, culverts, and bridges;
4. Repair/replacement of public dams, reservoirs and channels;
5. Repair/replacement of public buildings and related equipment;
6. Repair/replacement of public water control facilities, pipes and distribution systems;
7. Repair/replacement of public utilities, including sewage treatment plants, sewers and electrical power distribution systems; and
8. Repair/replacement of eligible private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc.).

The President's Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management, and Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, requires that all federal actions in or affecting the 100-year floodplain or wetland areas be reviewed for opportunities to move the facility out of the floodplain or wetland and to reduce the risk of future damage or loss from flooding and minimize harms to wetlands. However, FEMA has determined that in certain situations, there are no alternatives to restoring an eligible facility located in the floodplain to its pre-disaster condition. These situations meet all of the following criteria:

1. The FEMA estimated cost of repairs is less than 50 percent of the estimated cost to replace the facility and the replacement cost of the facility is less than $100,000;
 2. The facility is not located in a floodway or coastal high hazard area;
 3. The facility has not sustained structural damage in a previous presidentially declared flood disaster or emergency;
 4. The facility is not defined as critical (e.g., hospital, generating plant, contains dangerous materials, emergency operation center, etc.).
- FEMA will provide assistance to restore the facilities described above to their pre-disaster condition except when measures to mitigate the effects of future flooding may be incorporated into the restoration work. For example, insufficient waterway openings under culverts and bridges may cause water backup to wash out the structures. The water backup could wash out the facility and could damage other facilities in the area. Increasing the size of the waterway opening would mitigate, or lessen, the potential for this damage. Additional examples of mitigation measures include providing erosion protection at bridge abutments or levees, and extending entrance tubes on sewage lift stations.

Disaster assistance projects to restore facilities, which do not meet the criteria listed above, must undergo a detailed review. The review will include a study to determine if the facility can be moved out of the floodplain. The public is invited to participate in the review. The public may identify alternatives for restoring the facility and may participate in analyzing the impact of the alternatives on the facility and the floodplain. An address and phone number for obtaining information about specific assistance projects is provided at the end of this Notice. The final determination regarding the restoration of these facilities in a floodplain will be announced in future Public Notices.

Due to the urgent need for and/or use of the certain facilities in a floodplain, actions to restore the facility may have started before the federal inspector visits the site. Some of these facilities may meet the criteria for a detailed review to determine if they should be relocated. Generally, facilities may be restored in their original location where at least one of the following conditions applies:

1. The facility, such as a flood control device or bridge, is functionally dependent on its floodplain location;
2. The facility, such as a park or other open space, already represent sound floodplain management and, therefore, there is no need to change it;
3. The facility, such as a road or a utility, is an integral part of a larger network that could not be relocated economically.
4. Emergency action is needed to address a threat to public health and safety.

The effects of not relocating the facilities will be examined. In each case, the examination must show an overriding public need for the facility at its original location that clearly outweighed the requirements in the Executive Order to relocate the facility out of the floodplain. FEMA will also consult state and local officials to make certain that no actions taken will violate either state or local floodplain protection standards. The restoration of these facilities may also incorporate certain measures designed to mitigate the effects of future flooding. This will be the only Notice to the public concerning these facilities.

The National Historic Preservation Act requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of their undertakings on historic properties. Those actions or activities affecting buildings, structures, districts or objects 50 years or older or that affect archeological sites or undisturbed ground will require further review to determine if the property is eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places (Register). If the property is determined to be eligible for the Register, and FEMA's undertaking will adversely affect it, FEMA will provide additional Public Notices. For historic properties not adversely affected by FEMA's undertaking, this will be the only Public Notice.

FEMA also intends to provide Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMGP) funding under Section 404 of the Stafford Act to the State of Nebraska for the purposes of mitigating future disaster damages. Hazard mitigation projects may involve the construction of a new facility (e.g., retention pond, or debris dam), modification of an existing undamaged facility (e.g., improving waterway openings of bridges or culverts), and the relocation of facilities out of the floodplain. Subsequent Notices will provide more specific information as project proposals are developed.

Information about assistance projects may be obtained by submitting a written request to the Regional Director, DHS-FEMA Region VII; 9221 Ward Pkwy., Suite 300; Kansas City, MO 64114-3372. The information may also be obtained by calling: (816) 283-7060, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Comments should be sent in writing to the Regional Director, at the above address, within 15 days of the date of publication of this Notice.
